According to Wheeler's model of the universe, indeterminacy is present everywhere below the Plank length (10^{-33} cm.) for space, time and topology. Our conscious tendencies to find determinate programs for living result from the built-in survival programs of the biocomputer. The "no limits in the province of the mind" view results from the application of the indeterminacy principle to our beliefs-concepts-thinking, every day, all ways. The determinate nature (limited alternatives) of the genetic code and the body is here explored. The indeterminate nature (unlimited alternatives) of our software is experienced. $600

Living Awareness Meditation
Bernard Gunther

Meditation is a way out of your hypnosis and suffering. Sitting is just one form of meditation, for this kind of heightened awareness can become a joyous part of everything that you do. By quieting your mind, this practice will help you to allow your real inner peace and personality to shine through. In this workshop, we will delight in exploring various types of meditation, including aspects of sensory awakening, gestalt and psychosynthesis. $100

October 14-November 11

Introduction to an Unnamed Psychology
Bernard Gunther & Hector Prestera

This monthlong workshop is aimed at the systematic developing and sustaining of mind-body integration and a unified level of consciousness. Work will be focused on various energy awareness centers to create inner harmony and a whole new sense of self. Material will be drawn from both eastern and western paths of realization, including: gestalt, sensory awakening, bioenergetics, psychosynthesis, structural integration, Arica training and yoga. Participants must be willing to undergo vigorous physical and mental disciplines, including a special diet, meditation and various forms of abstinence. $900

showed, said Houston, that "important behavioral changes can be brought about by working with images on their own terms."

Houston, like Fischer, believes that emphasis on verbal thinking inhibits visual thinking, and that the present educational system "derails" children who may be natural visual thinkers.

There were many ways in which the symposium pointed up the inadequacies of the Western scientific approach. A few years ago science simply dismissed coal-walking yogis, like acupuncture, because the facts could not be explained through their thought systems. Now scientists are taking a new look.

Other cultures have long had techniques for arriving at altered states of consciousness—through such means as chanting, whirling, fasting, breathing exercises and flagellation. Now such procedures are recognized to have dramatic effects on body chemicals which contribute to the achievement of the desired state. The ability of mystics to undergo with no apparent discomfort intense physical stresses is being explained by the altered sensory perceptions that come with a shift of consciousness. As in drugged states, decreased responsiveness to pain is accompanied by hypersensitivity to low-intensity stimulation because primary sensory pathways are excited while other areas of the cortex are inhibited.

California's Silverman was one of several speakers tempted to make new interpretations of miracles described in the New Testament. When Jesus was wandering and fasting in the desert for 40 days he no doubt did encounter the Devil: the changed pattern of external stimulation as well as what starving did to his chemical balances could well have thrown him into a different subjective reality. Similarly, Moses was having a true "psychedelic" experience when he saw the burning bush (an interesting contrast to one strictly scientific explanation: that certain plants have properties that can give them an incandescent appearance).

Biofeedback training is one way researchers are trying to map altered states of consciousness, and it is also showing the degree to which it is possible for some people to alter them voluntarily. Joe Kamiya of the University of California Medical Center said that people experienced in Zen meditation, for example, can switch in and out of alpha rhythms with great ease and those who can switch their brain waves voluntarily tend to be more susceptible to hypnosis.

Another interesting tidbit is that children with eidetic memory show more alpha waves at the time of recall—an indication that this ability is not lodged in the ordinary data bank. The reason: ordinary recall requires the kind of active effort that will break the alpha rhythm.

Mind research is creating new definitions of what constitutes "reality". As Alexander Schulgin, a California chemist, pointed out, everything perceived by the mind is reality. Altered states of consciousness are undesirable from a social point of view because people need to perceive a common reality in order to function cooperatively. But considered subjectively these states are not inferior, only different.

Richard Schultes, a Harvard University botanist who specializes in hallucinogenic plants, said that in the thinking of some aboriginal cultures—where such plants are regarded as intermediaries to the gods—it is daily living that is the illusion, and the real truth is delivered by the divinities through the holy plants. Among Mexican Indians, he said, these drugs are an integral part of every major event and ritual, but they are never abused because they are tied up with religious experience.

While there was much talk about psychoactive drugs at the seminar, the real interest was centered on spontaneous and self-induced mind changes.

The plethora of disciplines that have been probing the mind from different angles have hardly had the chance to begin talking to each other and integrating their findings. To remedy this, many speakers recommended the establishment of "inner space labs", a term coined a decade ago by Joel Elkes, chief of psychiatry at John Hopkins Hospital. Elkes, who says mind research is still in the "natural history" or descriptive phase, thinks the time is ripe for some true experimentation. Just as physicists had to develop a new language to communicate their concepts, explorers of inner space need to develop new symbolic systems to express the rapid, subtle, and intensely subjective phenomena for which language is a vague, slow, clumsy, and entirely inadequate vehicle. Both researchers and subjects would have to be highly trained to observe and communicate these inner phenomena. And, says Elkes, new ways must be found to accurately correlate physically measurable changes – brain waves, and hormonal fluctuations – with what's happening inside.

The time may be now. As Houston observed, the astronauts have gone about as far as man can go at present. Now, "we are perhaps on the verge of a golden age of brain and mind research."

BOOKS

THE ESALEN-VIKING SERIES

THE ACT OF WILL
by Roberto Assagioli

$8.95, hardbound

This major work brings the human will back to the center of education, psychology and everyday life. The will has had a bad press. It has been associated with force, with harsh notions of "will power." Assagioli elaborates a complex and humane notion of will, introducing the idea of "The Skillful Will," one which requires no force but is able to direct one's actions and one's inner development. "The Good Will," "The Transpersonal Will," and "The Joyous Will" are important aspects of the complete human will which Assagioli develops. Exercises for developing these aspects and also the stages of the will are plentiful.

Available in September.

ON THE PSYCHOLOGY OF MEDITATION
by Claudio Narajo and Robert E. Ornstein

$7.95, hardbound, $2.25, paper

Two psychologists examine the spiritual ground of meditation and the implications of meditation for modern psychology, incorporating insights from new experimental work in the nature of consciousness.

ANGER AND THE ROCKING CHAIR
by Janet Lederman

$1.95 paper

George Brown describes this book as a "vivid, clear and honest account of what can be done to provide real education for those who are usually not only neglected but affected in a powerfully negative way by an irritated educational system." Now in paper.

HUMAN TEACHING FOR HUMAN LEARNING
by George I. Brown

$8.50 hardbound, $2.45 paper

Confluent education incorporates both a philosophy and a process of learning in which the affective or emotional aspects of learning flow together with the cognitive functions. This is a report of the Ford Esalen Project in Confluent Education, describing techniques used and results.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF CONSCIOUSNESS
by Robert E. Ornstein

$8.95, hardbound

Recent research indicates that there are significant differences in the functioning of the two hemispheres of the brain. Ornstein uses this theme to provoke a re-examination of the psychology of consciousness, attempting to reconcile the two forms of consciousness termed "linear" or rational, and "nonlinear", or intuitive.

A Viking book.

AN EVERYDAY GUIDE TO YOUR HEALTH
by Faith Hornbacher and David Sobel

$3.95, paper

A book about how to feel good, naturally, simply, with an awareness of how to keep your body in balance. Illustrated with line drawings.

Available in September.
A Grossman book.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE: Esalen is devoted to making life more human at all levels. Our work has reached thousands of individuals and hundreds of institutions. Until recently most of this work was being done at our own facilities, either in Big Sur or San Francisco. There is now, however, an ever-expanding part of Esalen's universe that is moving toward helping to effect changes in the world outside the workshop. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U.S. Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp., Model Cities, O.E.O., inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Esalen courses are now being given at the University of California and at New York University. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact Bob Kriegel at the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions are providing expenses for participants for some seminars and workshops. Please see membership form below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given them some sort of accreditation for leading programs involving encounter groups, gestalt therapy, etc. We have told everyone who has done this to stop using our name in such a manner. Esalen does not offer any kind of formal accreditation. Individuals and groups, of course, may use the insights and techniques they bring from our programs. Our Associates in Residence are working under Esalen auspices. But we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

FILMS of the work of Frederick S. Perls in gestalt therapy and Alexander Lowen in bioenergetic analysis, as well as films of the work of Carl Rogers, Albert Ellis, Rollo May, Abraham Maslow, Virginia Satir and others are available from Psychological Films, 205 West 20th Street, Santa Ana, California 92706. Sources of more films, including work of Alan Watts and Huston Smith, are available from Association for Humanistic Psychology, 416 Hoffman Street, San Francisco, California 94114.

FRIENDS OF ESALEN
MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

SAN FRANCISCO INFORMATION

For reservations, literature, tickets and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, Ca. 94123
Phone: (415) 771-1710—10 to 5, Monday through Saturday

INFORMATION, LITERATURE AND TICKETS: for lectures may be obtained Monday through Saturday, 10:00 to 5:00 at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Tickets obtained by mail will indicate the exact location and time of events; when not sold out in advance, tickets may be purchased at the door.

WORKSHOP SCHEDULES: One day workshops generally meet from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday weekend workshops meet from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. Friday through Sunday weekend workshops meet approximately from 8 to 11 p.m. on Friday, from 10 a.m. through the afternoon and/or evening on Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to early afternoon on Sunday. Schedules are not rigid, however, and exact meeting times are discussed at the first session.

CHILDCARE can be arranged during all weekends for San Francisco workshops. Although Esalen does not provide childcare, it will be provided by the Women's Studies Collective. There is a small charge to parents for this service—0¢ to 75¢ an hour on a sliding scale—based on each person's ability to pay. If you will need childcare check the childcare box on the reservation form and make sure that you have marked down your daytime phone number. Someone from the Women's Studies Collective will contact you a few days prior to the workshop.

LOCATION: Participants will be informed of workshop location prior to the workshop date. Esalen uses several facilities in the Bay Area for its programs including its own building at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Call the San Francisco office for advance information on program location.

SCHOLARSHIPS, interest-free loans and work scholarships are available for many programs in San Francisco. Contact the S.F. office for information and forms. STUDENT AND "POOR PEOPLE" RATES are also possible on a space-available basis. These are stand-by rates of 50% off the stated workshop price. Come by the S.F. office no earlier or later than three days before the program's starting date to place your name on a stand-by waiting list, to leave a deposit for the program, and to validate that you qualify for stand-by rates. (The deposit is refundable if you do not get in the workshop.) Confirmations will not be made until the morning of the workshop date.

RECOMMENDED DRESS: Workshops are informal. Slacks and flat shoes are recommended for women; sport clothes for men.

WAITING LISTS: Names are placed on waiting lists in cases of over-subscription or when demanded by workshop requirements. Registrants placed on such a list will be informed immediately and deposit checks held. Checks will be refunded if reservation cannot be confirmed or upon request by persons not wanting to be on a waiting list.

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific, with the Santa Lucia Coast Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups, and $400 for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable; but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/Big Sur.

Esalen Institute, Big Sur, Ca 93920
Phone: (408) 667-2335 – 10 to 4 every day;
10 to 8 Sunday & Friday

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute – By Reservation Only.

Do not mail Big Sur reservations to San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. Only U.S. currency, please.

Program costs cover tuition, food and lodging on the Esalen grounds. Our rooms are designed to be shared by two to three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 p.m.; however, guests are welcome to arrive earlier in the afternoon.

Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur. Pickups are made at Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5:00-5:30 p.m. each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person; please notify us in advance.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. We use organically produced meats, poultry and dairy products, and our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also discourage participants from having guests. Alas, no pets.

The themefor the illustration of this catalog is "Hands", states the designer, Red Dog Pieface. "Throughout history, the hand in art has had special significance, ritualistic and symbolical: from the earliest white stuccoed imprints of both hands of an Aurignacian cave dweller to the pointing finger of Uncle Sam. We have chosen such items among many as: the "I do not detail you, I totalize you" accuracy of Toulouse-Lautrec's Yvette Guilbert (p. 11); defensive holdings and lettings-go as notated by Hokusai (pp. 10-35); Fernand Leger's reminding us that peek-a-boo requires faces as well as hands; the slender power of Akhenaten extending itself toward a sun that shone over all of Egypt as long as he regned (p. 2); a 12th century hindu temple deity writing somewhere between heaven and earth (p. 20); the 16th century French tapestry called 'Touch', or the Refinement of the Senses, at its most dramatic moment (p. 32)."

THE ACT OF WILL
by
Roberto Assagioli, M.D.

The Act of Will is a new "Esalen Book," published by the Viking Press. Its author, Roberto Assagioli, is the inventor of psychosynthesis. The book is a practical training manual for the human will but it also contains a full theoretical exposition. Here are a few brief excerpts.

From the Introduction

If a man from a previous civilization – an ancient Greek, let us say, or a Roman – suddenly appeared among present-day humanity, his first impressions would probably lead him to regard it as a race of magicians and demigods. But were he a Plato or a Marcus Aurelius and refused to be dazzled by the material wonders created by advanced technology, and were he to examine the human condition more carefully, his first impressions would give place to great dismay.

He would soon notice that, though man had acquired an impressive degree of power over nature, his knowledge of and control over his inner being were very limited. He would perceive that this modern "magician", capable of descending to the bottom of the ocean and projecting himself to the moon, is largely ignorant of what is going on in the depths of his unconscious and is unable to reach up to the luminous superconscious levels, to become aware of his true Self. This supposed demigod, controlling great electrical forces with a movement of the finger, and flooding the air with sound and pictures for the entertainment of millions, would be seen to be incapable of dealing with his own emotions, impulses and desires.

As several writers, Toynbee among them, have pointed out, this wide gulf between man's external and inner powers is one of the most important and profound causes of the individual and collective evils which afflict our civilization and gravely menace its future. Man has had to pay dearly for his material achievements. His life has become richer, broader, and more stimulating, but at the same time more complicated and exhausting. Its rapidly increasing tempo, the opportunities it offers for gratifying his desires, and the intricate economic and social machinery in which it has enmeshed him make ever more insistent demands on his energy, his mental faculties, his emotions and his will . . .

The individual often lacks the resource to cope with the difficulties and pitfalls of this kind of existence. His resistance often crumbles in the face of the demands, the confusions, and the enticements it imposes. The ensuing disturbance leads to increasing discouragement, frustration and even desperation.

The remedy for these evils – the narrowing and the eventual closing of this fatal gap between man's external and his inner powers – has been and should be sought in two directions: the simplification of his external life; and the development of his inner powers.

From the Chapter
"The Existential Experience Of the Will"

The experience of the will constitutes both a firm foundation and a strong incentive for starting the exacting but most rewarding task of its training. It occurs in three phases: the first is the recognition that the will exists; the second concerns the realization that each of us has a will. The third phase of the discovery, which renders it complete and effective, is that of being a will (this is different from "having" a will).

At a given moment, perhaps during a crisis, one has a vivid and unmistakable inner experience of its reality and nature. When danger threatens to paralyze us, suddenly, from the mysterious depths of our being, surges an unsuspected strength which enables us to place a firm foot on the edge of the precipice or confront an aggressor calmly and resolutely . . .

The inner experience of "willing" may come also in other, more quiet and subtle ways. During periods of silence and meditation, in the careful examination of our motives, in moments of thoughtful deliberation and decision, a "voice", small but distinct, will sometimes make itself heard urging us to a specific course of action, a prompting which is different from that of our ordinary motives and impulses. We feel that it comes from the central core of our being. Or else an inner illumination makes us aware of the reality of the will with an overwhelming conviction that asserts itself, irresistibly.

However, the simplest and most frequent way in which we discover our will is through determined action and struggle. When we make a physical and mental effort, when we are actively wrestling with some obstable or coping with opposing forces, we feel a specific power rising up within us; and this inner energy gives us the experience of "willing".

From the Chapter
"The Skillful Will"

Modern psychology has shown that if the will puts itself in direct opposition to the other psychological forces, such as the imagination, emotions, or drives, it will often be overpowered. Yet the limited "Victorian" conception of the will as force alone prompts us to use our will in just such a direct, and often clumsy, or even brutal way. Or, as a reaction, we may swing to the opposite extreme, of not using the will at all.

In other words . . . there are two general types of mistakes caused by the extreme attitudes held towards the will and its relation to the other psychological functions. One is the traditional attempt to force these functions into operation by sheer power and direct imposition. The other extreme, which is prevalent today, is the abdication of the will: an attitude whereby urges, drives and desires are allowed to "happen" without any regulation or consistent direction. In such a situation, the function that is strongest at the moment will capture our attention and express itself, and in so doing will inhibit or repress all the other less powerful functions. This produces inner conflict and stress, reduced effectiveness through dispersal of energies, and potentially harmful reactions within oneself, and between oneself and others.

We can avoid both these types of mistakes when we realize and remember that the will is capable of achieving its purpose, provided it is not only strong but also skillful.

The essential function of the skillful will, which we need to cultivate, is the attitude of looking for that strategy which is most effective and which entails the greatest economy of effort, rather than the strategy that is most direct and obvious. For example, if we want to get a car going and we get behind it and push with all our strength, we use a will which is only strong. But if we sit in the driver's seat, turn on the ignition, and drive the car, we use a skillful will. In the first case we have a considerable probability of failing, and even if successful, we will have needlessly expended a considerable amount of energy. We will have made a very unpleasant effort which may leave us temporarily exhausted, and we will certainly do our best to avoid repeating such an experience in the future. In the second case, we are guaranteed success with a bare minimum of effort – provided we have previously acquired an understanding of the car and sufficient skill in handling it.

The most effective and satisfactory role of the will is not as a source of direct power or force, but as that function which, being at our command, can stimulate, regulate, and direct all the other functions and forces of our being, so that they may lead us to our goal . . .

From the Chapter
"The Good Will"

In the consideration of the development of the will up to now, the individual has been regarded as an isolated unit with his will as an instrument of personal achievement. But in reality the isolated man does not exist: he is in constant interaction with his family, his working associates and society in general. His relationships are many and diverse.

However strong and able he may be, an individual who fails to take these relationships into consideration inevitably arouses reactions and conflicts that often defeat his aims. This seems obvious, yet modern life presents the spectacle of a general clash of wills on the part of those who compete for dominance in all fields. Class is in conflict with class, party with party, and nation with nation, while within the family unit there is frequent strife between husband and wife, between parents and children, and between relatives. Incalculable is the enormous wastage of physical and psychological energies, of time, money and volitional energy, and incalculable is the sum of human suffering bred from these struggles . . .

This is a matter of grave concern not only to humanitarians, but to those who are "practical" in a deeper, wider sense as well. Thus, many attempts are being made to replace competition with cooperation, conflict with arbitration and agreement, based on an understanding of right relations between groups, classes and nations. All this is basically a question of willing. The success of these attempts depends on the gradual harmonization of the wills of all concerned.

From the Chapter
"The Stages of the Willing Act"

The act of will consists of six sequential phases or stages. They are:

1. The Purpose, Aim, or Goal, based on Evaluation, Motivation, and Intention.
2. Deliberation.
3. Choice and Decision.
4. Affirmation: the Command, or "Fiat," or the Will.
5. Planning, and working out a program.
6. Direction of the Execution.

These six stages are like the links in a chain, therefore the chain itself – that is, the act of willing – is only as strong as its weakest link. So the performance of an act of will is going to be more or less successful and effective according to how successfully and effectively each of the stages is carried out.

From the Chapter
"The Joyous Will"

The association of will with joy may seem surprising, because the will has generally been considered as something stern, exacting, forbidding, denying, particularly since the Victorian period.

Yet, the "act of willing" can be and often is intrinsically joyous. In order to realize this, it is necessary to have a clear conception of the nature and the various aspects and manifestations of joy . . .

AN EDUCATION FOR THE WHOLE PERSON

by
Stuart Miller

A Note on Wholeness as an Educational Conception

"The schools should be helping the children to look within themselves and from this self-knowledge derive a set of values." (From Maslow, The Farther Reaches of Human Nature).

"We studied the history of several major courses at the general education level of college. Typically, we found that in the original state of objectives there was frequently as much emphasis given to affective objectives as to cognitive objectives . . . However . . . over a period of ten to twenty years, we found a rather rapid dropping of the affective objectives from the statements about the course and an almost complete disappearance of efforts at appraisal of student growth in this domain. It was evident to us that there is a characteristic type of erosion in which the original intent of a course or educational program becomes worn down to that which can be explicitly evaluated for grading purposes and that which can be taught easily through verbal methods (lectures, discussions, reading materials, etc.).

(From Krathwohl, Bloom and Masia, Taxonomy of Educational Objectives, The Classification of Educational Goals, Handbook II: Affective Domain).

A BRIEF LOOK AT SOME LARGER CONTEXTS

The Historical Context

The history of education, properly so-called, is a history of the education of the whole person. But the history of American education in recent decades has generally been to define education in much narrower terms: mere technical mastery, only knowledge of subject matters, just the ability to perform certain limited cognitive functions. In order to understand how our own recent notions of education have been limited by the particular circumstances of our time, it is useful to review the main line of western education.

For the Greek child, education was defined as a kind of general goal. A thousand years before Christ, Homer applauds the hero who is "a speaker of words and a doer of deeds." Such a man is a product of paidea, education in the sense of a total formation that has its intellectual aspects and its active ones, private and public, cognitive and affective. Hundreds of years later, for Socrates and Plato, the educational process is viewed as tending toward the harmonious and balanced development of the child. The illumined or philosophical mind is supreme in Plato's system, but it achieves supremacy by knowing and mastering the body and the passions. From these earliest times to the present the ideal of western man has been a whole man, a man whose person is a just combination of what is right and best. Body, emotions, mind and spirit must all be educated and formed into such a harmony. Milton's instructions to the aspirant poet were not simply that he go out and study literature in a narrowly cognitive sense (though that was obviously critical). In addition, Milton said, the aspirant poet must study and form himself: "He who would not be frustrate of his hopes to write hereafter in laudible things must himself be a true poem; that is, a just combination of what is right and best."

Though exact definitions of what is the fully finished character changes through time, the definition of education is always an educated person. To take the history of higher education in this country, we see a religious emphasis in the earliest colleges—all of the great American colleges were founded by ministers. Their aim was not merely the education of the intellect but the education of man who could bring spiritual wisdom to his flock. In the nineteenth century this tradition continues, arriving at a pluralistic system of higher education spread over half a continent but one in which the education of character is considered to be the central function. So one can remember, not so long ago, when the point of a young person choosing a college was to choose what kind of a person he or she wanted to be. Thus, for example, one spoke of "a Yale man" or "a Vassar woman" and in speaking of whatever college it was that a person chose, a generalized image would come to mind of a kind of human being that typified the education provided by that college.

It is amusing to review this history because it reveals how unorthodox, how untraditional, how radical (in a deep sense) is the view that education equals mind. One could say that this current definition of education is a heresy unparalleled in the long story of western education.

Surely, however, there were complex and profound reasons that caused the over-emphasis in the last half century on cognitive training. One might list among those reasons the demands of an increasingly technical society for specialized human components, the Cold War fears that led to nations mobilizing entire populations in preparation for total war, the marvellous triumphs of physical science which required more and more intellectual training for mastery. On the other side one might also find a disillusion, already evident in the 1920's, with character models then available—at least in the colleges. The beer-drinking fraternity boy, the football functionary, the sexist smoker, the gentlemen C, the hypocritical attendant at "required Chapel", were elements of the complete "college man" that did not seem very appealing. These were debasements of a proper concern with the body, the interpersonal relations, the spiritual and emotional life of the educated person. The humanistic tradition seemed to have petered out and we began our massive experiment with cognitive education.

So American universities reconstituted themselves on new models, chief among them the model of the German graduate school. Research, publication, knowledge of fact and technique became critical. Somehow it was hoped that enough sheer knowledge would save us.

It has become increasingly clear that knowledge is not enough.

The Present Context

While the ideal of education for the whole person, to make a person whole, has been the main ideal of all liberal education down through the ages, many people in the past were denied such an education. Those who were to be petty functionaries in life's drama: the workers, the shopkeepers, the non-leaders, were to receive only enough vocational education and "morality" as would keep them producing and out of trouble. It was only the upper classes that would receive the education called "liberal" (from the Latin liberus, meaning free: an education suited to free men and not to slaves). But the combination of a variety of trends have made such a wholistic education a vital necessity.

First, ours is a democratic country, a country where it is hoped that more and more people will enter into full and free participation in the society. Secondly, in many ways beyond politics people have become freer than all previous generations. They have freed themselves from the ties of family, of tradition, of old definitions of sexual roles, of racial roles, of the requirements to reside in one place, and so forth. It has become a cliche to say that people will have three vocations at least during their work careers. And with all this freedom have come the negative sides. Deracination, alienation, physical and mental stress, divorce, psychosomatic disease, drugs and the hundred other maladies of modern life so well summarized by Alvin Toffler as "future shock".

With such freedom and such stress it becomes almost a necessity for survival that education concern itself with the whole person once more. And that means a renewed concern with the body of the child, his or her feelings, his moral and spiritual development, and the relation of these one to another and to the life of the mind. We return once again to the traditional definitions of education: self-knowledge leading to self-mastery. We see the desperate need for some inner cultivation of the child that will make him immune to the tragic escapism of drugs. We feel the need of schools and other institutions to help a person acquire that inward poise that will make bearable the wrenching changes of the future shock society. The industry of psychotherapy thrives as never before, grows portentously, as the technically successful adult realizes that he or she has an insufficiently educated personality with which to meet strain. Science conquers microbes but stressful "diseases of civilization" (heart disease, cancer, hypertension) continue to increase the number of their victims. Ironically, physicians die younger than their patients because their highly technical education has taught them only concepts about dealing with their own stresses.

A curriculum or a training program that prepares a person for life in the present context must be multidimensional. It must educate the mind so that a person can think easily and creatively while scientific innovation makes of "objective truth" only a set of temporary approximations. The educated person must be able to deal with the emotional stresses that modern life exacts. He must know how to avert the harmful consequences of such stresses on his body. He must find his free center, his self, his inner guide, his spirit—in a world where outside authority increasingly becomes distrusted. He must move from such profound self-knowledge and self-development toward contact with others and with society. And all this is necessary for simple and healthy survival.

The Future Prospect

Fortunately, along with the difficult challenges of modern life have arisen appropriate cultural responses. Ways are being found by educators, social scientists, and many others not only to revive the tradition of humanistic education but to make them relevant to our less doctrinaire time. Theoretical investigations and empirical research have combined to produce useful directions and practical techniques for humanistic education. What this amounts to is not the mere promise of survival in a difficult society but larger evolutions, a larger transcendence.

The time is full of opportunity. Freed from the trappings of particular doctrines of the past, a person living in the end of the twentieth century can go in search of the spirit underlying the letter. So perhaps for the first time in human history one can envision an education in which human values are discovered by most pupils, rather than forced upon them. One can envision an education in which a student is taught to find his inner authority rather than cleverly subjected to outer authority. One can imagine an education in which the body is no longer a mere tool to be used but an integral part of the human person to be harmonized.

None of this need contradict a wise and vital emphasis on content, subject matter, technical and scientific mastery. Nor should it. The "farther reaches of human nature" of which Maslow spoke in his last book are human achievements grounded in reality—in such realities as

Approaches To

SOME DEFINITIONS OF TERMS

AIKIDO

Aikido is a Japanese art of self-defense with the emphasis placed on centering, harmony and blending. It is presented as a physical manifestation of energy and spiritual Laws of the Universe.

ALEXANDER TECHNIQUE

The Alexander Technique is a method of re-educating the body that can have dramatic effects on the whole person. By applying sensory awareness, inhibition and conscious choice to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking and bending, under conditions of continuous feedback from an instructor, we can experience the specific ways in which we interfere with the natural flow of our total pattern and learn to permit and encourage a response that will strengthen our innate tendency towards an integrated use of ourselves – allowing new alternatives of movement and being. Guided by the direct touch of the instructor's hands, the process involves a gentle reorganization of the body in movement and at rest.

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this energetic process.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement – to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness – to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility – to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

Personal Growth

FREQUENTLY MENTIONED IN THE CATALOG:

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to technique. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal-keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced acutalization of one's life.

POLARITY THERAPY

Polarity therapy is an intensive pressure-point massage system similar in both theory and practice to Chinese acupuncture. Developed and synthesized by Dr. Randolph Stone from Oriental traditions many centuries old, its purpose is to realign posture and to release blocked energy throughout the body. Although advanced work in polarity therapy requires extensive training, a number of its more basic techniques are accessible to the interested layperson.

ROLFING

See STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION

SENSORY AWARENESS

Sensory awareness is Charlotte Selver's name for the work she studied with Elsa Gindler in Berlin and brought to the United States in 1938. Workshops in sensory awareness aim at a state of intellectual quiet in which each activity can be fully felt and allowed to find its natural way, free of inhibitions, techniques and images. When ideas are stilled, sense perceptions coming from the entire organism enable the person to function authentically, according to his nature, in all situations. Closely akin, in its pure form, to the practice of zen, sensory awareness brings the essential character of meditation to every aspect of daily living.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

STRUCTURAL PATTERNING

Structural Patterning in Stillness and Motion, a system designed by Ida Rolf and Judith Aston to achieve structural balance and movement efficiency, works by reinforcing the body in its relationship to the pull of gravity. It directs itself toward providing for change through movement, rather than attempting to achieve idealized static postures. Work sessions are arranged in sequences, and basic movements are gradually integrated into more complex action. The patterns themselves are slow, sometimes subtle, and are done to produce change through awareness.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese phylosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

TRANSPERSONAL

Transpersonal generally refers to transcendence, mystical experience, peak experience and parapsychological phenomena.

SPIRITUAL AND THERAPEUTIC TYRANNY: THE WILLINGNESS TO SUBMIT

DECEMBER 7-8, 1973 SAN FRANCISCO

Many persons have proposed that we are now in a time of new spiritual awakening, a new openness in self-confrontation, an evolutionary burst in human consciousness, a transformation.

Over the last decade, as evidence of this, an increasing number of Americans have become involved in a myriad of religious and therapeutic movements. Esalen Institute is itself a manifestation of this phenomenon.

The purpose of this conference is to explore the destructive potential of certain aspects of spiritual and therapeutic movements, some of the seldom discussed techniques and structures of spiritual tyranny, the problem of authority and authoritarianism, the potential misuse of psychic powers.

We are inviting current religious and therapeutic leaders, and critics of the movement, to probe these crucial issues which are part of the age of awakening.

QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

Catharsis as a technique for instilling belief.

What are the problems of overbelief?

Spiritual one-upmanship.

Encounter as tyranny.

Low self-esteen and the willingness to submit.

The halo effect around gurus.

Authoritarian personalities and true believers.

Politics of psychic power.

Inclusion and exclusion as techniques of control.

Discipilism.

PROGRAM

Sessions of the conference will be held Friday evening, Saturday morning, Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening and will include lectures ($3); workshops ($8); films and discussions ($5).

All event pass – one ticket good for any and all events: $22/general; $16/student.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE/WEST UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE PROGRAM AT ESALEN

Advanced undergraduate students (anyone who has completed some undergraduate work at any college or university) may enroll at Antioch College/West in San Francisco and work for their B.A. degree at Esalen. Course work is accredited through Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio; the B.A. degree is from Antioch College/West and the Union for Experimenting Colleges and Universities.

Students develop their own educational programs incorporating regularly scheduled Esalen workshops and courses and individual work created in conjunction with the Esalen staff. Esalen leaders and staff act as faculty and counselors for students in the program.

Tuition for an academic year (generally nine months) is $2700; students may begin their programs at any time. Financial aid is available. This program also qualifies for Veterans and Social Security benefits.

Inquiries for admission should be directed to: Ms. Cristy Willer, Antioch College/West, 149 Ninth Street, San Francisco, CA 94103. Information about program content and design should be addressed to: Arthur Fox, College Program, c/o Esalen/San Francisco.

November 5-December 10

Advanced Massage Training
Gunver Jackson assisted by Carolyn Sawyer

Six Monday evenings $90

Emphasis will be on the development of each individual's approach to massage, rather than on specific techniques. To learn to release tensions efficiently and with economy, participants will practice "reading" various body structures and muscular groups. Further attention will be given to concepts of healing and to the relationship between massage and breathing. Limited to 14 persons. Include statement of previous massage training and background with registration fee. November 5, 12, 19, 26, December 3 and 10; 7-11 p.m.

ESALEN COLLEGE PROGRAM

For the past year approximately 20 students currently enrolled in Antioch/West and Goddard Colleges were also accepted by Esalen to study here and receive credit from their respective colleges. Esalen is now expanding its college program to involve those students currently enrolled in any college or university in the U.S. or abroad who would like to spend a semester or longer at Esalen. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of academic credit at their schools for the program of study done at Esalen. The Esalen staff will assist students in documenting their work here.

The Esalen College Program is designed to include: advisor-tutors, who meet with students individually, recommend and discuss readings, and coordinate the students' overall program, which the student creates from the total catalog program offering; twice-a-month group meetings of the Esalen students and their advisors; and courses or workshops specifically for students in the program. We expect that most students will proceed from a broad exposure to concentrated study in one area. Students and teachers interested in designing programs with Esalen should write: Arthur Fox, College Program, C/o Esalen/San Francisco.

November 3–May 5

Extended Growth Program
George Downing

Six month program $550

The Extended Growth Program is an in-depth, continuing six-month program in the San Francisco Bay Area; it combines a selected schedule of workshops with ongoing small group work under the direction of the program coordinator, George Downing. As a non-resident program in an urban area, it provides a way for persons to experience directed and focused work in several disciplines while living and working in their own environment.

George Downing writes: "This year's program will provide an opportunity to explore and to integrate a number of different pathways toward personal growth. Our focus will be on the body as the source and center of our being; and on our individual styles of making contact, both with ourselves and with other persons. We will make extensive use of gestalt, meditation and dream journals, and a variety of methods of working intensively with the body, including breath awareness, Feldenkrais techniques, movement, Esalen massage, polarity therapy and others. An intellectual as well as an emotional understanding of our shared experience will be encouraged."

The program consists of the following, all in the San Francisco area: continuous group work with George Downing during the six-month period, specifically one evening meeting per week; two weekend workshops with George Downing (November 3–4 and May 4–5); one special weekend workshop for program members only with Stanley Keleman; and three weekend programs to be selected by participants according to individual interest from regularly scheduled Esalen/San Francisco workshops during the November through April period. A month will be taken off for Christmas vacation from mid-December to mid-January.

Limited to 16 persons, selection will be made by interview with George Downing between October 15 and November 1. If you are interested in applying, send a letter briefly telling us about yourself. We will contact you after October 15 about an interview.

Women's Studies

The Women's Studies Program is designed and coordinated by women collectively. Workshops are priced on a sliding scale according to participants' abilities to pay.

THE WOMEN'S STUDIES PROGRAM

The Women's Studies Program has begun in order to include female consciousness as part of Esalen's long range programming. Until recently this major state of consciousness has been omitted from most Esalen programs, from humanistic psychology in general, from the helping professions and from our socialization in Western culture.

Our aim is to include and make available the woman's point of view to workshop participants and to ourselves as group coordinators; to correct misconceptions by re-examining history, facts and theories; to acknowledge the role played by women in the cultural, political and economic development of the world's civilizations; and from this to develop new and particularly female growth tools and therapeutic forms.

Our point of departure is that not much is known about women; that the information available in the West has been compiled principally by men and/or by women trained in a male-dominated culture. This means starting from scratch, re-examining everything and gaining knowledge from other cultures (American Indians, Amazons, Etruscans, Spartans, etc.). There are no "experts", no "leaders". The program's main orientation is toward getting in touch with buried parts of ourselves and coming out, thereby trading information and skills.

Specific cross-cultural studies will include both the conscious and unconscious roles of women in the world as mirrored in dreams, myths, legends, folk customs, alchemy, religions and art.

Women's Studies programs will explore the following categories:

Female Consciousness: menstruation, pregnancy, menopause, language, art, literature, feelings, body/mind;

Female Sexuality: masturbation, orgasm, lesbianism, bisexuality, heterosexuality, child sexuality, etc.;

Sex Roles and Relationships: comparative cross-cultural studies of women's roles, matriarchies and patriarchies – a comparison, biological and social determinants of sex differences, children's sex and social role development, body language, models;

Third World Women: Courses and workshops to be developed by a committee of Third World Women.

Courses, workshops and groups range from pure theory courses to experiential workshops. They are aimed at specific groups or at general groups (including men and children). There are long-range programs, shorter workshops and a guest lecture series.

LONG-TERM PROGRAMS

The first Women's Studies long-range program, Female Consciousness, began in September and will continue through mid-December. A second long-term program is scheduled to begin in January and will be announced in the next catalog.

ANNE KENT RUSH, authoress of Getting Clear: Body Work for Women, will be the guest at the Esalen Bookshop Open House, Friday, November 2nd, 8 p.m. Refreshments – Free – Drop-In at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

EVENING SERIES

The Women's Studies Program is beginning a series of evenings to present women writers and artists and to explore specific areas of interest to women. Though the programs are oriented toward female consciousness, men are welcome to attend. Proceeds from these evenings will go toward maintaining sliding scale prices for women's workshops.

Wednesday, October 17

An Evening with Phyllis Chesler

$3 general, $2 student and unemployed; 8-10:30 p.m., First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Phyllis Chesler, author of Women and Madness, feels that "sex-role stereotypes are at the heart of much of what we call 'mental illness'; that biology and culture combine to ensure that women be self-sacrificing, compassionately maternal, dependent & unadventurous. Independent, creative or self-assertive behaviour is often punished by husbands and therapists."*

Women & Madness*, P. Chesler, Doubleday & Co.

Monday, November 5

The Women's Studies Program: An Introduction

FREE; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

An evening with members of the Women's Studies collective to introduce our ideas on women's studies and to answer questions about the program.

Monday, November 12

An Evening with Betty Dodson

$3 general, $2 student and unemployed; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

BETTY DODSON, erotic artist, feminist, sexual pioneer, has been experimenting with alternative life styles for women focusing on economic and sexual mobility. She is interested in pleasure-based power for women and men.

Thursday, December 6

An Evening with Anaïs Nin

$3 general, $2 student and unemployed; 8-10:30 p.m., Kabuki Theater in the Japanese Cultural Center West Building, 1881 Post Stret (Post & Webster Streets) San Francisco.

ANAIS NIN sees the dream, the unconscious, creativity and art as liberating principles – as the keys to emotional fulfillment. Her Diary has become one of the unique literary documents of our time. It is the diary of a woman becoming free and discovering what it means to be female.

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

WOMEN'S STUDIES WORKSHOPS

Thursday evenings Beginning November 1

Writing Workshop for Women
Diane di Prima

Continuing program
$0-$5 per session; $0-$35 for eight sessions (sliding scale).

As we hear each other's work and begin to explore the particular spaces that we live and write in, a mutual growth will take place. We will write to music, try various improvisational exercises, work with tape machines, with collage, etc. We will also explore the writings of women of the past and the particular problems that women face with their creativity. New dimensions of female consciousness will inevitably unfold and hopefully we will begin to map them. 7:30-10 p.m.

November 6-December 18

T'ai Chi Chuan
Judyth Weaver

Seven Tuesday evenings $0-$40 (sliding scale)

In this series for women we will cover the first section of the Yang form of T'ai Chi Chuan as taught by Professor Cheng Man-Ching. 8-10 p.m.

November 10-11

Women & The Media
Susan Margolis

Weekend workshop $0-$40 (sliding scale)

We've all had our expectations distorted by the media. This group will begin with the complaints we've harbored as members of the audience and then move on to how we can improve the media by using our heads, our talents, our skills, our scripts. If we come up with something, and if we choose to, we'll go see the media giants in Los Angeles and try to save them from themselves.

November 12-December 17

The Three Faces of the Goddess
Maggy Anthony

Six Monday evenings $0-$35 (sliding scale)

A group exploration of the feminine archetype through world mythologies. Emphasis will be on the inner experiences of women through personal expression of dream and fantasy material and the relationship of these to the archetype of the Great Goddess. 7:30-9:30 p.m. (Suggested reading: Mythology by Edith Hamilton; Women's Mysteries by M. Esther Harding; The Summer Before the Dark and The Four Gated City by Doris Lessing.)

Tuesday, November 13

Physical Consciousness Raising
Betty Dodson

Evening workshop $10-$15 (sliding scale)

This workshop is a physical and sexual consciousness raising group for women. We work in the nude which gives everyone permission to look at themselves and each other. We work out with yoga, breathing, martial arts warm-up exercises, and muscle strengthening. Body cleansing procedures are demonstrated and explained. The sexual emphasis is on masturbation as a way of discovering and exploring the body as a source of strength. 7-10 p.m.

Wednesday, November 14

Physical Consciousness Raising
Betty Dodson

Evening workshop $10-$15 (sliding scale)

(See description, November 13, above.)

November 17

Women's Legal Rights
S.F. Women's Legal Center

One-day workshop $0-$20 (sliding scale)

Women encounter discrimination in the laws and from the legal profession. We would like to provide a feminist approach to women's legal problems: to help women understand the legal system and demystify it; to define legal needs of women and develop strategies to meet them; to inform women of their legal rights so that they will demand them; and to bring women together to work on common legal needs. The workshop will cover important legal areas that affect women so that they can understand what to do to protect themselves.

November 18

Massage
Brenda Sales

One-day workshop $0-$20 (sliding scale)

Massage for women emphasizing the quality of touch—taking care—sensitizing ourselves.

November 24-25

Wilderness Survival for Women
Barbara Harwood

Weekend workshop $0-$50 (sliding scale)

An indoor workshop covering the following areas: shelter building (snowcave, lean-to), water (where to find it, building a solar still, purifying it, dehydration), food (building traps, testing food for poison and for personal allergy, fishing), fire (without matches, cooking, hot pit bed, signaling), first aid, back packing and camping, survival with children, and long term survival living. A follow-up camping trip is possible.

December 1-2

Women in Water
Barbara Lamblin

Weekend workshop $35

A discussion, poetry reading, practical demonstration and participation of your body as an active, athletic female — on land and in water. Water is a new and often frightening medium to relax in. We will work on land with stretching, breathing, massaging inflexible body parts to gain confidence with ourselves and each other before entering the water. Once in water these techniques will help us to achieve self control and confidence in our bodies submerged. Special emphasis on your own individual body. (Cosponsored by the Women's Studies Program and the Sports Center. Scholarships available.)

San Francisco

December 1

Sexuality, Feminism & Gay Consciousness
Sandra Aguilar & Marcia Kallen

One-day workshop $0-$20 (sliding scale)

A workshop for women in human sexuality. Exploration of the impact of feminism and gay consciousness. (This course is also available to men, run by men in the community. Contact the Women's Studies Program for details.)

December 8-9

The Role of Women in Social-Revolutionary Movements
Anne Weills

Weekend workshop $0-$50

The assumption of this seminar is that the liberation of women necessitates the liberation of all human beings. We will go back through history and examine the role and qualities which women have brought to that revolutionary process. We will bring things up-to-date by examining the ways in which women are affecting the revolutions in China, Vietnam and the United States. This exploration of the relationship between feminism and social revolution is just beginning, and hopefully we will contribute to it.

December 15

Let's Liberate Children
Shirley Boccaccio

One-day workshop $0-$20 (sliding scale)

Your Boeing 707 is making its approach to San Francisco International with a woman at the controls — how do you feel? Your husband or lover is sensitive and emotional and cries on occasion — would you question his masculinity? Mechanical aptitude and freedom of emotional expression are behavior characteristics which are perfectly acceptable by both sexes in the new children's books published by the Joyful World Press of San Francisco. As author and illustrator of the "Penelope" books, I will delve into the present limitations imposed upon children of both sexes in current text books and literature. There will be a slide show and open discussion on ways to change this present dehumanization of children. For women only.

December 16

Women's Music Workshop
Miranda

One-day workshop $0-$20 (sliding scale)

Primarily for women who want to play music, but for one reason or another haven't been able to make the first steps. We will explore rhythm, voice, and body movement. We believe we all have music in us and all we have to do is find the roads to free it. We'll listen to music, make sounds on various instruments and talk about the ecstasy and obstacles of women and music. Limited to 12 women.

Childcare can be arranged during all weekends for San Francisco workshops. See page 42.

San Francisco

Psychosynthesis

Esalen Institute Psychosynthesis Programs are offered in cooperation with the Psychosynthesis Institute, and are coordinated by its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu.

November 2-4

Imagination
Tom Allen

Weekend workshop $50

Each of us has experienced ways in which we limit our perceptions and our responses. These limited ways of being in the world are almost always fixed patterns of behavior that repeat and repeat. In this workshop we will explore the many ways in which we can use the imaginative processes to get past stuck, repetitive places and make contact with inner resources which can lead to centered, vital living.

Thursday, November 29

Psychosynthesis: What It Is
Tom & Anne Yeomans

Single evening event
[FREE]; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

An introduction to the principles and practice of psychosynthesis as a means to increase personal and transpersonal awareness and growth.

December 7-9

Psychosynthesis: Coming Home
Tom and Anne Yeomans

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is for those who have had little or no experience with psychosynthesis but who know enough of it to be interested, and who want to explore its possibilities for fostering their own growth toward wholeness.

December 22

Reality
Steve Kull

One-day workshop $20

Our lives are limited by what we know as reality. What happens if we let go of the limitations we impose on ourselves? What happens if we let go of our definition of the universe? In this workshop we will explore the reality we live in and look for ways to let go of its limitations so as to open ourselves to new ways of perceiving and being in the world.

Hands of a young Jesus persuasively make their point in this study by Albrecht Durer.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS TRAINING

The Psychosynthesis Training series for Professionals is offered several times a year. Advanced individual training, following the Training Series, is available directly through the Psychosynthesis Institute.

October 30-December 9

Psychosynthesis Professional Training Series
Jim and Susan Vargiu and Associates of the Psychosynthesis Institute

Six Tuesday evenings, a weekend, and individual sessions. $240

A program designed for psychotherapists, educators, counselors and others involved in the helping professions. The group will explore the fundamentals of psychosynthesis, theoretically and experientially, in a coordinated program designed to give each participant both the understanding and the personal experience needed to begin to utilize and apply psychosynthesis within his own field.

The program includes: self-discovery and self-realization—identification and harmonization of subpersonalities—balancing and synthesis of opposites—integration of body, feelings, and mind—development of desired qualities—guided daydream principles and practice—release and utilization of psychological energies—"ideal models"—a model of personality in terms of energy fields—the nature of creativity and of imagination—Height Psychology and the Transpersonal Self—bridging the superconscious: inspiration and ascent-symbols, and the development of intuition—the inner dialogue—reflective and receptive meditation: principles and practice—meditation as a tool for directing energy—optimum utilization of current major approaches to growth.

We will work together so that each can recognize the process of psychosynthesis at work, both in himself and in the others. There will be assignments and exercises to complete between meetings. In addition, each participant will have one private psychosynthesis session, and will have the opportunity to observe one or two sessions of other members of the group. Further individual work during the six weeks period can be arranged.

Six Tuesday evenings, October 30-December 4, and weekend workshop, December 8 and 9. For application form, contact Esalen/San Francisco.

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

Open Workshop
Stanley Keleman
10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday $60

Stanley Keleman will be the guest author at the Esalen Bookshop Open House on Friday, October 26, and will be a participant in the symposium on "Spiritual and Therapeutic Tyranny" on December 7-8.

Professional Development Program

In November the Center for Energetic Studies begins a curriculum of professional development workshops, tutorials and seminars which will continue through the coming year. The overall intent of the program is to offer students contact with a deepening understanding of both the biological roots of experience and the applications of that understanding to personal and cultural life expression. The focus throughout will be on education and the developmental process seen from an energetic perspective, with special attention to the biological continuum of experience and the relationship between physical structure and expression.

The program begins with the two tutorial programs listed below, and will continue early next year with extended programs on the relationship between classical physiology and energetic studies, applications to family therapy and dialogues on the conjunctions of energetic studies and Jungian thought.

All programs are open to people in the helping professions, the arts and sciences. Please describe your background in a brief letter of application. Special consideration will be given to applicants who are interested in beginning an extended course of study at the Center.

OTHER ACTIVITIES of the Center during this period:

RUTH ALON will conclude her month-long teaching visit on November 8. Private appointments with her will be available until that date.

MONIQUE NAGY will conduct a training seminar for Center associates and will also be available for private appointments in the Eutonie method. Contact the Esalen office at (415) 771-1710.

Yoni mudra: the womb and mother-center of creation.

Childcare can be arranged during all weekends for San Francisco workshops. See page 42.

San Francisco

The purpose of the Esalen Sports Center is to develop new concepts, practices and teaching methods in athletics, physical education and recreation. These programs will seek to develop an interchange between Esalen type disciplines and the sporting experience. We feel the martial arts of China and Japan, dance, psychology, the Yogas and many Esalen body/mind disciplines have relevance in the playing and teaching of sports and recreation. All programs will be held in the San Francisco Bay Area except where noted.

YOGA, PHYSICAL CULTURE AND SPORT

The premise of these workshops is that sports can be practiced as a yoga through the application of yogic attitudes and techniques, and that the practice of physical postures, breathing, deep relaxation, concentration, meditation and knowledge of diet will enhance the individual experience of any sport or athletic experience. These workshops will combine instruction and practice of different aspects of yoga with a discussion of their interrelations with sports and body awareness. The integration of the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual sides of the individual's personality and a guided participation in a variety of sports and athletics, specially arranged to enhance the unfoldment of this interrelation is planned. Meditation in movement will be fully explored with particular yogic techniques to increase balance, concentration and coordination, and then applied to sports. The role of breath control, relaxation and energy will also be investigated. In all cases the emphasis will be on learning through doing and exploring the consciousness involved in playing the game.

Thursday, November 1
Introduction to Yoga and Sport
Paraman Barsel and Sumuki MacDonald

November 18-23
Five day Workshop in Big Sur
Paraman Barsel and Sumuki MacDonald
Big Sur program $220
See p. 30 for details.

November 3–4
Knowing Your Body in Water– A Family Workshop
Barbara Lamblin
Weekend workshop $35

This workshop will explore various ways of learning how to relax, breathe, float, swim and free oneself in the water. We will prepare the body by learning relaxation techniques of yoga breathing, limbering and stretching exercises as well as massage before entering the water.
Thus prepared, the actual movement in water will be an entirely new and revitalizing experience. These techniques can be practiced with a family group so as to encourage closer trust among family members. Location in the Bay Area to be announced.

November 4
Tennis Flow for Instructors
Dyveke Spino
One-day workshop $20

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music, and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. This workshop is designed specifically for those teaching tennis to others, and for those who desire exposure to certain bodies of knowledge not usually associated with the game. Also included will be a program to introduce cardiovascular conditioning, specifically designed for tennis players. 10 a.m.–5 p.m.

November 6–15
Running and Creativity
Mike Spino
Six mornings $20

The purpose of these sessions will be to combine jogging and running with artistic expression. We will not only devise an individual plan for incremental conditioning, but teach specific visualization, meditation and stretching exercises. Poetry, painting, dance and music will be the vehicles by which the running experience will be translated into an art form. This workshop will be held in Golden Gate Park on November 6, 7, 8 and 13, 14, 15 from 7–9 a.m.

November 6–January 8
Canoe Making and River Discovery
Andy Topo and Walt Anderson
Eight Tuesday Evenings
$150 or $225 per couple

The purpose of this endeavor is to take participants through the process of actually building a canoe to embarking on a spiritual river trip. The initial meetings will center around utilizing fiberglass molds created by Andy Topo, four-time Hungarian Olympian, into personally designed canoes. During this workshop people with little manual skill can complete a boat. During the entirety of the workshop techniques of sensory awakening, yoga and light encounter will be integrated into the sessions. The group will culminate in planning a weekend of canoeing. The time and location of this weekend will be decided by the group. Cost includes materials for one canoe. Sessions will be held from 7–10 p.m. on November 6, 13, 20, 27, December 4, 11, 18 and January 8.

Sports Center

Wednesday, November 7
Western Sport as Yoga
Michael Murphy
Evening Seminar $5 general and student

Certain states reported by athletes and by ordinary participants in sport resemble the expanded consciousness of yogis, shamans and followers of other spiritual disciplines. Mike Murphy is writing a book which explores the relationship between sport and expanded consciousness. This seminar will explore some aspects of that connection, e.g. the resemblance between siddhi and the powers released in certain sports. 8–10:30 p.m.

A SAILING WORKSHOP
Co-sponsored With The Oceanic Society

Access to the sea provides a forum for learning about oneself, the environment and human communication.
The Oceanic Society provides a seafaring experience through its Expedition Program which includes instruction in navigation and seamanship, contact with peoples and areas visited, and the experience of communicating in a close living situation. The Oceanic Society is dedicated to the protection of the oceans and oceanic life, the well-being of oceanic and island cultures, education in the maritime arts and sciences, marine research, and providing the means to go to sea. The Oceanic Society is located at 680 Beach Street, San Francisco, California 94109 (415) 771-6744.

November 9–16
A Voyage of Discovery On the Schooner New World
Wilson Van Dusen
Eight day workshop $350

Participants of this workshop upon boarding the 68 foot schooner will join New World's crew as active members of this seafaring community.

This workshop will be an exploration of experiences at the interface of the person, the sea and yachting. We will break people out of old roles to experience themselves managing a racing yacht. There will be some examination of conscious experience of this role change; but the real emphasis will be on doing and experiencing in an unusual setting. The yacht New World will sail from San Francisco to Los Angeles, a coastal voyage, anchoring at some of the Channel Islands en route. No boating knowledge or experience is necessary. This workshop will be equally exciting for the novice or the experienced. Limited to nine people.

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

November 9–11
Body Flying: An Experience in Self-Launch Flight
Alan Dimen and Kent Trimble
Week-end workshop $55

In this workshop, participants will learn to fly with lightweight, self-launch, kite shaped wings. This not-so-recent technology confronts us with many possibilities and challenges via the knowledge of aero-dynamic theory. The first evening will be spent introducing participants to the equipment and concept of body flying, and the next two days will be spent exploring flight. Participants should be in good physical condition and capable of moderately strenuous exertion. Insurance and equipment included.

November 10–11
Aikido and Creativity in Sport
Bob Nadeau
Weekend workshop $40

Through the physical art of aikido we will work with a psychological and philosophical approach to movement. We will learn how to observe attitudes in motion and how to make corrections and improvements on those attitudes leading to a more complete mind/body unity.

November 17–18
Tennis Flow
Dyveke Spino
Weekend workshop $40

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music, and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. The workshop is designed for beginners as well as advanced students of the game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

Eskimo print: "Joyfully, I Count 10 Caribou!"

November 18
The Way of Hiking
Walt Anderson
One-day workshop $5

On a one-day stroll we will explore the idea that yoga, meditation, sensory awakening, encounter and the putting of one foot in front of another are all harmonious activities, and may even be the same thing. Bring lunch. Instructions to follow.

November 24–December 2
Nine Days in the Bahamas– A Reunion With the Sea
Ron Clark, Willy Myers, Bob Kriegel
Nine-day workshop $585

The sea has long provided us with a profound metaphor and dream symbol. It offers many unique opportunities to develop mind/body unity in a different gravity situation, and to explore our new/old environment, psychologically, physically and sensually.
This workshop on a secluded island in the Exumas, Bahamas, will focus on points of integration between land and sea experiences. Traditional growth techniques will be integrated with scuba diving, spear fishing, snorkeling, sailing, deep sea fishing, water skiing, tennis, and blending with the sun, sea, air and earth. All equipment including room and board will be supplied. The round trip fare from Miami to Georgetown, Exumas, Bahamas is approximately $65. Deadline for reservations is October 1.

November 24
A Day of Jogging
Mike Spino
One-day workshop $15

During a single day it is possible to understand the rudiments of jogging. Running techniques, progressive workouts, visualizations and artistic imagination will be combined to help individuals plan comprehensive exercise schedules. 10 a.m.–5 p.m.

December 1-2
Women in Water
Barbara Lamblin
Weekend workshop $35

A discussion, poetry reading, practical demonstration and participation of your body as an active, athletic female – on land and in water. Water is a new and often frightening medium to relax in. We will work on land with stretching, breathing, massaging inflexible body parts to gain confidence with ourselves and each other before entering the water. Once in water these techniques will help us to achieve self control and confidence in our bodies submerged. Special emphasis on your own individual body. (Cosponsored by the Women's Studies Program and the Sports Center. Scholarships available.)

The Sports Center is publishing a bimonthly newsletter which is devoted to developing an interchange of new concepts, practices and information in sports, physical education and recreation. If you would like a copy, just drop us a note, c/o Esalen/San Francisco. Sports Center representatives are also available to give talks, lecture-demonstrations, workshops and clinics, and to design courses for schools.

Esalen Sports Center and Outward Bound

Beginning in January, Esalen Sports Center will co-sponsor a series of workshops with the Outward Bound School. This program will address itself to the nature of personal boundaries–physical, emotional and social. The structure of the workshops will offer the opportunity to develop physical survival skills as well as to deal with and share the emotions associated with positive struggle. In this setting–the desert and mountains of Big Bend National Park in South West Texas –the senses can be cleansed and the basic simplicity of survival appreciated. The workshop, co-led by David Schiffman (Esalen staff leader) and Dick Galland, director of the Texas Outward Bound School, will combine the Outward Bound skills training with Esalen techniques for awareness and growth. For further information contact The Esalen Sports Center.

December 1
Exploring Sport Through Body Movement and Ritual
Anna Halprin
One-day workshop $20

Sport and dance are modes of physical expression which have been viewed historically in the context of social, and often sacred ritual. Ahtletics in contemporary American society, from mass spectacle to individual games, can be viewed as forms of ritual, ceremony and initiation. In this workshop we will explore various ritualistic components of sport, dance and body movement.

December 6–20
Skiing, Rhythm and Movement
Bob Kriegel, Dyveke Spino, Bob Nadeau and Judy Aston
Three Thursday evenings $25

This workshop is designed for praticipants to find their own natural grace on skis. It will focus on learning to ski with more rhythmic, flowing, balanced and centered movements.

Each evening will introduce techniques such as: sensory awareness and movement, visualization, the Feldenkrais approach, energy awareness and structural patterning. The focus will be on integrating the principles of these disciplines into skiing. December 6, 13, 20. 7 p.m.–11 p.m.

December 7–9

Movement in Sport – Sensing Awareness
Bob Kriegel
One-day workshop $20

Most Western sport is taught in a mechanical way with "how to" books detailing rights and wrongs for each movement. In this workshop we will emphasize the sensing of movement and the discovery of each individual's natural flow and rhythm. We will explore basic rhythms and movements that are indigenous to all sports.

December 15
New Games
Bob Kriegel and Stewart Brand
One-day workshop $10

The values espoused in American sports and games are a reflection of the culture's basic values. This workshop will explore the process of developing new games and play whose themes are more humanistic in nature. They will be designed to increase participation and increase the development of mind/body unity. Participants will be invited to design as well as play new games during the workshop. 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

December 15–16
Physical Education and Energy
George Leonard
Weekend workshop $50

Many ancient and modern disciplines of personal health, growth and change depend upon concepts of "energy flows" in and around the bodies of living things. Western science has not yet identified all of these biofields, but some significant work is under way, as in acupuncture, for example. Using techniques derived from aikido and breathing, Mr. Leonard will present his approach to the human biofield. He will discuss the application of biofield work to sports, games and physical education. Through bodily movement and exercises in perception, consciousness and being, participants will experience their energy bodies in interaction with nature and other people, and will practice centering and heightened awareness.

Wednesday, December 19 – David Schiffman

November 2-4
Life at Midstream
Laney Stephens
Weekend workshop $25

It's time for a change: you've made parts of it, you're about to make it; you're thinking about thinking about it. But there are these considerations and goblins, even monsters that keep "it" from happening. So, we'll join hands while we face them together, slay our dragons, breathe through fire from the safety of sharing/openness. No leader's fee: we'll be in this together. Limited to 18 participants.

November 16-18
Fair Fight Training for Couples
Lewis & Brandy Engel
Weekend workshop $90 per couple

In this weekend 8 couples will have the opportunity to learn and practice the basic techniques of Fair Fight Training as outlined in The Intimate Enemy by Dr. George Bach. Lewis and Brandy Engel write: "We teach a method for making constructive use of the aggressive feelings generated by the daily frictions, tensions and conflicts that inevitably arise in an intimate relationship. We feel that Fair Fight Training can be a source of revitalization, excitement, growth and change in a couple's life together."

November 23-25
Exploring Self-Acceptance
David Schiffman
Weekend workshop $50

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning.

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good
Harry Sloan
Single evening event
$2 general, $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Frequently participants come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. This evening will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen.

See description below. Limited to 14.

November 3-4

Integrating Approaches to Mind-Body Harmony: Feldenkrais & Aikido
Ruth Alon and Robert Frager

Weekend workshop $50

A Workshop for Professionals & Advanced Students of Body Work. The Feldenkrais exercises are designed to improve posture and movement by providing new possibilities for body movement. Old patterns of activity are broken up so the mind can observe new potentials. The Feldenkrais system deals directly with the interaction between mind and body; every quality of movement and posture is seen as an expression of a certain psychological attitude. Aikido and other eastern disciplines such as yoga and t'ai chi chuan are complementary approaches to the development of mind-body harmony. We will focus on eastern techniques of centering and approaching movement as a flow of energy directly related to mental attitudes and images. The workshop is designed primarily for those who have experience in body work and who are interested in an introduction to various theories and practices they can apply to their own work. There will be ample time for discussion and sharing as well as for experiencing new techniques.

November 5-November 26

Hatha Yoga
Amrita (Eva Forest)

Four Monday evenings $3.50 per class

The course covers over thirty basic asanas plus a number of warm-up and transitional exercises. Some time will also be devoted to pranavama and related breathing techniques. Participants will learn to stretch, arch and relax the body in a mild, methodical way in order to tap latent energy, and gain greater harmony and balance within and towards the world. 7:30-9:30 p.m.

November 5–December 17

Emotional Integration through the Body and its Language
Doris Breyer

Seven Monday evenings $45

Posture, facial expressions, breathing and such express the way that people have been taught to hold back certain feelings (i.e. anger, affection). Through simple exercises participants learn to explore these expressions and re-experience their origins. This series is limited to 8 people; the time is 7-8 p.m. each evening.

November 10

Experience of Structural Integration: A Rolfing Conference
Michael Salveson & Faith Hornbacher

One-day seminar $8

An opportunity for persons interested in rolfing to explore the possibilities and implications of this technique. The program will include: a film of Dr. Ida Rolf at work; an introductory talk on rolfing basics; the experience and analysis of each person's structural patterns; a demonstration of the first session of rolf processing; a demonstration of the structural patterning system; and small group discussions with a rolf practioner. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

November 10

Body Music
David Schiffman

One-day workshop $20

"In the West the only place non-professional composers are expected to make up their own music is in the shower. And most of you people don't even do it there." Wasantha Singh

Regardless of musical training, each of us has our own inner songs and rhythms. The emphasis of this workshop will be on exploring and developing the unique rhythmicity and inherent musical potential we all possess. Through the use of ritual, fantasy, gestalt, movement, chanting and a specially-designed group of musical instruments, the participants in this workshop will spend the day creating a musical environment which will reflect our individual and collective creative energies. Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

November 11

Structural Patterning in Stillness and Motion
Faith Hornbacher

One-day workshop $25

and Programs

November 30-December 2
A Tender Invitation
Harry Sloan
Weekend workshop $50

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse."

December 15
One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel
One-day workshop $30 per couple

December 15-16
Psychodrama
Walt and Maurica Anderson
Weekend workshop $50

Group encounter and spontaneous-encounter techniques will be used to explore and work through interpersonal problems. The degree of active involvement in the work is a matter of individual choice.

December 21-23
Growth Through Risk-Taking
David Schiffman
Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience.

December 21-23
A Weekend with Laney Stephens
Residential weekend workshop
$65 including room and meals

I want to share our country farm with you for a weekend of your design. I will provide sleeping bag space, the makings for simple meals, deep relaxation and breathing exercises and encounter for those who wish. There is farm and maintenance work available, sun, woods and orchards. I look forward to your coming. Welcome.

December 22-23
Accentuate the Positive
Lenore Lefer
Weekend workshop $50

Hidden within many of our traits, habits and hangups are positive, creative qualities wanting to emerge. In an atmosphere that is supportive and nourishing, we will explore and encourage that emergence. Gestalt awareness, group interaction and psychosynthesis techniques will be used to accentuate the positive.

Gestalt

November 10-11
Gestalt and Gurdjieff
Joe Camhi
Weekend workshop $50

Both Fritz Perls and Gurdjieff were interested in raising man's level of awareness in order to help him act more independently and responsibly. Gestalt techniques focus on integrating the elements of experience of the present moment in order to unify and clarify the individual's creative interaction with his environment. These techniques are useful for discovering patterns of self-defeating and self-sustaining behavior. Gurdjieff's ideas provide a framework within which we can more fully understand man's motivations as well as his potential for transformation. His practical exercises afford a means whereby an individual can work more independently on and by himself to conserve, build and mobilize energies with which he can raise his level of awareness and increase his capacity for self-initiating activity.

Monday, November 19
The Art & Practice of Self-Observation
Stella Resnick
Single evening event
$2 general, $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Self-observation is a crucial talent to develop in order to recognize when one's behavior, fantasy-life and environment are nourishing and self-enhancing or toxic and self-depleting. This lecture will focus on self-observation as a variety of techniques to learn, an art to practice, and an ongoing process of self-awareness and self-love.

December 1-2
Open Gestalt
Cyndy Sheldon
Weekend workshop $50

December 8-9
Gestalt Awareness and Self-Image
Stella Resnick
Weekend workshop $50

As we move around in our world we carry with us a fantasy of ourselves which mediates and dictates our actions and limits our choices. Using the gestalt approach embellished by a variety of other techniques including movement and methods of the actor, participants will work toward clarifying their individual self-image and getting in touch with the disparity between their self-image and how others see them. Particular emphasis will be given to body image, self-esteem, role expectations and withholding excitement. We will work toward expanding our behavioral repertory, our creativity and our aliveness through attaining a more realistic and nourishing self-image.

December 15-16
"Help! I'm Trapped in a Human Body" ©
Frank Rubenfeld
Weekend workshop $50

We will use gestalt to explore the existential angst of being human. More mundane concerns such as unfinished business, inveterate topdogging, and being in the now and in your body will also be part of this weekend's activity.

December 8

Breath, Gravity, Movement & Rhythm
Xavier Nash & Dancer's Workshop

One day workshop in Kentfield $20

Using the breath as a way of getting in touch with the body and the more restful states of consciousness, we will begin to work with the breath rhythmically allowing individualized movement to develop. We may also incorporate drumming, chanting and singing to accentuate the movement.

December 8-9

Intensive Breath Workshop
George Downing

Weekend workshop $50

The breath is a microcosm of the personality. Learning to find and unlock the breath can lead to more richness and certainty of emotion, increased energy, realignment of physical posture and a deeper grasp of one's personal rhythm of existence. We will both verbally and nonverbally explore these possibilities using gestalt and a number of different methods of working intensively with the breath.

December 9

Thursday evenings, beginning November 8

Sufi Stories
Betty Camhi

Continuing program FREE

A series of evenings where we can eat a few dates and share some sufi stories collected by Idries Shah. These "parables in action" of the Eastern dervish tradition claim the power to increase perception. 8-10 p.m.

November 3-4

The Renewal of Traditional Religious Forms
Robert Cromey

Weekend workshop $50

The group will deal with some basic religious forms to discover their inner experiential dimension.

Confession and forgiveness=
encounter and gestalt;
Laying on of hands and healing oil=
massage;
Prayer and liturgy=
meditation, music and movement;
Holy Spirit=energy;
Baptism and Mass=
water, Bread and Wine ceremony.

In this workshop the group will explore the connection between these traditional religious practices and some techniques from humanistic psychology.

On Being Tall
Joe France & Marsha Goldberg
One-day workshop $20

"It's so wonderful being tall!" Or is it? Explore with us the problems and pleasures in growing and growing and growing. Your relationship to yourself comes from your body image. The way you are physically is your self-acceptance, awareness, identity and confidence. Learn and share in an environment where tall is the norm. Participants are urged to bring clothing or other items not worn because "it draws attention to my height."

November 10-11
Surviving & Growing in the Classroom: Confluent Education
Marilyn Brawman and Jayne May
Weekend workshop $50

Ways to create space for awareness, responsibility, choice and creativity in the existing school system.

WORKSHOP WITH JOHN AND ANTOINETTE LILLY

John and Antoinette Lilly will do a weekend workshop in November–December; the program date will be announced in the early winter. November 17
Intuition
Frances Clark
One-day workshop $20

We will work with meditative exercises and imagery to develop intuitive awareness and explore methods for validating intuitive perceptions.

November 17-18
Developing Humanistic Schools: The Board Role
Walt Thompson and Louise Stoll
Weekend workshop $50

Of all charges being made against education today, cries of the lack of attention to the total human needs of students are being heard most often. The lay people most directly responsible to answer these charges, but perhaps least able to do anything, are on the Board of Education. Board members attempting to develop humanistic policies for their schools, students, staff, and community are often frustrated by other parts of the "system". This seminar is planned to examine the board's role in developing humanistic policies, methods of gaining support for these policies, and resolving policy differences. New ways of decision-making, other than use of traditional voting, bargaining, and deals, will be presented. The problems of dealing with political realities and using power in a humanistic way will be confronted. Using the role of board member for personal growth will also be explored. Additional resource people will be participating.

November 17-18
Learning Games: Workshop Tools
Michael Rossman and Jim Nixon
Weekend workshop $50

Learning games combine intellectual investigation with focused emotional and physical experience. This workshop will investigate a topic intensively (ecology, sexuality or political behavior). Its meta-focus, however, will be on the process of investigation, which we think represents a new and integral pedagogy. Participants' goals will be to learn how to design and run their own learning scores; and to understand the use of roles, rituals and ceremony in this, and the underlying theory. Enrollment is limited to 25. Leaders of groups or of seminars may find the workshop useful in extending their repertoire of tools. We want people who have specific reasons for being interested in the technology it presents, and are ready to learn and use it. Preference will be given to groups of two or more who are already working together in some educating context.

November 20-December 11
Reading Inside Out
Wayne Padover
Four Tuesday evenings in the Palo Alto area $35

Enriching your reading curriculum for yourself and your students. This is an experiential workshop in Confluent Reading curriculum as developed by the Ford/Esalen Reading Project. 7-10 p.m., Nov. 20, 27, Dec. 4 and 11.

November 20-December 11
Expanding, Exchanging, Energizing: Further Adventures in Confluent Education
Marilyn Brawman & Naomi Singer
Four Tuesday evenings $35

A four evening on-going experiential workshop especially for educators in which to explore and experience ideas and methods for integrating intellect, feelings, body and spirit within the classroom situation. 7-10 p.m., Nov. 20, 27, Dec. 4 and 11.

November 23-25
Extending Awareness Through Hypnosis
Lee Pulos
Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will combine the approaches of hypnosis and psychosynthesis. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that participants can focus in on themselves through hypnotically induced dreams, automatic writing and drawings. These self-discoveries will be extended through guided fantasies, symbolic imagery and learning how to tune into the "inner theater" of one's unconscious.

November 24
Biofeedback Training
Eleanor Criswell
One-day workshop $20

This workshop will focus on bio-feedback as it relates to self-exploration, self-development and altering consciousness. An understanding of biofeedback, how to experience it, and how to use your own body signals as feedback will be included. Participants will experience two kinds of biofeedback machines.

December 1-2
Personal Mythology
Sam Keen
Weekend workshop $50

Explore the ways in which you tell your story, invent your autobiography, live out your personal mythology. An experiential workshop in recovering the images, stories, legends, jokes, private gods and demons which govern your life.

Monday, December 3
Psychic Counseling
Anne Armstrong
Single evening event

$2 general, $1 student; 8–10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Anne Armstrong will speak on the practical applications of psychic ability in the field of counseling; material from case histories will be presented. This evening's lecture is a follow-up of her first talk in April in which she spoke of her discovery and stabilization of her psychic ability.

December 8-9
Universal Centering
Robert Nadeau
Weekend workshop $50

Center is the state you reach in those special moments when you transcend your norm and function beautifully. Awareness of Energy is the key to that happening. Meditation is experiencing the clarity of that Energy as a Universal Law and a state of Being.

Monday, December 10
Expanding Human Awareness by Means of Light-Fire Energy-Work
Ralph Metzner
Single evening event

$2 general, $1 student; 8–10:30 p.m. First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

This is an experiential introduction to the teachings and techniques of the School of Actualism, in which light-fire energies are used to enlighten human awareness and sensitize perception to the interrelations of self within the nature, and with other life forms and essences in the environment.

ON-GOING RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

Beverly Silverman
Richard Price
Janet Lederman
and Julian Silverman will be available for direction and consulting

A program for those who would like to have time and space in the Esalen environment of community and work, experiencing living from many different positions. Although this is not a training program, participants may select any five-day workshops offered in the Esalen catalog during their stay.
$880 per month

(Residence requirement of one month.)
September through April

Esalen Study Center Program

Beginning November 15, we will initiate an advanced study program intended to deepen and integrate the various areas of endeavor that have evolved at Esalen. The program offers participants possibilities to expand, enrich and enliven their professional and personal capacities along physical, psychological and spiritual lines.

Based on a combination of Fritz Perls' Lake Cowichan community experiment and past Esalen residence programs, participants will live, work and study together at Esalen's Big House, where they will take responsibility for their own food preparation, maintenance of their residence and its grounds, as well as for their learning experience.

Admission preference will be given to those already working as teachers, social workers, psychiatrists, etc., rather than to aspiring growth center leaders. Selection of participants will be made from the Ongoing Residential Program (see left) and, in some cases, by personal interview or through the five-day programs.

Persons may initially enter the program for a one-month period. Participation beyond that time will continue only by consent of the Study Center Board, based on an evaluation of the participant's utilization of the program.

For information write: Study Center, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

THE WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 2-4

Introduction to Gestalt
David Lees & Nancy Joeckel

An experiential weekend to help you learn about gestalt — to discover more about you, to acknowledge your potential, and to increase your options for being and interacting with others. Limited to 14. $100

Self Actualization vs. Self Image Actualization
Diana Becchetti & Paul Rebillot

We will draw from Gestalt, Psychosynthesis, Theatre Games and meditation to explore the possibilities of personal expansion and fuller, more spontaneous self-expression. $90

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

$100

Workshop for Gay People
Sally Smith

A chance for gay men and women, singly or in couples, to come together at Esalen, explore life styles, problems, joys, directions; share massage, music and plain talk. $90

THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 4-9

Gestalt, Encounter & Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

Open to non-professionals. Limited to 14. $250

Experiencing Esalen
Janet Lederman, Richard Price & Esalen Staff

See description on page 32. $220

Bodymind Encounter
Will Schutz, assisted by Valerie, Roger, Ken and Jason

Body, intrapsychic and interpersonal methods will be integrated into one experience. The Feldenkrais method will be central. We will work as a whole community (total workshop) and as small groups. Humor allowed. $280

Exploring Passion: Excess or Ecstasy
David Schiffman & Lenore Lefer

"The mark of the truly enlightened person is to lead an ordinary life in an extraordinary way." —anon.

This workshop will explore the nature of passion and the effect of blocking or allowing this focussed energy in our daily lives. Through the use of gestalt, encounter, massage, and psychosynthesis techniques, the participants will have the opportunity to experience the creative and destructive aspects of passion in their relationships with others as well as in perceiving themselves. The emphasis will be on searching out and developing the unique personality strengths and individual talents which can be used as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $250

THE WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 9-11

Gestalt Awareness and Self-Image
Stella Resnick

As we move around in our world we carry with us a fantasy of ourselves which mediates and dictates our actions and limits our choices. Using the gestalt approach embellished by a variety of other techniques, including movement and methods of the actor, participants will work toward clarifying their individual self-image and getting in touch with the disparity between their self-image and how others see them. Particular emphasis will be given to body image, self-esteem, role expectations and withholding excitement. We will work toward expanding our behavioral repertory, our creativity and our aliveness through attaining a more realistic and nourishing self-image. $100

Purification Weekend
Jane Miletich & Deborah Medow

A day of fasting – a day of fruit – yoga – massage – music. Harmonize your body and mind. $90

Freeing the Voice
Mary Corrigan

This workshop will concentrate on freeing the voice. It has been established that physical tensions inhibit the production of a free tone. This method employs various physical and vocal exercises that are designed to reduce tensions and to provide the kinaesthetic experience of what a free voice feels like. This experience also allows the participant to discover a sense of ease and effortless vocal power. This method is employed at most of the major residential theatres and professional training programs in the U.S. and England. $90

Bio-Feedback Training for Psychosomatic Problems: A Workshop for Professionals
Joe Kamiya

A seminar for professionals in psychotherapy, medicine and other fields dealing with mind/body relations. Demonstrations and discussions of bio-feedback training methods for enhancing self-control over tension headaches, migraine, anxiety, insomnia, hypertension, gastric acidity, impotence, frigidity and other symptoms of imbalance in brain and autonomic functions. The potential for application in education and self-development will be explored. $100

THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 11-16

Gestalt & the Body
Richard Price & Chris Stewart

Includes an introduction to a variety of body practices: acupuncture, Rolfing, bioenergetics, massage and polarity massage and their relation to gestalt awareness practice. $250

Surrender to Yourself
David Lees & Nancy Joeckel

The more you surrender to you, the more deeply you contact yourself. The deeper your contact with yourself, the clearer are your options for getting what you want and wanting what you get. With gestalt, soft-encounter, massage, and consciousness-expanding exercises, we will offer you the opportunity to learn more about surrendering to yourself. Limited to 14. $220

Gestalt Training with Emphasis on the Body
Jack Rosenberg

This workshop is designed for further training of practitioners in the helping professions. It will emphasize use of gestalt therapy in relation to the body. $250

Freeing the Voice
Mary Corrigan

See Nov. 9-11 above. $220

"Oh, would some Power
the giftie gi'e us to see ourselves
as others see us."

THE WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 16-18

Gestalt Tarot
Paul Rebillot

A pack of Tarot cards can be your own, personal gestaltist. The weekend will explore gestalt methods of discovering the cards from your own experience. Bring your own deck if you like. $90

Psychosynthesis: Developing Imagination and Intuition
Tom Allen

In each of us there are new, emerging aspects with which we are not yet fully in touch. Some of these are energies that are blocked but which can be released, realized and used as sources of inner strength and guidance. Imagination and intuition are subjective processes which help us to open these energies and use them to reach higher more integrated states of consciousness. We will work toward expanding our individual imaginative and intuitive capacities as a way to extend our insight, creativity and productive functioning. $90

Massage Workshop
Peggy Morrison & Richard Horan

Esalen Massage for singles and couples. Limited to 14. $100

Introduction to Acupuncture
Hector Prestera

The basic principles of Chinese acupuncture will be presented along with a session on acupuncture massage. $90

THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 18-23

Improvisational Gestalt:
Paul Rebillot and Richard Price

Combining familiar gestalt methods with improvisational movement and sound exploration, we will investigate creative modes of self-expression through awareness. $250

Massage & Self Healing
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

This workshop includes self massage, Esalen massage and various meditative and mantramic techniques fostering free body energy flow. An exercise series for maintaining body tone and health is also included. $220

Yoga, Physical Culture and Sport

Five day workshop $220

The premise of this workshop is that sports can be practiced as a yoga through the application of particular yogic attitudes and techniques and greatly enriches the individual's sporting experience by doing so. This workshop will combine instruction and practice of different aspects of yoga, guided participation and integration of these techniques with a variety of sports and athletics, and a discussion of the interrelations of yoga, sports and body awareness. Meditation in movement, breath control, relaxation and energy will be explored; the emphasis will be on learning through doing and exploring the consciousness involved in playing the game.

A Tender Invitation
Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $220

THE WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 23-25

What's Available
George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. Limited to 20 persons. $100

Body Energetics
Hector Prestera

A weekend workshop dealing with body energy blocks and techniques to work them through. Included will be principles from Reich, Rolfing, acupuncture and body-centered gestalt. $90

A Family Communication Experience, using instant video replay
Gerald & Linda Smith
David & Karen Crommie

The better a family communicates, the more successfully each person can be close to the others and yet free to grow as an individual. This workshop is not therapy, but rather an experience for growth through communicating openly and clearly. Video replay will be used extensively. If you like, a film of your family to take home will be available at the cost of the film. Child care available for children under seven throughout workshop hours. Limited to 10 families.

Adults $100, children $80, pre-school children $60

Tuning Your Energy Body
Robert Nadeau

All of us have moments when we are balanced: when we are centered in ourselves yet open and at one with the richness of life around us. Such moments do not have to be rare accidents. We can exist in a vast reservoir of energy that we can learn to tune into and use to enrich our lives on every level. This workshop is an experience in the application of this life energy to relaxation, concentration, healing and life in general. $100

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 25-30

Gestalt, Massage & Polarity Massage
Richard Price & Chris Stewart
$250

Experiencing Esalen
Janet Lederman, Julian Silverman & Esalen Staff
See description on page 32. $220

Exploring Self-Acceptance
David Schiffman
The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $220

More
Michael Butler
Each of us is capable of more . . . emotional creativity, aliveness, sensuality. The methods of this workshop will be body disciplines, encounter and gestalt tools, and the life positive forces in the Esalen environment. Its goal: to experience "more," not just for a weekend at Esalen, but wherever we happen to be. Limited to 14. $250

THE WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 30–DECEMBER 2

The Greater Gestalt
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis
Improvising together, we will create and explore our laughter, sadness and rage. Our synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Esalen encounter and massage, joined with Arica consciousness-expanding exercises works to dissolve your blocks to expression. $100

Gestalt, Encounter, and Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman
$100

Renewal of Traditional Religious Forms
Robert Cromey
The group will explore the connection between basic traditional religious practices and some techniques from humanistic psychology: confession & forgiveness = encounter & gestalt; laying on of hands & healing oil = massage; prayer & liturgy = meditation, music, movement; Holy Spirit = energy; baptism & mass = water, bread and wine ceremony. $100

THE WEEK OF DECEMBER 2-7

Tuning Your Energy Body
Robert Nadeau
All of us have moments when we are balanced: when we are centered in ourselves yet open and at one with the richness of life around us. Such moments do not have to be rare accidents. We can exist in a vast reservoir of energy that we can learn to tune into and use to enrich our lives on every level. Gestalt Plus
George & Judith Brown
A workshop for individuals and couples where the approaches of gestalt therapy are combined with techniques from psychosynthesis. The focus will be on reowning energy and discovering new and alternative ways to be as individuals and in primal relationships. Emphasis will also be placed on what to do after leaving the workshop. $250

Couples Workshop
Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock
Limited to 8 couples. $280

Finding Your Way
Lenore Lefer
The focus of this workshop will be on becoming more aware of yourself and what is around you. This awareness will allow alternatives to emerge and choices to become clear. Gestalt, soft-encounter and psychosynthesis techniques will be offered and participants will then have the opportunity to select what they can best use to find their own way. $220

Big Sur

EXPERIENCING ESALEN

Janet Lederman, Richard Price, Julian Silverman & the Esalen Staff

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on choosing those approaches to self-discovery which prove most effective for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, theatre games, guided fantasy, meditation, bioenergetics and massage. Rolfing treatments are available at an extra cost. There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

Harmony
Jane Miletich & Deborah Medow

Harmonize your body and mind by sharing a week with us – days of massage, yoga, music, meditation, one day of fasting, a walk through the woods to the beach. Steps toward a balance in our lives. $220

All That Isn't Me And Me
Janet Lederman & Esalen Staff

Environmental gestalt for anyone in any way in contact with children.

An experimental seminar to evolve a tenable relationship with Spaceship Earth and its young inhabitants. And to explore and experience the universe as a whole. (Text: Buckminister Fuller to Children of Earth). $250

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

THE WEEKEND OF DECEMBER 14-16

The Age of Aquarius: Prospects and Challenges for Mankind
Max Lerner & Julian Silverman

Aquarius is the Water Bearer who brings the message of the unconscious to the conscious world and thereby initiates a new world order. At the dawning of the Age of Aquarius, the 1970's, this mythical symbol provides a point of departure for examining the changes happening around us in: life styles (emerging family structures, sexuality, child-raising); medicine (being vs. healing, mental medicine); the arts and sciences (parapsychology); private and public relations (war and peace, power and autonomy); duality (man-woman, inner-outer, mind-body) and nature.

A writer and a psychologist share their thinking, their exploring and their excitement about the Age of Aquarius. $100

Self Nourishment
Lenore Lefer

Hidden within many of our traits, habits and hangups are positive, creative qualities wanting to emerge. In an atmosphere that is supportive and nourishing, we will explore and encourage that emergence. Gestalt, soft-encounter and psychosynthesis techniques will be used to accentuate the positive. $90

Encounter & Massage
Harry Sloan

We will explore how we touch each other verbally and non-verbally. How to communicate what we are feeling and how to ask for what we want. $90

The Boundaries of Liberation For Men & Women
Jacqueline Doyle Larcombe

Through encounter, gestalt and psychodrama techniques we will examine the issues which underlie our choice of mode (from traditional to liberated) for relating to our friends and mates. The boundaries of our concept of self and sex role will be explored. $90

THE WEEK OF DECEMBER 16-21

The Art and Practice of Self-Observation: A Gestalt Workshop
Stella Resnick

Self-observation is a crucial talent to develop in order to recognize when behavior, fantasy and environment is nourishing and self-enhancing or toxic and self-depleting. Using the gestalt approach supplemented by a variety of other techniques, participants will focus on learning how to observe their own behavior and fantasy in order that they may best learn about themselves, learn to observe themselves more clearly and learn to recognize and maintain themselves in nourishing environments. $250

Growth Through Risk-Taking
David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of Gestalt, role playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $220

Gestalt Workshop for Professionals Only
Julian & Beverly Silverman

Limited to 14. $250

Body, Mind, Spirit
Michael Butler

The focus in this group will be on the common meeting place of various physical, mental and spiritual paths. Encounter and gestalt will be practiced as meditation. Spiritual spaces will be tested in interpersonal contact. Physical techniques based on Rolfing and aikido will be explored as paths to the spirit. Limited to 14 participants. $250

THE WEEKEND OF DECEMBER 21-23

Gestalt Tarot
Paul Rebillot

A pack of Tarot cards can be your own, personal gestaltist. The weekend will explore gestalt methods of discovering the cards from your own experience. Bring your own deck if you like. $90

Encounter & Massage For Singles
Harry Sloan

We will explore how we touch each other verbally and non-verbally. How to communicate what we are feeling and how to ask for what we want. $90

December 21-26 (5-day workshop)

A Gestalt Workshop
Janet Lederman

Dissolving boundaries. Creating different forms for living/working beyond imaginary limits.

In other words . . . Stepping Through the Keyhole. $250

Big Sur

THE WEEK OF DECEMBER 23-28

December 26-30

Beyond Gestalt
George & Judith Brown

A workshop for individuals and couples where the approaches of gestalt therapy are combined with techniques from psychosynthesis. The focus will be on reowning energy and discovering new and alternative ways to be as individuals and in primal relationships. Emphasis will also be placed on what to do after leaving the workshop. $225

Incarnation: The Wedding of Spirit & Matter
Alan Watts

A Christmas celebration and workshop with the celebration of a midnight mass on Christmas Eve to which the neighbors are invited.

Last year Alan Watts used this as an occasion for a seminar on the historical Jesus. This time around the emphasis will be shifted to the Cosmic Christ and the incredibly rich imagery which surrounds this archetype. There will also be sessions for meditation. $280

An Integrative Approach to Self Actualization
Ilana Rubenfeld

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion — so mind and body are one!

The focus in this workshop will be on experiencing one's own body and emotions as a total organism. Emotions and memories are often stored in our bodies, resulting in tension and imbalance. A unique blend of gestalt Alexander technique, Feldenkrais exercises and deep muscle work will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing and working through deep feelings.

We have the choice to contact ourselves and each other with joy, sadness, compassion, humor, ideas and with the body — the whole person. $250

THE WEEKEND OF DECEMBER 28-30

The Greater Gestalt
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Improvising together, we will create and explore our laughter, sadness and rage. Our synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Esalen encounter and massage, joined with Arica consciousness-expanding exercises works to dissolve your blocks to expression. $100

Honesty: From Cosmic Energy to Watergate
Will Schutz

An exploration of the physiological, psychological, and social consequences of honesty and dishonesty. Is honesty always good? With everyone? If not, when? What happens to the body when we are dishonest? To energy? To spontaneity? To health? To relations with friends? To the society? To our connection with the universe? To humor? $100

Something for Every Body — Movement & Massage
Barbara Clemans

Tension can be interpreted as resistance to experience: existential experience of ourselves and vibrational input from the environment. We will heighten our sensitivity to ourselves and others through subtle movement, gentle massage, directed breath awareness, vocal sound vibration, and a special musical environment. $100

TO THE "LIMITS" OF SELF & "BEYOND"

January 6 to February 1
Julian Silverman, Coordinator
And: Ann Halprin
Janet Lederman
Peggy Morrison
Beverly Silverman
George Simon

No one person, no one method provides the key to discovering the present limits of self and means of transcending those limits. Through the principles of gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis; through experiencing massage, meditation, movement — individuals will have the possibility of finding their own keys to their own unfettering, their own roads to a transpersonal self, and their own re-discovery of intuitive powers. $975
(See next brochure for more details.)

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

THE WEEK OF DECEMBER 30–JANUARY 4

Gestalt, Myth & Dream
Richard Price & Chris Stewart

Focus on dreams and personally meaningful myth as primary areas of gestalt practice. Recommended reading: Hero with a Thousand Faces by Joseph Campbell (Meridian). $250

Celebration
Betty Fuller & Janet Lederman

$280

Skills Workshop for Group Leaders
Jacqueline Doyle Larcombe

The focus of this workshop will be on providing an intensive group experience, introducing group techniques and enhancing the transfer of these skills for persons already leading groups in various settings. Techniques will be drawn from psychodrama, encounter, gestalt, bioenergetics, psychomotor and fantasy. $220

The Workshop is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness; The Title Is Unimportant
Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

This workshop is based on the premise that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by each individual increasing his available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used as well as games and massage to enable the participants to explore and extend the resources that exist within themselves. $250

The Esalen College Program

The student program at Esalen, Big Sur, is being devised to enable a wider range of young people to experience Esalen at a minimal cost. The weekend workshops are designed to allow participants to experience activities in which Esalen is involved. They may include Gestalt, Encounter, Movement, Massage, Psychosynthesis, Meditation. . . .

In addition, it is possible for Esalen to come to you. Esalen staff will come to your college for weekend workshops or during semester or quarter breaks and provide similar workshops or programs of special interest at your request.

For schedules and availabilities write: The Esalen College Program, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 4-6

Introduction to Aikido
Robert Nadeau

A weekend to explore the Japanese art of aikido. The emphasis will be on centering, blending energy and awareness. Bring comfortable clothing for movement. $100

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

$100

Psychosynthesis
John & Heidi Firman

We invite you to join us in the adventure of self-exploration. Symbolic artwork, guided imagery, humor, movement and meditation are some of the tools we will use to experience the principles of psychosynthesis. By affirming our sense of personal center, we can gain a vantage point which adds clarity and balance, altering the process of growth from compulsive drudgery to playful and purposeful art. Beyond personal harmony, we have the opportunity to contact a higher, most essential self, whose energy and guidance can bring about increasing joy, creativity, and value in our daily lives. $100

A Weekend Workshop in Self-Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The object of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her or himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of psychodrama, encounter and Gestalt will be used. $90

Big Sur

SOUTH COAST CENTER

A place for new structures to emerge
An environmental experiment
A media center
A cabaret
A place to work, to study, to play,
Or just to be.

THE WEEK OF JANUARY 6-11

Start the Year Right– Taking Care of Yourself with Massage and Movement
Barbara Clemans

Emphasis in this workshop will be on the individual's specific needs and in developing techniques which can be used at home. You will learn a complete body massage. See Dec. 28 workshop, above. $250

More
Michael Butler

Each of us is capable of more . . . emotional creativity, aliveness, sensuality. The methods of this workshop will be body disciplines, encounter and gestalt tools, and the life positive forces in the Esalen environment. Its goal: to experience "more," not just for a weekend at Esalen, but wherever we happen to be. Limited to 14. $250

Psychosynthesis: Return to Center
Steven Kull & Tom Yeomans

Even at times of intense inner conflict and confusion, we often have a sense of a calm center within us – a point of compassionate perspective where we can tap into sources of integrative energy and wisdom. In this workshop we will seek to build a bridge between this center and our daily lives. We will use such techniques as guided imagery, gestalt, symbolic art work, movement, journal writing and meditation. Emphasis will be placed on initiating an ongoing process of growth and integration which participants can continue to use after the workshop. $250

Growth and Boundaries
David Schiffman & Harry Sloan

Where do you stop? When do you let go? This workshop will involve the complementary approaches of Gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis and massage. The group will explore a wide variety of techniques (verbal and nonverbal) in order to experience the possibilities of greater personal expansion and openness with others. The use of personal boundaries, whether illusory or as tools of survival will also be explored through risk-taking exercises. $250

To the Limits of Self and Beyond
Julian Silverman, Coordinator

January 6 to February 1 month-long program. See description, page 34 $975

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 11-13

Gestalt Awareness and Self-Image
Stella Resnick

As we move around in our world we carry with us a fantasy of ourselves which mediates and dictates our actions and limits our choices. Using the gestalt approach embellished by a variety of other techniques including movement and methods of the actor, participants will work toward clarifying their individual self-image and getting in touch with the disparity between their self-image and how others see them. Particular emphasis will be given to body image, self-esteem, role expectations and withholding excitement. We will work toward expanding our behavioral repertory, our creativity and our aliveness through attaining a more realistic and nourishing self-image. $100

More
Michael Butler

See January 6-11, above. Limited to 14. $100

New Paths to Healing
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

Use of color, aspects of aura reading, traditional Chinese acupuncture concepts and specific individualized meditative techniques will be utilized.

The above will enable the individual to begin to heal himself. $90

For Reservation Information, see page 42. For Biographical Information, see pp. 38-41.

THE WEEK OF JANUARY 13-18

The Greater Gestalt
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Improvising together, we will create and explore our laughter, sadness and rage. Our synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Esalen encounter and massage, joined with Arica consciousness-expanding exercises works to dissolve your blocks to expression. $280

A Week of Energy Release Through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz

We tend to block the free flow of energy which allows us to express emotions. The reasons involve many facets of self: fear of rejection, fear of not being loveable, fear of falling on one's face, etc. . . .

Through bioenergetic techniques, we will focus on opening up channels to the free flow of energy and dealing with the resultant emotional release on the intrapsychic and interpersonal levels. Gestalt techniques will also be utilized to develop an environment in which risk taking may occur in an atmosphere of trust. $220

Gestalt & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price

One of a series of programs relating gestalt awareness practice to the spiritual disciplines developed within (and sometimes in opposition to) the great world religions. Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F. S. Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov. $250

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 18-20

Conscious Evolution With an Ordinary Psychic
George Simon & Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary — this is a workshop for ordinary people. $90

A Weekend of Energy Release Through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz

See description, January 13-18, above. $90

Accentuate the Positive
Lenore Lefer & Beverly Silverman

Many of us tend to focus on the negative aspects of our lives. We will accentuate the positive using gestalt, encounter and psychosynthesis techniques. $100

Ecological Spirituality
Robert Hunter

This seminar explores a simple application of ecological principles to life and the development of a value system based on ecology. Essentially the ideas to be explored are a continuation of those developed in The Storming of The Mind. Through the medium of ecological insights we have an opportunity to observe a "higher order" directly at work influencing our lives. Existentially we have the freedom to systematize our delusions in whatever patterns we like. A metaphysical system based on an ecological survival code with an attendant social value system may be precisely what we require at this juncture. $90

News

reading and writing, making a living and raising a family. The formation of one's inner life is not an end in itself, nor does it take place in a vacuum. The training of teachers, the writing of curriculum, the teaching of students must move between self and other, self and world. But unless the self is included in the educational process, unless the old traditions are revived and rejuvenated in contemporary ways, all the promise of new freedoms and opportunities will end in the hollow exercises of hollow men and hollow women.

Though there has been a primary and intuitive understanding on the part of every great philosopher of education about the need for internal wholeness in the learner, curriculum has tended in recent centuries to degrade the conception.

With the reawakening of classical learning in the Renaissance, the gigantic flash of Greek and Roman wisdom across the skies of fifteenth century Europe, wholeness came more and more to mean studying certain works. The works of these ancient masters seemed so full of significance that it was through such study that one's own significance would be found. As the centuries progressed however, knowledge increased in quantity. More and more ancient books by more and more ancient authors were unearthed. And then new books about these authors and their works were written. And then new knowledge, particularly in the form of physical sciences, came to be born. And at first a hundred and then a thousand new technologies. And then the discovery of five hundred foreign languages. Of whole civilizations, past and present, previously unknown. Of dozens, then tens of dozens of new academic disciplines. The creation of ten thousand new vocations.

Curiously enough, the combination of this explosion of knowledge with the Renaissance idea of the whole man as a man whole because of his many skills and accomplishments, has left many highly educated people depressed. They would that they could complete their wholeness by knowing everything, by being able to do everything, by understanding everything, by being competent in everything. And, of course, they are doomed to dissatisfaction. And they know it. And they still yearn.

The wholeness they seek, however, cannot be acquired through the appropriation of skills and knowledges beyond themselves. There is not enough time. Rather a primary harmony and unity must be cultivated from within. In such a unity there will appear the recognition of one's deep individuality. The marvel and wonder of individual differences. The sense that while we must share the world in which all of us dwell, much of what we share with others will have to be our uniqueness. In such a conception, the concern with the whole child becomes a concern with the wholeness that is unique to the individual child. Because all of us are human, there will be vast similarities. Curriculum is possible, teaching is possible. But that particular freedom to find and be one's self, to play one's part in the whole is emphatic.

SCHOLARSHIPS, interest-free loans and work scholarships are available for many programs in San Francisco. Contact the S.F. office for information and forms. STUDENT AND "POOR PEOPLE" RATES are also possible on a space-available basis. These are stand-by rates of 50% off the stated workshop price. Come by the S.F. office no earlier or later than three days before the program's starting date to place your name on a stand-by waiting list, to leave a deposit for the program, and to validate that you qualify for stand-by rates. (The deposit is refundable if you do not get in the workshop.) Confirmations will not be made until the morning of the workshop date.

WAITING LISTS: Names are placed on waiting lists in cases of over-subscription or when demanded by workshop requirements. Registrants placed on such a list will be informed immediately and deposit checks held. Checks will be refunded if reservation cannot be confirmed or upon request by persons not wanting to be on a waiting list.

RECOMMENDED DRESS: Workshops are informal. Slacks and flat shoes are recommended for women; sport clothes for men.

Esalen Institute is a center to explore those trends in education, religion, philosophy and the physical and behavioral sciences which emphasize the potentialities and values of human existence. Our activities consist of seminars and workshops, residential programs, consulting and research.

We exist to sponsor, encourage, synthesize and attempt evaluation of work in these areas, both inside and outside our own organizational framework. Since we are a center for experimental education, we ask that persons come to our programs out of an educational interest. We ask that no one come whose interest is "cure." We point out here, as we have in workshops and seminars, that some persons, particularly those with a history of psychiatric problems, may find some programs difficult, trying or potentially risky. We recommend that in case of any doubt, a physician or trusted counselor be consulted.

Big Sur Information

For reservations and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, Big Sur, Ca 93920
Phone: (408) 667-2335 – 10 to 4 every day; 10 to 8 Sunday & Friday

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific, with the Santa Lucia Coast Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute – By Reservation Only.

Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups, and $400 for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable; but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. Only U.S. currency, please.

Program costs cover tuition, food and lodging on the Esalen grounds. Our rooms are designed to be shared by two to three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 p.m.; however, guests are welcome to arrive earlier in the afternoon.

Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur. Pickups are made at Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5:00-5:30 p.m. each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person; please notify us in advance.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. We use organically produced meats, poultry and dairy products, and our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also discourage participants from having guests. Alas, no pets.

Special Information

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2.00. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office. Do not direct subscription inquiries to Big Sur.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE: Esalen is devoted to making life more human at all levels. Our work has reached thousands of individuals and hundreds of institutions. Until recently most of this work was being done at our own facilities, either in Big Sur or San Francisco. There is now, however, an ever-expanding part of Esalen's universe that is moving toward helping to effect changes in the world outside the workshop. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U.S. Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp., Model Cities, O.E.O., inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Esalen courses are now being given at the University of California and at New York University. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact Bob Kriegel at the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions are providing expenses for participants for some seminars and workshops. Please see membership form below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given them some sort of accreditation for leading programs involving encounter groups, gestalt therapy, etc. We have told everyone who has done this to stop using our name in such a manner. Esalen does not offer any kind of formal accreditation. Individuals and groups, of course, may use the insights and techniques they bring from our programs. Our Associates in Residence are working under Esalen auspices. But we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

FM RADIO STATIONS in the San Francisco Bay Area (K101, KPFA, KQED, KSAN, KSFX, and KMPX) broadcast portions of Esalen seminars and lectures. (K101 has s dependable weekly program each Sunday evening at 11:00 p.m.) Other West Coast radio stations, KZAP Sacramento, KTAO Los Gatos, KCSB Santa Barbara, KLOS, KUSC and KPFK Los Angeles, and KPFT Houston, WBAI New York and WOMB New Hampshire, broadcast Esalen programs on an occasional basis. Consult local program guides.

FILMS of the work of Frederick S. Perls in gestalt therapy and Alexander Lowen in bioenergetic analysis, as well as films of the work of Carl Rogers, Albert Ellis, Rollo May, Abraham Maslow, Virginia Satir and others are available from Psychological Films, 205 West 20th Street, Santa Ana, California 92706. Sources of more films, including work of Alan Watts and Huston Smith, are available from Association for Humanistic Psychology, 416 Hoffman Street, San Francisco, California 94114.

TAPE RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: Recordings of many past programs are available through a service which maintains archive copies for Esalen. Requests for tapes now come from educational and service institutions, libraries, religious and professional groups, business groups and individuals concerned with the human potential movement. Commercial use of these tapes is prohibited; all rights reserved. For a complete tape catalog, write Big Sur Recordings, 117 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, CA 94903. The cost of recordings is $8 per tape-hour (prepaid) and $10 per tape-hour (with purchase orders), stereo or mono, with choice of 5" reel or cassette.

Friends Of Esalen

MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

☐ I wish to become a Friend of Esalen, and I enclose my check for the category I have circled: (contributions are tax-deductible).

Books

THE GESTALT APPROACH
& EYE WITNESS TO THERAPY
by Fritz Perls

6.95 hardbound

THE GESTALT APPROACH is an explanation of a somewhat new approach to the entire subject of human behavior—both in its actuality and potentiality. It also serves as an introduction to EYE WITNESS TO THERAPY which contains transcripts of films that Fritz believed had great teaching potential.

PART 1 THE GESTALT APPROACH

1. Foundations
   Gestalt Psychology
   Homeostasis
   The Holistic Doctrine
   Contact Boundary
2. Neurotic Mechanism
   Birth of Neurosis
   Introduction
   Projection
   Confluence
   Retroflection
3. Here Comes the Neurotic
4. Here And Now Therapy
5. Peeling the Onion
6. Shuttling, Psychodrama And Confusion
7. Who is Listening?

PART 2 EYE WITNESS TO THERAPY

Publisher's Note

8. Gestalt In Action
   What is Gestalt?
   Awareness
   Marriage
   Gestalt Prayer
   Couples No. 1
   Couples No. 2
   Memory and Pride
   Philosophy of the Obvious
   Madeline's Dream
   Everything is Aware Process
   Fritz, Friend and Freud

BECOMING PARTNERS
by Carl Rogers

$2.65, paper

The distinguished psychologist's exploration of new styles of intimate relationships. He offers accounts from couples involved in new ways of relating, with his own comments.

Now in paper.

GOLF IN THE KINGDOM
by Michael Murphy

$2.45, paper: $7.95, hardbound

On the fog-shrouded golf course called Burningbush, Michael Murphy is swept into a magical world where untold potentials can be unleased in a backswing governed by true gravity. A bagful of knowledge about the Higher Self is revealed through the metaphor of the game as Shivas Irons, the Scottish golf pro, leads Michael around the Links of Burningbush and into a place where the monster spirits are opening up the world.

THE TRANSFORMATION
A Guide to the Inevitable Changes in Humankind
by George B. Leonard

$2.95, paper; $7.95 hardbound

"This is an extraordinarily imaginative and at once disquieting and exhilarating book about our current social, personal and environmental crises." —Alan Watts

"Is Leonard's transformation something new?—or can there be only one 'transformation' indeed an inevitable next-stage in evolution" —Joyce C. Oates, Book World

George Leonard is the author of Education and Ecstasy, and a former editor of Look Magazine.

TECHNIQUES OF GESTALT THERAPY
by Claudio Naranjo

$2.25, paper

Naranjo states in his introduction that "the techniques of gestalt therapy are many and cover a wide spectrum of behaviors—verbal and non-verbal, structured and unstructured, introspective and inter-personal, inner and outer-directed, symbolic and non-symbolic." He then goes on to explain in concise form, using patient-therapist dialogues to illustrate the techniques.

ELEMENTS OF ENCOUNTER
by William C. Schutz

$3.00, paper

"Encounter is a method of human relating based on openess and honesty, self-awareness, self-responsibility, awareness of the body, attention to feelings, and an emphasis on the here-and-now." Thus Will Schutz describes encounter in his latest book which can serve as a handbook of encounter principles and techniques.

THE HUMAN GROUND
by Stanley Keleman

$1.75, paper

This is an enlarged and revised edition of Keleman's "Bio-energetic Concepts of Ground." "Grounding," Keleman explains, "means being anchored in our physical-psychic growth processes: expanding and self-collecting (contact-withdrawal), charging and discharging—the human energetic functions."

LEONARD REPORT COMPLETED

The Esalen Survey on Work-In-Progress in Perception, Consciousness and Being has been completed. George Leonard's report on the subject is in the hands of Esalen's directors, who are studying plans for publication. The 25,000-word report is based in part on interviews of 52 people—physicists, philosophers, psychologists and parapsychologists, writers, psychics, ex-student radicals, dancers, social reformers and some individuals for whom there is no ready category. Leonard writes that these "transformationalists" are devoted, "not just to a new way of thinking about the world, but of being in the world".

"The invisible current that attracts them and draws them along," Leonard writes, "has no formal organized structure. There are no official channels of communication. No major university can guide you to its source. No one national leader personifies its intentionality. And yet this current, this movement does exist. The impulse behind it is palpable and strong. And the portion of the human landscape it now occupies may turn out to be just the territory through which the entire culture must pass if it is to avoid the horrors conjured up by the doomsday extrapolationalists."

The report is composed of three main parts:

I The Transformationalists
II The Problem Of Language
III The Dynamics Of Change

The passage that follows is taken from Part II, The Problem of Language:

For the past two-and-a-half years I have been conducting an informal experiment with my lecture audiences, which have numbered from 50 to 4,000. At some point during the lecture, I take about five minutes to define mystical experience, relying mostly on William James' description in The Varieties of Religious Experience. For good measure, I also include Maslow's concept of peak experience. I try to make my definition as simple, unthreatening and all-inclusive as possible. Then I ask for a show of hands from those who, in the past five years, have had a mystical or peak experience. Invariably, some ten percent raise their hands. I follow this question with its converse: How many in the past five years have not had a mystical or peak experience? Another ten percent raise their hands. The reliability of this behavior is almost eerie. The exact percentage may vary by a few points, but whether I am speaking in an urban center or a small town, whether the audience is made up of college students or elementary school teachers or businessmen, the response is always just about the same. And there is always the same ripple of laughter as the audience anticipates my announcement that ten percent of them have had a mystical experience, ten percent have not had one, while 80 percent have neither had one nor not had one.

My point is that we have no standard, acceptable vocabulary of consciousness change. Since there are no adequate words for the experience, it stands outside the limits of the real for most of the people in my audiences. And yet, the anthropological record seems to show quite clearly that altering consciousness (as in the mystical experience) is as much a normal human function as sleeping or dreaming or sex. The modern West with its imitators, in fact, is probably the only culture in human history that has placed no positive value on what we can only term vaguely as trance or possession or shamanistic experience. If we could assign some sort of intentionality to a culture (and I feel eventually we must), we could only conclude that Western culture, by depriving its individuals of a vocabulary of consciousness change, is exercising the most effective possible censorship over this type of behavior.

To see how the mechanism of censorship might work, let's for a moment accept the thesis that almost all young children have the latent ability to see auras. What happens when the child begins talking? Bobby has just learned to generalize colors. He has also learned that if he points out a color and calls its name aloud he is likely to get some sort of approval from an adult. Seeing a blue glow around his mother's head, Bobby points to it and says "Blue." She corrects him: "Forehead." Later, he may try again, pointing at the aura on some other part of her body. "Blue." "No, dear. That's my arm. There's no blue there." If Bobby should persist, which is extremely unlikely at this stage of development, his mother would find it hard to conceal her annoyance or anxiety.

Skinner's analysis is useful here. When a certain class of behavior is never reinforced, it eventually disappears. A pigeon reared in sodium-yellow light will be unable to perceive color differences when released from its monochromatic prison. The child never reinforced for seeing auras will in all probability stop talking about auras. What is more, he will probably stop perceiving them. According to this thesis, the people who now claim to see auras missed out on some part of the cultural conditioning process in childhood, or relearned the behavior later under the sanction of a counter-culture environment, or else were among those few children whose parents or peers reinforced the verbal report of auras at an early age.

Consciousness change in general represents a far more complex set of behaviors, and is therefore more difficult to extinguish entirely. But it is clear enough to most of us that we should distrust our own feelings where any radical change of perception, consciousness and being is concerned. The crunch comes when we try to explain such an experience.

A woman from Monterey, California, told me of the chain of events that followed her first mystical experience. She was washing dishes one sunny day when she was suddenly overwhelmed with an awesome feeling of bliss, accompanied by the conviction that "We are all one." She hastened to tell her family of the marvel that had come into her life. They were quite upset and insisted she see a psychiatrist. He, too, was deeply concerned, and soon she found herself in a private mental clinic. From here, it was only a short step to Agnews State Hospital. Up to this point, the woman told me, she continued to insist that in some very real sense we are all one. After a couple of days in Agnews, however, she decided she had had enough and stopped making this claim. She was quickly released from the hospital and has since lived a perfectly normal life, being careful only not to slip up and say that we are one. Her caution is understandable. In her milieu she faces double jeopardy: (1), no adequate vocabulary of consciousness change, no way to talk about and thus deal with certain experiences in the context of the normal, and (2) a quite adequate vocabulary of pathology.

Other milieu are springing up, however, in which the woman's experience would bring a different response. At Esalen, for example, consciousness change by and large is encouraged and celebrated. The means for achieving it are varied–precise and haphazard, tasteless and elegant–but are generally effective. We go to Esalen and discover that we have been living in a sodium-yellow world. We perceive new colors. We begin to imagine a rainbow. We return to the sodium-yellow outside world and try to explain.

And then a strange thing happens. Our language, once so firm and reassuring, begins to slip and slide. A sentence starts out boldly, then crumbles against an invisible wall of incomprehension. We begin groping for words, like stoned hippies. We become the subject of parody, Natalie Wood following the maitre d' into the kitchen to utter the unutterable. We become aware of the stringency of our language in the whole realm of feeling. What is it to say we "cry?" We have cried a dozen ways. What is the lexicology of ecstacy? There are no respectable words. We descend into silence. The colors merge into monochrome again and we ask ourselves, "Did it really happen? Was I once that large and various and alive? Was it real?"

NEW YORK CONFERENCE: THE NEW ENERGIES

May 10-12, Esalen and New York University will co-sponsor a conference in New York City. The focus will be The New Energies: Some Ways of Directing Old Concepts and New Awarenesses. The leaders will include: Alan Watts, Will Schutz, James Fadiman, George Leonard, John Pierrakos and Ilana Rubenfeld. The conference will offer an opportunity to explore some of the most recent developments in sports, women's studies, the body's energies, healing and psychic phenomena and the transpersonal dimension. For further information contact Moshe Davidowitz, New York University, School of Continuing Education, New York City, New York 10003.

Hokusai combines 3 kinds of flight: soaring of kites & tossing of rooftiles with the special push of Fuji's majestic cone.

AIKIDO

Aikido is a Japanese art of self-defense with the emphasis placed on centering, harmony and blending. It is presented as a physical manifestation of energy and spiritual Law of the Universe.

ALEXANDER TECHNIQUE

The Alexander Technique is a method of re-educating the body that can have dramatic effects on the whole person. By applying sensory awareness, inhibition and conscious choice to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking and bending, under conditions of continuous feedback from an instructor, we can experience the specific ways in which we interfere with the natural flow of our total pattern and learn to permit and encourage a response that will strengthen our innate tendency towards an integrated use of ourselves – allowing new alternatives of movement and being. Guided by the direct touch of the instructor's hands, the process involves a gentle reorganization of the body in movement and at rest.

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this energetic process.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

FELDENKRAIS EXERCISES

Moshe Feldenkrais is the originator of a system of body awareness, movement and functional coordination. Gravitation is a key factor in what he calls his working picture of a human being, which consists of our nervous system (the "core"); our skeleton, viscera and muscles (the "envelope"); and our environment–space, the social milieu and gravitation. Apart from keeping the body temperature and chemical balance, which is automatic and beyond conscious control, the greatest part of our nervous and muscular expenditure goes towards maintaining equilibrium and motility in the gravitational field. Here man proves specially vulnerable; the growth of his brain after birth gives him greater opportunity than any other animal to build up a wealth of learned responses to stimuli, but by the same token he can go wrong more easily than any other creature. Feeling and motor pattern are inextricable. If one can act to the detriment of the other, they can also be mutually enhancing. On the premise that the unity of mind and body is an objective reality, the technique devised by Feldenkrais acts upon the soma (body) to influence the psyche (mind) at the same time. The approach aims to transfer the objective working picture of a human being described above to the individual subject in such a way that he gains a more accurate image, hence greater control of himself.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement – to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness – to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility – to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

SOME DEFINITIONS OF TERMS

APPROACHES TO P

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to technique. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

POLARITY THERAPY

Polarity therapy is an intensive pressure-point massage system similar in both theory and practice to Chinese acupuncture. Developed and synthesized by Dr. Randolph Stone from Oriental traditions many centuries old, its purpose is to realign posture and to release blocked energy throughout the body. Although advanced work in polarity therapy requires extensive training, a number of its more basic techniques are accessible to the interested layperson.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal-keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced actualization of one's life.

SENSORY AWARENESS

Sensory awareness is Charlotte Selver's name for the work she studied with Elsa Gindler in Berlin and brought to the United States in 1938. Workshops in sensory awareness aim at a state of intellectual quiet in which each activity can be fully felt and allowed to find its natural way, free of inhibitions, techniques and images. When ideas are stilled, sense perceptions coming from the entire organism enable the person to function authentically, according to his nature, in all situations. Closely akin, in its pure form, to the practice of zen, sensory awareness brings the essential character of meditation to every aspect of daily living.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

STRUCTURAL PATTERNING

Every individual has preferences of movement at each hinge of the body. These preferences relate to each other and compose a total pattern of the way he uses his structure. Structural Patterning is the use of specific movement patterns at each hinge to bring the body toward better balance and alignment in relation to gravity. When the body is organized around the vertical plumbline of gravity greater ease of movement becomes possible. This system, developed by Judith Aston, is based on the premises of Structural Integration.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese philosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

TRANSPERSONAL

Transpersonal generally refers to transcendence, mystical experience, peak experience and parapsychological phenomena.

SAN FRANCISCO PROGRAMS

Odilon Redon: The eye, like a strange baloon, moves toward Infinity.
1882. From a series: To E. A. Poe.

"I suffered the torments of imagination and the surprises which it presented to me under the pencil; but I guided and controlled these surprises according to the laws of artistic organization which I know, which I feel, with the sole purpose that they should exercise upon the spectator, through a process of attraction, all the evocative power, all the charm of the vague that lies at the extreme limits of thought."—O. PSYCHIC PHENOMENA:

A SAN FRANCISCO SERIES

During the months of January-March, Esalen Institute will sponsor a series of programs in both San Francisco and Big Sur with some of the leading exponents in the field of psychic research. Listed below are the programs offered in San Francisco.
Please see page 40 for the complete listing of Big Sur programs.

Thursday, January 24
Introduction to the Study of the Psychic
Arthur Hastings

Single evening event
FREE; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

A discussion of the varieties of psychic and parapsychological experiences. "How do you judge their reality? What is their potential for personal and social life?" The lecture is an introduction to this series of programs.

January 30-March 27
Tutorial: Integrating the Psychic
Arthur Hastings

Five Wednesday evenings $25

An ongoing tutorial seminar which will present knowledge about a wide range of psychic phenomena and help develop integration of personal psychic abilities. Dr. Hastings is experienced in psychic research and personal communication processes and will use a format consisting of practice exercises, talks, readings and group discussion. Preference for registration in weekend workshops will be given to participants in the tutorial, as one of the purposes of the tutorial will be to give those involved a perspective on psychic phenomena. January 30, February 13, 27, March 13 & 27; 7:30-10 p.m. Limited to 30.

Thursday, January 31
U F O Phenomena: A Subject for Investigation
Ira Einhorn and Jacques Vallee

Evening seminar $5
1793 Union Street, San Francisco.
Limited to 40 participants.

A summary of research into the origin and nature of Unidentified Flying Objects, this presentation will place the phenomena in the perspective of changing belief patterns. As civilization has evolved, the ancient legends about "signs in the sky" have given way to the modern awareness of life in the universe. Observers of UFO phenomena frequently experience psychic effects, a possible key to the solution of a problem that has puzzled civilian and military investigators for a quarter of a century. 7:30-9:30 p.m.

February 1-3
Unexplained *Inergies – The Realm of the Psychic
Andrija Puharich and Ira Einhorn

Weekend workshop $40

An exploration of those phenomena that are forcing the scientific community to reconsider its conception of reality. The seminar will relate these phenomena to U.F.O.'s and extraterrestrial intelligence. It will also place the public emergence of these powers at this time within the context of the present planetary crisis. It is recommended that people taking the seminar read the following two books: Beyond Telepathy, Andrija Puharich (Doubleday Anchor, 1973) and 78-187880 Ira Einhorn (Doubleday Anchor, 1972).

Inergies – Intelligent Energies*

Friday, February 22
Toward a General Theory of the Paranormal
Lawrence LeShan

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

This is a lecture on the general theory of the paranormal and the experiences gained through the testing of the theory through the study and teaching of psychic healing.

Thursday, February 28
Taming the Wild Talent
Robert Monroe

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

This evening's talk will give an intimate glimpse into the problems and perplexities of learning to leave one's body willfully. Mr. Monroe will recount many of his unusual activities which have not yet reached public print.

March 2-3
An Intensive Introduction to Meditation
Lawrence LeShan

Weekend workshop $50

An introduction to the theory and technique of meditation as a discipline. Analysis of similarities and differences between meditational practices from different training schools. Practice and examples of most major types. Discussion of guidelines for choosing your own meditational path.

March 8-10
Readjusting the Base Line
Robert Monroe

Weekend workshop $50

A programmed system of talks, seminars and training sessions in actual procedures aimed at controlled exploration and experience in the out-of-body state. Mr. Monroe will conduct the sessions and will bring with him assorted technical equipment to assist in the induction of the separation process.

March 16-17 and April 20-21
Centering and the Psyche
Anne Armstrong and Anne Dreyfuss

Two weekend workshop $110

Anne Dreyfuss writes: "We believe there is a relationship between physical centeredness and the transpersonal state of awareness. This workshop will present opportunities for the merging of the centering process and the state of being aware of and sensitive to our own body and body-image with direct experience of our own energy—leading to greater insight into the transpersonal field. Each participant is asked to commit him/herself to two weekends five weeks apart to allow for work to be done between weekends; this will provide continuity, depth and breadth in the experience of the physical and transpersonal merge."

March 24
Extrasensory Communication
Arthur Hastings

One-day workshop $20

Telepathy and other forms of extrasensory perception can be a natural part of our communication with others. We send and receive thoughts, intentions and emotions through ESP as well as through words and body language. This seminar will discuss scientific findings on telepathy, clairvoyance and other types of ESP and will present ways to develop personal ESP abilities. Participants will learn and practice methods of telepathic sending and receiving, the use of empathic states and conditions of relaxation and concentration for ESP.

LONG-TERM & SPECIAL PROGRAMS

January 19-March 10

Here and How as Leader/as Participant: Demystifying the Group Process

David Schiffman and Harry Sloan

Mini-extended growth program $175

David Schiffman and Harry Sloan write: "This two month program will provide an opportunity to explore the basic elements underlying the group process and individual growth. We will examine the techniques, strategies and theoretical components inherent in all forms of personal interaction and the use of specific themes in facilitating focus and flow in group sessions. The themes to be covered will include: Growth Through Risk Taking; Humor: A Sense of Letting Go; Growth and Boundaries; Integrative Approaches to Self-Actualization and You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good. We will work within an experiential and didactic framework, and each person will be given the opportunity to apply his newly acquired skills by acting in the capacity of a group leader. This workshop will be particularly useful for people in the helping professions. However, it is open to anyone who would like to clarify and refine his/her understanding of a process which has normally been considered too intuitive to be grasped in a cognitive way.

The program consists of two weekend workshops with both leaders on January 19-20 and March 9-10 and six evening meetings between the dates of the two workshops.

Limited to 16 persons, selection will be made by Harry Sloan and David Schiffman between January 1-15. If you are interested in applying, send a letter telling us briefly about yourself to Esalen/San Francisco, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123.

March 13-May 30

Massage Training

Gunver Ingeborg (Jackson)

Twelve week class $260

Participants will receive instruction in massage techniques and will work to develop receptivity to touch, both giving and receiving. Relaxation, breathing and gestalt awareness exercises will be used to supplement thorough massage training. Gunver Ingeborg writes: "The goal here is to teach that life is an act, not a thought. Action in life and our basic need for touch will be combined in the teaching of massage."

The course consists of twelve four-hour classes in massage scheduled for two separate groups. There are also ten classes in human anatomy, taught by Ed Jackson, M.D. The anatomy course is limited to 25 participants and is also open to the general public.

Massage Group I: 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., twelve Wednesday mornings, March 13 - May 29; limited to ten participants.

Massage Group II: 7 to 11 p.m., twelve Thursday evenings, March 14-May 30; limited to ten participants.

Anatomy Class: 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., ten Wednesday evenings, March 13-May 15.

A non-refundable deposit of $150 is required. Indicate whether Group I or Group II is preferred when registering.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE/WEST UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE PROGRAM AT ESALEN

Advanced undergraduate students (anyone who has completed some undergraduate work at any college or university) may enroll at Antioch College/West in San Francisco and work for their B.A. degree at Esalen. Course work is accredited through Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio; the B.A. degree is from Antioch College/West and the Union for Experimenting Colleges and Universities.

Students develop their own educational programs incorporating regularly scheduled Esalen workshops and courses and individual work created in conjunction with the Esalen staff. Esalen leaders and staff act as faculty and counselors for students in the program.

Tuition for an academic year (generally nine months) is $2900; students may begin their programs at any time. Financial aid is available. This program also qualifies for Veterans and Social Security benefits.

Inquiries for admission should be directed to: Ms. Cristy Willer, Antioch College/West, 149 Ninth Street, San Francisco, CA 94103. Information about program content and design should be addressed to: Arthur Fox, College Program, c/o Esalen/San Francisco.

ESALEN COLLEGE PROGRAM

For the past year students enrolled in Antioch/West, Cal State at San Francisco, Goddard, Johnston, Kirkland and Nebraska Colleges were also accepted by Esalen to study here and receive credit from their respective colleges. Esalen is now expanding its college program to involve those students currently enrolled in a college or university in the U.S. or abroad who would like to spend a semester or longer at Esalen. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of academic credit at their schools for the program of study done at Esalen. The Esalen staff will assist students in documenting their work here.

The Esalen College Program is designed to include: advisor-tutors, who meet with students individually, recommend and discuss readings, and coordinate the students' overall program, which the student creates from the total catalog program offering; group meetings of the Esalen students and their advisor; and courses or workshops specifically for students in the program. We expect that most students will proceed from a broad exposure to concentrated study in one area. Students and teachers interested in designing programs with Esalen should write: Arthur Fox, College Program, c/o Esalen/San Francisco.

If your college or student group is interested in arranging an Esalen workshop (day, weekend or longer) to take place on your campus, contact Arthur Fox, College Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union St., San Francisco, CA 94123.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

SPORTS CENTER

The purpose of the Esalen Sports Center is to develop new concepts, practices and teaching methods in athletics, physical education and recreation. These programs will seek to develop an interchange between Esalen type disciplines and the sporting experience. We feel the martial arts of China and Japan, dance, psychology, the Yogas and many Esalen body/mind disciplines have relevance in the playing and teaching of sports and recreation. All programs will be held in the San Francisco Bay Area except where noted.

January 5

A Day Of Jogging
Mike Spino

One-day workshop $15

During a single day it is possible to understand the rudiments of jogging. Running techniques, progressive workouts, visualizations and artistic imagination will be combined to help individuals plan comprehensive exercise schedules. 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

Monday, January 7

Free Introductory Evening
Sports Center Staff

Single evening event
FREE; 8-10 p.m. 1793 Union Street, San Francisco

The purpose of these experiential evenings is to introduce Esalen's philosophy, methodology and various disciplines for mind/body harmony, and to show how they can be integrated into the teaching and practice of sport, physical education and recreation. Sensory awareness and movement, structural patterning, Feldenkrais exercises, rolfing, aikido, energy awareness and new methods of cardiovascular training will be used. These evenings are designed specifically for professionals and students. Limited to 35 people.

Monday and Thursday afternoons
Beginning January 7

Aikido for Teenagers
Tom Everett

Continuing program $20 per month

Through the physical art of Aikido we will teach more than just building muscles. Aikido is a mind/body art, utilizing principles universal to all aspects of existence, as well as movement and self-defense. These principles are important when one is changing. 4:30-6:00 p.m.

January 12-March 30

Esalen Sports Center Training Program
Sports Center Staff

Three month program $250

In the past year the Esalen Sports Center has been working towards the development of a body of knowledge which will be applicable to the creation of new concepts, practices and teaching methods in sport, physical education and recreation. This training program represents a synthesis of the work developed thus far. It is designed for physical educators, recreational professionals, and athletes who wish to broaden their perspectives.

The purpose of the program is the development of new methodology and philosophical guidelines which can be applied to specific team, individual sports and conditioning programs. The work will focus on blending techniques of mind/body unity, interpersonal relationships and higher consciousness with traditional approaches currently being practiced. The participants will work with the program directors for one day at the beginning of the series and another full day at its completion, and for one evening every other week throughout the three month period. The evening programs will also include special guest lecturers who will discuss current conditions in the field.

The program will include: three weekend workshops—Sensory Awareness, Feldenkrais, Aikido and Energy Awareness, two one day workshops – Psychosynthesis and Sport and Hypnosis, and any of the following — one weekend workshop (non residential) or two one day workshops or four evening workshops. These optional workshops to be selected by participants according to individual interest from regularly scheduled Esalen Sports Center programs during the January through March period. Professional credit is available through U.C. Berkeley Extension.

January 11-13

Sensory Awareness in Sports
Seymour Carter

Weekend workshop $40

This workshop will aim for a state of intellectual quiet in which each movement can be fully felt and allowed to find its natural way, free of inhibitions, techniques and images. When the mind is stilled, sense perceptions coming from the entire organism enable each person to function authentically according to his nature in all situations.

January 11-13

Body Flying: An Experience in Self-Launch Flight
Alan Dimen and Kent Trimble

Weekend workshop $55

In this workshop, participants will learn to fly with lightweight, self-launch, kite shaped wings. This not-so-recent technology confronts us with many possibilities and challenges via the knowledge of aero-dynamic theory. The first evening will be spent introducing participants to the equipment and concept of body flying, and the next two days will be spent exploring flight. Participants should be in good physical condition and capable of moderately strenuous exertion. Insurance and equipment included.

January 12-19

Esalen/Outward Bound Personal Survival on the Planet
David Schiffman and Dick Galland

Residential eight-day workshop $245

This workshop will provide an opportunity to explore the nature of personal boundaries—physical, emotional and social—whether as illusion or as tools for self-survival. The focus will be on developing physical survival skills through methods pioneered at the Outward Bound School (rock-climbing, rapelling, hiking, etc.) as well as an increasing personal awareness and the development of a more open-ended self concept, through methods pioneered at Esalen (gestalt, encounter, sensory awareness, etc.). The setting for the workshop will be the desert and mountains around Big Bend National Park in Southwest Texas, where the senses can be cleansed and the basic simplicity of survival appreciated. Deposit of $50 required.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

January 13
The Arts of Unwinding
Walt Anderson
One-day workshop $20

A one-day smorgasbord of techniques of de-toxification and tension reduction. Sensory awakening, yoga, meditation, body movement, breathing exercises, massage, and a few things you haven't heard of before. 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Monday, January 14
Sociological Aspects of American Sport
Speakers listed below
Evening seminar $5
8-10:30 p.m., First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

The teaching of athletes and physical education in this country is undergoing a process of reevaluation and change. During the last five years, useful critiques have come from many areas of athletic work. These critiques have questioned some of the basic tenents and philosophical underpinnings of athletics as they are conceptualized, practiced and taught in this country today. Our evening seminar will address itself to an analysis of the sociological implications of organized sport. The following speakers have been responsible for writings on specific problems, such as winning, authoritarianism, racism, sexism and drug abuse, and will openly discuss these vital questions: Olga Connolly, sports columnist and former Olympic champion; Harry Edwards, author of The Black Athlete and the Sociology of Sports, Professor, U.C. Berkeley; George Leonard, author of Education and Ecstasy, and The Transformation; David Meggyesy, author of Out of Their League, former line-backer for the St. Louis Cardinals and co-founder of the Esalen Sports Center; and Jack Scott, Athletic Director, Oberlin College and author of The Athletic Revolution.

Tuesday, January 15
The Use of Energy and Centering in Sports
Robert Nadeau
Evening seminar $5

Center is the state you reach in those special moments when you transcend your norm and function beautifully. Awareness of Energy is the key to that happening. Meditation is experiencing the clarity of that Energy as a Universal Law and a state of Being. This evening seminar will explore these areas in their relation to sport. 8-10:30 p.m. Location to be announced.

Thursday, January 17
How To Play With Your Child
Lillie Leonard
Free evening event

"A feeling of physical inadequacy makes many children's playground experience (about one-fourth of the average school day) unhappy. Parents and teachers can find many positive ways to encourage a child's natural physicality before avoidance and discouragement set in. This evening discussion will be a sharing of ideas and methods I used while working with boys and girls at Old Mill School in Mill Valley." To be held in Marin County. 8-10 p.m.

January 18-20
Cross-Country Skiing
Kurt Wehbring
Residential weekend workshop $75

We will stay in a mountain lodge and spend the days combining ski touring instruction with sensory awakening and breathing exercises. Evenings will be devoted to rest, massage and general conviviality. No previous skiing experience of any kind is necessary. Room and board included. Details about place, equipment, etc. on request.

January 18-20
Feldenkrais & the World of Sport
Betty Fuller
Weekend workshop $30

This is an introduction to the method of "exercise" developed by Moshe Feldenkrais of Israel. Feldenkrais, who introduced the sport of Judo to France, has trained athletes in all fields for the Olympics. After injuring his knee in a soccer game, Feldenkrais began the study of anatomy and physiology which, added to his own observation and experience, led to the evolution of his method. More a moving meditation than "exercise," the movements are done very slowly with heightened awareness and concentration on the here/now process—a challenge for goal-oriented persons. The experience is effortless and pleasurable, resulting in increased sensitivity, reduced friction and expanded self-image. In addition to increased tonus, participants will experience a move toward optimum function and improved alignment in the gravitational field.

Tuesday, January 22
Coaches and their Hang-ups
Mike Spino and Arthur Fox
Evening Seminar $5

Too often there becomes a veil between a coach and the athletes/team that is never broken through. Coaches and players often fall into fixed patterns of interpersonal conflict; not realizing the process of blending personalities which could foster more rewarding and spiritually uplifting athletic experiences. This evening will explore the nature of these conflicts, and begin developing strategies to overcome them. 8-10:30 p.m. 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Limited to 35.

January 25-27
Movement and Its Education
Peter Paulay
Residential weekend workshop $60

Located high in the Sierra-Nevada range of California is a quaint little camp ideally situated for an experience in movement diversification exploration. Mind and body will delve into an experiential investigation of the physical being. A body reality shall be created through a holistic concept encompassing sensitivity exercises, yoga, movement exploration, individual and team sport, creative movement expression, nutrition and media. The workshop is geared to provide the teacher and the concerned individual alike with a new bag of tools in order to make movement education a more humanistic and relevant experience for the individual student of today, tomorrow and the future. Fee includes room and homecooked vegetarian meals. Limited to 15 people.

January 27-February 1
Ski Workshop at Squaw Valley
Bob Kriegel and Dyveke Spino
Residential five-day workshop $250

What flying was to Jonathan Livingston Seagull, skiing can be for all of us. This workshop will blend techniques of body awareness and movement, balance and rhythm, visualization and centering with traditional methods of ski instruction. Focus will also be placed on reading the mountain, understanding the snow conditions and on the latest technical equipment. This workshop is for beginners as well as advanced skiers. Sunday night-Friday morning. Fee includes room, board, instruction, lift tickets, sauna and pool.

February 1-3
Sensory Awareness in Sports
Seymour Carter
Weekend workshop $40

(See description, January 11-13, above)

February 2-3
Dance, Athletics and the Energy Body
Lillie Leonard, Jim Nixon, Dyveke Spino
Weekend workshop $40

All movement can be enhanced by an interchange between the physical and energy body. The interconnection between dance and athletic movement established into a new structural form, may be the impetus for clear understanding of the uses of energy. We will utilize techniques of applying energy to athletic and dance movement, build environments, and depict physical movement closely akin to sports so that we may create a synthesis of dance symbolism and athletic movement.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

Sky-diving as sports mythology. From antiquity comes the warning (in this case from Daedalus to his too-eager son Icarus): "Always check your own lines and their sources."

February 9

A Day Of Jogging
Mike Spino

One-day workshop $15

(See description, January 5, above)

February 9-10

Aikido and Creativity in Sport
Bob Nadeau

Weekend workshop $40

Through the physical art of aikido we will work with a psychological and philosophical approach to movement. We will learn how to observe attitudes in motion and how to make corrections and improvements on those attitudes leading to a more complete mind/body unity.

February 15-17

High Forms of Athletic Practice & Physical Well-Being Hal Bailen & George Sheehan

Weekend workshop $55

The actual practice of sport in America lags behind advanced medical information. This workshop will focus on specific areas for holistic physical involvement and the prevention and treatment of injuries. Hal Bailen and George Sheehan, both athletes and physicians will explore in a practical and experiential way, acupuncture as it relates to sports, structural integrity, optimum body physiology, balanced conditioning, body types and the feet as the foundation of all movement. They will combine new techniques in meditative problem solving and personality structuring, for better medical understanding and a more rewarding, injury free athletic experience.

The Sports Center is publishing a bimonthly newsletter which is devoted to developing an interchange of new concepts, practices and information in sports, physical education and recreation. If you would like a copy, just drop us a note, c/o Esalen/San Francisco. Sports Center representatives are also available to give talks, lecture-demonstrations, workshops and clinics, and to design courses for schools.

February 15-18

Cross-Country Skiing
Walt Anderson and Kurt Wehbring

Residential three-day-weekend workshop $90

We will stay in a mountain lodge and spend the days combining ski touring instruction with sensory awakening and breathing exercises. Evenings will be devoted to rest, massage, and general conviviality. No previous skiing experience of any kind is necessary. Fee includes room and board. February 22-24

A Reunion With the Sea
Ron Clark

Weekend workshop in La Jolla $65

Water has long provided us with a profound metaphor and dream symbol for our emergent bodily states—for our formative processes. Actual experience in the water can provide us with a unique growth-exploration process—a process through which we can, to some degree, experience formative processes and a direction for ourselves to become more fully functioning organisms; more at one with our bodies. In this workshop we will work in a pool and in the ocean. Through a variety of techniques we will attempt contact, expression, integration and sharing of experiences and internal states. Fee includes room but not meals.

February 22-24

Body Flying: An Experience in Self-Launch Flight
Alan Dimen and Kent Trimble

Weekend workshop $55

(See description, January 11-13, above)

February 22-24

Rolfing and Feldenkrais
Dub Leigh

Weekend workshop $40

Dub Leigh, a senior practitioner of Structural Integration (Rolfing) has been using the Feldenkrais method of exercise both as a preparation and a maintenance program for Rolfing. Dub, who trained with Ida Rolf and Moshe Feldenkrais, finds their methods to be complementary and especially useful to athletes. Rolfing uses gravity as a tool to align bodies correctly, segment by segment. Feldenkrais movement results in reduced friction and increased efficiency in the gravitational field. This workshop will include demonstrations and experiential sessions. Wear slacks or tights.

February 25-28; March 4-7

Jogging, Conditioning and Creativity
Mike Spino

Eight evenings $20

Cardio-vascular exercise is the base upon which all athletic activities are performed. Without stamina, developed when the body increases its ability to utilize oxygen, sports, games and recreational leisure cannot be performed to capacity. Jogging and running are effective means of cardio-vascular conditioning. Information about environment, equipment, nutrition, visualization and sensory stimulation techniques, assimilation of yoga and Eastern meditations will be discussed and practiced. Every participant will receive a suggested training plan based on a scale of his potential improvement. Combined with this physical orientation there will be focus on creative work evolving out of the running experience. 5:00-6:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday each week.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

March 8-10
Movement & Awareness in Winter Environment—Introduction to Cross-Country Skiing
Zoe Kramer
Residential weekend workshop $75
Cross-country skiing provides a means of controlled movement through the winter landscape, free from mechanical aids, and encourages both a high level of physical conditioning and environmental and self-awareness. This workshop, to be held in the Lake Tahoe area, is intended both for those who have never skied and for downhill skiers who wish to try the Nordic (and ancestral) version of the sport. Instruction will cover equipment, techniques, basic winter survival information, and an actual day-tour, integrated with sessions incorporating relevant material from such body-oriented disciplines as hatha yoga, sensory and energy awareness, and basic cardio-vascular conditioning principles and methods, focused in meditation and enhanced by positive group interaction. Accommodations and meals will be provided; participants must furnish their own transportation and basic equipment. Limited to 15 people.

March 15-17
Inspiration and the Power of the Body: A Two Day Bike Trip in Sonoma County
Dyveke and Mike Spino
Residential weekend workshop $75
Inspiration is to be found in every age. The turn of the century was an era of inspiration symbolized by the writings of the coterie of artists surrounding Jack London, the American master of realism, whose recurrent theme throughout his work has been the power of physical adventure. By viewing the unpublished writings of his closest friend, George Sterling, and biking along the trails which served as their inspiration, we may touch upon a spark awaiting ignition in each of us. Limited to 10. Fee includes room and board. Scholarships are available.

New music, new heights: athletes invading the dance-halls of 1850's Paris lifted a square dance into high sport for large crowds. Le can-can burst on the scene.

March 15-17
Snow Outing
Walt and Maurica Anderson
Residential weekend workshop $75
This weekend will be spent in and around a cabin in the High Sierras; activities will include an introduction to snow hiking and snowshoe travel, plus a combination of exercises and body-conditioning games. March 23
Hypnosis and Think Training With Athletes
Lee Pulos
One day workshop $20
The primary focus in this workshop will be to learn how hypnosis and self hypnosis can be used to enhance athletic potential. Participants will experience a variety of hypnotic approaches focussing on how these can be used to improve concentration, practising various skills under hypnosis and utilizing the concept of "hypnotic think training." A feature of the workshop will be to teach and demonstrate a diagnostic technique under hypnosis enabling coaches and athletes to uncover any faults or errors in the process of skill development. 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

March 26 and 28
The Open Classrom & New Directions in Sports, Games & Physical Education
Jim Nixon and Mike Spino
Two evening seminars $20
The goal of integrating body and mind has always been an educational priority. Progressive education has failed to find this blend. Too often teachers have equipment and the intellectual awareness of the need for more options, but lack concrete curriculum alternatives. Utilizing the energy body and human bio-energy field with traditional physical activities, and adding Feldenkrais exercises, visualization techniques and meditative centering, this workshop could help to transform physical activity curriculums. 5:30-10:00 p.m.

ENERGETIC STUDIES

The Center for Energetic Studies, under the direction of Stanley Keleman, is a program of workshops, teaching and publishing concerned with the bodily experience of the here and now and the identity which gives biological form. Workshops will be led by Keleman and other invited leaders who explore human development from a perspective of experiences enhancing the biological life.

January 12-13
Open Workshop
Stanley Keleman

10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday $60
Deposit of $40 required.

January 29-March 5
The Family Body
Stanley Keleman and Sylvia Schmidt

Six Tuesday evenings, 6 to 10 p.m. $120

Self-formation comes out of family life. All of us, as bodies, undergo our initial formation in the world of the family. This workshop is for seeing how our physical selves are formed by family roles. We will look at two family bodies in the group, to explore their dynamics from this perspective.
Deposit of $60 required.

February 22-24
Open Workshop
Stanley Keleman

Three-day residential workshop
$150 including room and meals
Deposit of $75 required.

The Professional Development Program of the Center is a curriculum in which students can develop a deepening understanding of both the biological roots of experience and the applications of that understanding to personal and cultural expression. "The Family Body" and "Human Physiology" programs listed below are open to all applicants, and special consideration will be given to people in the helping professions, the arts and sciences, and those interested in beginning an extended course of study at the Center. Please describe your background in a brief letter of application to these two programs.

March 26-June 15
Human Physiology
Fred Lorenz

In order to work with the body, we must have some understanding of how it functions. This course is offered as a step toward being able to understand, in formal terms, the connections between biological and psychological thinking.
Concentration will be on classical human physiology, based as strictly as possible on interpretation of controlled experimental results. Discussion will lead frequently to interfaces between experimental physiology and clinical, unconventional and esoteric observations and beliefs. The course will include required readings.

Twelve Tuesday evenings, March 26-June 11, 7-10 p.m., and a one-day seminar, June 15. $120. Deposit of $60 required.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

ARTS

January 5-6

Poetry Dream Collage
Diane Di Prima

Weekend workshop $35

Through the combination of music, art, talk, breathing, and our dreamlife, we will seek to break our accustomed patterns of association and open ourselves to new revelations about the dream and waking state. Poetry Dream Collage will primarily be a writing workshop, but it is open to artists and prospective artists of all descriptions—anyone who has worked in the arts or has wanted to; you are welcome to bring earlier works, but we will concentrate on what we come up with during this workshop.

January 12-13 & January 26-27

A Photography of Involvement
Paul Fusco and Michael Alexander

Two weekend workshop $75

Our photographs reflect our feelings about what we see. They say as much about us as they do about our subjects. We use photography to communicate our point of view to others and the closer we are to our own feelings, the clearer our point of view becomes. Participants will make, look at and discuss photographs. Bring a camera that you are comfortable using. The two week interval between workshops will provide an opportunity to process work done after the first weekend.

January 20

Alexander Technique and the Voice
Frank Ottiwell

One day workshop $15

The Alexander technique evolved from a need on the part of Alexander to solve his own vocal difficulties. He discovered a certain way of mobilizing the body to make sound that produced an experience of speaking from the entire self, and that wholeness in turn produced an ease and fullness of sound. Come sing out in wholeness and fullness! Each participant will be worked with individually.

January 25-27

Inside Theatre Open Hand
John Argue and Theatre Open Hand Company

Weekend workshop $40

Work, play, rehearse and perform with our company. Spend mornings training in voice, movement, sensory awareness and meditation; afternoons and evenings rehearsing pantomime plays like Abraham and Issac and Eros and Psyche. Previous experience in theatre unnecessary. We invite 14 participants to work with 14 members of our company.

February 1-2

Body Drawing and Massage
Brenda Sales and Red Dog Pieface

Friday night and Saturday $25

Friday evening we will fill in with colored chalks the outlines of our bodies traced on large sheets of paper, letting what we see condition our coloring and shaping. Saturday we will massage one another, then again make life-scale drawings of ourselves or our massage partners. Couples especially are invited. Wear old clothes.

February 1-3

Greek Dancing and Encounter
John and Sandy Enright

Weekend workshop $55

"This earth, this earth we tread upon . . . .
All shall enter it. . . . .
If I knew how to escape, I would make
To the earth a vow of silver.
This earth, which will devour us;
Assail her with the foot!
Fragment of a Greek dance-song (Tsamikos)

Greek dancing is inward and social; serious and gay; disciplined and free. We are drawn to it more than any other of the many forms of dancing we have done. We will combine this pleasure of movement and quality of feeling with gestalt-oriented encounter.

Friday night, all day Saturday, Saturday evening and Sunday until afternoon.

February 8-10

Come As You Are
Paul Rebillot

Weekend workshop $30

The focus is your uniqueness. Using gestalt, dance, improvisation, and ritual magic, we will delve into the mysteries of your mythology. Bring with you fantasies and visions, excesses and limits, and, if you wish, a poem, painting, song, journal, costume or home baked cookie . . . . let's share and celebrate together.

February 16 & February 23

Alexander Technique for the Photographer
Joan Schirle & Robert Leverant

Two Saturday workshops $30

A workshop for photographers to heighten concentration and allow surrender while picture taking and picture giving through an awareness of our minds and bodies at work. We will do gestalt and meditative exercises to reveal the correlation between our bodies and the design space of our images as a way of extending horizons. All participants will receive individual Alexander instruction.

March 2

Oriental Kite Making
Paul Yee

One day workshop $10

Participants will learn to shave, bend and shape bamboo strips, and tie them together to form a rigid kite frame, which they will cover with rice paper, add a fancy kite tail, paint with bright colors, and fly! Materials, tools and protective gear will be provided.

March 2-3 & March 13

Seeing the Invisible
Ruth Bernhard

Weekend workshop with follow-up evening $45

Exploring levels of sight and insight which usually escape our attention. Visualizing the world not as subject but as concept resulting in intensified perceptions and more profound personal photographic images. March 13: 7-10 p.m.

March 9 & March 16

Theater of Transcendence: Be Your Own Superstar
Paul Rebillot

Two Saturday workshops $30

You

March 15-17
Awakening Creativity Through Yoga
Fritz Faiss

Weekend workshop $40

A workshop designed to awaken creative abilities. All people have creative trends which we can put into expressive action. Meditation and specific yoga techniques with emphasis on actual work, particularly painting, will lead each participant to those images and forms that live within him and influence his daily life.

March 16
UTRAN: A Festival of Kites
Shafi Hakim

Afternoon event $7

A slide, sound and film montage of the kite festival in Ahmedabad, India, where three million people fly kites to celebrate the winter solstice every January. After the show, we shall all go to the Marina and fly and fight kites. Kites and kite strings will be provided and you may keep the colorful Indian fighter kite. 1 p.m. – 6 p.m.

March 22
Feast of Fools
Ken Feit

Evening performance $2

A three hour journey of sound and silence with allegorical clowning, mime, flea circus, haikus in sign language, music (bowed psaltery), sound poetry, Indian and African myths, folk tales and children's stories as told by children. Call 771-1710 for time and location.

March 24
A Journey to Delight
Ken Feit

One day workshop $20

Karoarak! karoarak! Experience yourself as word-maker and taster, as an ever-changing word. In tribal fashion create a language of sound and gesture; then discover and tell your story. With clown makeup journey behind the flesh mask into your inner face; then in the silence of bamboo go into the market place and construct myths and rituals. Become a fool!

March 24
Women's Songs
Diane Di Prima

One-day workshop $15

Throughout the ages, women have found expression for their sorrow and hope in song. In folk music, blues, and present pop songs, we can trace women's standing in society and also the changing aspects and possibilities of love. We will use tapes as a jumping-off point for expressing our feelings in talk, writing and song. Bring your work along, and a musical instrument if you play one.

WOMEN'S STUDIES

The Women's Studies Program is designed and coordinated by women collectively. Workshops are priced on as low a base as possible; scholarships are available.

THE WOMEN'S STUDIES PROGRAM

The Women's Studies Program has begun in order to include female consciousness as part of Esalen's long range programming. Until recently this major state of consciousness has been omitted from most Esalen programs, from humanistic psychology in general, from the helping professions and from our socialization in Western culture.

Our aim is to include and make available the woman's point of view to workshop participants and to ourselves as group coordinators; to correct misconceptions by re-examining history, facts and theories; to acknowledge the role played by women in the cultural, political and economic development of the world's civilizations; and from this to develop new and particularly female growth tools and therapeutic forms.

Our point of departure is that not much is known about women; that the information available in the West has been compiled principally by men and/or by women trained in a male-dominated culture. This means starting from scratch, re-examining everything and gaining knowledge from other cultures (American Indians, Amazons, Etruscans, Spartans, etc.). There are no "experts", no "leaders". The program's main orientation is toward getting in touch with buried parts of ourselves and coming out, thereby trading information and skills.

Specific cross-cultural studies will include both the conscious and unconscious roles of women in the world as mirrored in dreams, myths, legends, folk customs, alchemy, religions and art.

Women's Studies programs will explore the following categories:

Female Consciousness: menstruation, pregnancy, menopause, language, art, literature, feelings, body/mind;

Female Sexuality: masturbation, orgasm, lesbianism, bisexuality, heterosexuality, child sexuality, celibacy, self-image.

Sex Roles and Relationships: comparative cross-cultural studies of women's roles, matriarchies and patriarchies — a comparison, biological and social determinants of sex differences, children's sex and social role development, body language, models;

Third World Women: Courses and workshops to be developed by a committee of Third World Women.

Courses, workshops and groups range from pure theory courses to experiential workshops. They are aimed at specific groups or at general groups (including men and children). There are long-range programs, shorter workshops and a guest lecture series.

LONG-TERM PROGRAM

January 12-April 7

Female Sexuality

Twelve week program $300
Scholarships available

The second long-range Women's Studies Program will run for twelve weeks, beginning and ending with weekend workshops (Jan. 12-13 and April 6-7). Female Sexuality is the area of study around which the program will develop. We will seek to integrate and synthesize all levels of our experience by exploring together women's history, films, art, literature, dance, music, health, polarity therapy, meditation, yoga, movement, massage, breath energy, gestalt and whatever new evolves out of our own growth and our sharing.

Participants will be solicited and selected from applications to hopefully include a wide range in age and cultural background. The coordinators of the group will work as a collective and all decisions concerning the group as a whole will be made collectively. The program is limited to 24 women.

There will be three evening meetings and one day-long workshop every four weeks. There will also be special workshops with guest participants. Childcare will be provided throughout the program.

Selection and determination of individual fees will be done by interview with the coordinators during the two weeks before the start of the program. If you are interested in the program send a brief letter telling about yourself to: Women's Studies Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94123.

(This program will be coordinated by Carole A. Levine, Anica Vesel Mander, Lauree Ellen Moss, Anne Kent Rush.)

EVENING SERIES

The Women's Studies Program continues its' series of evening programs. Though the programs are oriented toward female consciousness, men are welcome to attend. Proceeds from these evenings will go toward maintaining a scholarship fund for women's workshops.

Helen Palmer

One-day workshop $15

Many spiritual disciplines conceptualize the seeker's path as a mental balance between the creative-masculine and receptive-feminine modes of consciousness. This workshop is to experience the focusing and visualization techniques stemming from the two principles; and to handle the psychic impressions that arise in a focused mind. Limited to 16.

January 26

Over-40 Liberation?
Laney Stephens

One-day Workshop $15

"I grew up without 'Women's Lib' and I want to know more about what it is and how I am a part of it and/or not a part of it. I want to share a day with other women over 40, to see if there are issues, concerns and joys we hold in common and, possibly, to expand our day together into an ongoing group."

February 5-March 5

Exposing Ourselves
Susan Margolis

Five Tuesday evenings $30

"Men owe us what we imagine they can give us," wrote Simone Weil some time before she killed herself. "We must forgive them their debt." Likewise, feminism. This workshop will try to ease the sense of desperation that so often leads women to betrayal or self-betrayal. We will cut through feminist rhetoric by focusing on the connection and distinctions between private, public and collective experiences that seem common to us as women whether we call ourselves feminists or not. 7:30-10 p.m.

February 25-March 25

Womanpower
Lani Silver

Five Monday evenings $30

In order to be effective feminist revolutionaries we need to combine strength, consciousness, information and power to help ourselves and other women. We will use information as tools: we'll talk about the origins of the patriarchy, mythology, sex roles, law, economics and power-structured social relationships and thereby bring out the power within us. 7:30-10 p.m.

February 27-March 27

Diaries and Dreams
Gloria Churchman and Nina Winter

Five Wednesday evenings $30

In this workshop we will discover how to understand and use our dreams in order to make fuller, richer contact with our inner worlds and to explore our womanness. Material from our dream lives will be used as basis for individual creative expression in various art forms such as: painting, writing, movement. Together we will explore ways of keeping and using the personal diary as well as the dream journal to inform and enrich our waking lives. Both new and veteran dreamers/journal-keepers are welcome. 7:30-10 p.m.

March 17-22

Rest and Relaxation: Five-Day Vacation at a Farm in Sebastopol

Five days $50

These five days are available to women who would like to share time and space with each other. Accommodations will be dormitory bayloft style. Bring a sleeping bag. We will clean, cook and, in general, maintain and support each other.

March 23-24

Women & Film
Freude Bartlett

Weekend workshop $30

Viewing a dozen films by women with emphasis on "personal" films. Discussion of the psychic and creative energies of women and how they are/can be expressed via film. Exploration of the feminine "unconscious": its part in the process of filmmaking and its expression in visual symbols on film.

March 24

Women's Songs
Diane Di Prima

One-day workshop $15

See description, Arts section, p.17.

March 31

Psychodrama
Maurica Anderson

One-day workshop $20

We will work on interpersonal problems which members of the group wish to share, using the spontaneous dramatization techniques of psychodrama to help us cut through old patterns. Our aim will be not solutions but catharsis, enhanced awareness, sharing and (why not?) fun. Members of the group may participate to whatever extent they feel comfortable.

APPROACHES TO THE BODY

These workshops serve as an introduction to several methods which have been developed to increase body awareness and appreciation. Each class may be taken separately. Women who are interested are invited to attend the first session, January 22. All leaders will be present to talk about their particular disciplines and to answer any questions.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Esalen Institute Psychosynthesis Programs are offered in cooperation with the Psychosynthesis Institute, and are coordinated by its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu.

TRAINING IN PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

February 26-April 7

Psychosynthesis Professional Training Series
Jim and Susan Vargiu and Associates of the Psychosynthesis Institute

Six Tuesday evenings, a weekend, and individual sessions. $280

A program designed for psychotherapists, educators, counselors and others involved in the helping professions. The group will explore the fundamentals of psychosynthesis, theoretically and experientially, in a coordinated program designed to give each participant both the understanding and the personal experience needed to begin to utilize and apply psychosynthesis within his own field. The program includes: identification and harmonization of subpersonalities–integration of body, feelings, and mind–guided daydream principles and practice–release and utilization of psychological energies–a model of personality in terms of energy fields–creativity and imagination–Height Psychology, the Transpersonal Self, and the superconscious–symbols and the development of intuition– the inner dialogue–meditation: principles and practice–optimum utilization of current major approaches to growth. We will work together so that each can recognize the process of psychosynthesis at work both in himself and in the others. There will be assignments and exercises to complete between meetings. In addition, each participant will have one private psychosynthesis session, and will have the opportunity to observe two sessions of other members of the group. Further individual work during the six week period can be arranged. Advanced training following this program is also available.

Six Tuesday evenings, February 26-April 7, and weekend workshop, April 6 and 7. For application form, contact Esalen/San Francisco.

January 12

Bear Therapy: Nurturing the Child Within
Betsie Carter & Heidi Firman

One-day workshop $25

Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing from being rigid and critical to being collapsed or being dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we learn to center and to nourish ourselves from that center. 10 a.m.-10 p.m.

Wednesday, January 16

Introduction to Psychosynthesis
John and Heidi Firman

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Join us for an evening of experience and discussion of the basic principles of psychosynthesis. Bring paper, pencil and your imagination!

February 1-3

Psychosynthesis: Who Are You?
John and Heidi Firman

Weekend Workshop $50

What kinds of answers do you have for this most basic question? Who is it in you that questions? Who is it that answers? Are any of the responses in conflict? As we begin to observe and listen to the various parts within us, we can discover a center distinct from the questions, the answers, and the conflicts. This workshop will provide an opportunity for you to connect with the energy and guidance of this center in order to explore these inner voices and create harmony among them. Together we will seek solutions which move us toward actualizing the very best within each of us, our most essential Self.

Wednesday, February 6

"In seedtime begins the journey"
Tom Yeomans

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

In each of us a seed lies buried, the seed of our deepest self. Many seeds are slowed or stunted in their growth by poor soil or drought, but always the seed yearns upward toward light and fruition and, given the right balance of conditions and proper care, each can in time come to express fully its given form.
Psychosynthesis is the art and science of such inner cultivation. The essence of its work is providing what each particular seed needs along its journey in order to grow into full expression and beauty. In this lecture and in the events to follow we will begin to know the seeds within us and to learn steps in the journey of self cultivation.

February 16

Recognitions: Psychosynthesis
Tom Allen and Margaret Conway

One-day workshop $20

There are some "givens" we each experience as fixed parts of our personalities. Some we see ourselves as having been born with–our body type, certain dispositions and so on. Others we experience as the inevitable results of our particular upbringing. In this workshop we will explore the "givens" and learn how to recognize that what had to be at one time may no longer be necessary. Our methods will include identifying and integrating "subpersonalities" and the balancing and synthesizing of opposites. We will use a variety of processes such as: guided imagery, spontaneous movement, symbolic drawing, relaxation and meditation.

March 1-3

Psychosynthesis: Seeking the Self-Seed
Tom and Anne Yeomans

Weekend workshop $50

Where does the seed of our deepest life lie? What does it need to grow and flourish? What forms of potential maturity does it contain? In this workshop, we will journey toward the very center of our selves to find that seed-place and to seek out ways to nourish the inner seed as it grows within us. Approaches used will include symbolic imagery, guided fantasy, inner dialogue, art, sound, movement and journal writing. An important part of this work will be a consideration of how to help continued growth after the weekend is over.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

March 3
Psychosynthesis in Sports
Steve Kull

One-day workshop $25

We will explore the application of psychosynthesis to sports through such techniques as will training, effective use of the imagination, centering, and transpersonal awareness. 10 a.m.-10 p.m.

Thursday, March 7
Introduction to Psychosynthesis
Steven Kull

Single evening event
FREE: 8-10:30 p.m., First Unitarian Church
Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco

An evening introduction to psychosynthesis as a means of resolving inner conflict, integrating the personality, and developing contact with the transpersonal Self.

March 9
Being a Woman: Liberation From Within
Anne Yeomans and Anne Hubbell

One-day workshop $25

A day together, turning inward toward a renewed awareness of women's strengths both ancient and modern. We will use the tools of psychosynthesis, including fantasy, art, movement and meditation to begin to address ourselves to the personal and spiritual questions of our lives. 10 a.m.-10 p.m.

March 15-17
Psychosynthesis: The Self
Steven Kull

Weekend workshop $50

In this workshop we will explore means for actualizing the Transpersonal Self -that higher most essential Self we may have glimpsed in peak experiences. We will begin by exploring our various 'selves', our roles and subpersonalities, and work towards integrating them into a more joyous and whole expression of that higher Self.

March 29-31
Psychosynthesis: Imagination and Intuition
Tom Allen

Weekend workshop $50

In each of us there are new emerging aspects with which we are not yet fully in touch, or which we experience as energies that are blocked. The energy of these aspects can be contacted and used as a source of inner strength and guidance. Imagination and intuition are functions which help us open to these energies and use them to reach higher, more integrated states of consciousness. In this workshop we will explore ways which can be used for the development and right use of imagination and intuition, including guided imagery, inner dialogue, spontaneous drawing, movement, relaxation and meditation.

OTHER PROGRAMS & WORKSHOPS

INTERPERSONAL

SAN FRANCISCO INTRODUCTION TO ESALEN EVENINGS

These evening programs are specially intended for, but not limited to, persons who have not previously participated in Esalen encounter groups.

Working in small and large group sessions, participants will be introduced to many methods for personal growth being explored at Esalen. Comfortable clothing recommended; bring a pillow for easy sitting.

$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Wednesday, January 23 – Art and Janica Fox

Monday, February 11 – Robert Cromey

Thursday, March 14 – Harry Sloan

Friday, January 4
ABOUT ESALEN PROGRAMS with THE ESALEN STAFF

Single evening event

FREE; 8-10:30 p.m.; 1793 Union Street, (Union and Octavia), San Francisco.

An evening for those wishing to discuss programs listed in this catalog with members of the Esalen administrative staff. This is an opportunity for informal, small-group sessions concerning such questions as "Where do I start?"; "Which Esalen program is best suited to my interests and needs?"; "What is the Esalen Sports Center?" "What about a residence program in Big Sur?" etc.

Monday, January 14

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good
Harry Sloan

Single evening event
$2 general, $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Frequently participants come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthrough. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. This evening will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen.

January 18-20

Dealing With Pathology: A Weekend for Professionals
John Heider

Weekend workshop $50

We do not seek severly disturbed participants for membership in growth-oriented groups. But the experienced group leaders must develop skills to cope with extra-ordinary persons and extra-ordinary situations. This workshop is not intended to train clinicians. It is designed to provide professional people-helpers with skills and insights, useful for identifying and working with pathology within the confines of the growth group. The weekend will be experiential, dealing with case histories presented by participants and with the capacity for madness within each of us.

January 18-20

Fair Fight Training for Couples
Lewis & Brandy Engel

Weekend workshop $90 per couple

In this weekend 8 couples will have the opportunity to learn and practice the basic techniques of Fair Fight Training as outlined in The Intimate Enemy by Dr. George Bach. Lewis and Brandy Engel write: "We teach a method for making constructive use of the aggressive feelings generated by the daily frictions, tensions and conflicts that inevitably arise in an intimate relationship. We feel that Fair Fight Training can be a source of revitalization, excitement, growth and change in a couple's life together."

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

January 19-March 10

Here and How as Leader/as Participant: Demystifying the Group Process
David Schiffman and Harry Sloan

Mini-extended growth program $175
For description and information, see p. 10

January 26-27

Growth Through Risk-taking
David Schiffman

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience.

February 9-10

A Tender Invitation
Harry Sloan

Weekend workshop $50

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience — love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse."

February 23

Open Psychodrama Encounter
Walt and Maurica Anderson

One-day workshop $20

A flexible day's work and play using a variety of encounter and gestalt approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama—the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity, and creativity, and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice.

February 23-24

How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World?
Arthur and Janica Fox

Weekend workshop $50

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies.

Wednesday, March 6

Creating Positive Struggle
David Schiffman

Single evening event
$2 general, $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

"Out of chaos comes creation."—S. Lee.

This evening will be spent exploring the creative use of personal energies, both individually and collectively. The emphasis will be on developing and sharing the natural affinities and polarities that emerge when people engage in creative struggle together, as well as on exploring new patterns of seeing, hearing and experiencing the environment we will all be sharing together.

March 9

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob and Marilyn Kriegel

One-day workshop $30 per couple

March 15-17

Dragon-Slaying for People at Midstream
Laney Stephens

Weekend workshop $50

We need new support systems or greatly developed familiar ones to step gradually and successfully into new space as parents, lovers, professionals. We can help each other to define and develop ourselves for these adventures.

March 23-24

Stranger in a Strange Land
David Schiffman

Weekend workshop $50

Letting go the burdens of the past allows us to experience the richness and variety of present time. This workshop will focus on the finishing up of old business and the rewriting of old scripts that contaminate and limit our ability to let in the beauty of where we are and who we are with right now. Through the use of structured risk-taking exercises, gestalt, encounter and sensory awareness, the participant will have the opportunity to experience greater personal expansion and openness with others.

Chang Chi'en Floating on the Yangtze River in a Log Boat (carved out of bamboo) is an homage to the scholar-innovators of ancient China who fled despotic rulers (or were banished?); they recovered in poverty and humility the best of the old and nurtured a newer, softer culture.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

GESTALT

January 5-6

Right Knowing
Stephen Schoen

Weekend workshop $50

William Blake: "Man was made for joy and woe; and if this we rightly know, thro' the world we safely go." This workshop will focus on "right knowing", especially the awareness of body, feeling and mind as a unity; space for joy and woe as they emerge; risk-taking, both in inner and interpersonal experience, as existential safekeeping.

January 19

Body Awareness and Gestalt
George Downing

One-day workshop $20

We will combine the verbal methods of gestalt with a number of different ways of working with the body, including Feldenkrais dynamics and Proskauer breathing techniques.

February 2-3

Conflict & Fluidity in Living
Stephen Schoen

Weekend workshop $50

We know ourselves as we find our own flow, assimilating our conflicts as the flow permits and requires. A workshop in self-learning, its focus and pleasures.

February 9-10

Gestalt with Jack and Lyn
Jack Downing and Lyn Davis

Weekend workshop $50

Everything you've wanted to know yourself but were too busy to ask: being a subtle blend of penetrating gestalt therapy, sensuous body experience, rousing bioenergetics, heartening folk humor and gently meditative Arica exercises.

February 15-17

Experiencing Wholeness
Seymour Carter

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will emphasize gestalt methods for contacting ourselves as self-regulating organisms. The practice of integrating our senses, emotions and thoughts into a perceptual whole releases energy for a more connected experience of living and being. The work will be devoted to releasing excess efforts and tensions and awakening dormant functioning so that the participants may experience greater physical and emotional freedom.

February 16-17

"Help! I'm Trapped in a Human Body"©
Frank Rubenfeld

Weekend workshop $50

We will use gestalt to explore the existential angst of being human. More mundane concerns such as unfinished business, inveterate topdogging, and being in the now and in your body will also be part of this weekend's activity.

February 22-23

Intensive Gestalt
Paula Bottome

Weekend workshop $50

Friday 7:30-11:30 p.m., Sat. 10 a.m.-8 p.m.

March 2-3

Advanced Workshop in Gestalt Therapy: Dreams and Dreamwork
Joel Latner

Weekend workshop $50

Dreams are metaphors for our aspirations, our experience, and our unfinished business. They are also creative events — unique and artistic expressions of this moment in our lives. The focus of this workshop is on dreams and dreamwork, on appreciating them and working with them. The workshop is open to practitioners, trainees, and students in the mental health field.

March 23-24

Meditation, Gestalt and Ritual
Jerry Kogen, Joan Ellen Zweben and David Deitch

Weekend workshop $50

The goal of this workshop is to have the participants journey into a new self and interpersonal exploration through the use of meditation, gestalt techniques and the development of unique rituals relevant to their common experience.

March 30-31

Gestalt and Your Body
Anne Kent Rush and Lauree Ellen Moss

Weekend workshop $50

We will explore the relationship of our individual verbal statements to our characteristic body expressions by combining gestalt and various body therapy techniques (including breath awareness, Reichian release techniques, polarity and massage).

THE HUMAN BODY

INDIVIDUAL MASSAGE APPOINTMENTS are available in San Francisco to Esalen participants and to Friends of Esalen. Massages are $12.00, and $10.00 for women only until January 30. Gift certificates are also available. Call 771-1710 for an appointment.

Monday evenings

Alexander Technique
Frank Ottiwell

NEW ROADS TO HEALTH

A series of programs presenting new approaches to the health of the body

Thursday, January 10

Unorthodox Medicine
David Sobel

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

There is a growing interest in extending our conceptions of health and disease by considering many "unorthodox" systems of medicine. This lecture will draw from such areas as primitive medicine, Chinese medicine and acupuncture, Hippocratic medicine, homeopathy, yogic therapy and naturopathy as well as the voluntary control of internal states, and psychic healing in order to develop a more holistic and ecological conception of health.

Thursday, February 7

Introduction to Acupuncture
Hector Prestera

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

The basic principles of Chinese acupuncture will be presented along with a session on acupuncture massage.

February 15-17

Acupuncture Workshop
Hector Prestera

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will include the basic theoretical premises of acupuncture. Practical acupuncture massage will be taught as well as meditative techniques utilizing acupuncture principles. Acupuncture demonstrations will be performed in the group.

Thursday, February 21

Rediscovering Your Vision
Ray Gottlieb

Evening seminar $5

Dr. Gottlieb will explain the basic principles behind the Bates' system of "Better Sight Without Glasses". He will teach specific exercises as an integrated, whole body approach to removing the stress that hinders vision. 7:30-9:30 p.m.; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Limited to 40.

March 2

A Day of Health
David Sobel

One-day workshop $20

"What is done for you — allow it to be done; what you must do yourself make sure you do it." (Khawwas)

This will be a day of exploring, with your head as well as your body, ways to care for yourself; experiencing the practical everyday things you can do to feel better and maintain your health. We will focus attention on areas from body movement and patterning, to eye exercises and foot reflexology, from relaxing to bathing, brushing and breathing, from eating to fasting and some will training to develop your own daily rituals.

Sunday, March 10

Higher Aspects of Healing & Nutrition
James MacKimmie

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Dr. MacKimmie will speak about the higher aspects of healing and nutrition.

Thursday, March 21

The Road to Health Through Nutrition
H. F. Parsons and G. L. Schiller

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Health is not merely the absence of disease — it is a vibrant state of being. This lecture will emphasize how any individual can improve his own "internal environment" by living in harmony with nature. Particular attention will be given to practical guidelines for improving individual nutrition.

January 6

Polarity Therapy
Chellis Glendinning

One-day workshop $20

This workshop will include experiential learning of selected basic techniques, individual physical exercises to facilitate energy balance and circulation, and some discussion of the theoretical principles of polarity therapy.

Wednesday, January 9

Making Friends with Gravity
Betty Fuller and Dub Leigh

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

This evening is an introduction to the method of exercise developed by Moshe Feldenkrais of Israel. More a moving meditation than exercise, the lessons are done very slowly without strain and are designed to assist bodies to move in the direction of increased tonus, optimum function, greater efficiency and correct alignment in the gravitational field. Wear comfortable clothes (slacks or tights), warm socks and bring a blanket and sheet. This is an experience for anyone from 5 to 95 who wants to move and feel better.

January 12

Group Bioenergetics
Michael Conant

One-day workshop $30

Working primarily as a group, we'll use bioenergetic, neo-Reichian and gestalt approaches to deepen contact with ourselves and each other. One or two individual bioenergetic sessions may also take place during the day for demonstration purposes.

January 12-13

Alexander Technique for the Helping Professions
Joan Schirle

Weekend workshop $50

A workshop for those interested in helping others learn how to teach and heal themselves, using some methods of the F.M. Alexander Technique. We will learn some gentle manipulations to release blocked energy and increase kinesthetic awareness; we will explore the relationship between movement habits and structure, breath awareness and energy flow, between the individual body and the unity of the spirit. Limited to 14 participants. Send a brief letter to Esalen/San Francisco indicating your training and current work.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

SAN FRANCISCO PROGRAMS

Thursday, January 17

Dimensions of Structural Integration
Michael Salveson

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

A discussion and demonstration of the Rolf method of structural integration. (See p. 7 for definition)

January 19

Body Awareness and Gestalt
George Downing

One-day workshop $20

We will combine the verbal methods of gestalt with a number of different ways of working with the body, including Feldenkrais dynamics and Feoskauer breathing techniques.

January 22-February 19

Massage
Brenda Sales and Bill Glover

Five Tuesday evenings $35

We will develop a complete massage from basic techniques. We will emphasize the quality of touch–taking care–sensitizing ourselves. 7:30-10:30 p.m.

January 26-27

T'ai Chi Chuan and Massage
Judyth Weaver

Weekend workshop $50

Massage on the inside and massage on the outside. Through the movement meditation of t'ai chi chuan we experience a heightened sensitivity of energies and a new awareness of structure so that we can come to others in massage, as well as in daily life, to give and receive in a more full, grounded, flowing, unified way.

February 3

Understanding Body Energy
Doris Breyer

One-day workshop $20

Energy is our aliveness. It is our capacity to produce motion and is directly related to our individual manner of being-in-the-world. This workshop will deal with a body-based approach to human growth in which our biological energy, our posture, and our movements are seen as a complex statement of each person's existence. Experiential sessions are designed to assist each person in feeling their own energy, sensing their flow, their blocks, their flexibility and constrictions. Participants will have an opportunity to work individually with Doris Brever to experience her unusual therapeutic style. Limited to 12 participants; please wear leotards, shorts or bathing suits.

Monday, February 4

Sensory Awareness: Studies of Our Unconditioned Nature
Seymour Carter

Single evening event
FREE; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Human vitality and energy do not spring from self control, yet society requires that we control ourselves. We learn to build our lives on expectations and to regulate our behavior toward pre-determined goals as if we were simple social machines. Yet within us lies a capacity for discovery and integration: awareness. Born anew each moment, awareness is a resource we waste and pollute with our well-meant attempts to regulate ourselves. In this evening introduction the forgotten roots of sensory experience are uncovered and the excesses of habit are gradually pruned away, allowing participants to explore through a state of inner quiet their natural design and to recover the freshness and delight of discovering their world, moment by moment.

Arthur Rackham's pen-&-inking of Shakespeare's wildest flyer into the subconscious.

February 10

Introduction to T'ai Chi Chuan
Judyth Weaver

One-day workshop $20

A one-day introduction to the essence of t'ai chi chuan–flow, centering, grounding.

January 21-25

Choosing Life
Ian Grand

Five-day workshop $110

This workshop is concerned with the primary decision to live our lives, in the world, in our bodies, that is inherent in the notion of the seed–the decision to be born, to participate in the world of our desiring and our creating, our individuality and our sharing, our sacredness and our sexuality. We will use energetic and somatic approaches, talk, dance and song. 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Limited to 15 participants.

February 1-2

Body Drawing and Massage
Brenda Sales and Red Dog Pieface

Friday night and Saturday $25

See description under Arts, p. 16.

February 2

Structural Patterning in Stillness and Motion
Faith Hornbacher

One-day workshop $25

Limited to 8 participants; each person will be worked with individually.

February 15-17

Experiencing Wholeness
Seymour Carter

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will emphasize gestalt methods for contacting ourselves as self-regulating organisms. The practice of integrating our senses, emotions and thoughts into a perceptual whole releases energy for a more connected experience of living and being. The work will be devoted to releasing excess efforts and tensions and awakening dormant functioning so that the participants may experience greater physical and emotional freedom.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

February 16
Intensive Breath Workshop
George Downing

One-day workshop $20

The breath is a microcosm of the personality. Learning to find and unlock the breath can lead to more richness and certainty of emotion, increased energy, realignment of physical posture and a deeper grasp of one's personal rhythm of existence. We will both verbally and nonverbally explore these possibilities using gestalt and a number of different methods of working intensively with the breath.

February 16-17
Making Friends with Gravity
Betty Fuller and Dub Leigh

Weekend workshop $30

This is an introduction to the method of "exercise" developed by Moshe Feldenkrais of Israel. More a moving meditation than exercise, the Feldenkrais lessons are done very slowly with no pain. The movements are effortless and pleasurable resulting in heightened awareness, increased sensitivity and expanded self image. This workshop is designed to assist bodies to move in the direction of increased tonus, optimum function, greater efficiency and correct alignment in the gravitational field. Wear comfortable clothes (slacks or tights), warm socks and bring a blanket and sheet. This is an experience for anyone from 5 to 95 who wants to move and feel better.

February 17
Polarity Therapy
Chellis Glendinning

One-day workshop $20

This workshop will include experiential learning of selected basic techniques, individual physical exercises to facilitate energy balance and circulation, and some discussion of the theoretical principles of polarity therapy.

INDIVIDUAL SESSIONS WITH PRACTITIONERS OF STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION are available by appointment only. Each session is about 90 minutes long. Phone 771-1710 for appointments. Practitioners include: Andy Crow, Larry Swann, Ed Taylor.

INDIVIDUAL STRUCTURAL PATTERNING APPOINTMENTS are available with Faith Hornbacher by appointment only. A course of private work consists of 6-8 supervised sessions. Each session is about 90 minutes long. Phone 771-1710 for an appointment.

TRAINING IN STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION is offered only through the Ida P. Rolf Foundation for Structural Integration and only upon completion of certain prerequisites. Information about training and research, as well as class announcements may be obtained by writing the Foundation, P.O. Box 1868, Boulder, Colo. 80302.

Wednesday, February 20
Breath and Self
George Downing

Single Evening event
$2 general, $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Bring a blanket; wear loose and comfortable clothing.

February 23-24
How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World?
Arthur and Janica Fox

Weekend workshop $50

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies.

February 24
Massage
Anne Kent Rush

One-day workshop $20

March 2-3 and March 9-10
Polarity Therapy: For Professionals
Anne Kent Rush

Two-weekend workshop $100

A training course for those interested in integrating polarity release techniques with their own work. Limited to 14. Send a brief letter to Esalen/San Francisco indicating your training and current work.

Monday, March 4
An Introduction to Structural Patterning
Faith Hornbacher

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

This will be an informal discussion of the Rolf-Aston method of Structural Patterning in Stillness and Motion. We will explore what patterning is and its applications to each of us in our everyday activities. Some attention will also be devoted to movement analysis, an integral part of patterning. (See p. 7 for definition of patterning.)

March 11-15
Choosing Life
Ian Grand

Five-day workshop $110

This workshop is concerned with the primary decision to live our lives, in the world, in our bodies, that is inherent in the notion of the seed—the decision to be born, to participate in the world of our desiring and our creating, our individuality and our sharing, our sacredness and our sexuality. We will use energetic and somatic approaches, talk, dance and song. 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Limited to 15 participants.

Wednesday, March 13
Origins
George Downing

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

Point of departure: the primordial unity of body and mind has the origin of our creativity.

March 13-May 15
Human Anatomy
Ed Jackson

Ten Wednesday evenings $90

An anatomy course oriented to therapies and disciplines that require a concern for human structure and function: movement, gestalt, dance, massage. Emphasis will be on the skeletal and muscular systems. The material will be presented both through lecture and direct examination and experience of the living body. 7:30-9:30 p.m. Limited to 25 participants. A non-refundable deposit of $50 is required.

March 13-May 30
Massage Training
Gunver Ingeborg (Jackson)

Twelve week course $260
See description, p. 10.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

March 16
Dreams and the Body
George Downing
One-day workshop $20

In this workshop we will work with gestalt, breath awareness and other techniques in order to clarify and to integrate the messages of our dream bodies. Those who are out of touch with their dreams are also welcome: we will use deep fantasy methods in order to explore some of the same thematic material.

March 17
Structural Patterning in Stillness and Motion
Faith Hornbacher
One-day workshop $25

Limited to 8 participants; each person will be worked with individually.

March 22-24
The Loving Massage
Laney Stephens
Weekend workshop $50

With our hands we can give succor, joy, comfort, peace and attention. Through our hands we can know the delights of a simple age-old wisdom that flowers with relaxation, empty-headedness and loving care.

March 24
Knowing & Moving the Body
Frank Ottiwell & Judith Stransky
One-day workshop $25

This workshop will draw on the work of F. M. Alexander and Moshe Feldenkrais in mobilizing and re-educating the body/self. Techniques to improve postural alignment and release blocked energy will be taught individually and applied to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking and bending. Group exercises, performed within each individual's range of ease and enjoyment, will be used to increase kinesthetic awareness and to show the use of awareness and movement as self-teacher.

Thursday, March 28
Dimensions of Structural Integration
Michael Salveson
Single evening event
Free: 8-10:30 p.m.: First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

A discussion and demonstration of the Rolf method of structural integration. (See p. 7 for definition of structural integration.)

March 29-31
Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks
Weekend workshop $50

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and come to rely on—when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this weekend, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents.

March 30-31
Universal Centering
Robert Nadeau
Weekend workshop $50

Center is the state you reach in those special moments when you transcend your norm and function beautifully. Awareness of Energy is the key to that happening. Meditation is experiencing the clarity of that Energy as a Universal Law and state of Being.

March 30-31
Gestalt and Your Body
Anne Kent Rush and Lauree Ellen Moss
Weekend workshop $50

We will explore the relationship of our individual verbal statements to our characteristic body expressions by combining gestalt and various body therapy techniques (including breath awareness, Reichian release techniques, polarity and massage).

DIVERSE

Thursday evenings, beginning January 10
Sufi Stories
Betty Camhi
Continuing program FREE

A series of evenings where we can eat a few dates and share some sufi stories collected by Idries Shah. These "parables in action" of the Eastern dervish tradition claim the power to increase perception. 8-10 p.m.

January 11-13
The Open Way and The Way of Power
José and Miriam Arguelles
Weekend workshop $50

Exploring the nature of archetypal female/male relationships, this seminar will focus on understanding the experience of the female perception of the world. By defining anew the female principle, the open way—the male principle, the way of power—will redefine itself naturally. This weekend will include an illustrated cultural retrospective of the problem, as well as directed discussion groups emphasizing the recycling of primary attitudes toward the end of renewing and revitalizing our most fundamental self-images.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

January 11-13

Praise the Lord!
Anne Heider

Weekend workshop $50

We will learn and practice musical devotions drawn from both Eastern and Western traditions. These will include chant, song, meditations on pure sound, and spiritual dances. Meetings will begin with silent meditation, either sitting or moving. There will be some instruction in the theory of melodic and harmonic forms and some experiments in melodic improvisation to mantram. Our goal is a fuller use of music as a spiritual practice. Participants need not have any musical training. Singing will be emphasized in the workshop; but if you play an instrument well enough that it speaks, or sings, for you, bring it along.

January 25-27

Extending Awareness Through Hypnosis
Lee Pulos

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will combine the approaches of hypnosis and psychosynthesis. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that participants can focus in on themselves through hypnotically induced dreams, automatic writing and drawings. These self-discoveries will be extended through guided fantasies, symbolic imagery and learning how to tune into the "inner theater" of one's unconscious.

February 9

Biofeedback Training
Eleanor Criswell

One-day workshop $20

This workshop will focus on bio-feedback as it relates to self-exploration, self-development and altering consciousness. An understanding of biofeedback, how to experience it, and how to use your own body signals as feedback will be included. Participants will experience two kinds of biofeedback machines.

Thursday, February 14

The Path of the Heart
David Zeller

Single evening event
$2 general; $1 student; 8-10:30 p.m.; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

David writes "When I arrived in India, I had several tentative plans, but none of them included what actually happened: a teacher found me, transformed me into a saddhu and gave me the experience of India from the inside, through this ancient tradition. We've all tried things without "putting our heart into it". Many schools teach the steps to enlightenment without mentioning the aspiration and longing that must come from the heart. My path leads from Jung to Sri Aurobindo through Hassidism, Hinduism, chanting and meditation. It is my personal experience and I look forward to sharing it with you.

February 23-24

The Renewal of Traditional Religious Forms
Robert Cromey

Weekend workshop $50

The group will deal with some basic religious forms to discover their inner experiential dimension.

Confession and forgiveness=
encounter and gestalt;
Laying on of hands and healing oil=
massage;
Prayer and liturgy=
meditation, music and movement;
Holy Spirit=energy;
Baptism and Mass=
water, Bread and Wine ceremony.

In this workshop the group will explore the connection between these traditional religious practices and some techniques from humanistic psychology.

March 23

Alternative Views of "Mental Illness'
Art and Janica Fox

One-day workshop $20

Recovering from schizophrenia, depression and other forms of "mental illness" are strongly affected by negative medical and cultural views. In this seminar we will share our experiences and explore other views: R. D. Laing, the megavitamin people, hypoglycemia, nutritionists, Stan Grof, Julian Silverman, Carl Jung, and the views of other cultures. We welcome professionals, individuals, and families who, like ourselves, have had personal experience with "mental illness".

March 30

Biofeedback Training
Eleanor Criswell

One-day workshop $20

This workshop will focus on bio-feedback as it relates to self-exploration, self-development and altering consciousness. An understanding of biofeedback, how to experience it, and how to use your own body signals as feedback will be included. Participants will experience two kinds of biofeedback machines.

March 30-31

Affect Plus – Further Adventures in Confluent Education
Ford/Esalen Staff: Jayne May and Naomi Singer

One and one-half day workshop $30

A workshop designed to create experiential ways to connect mind, feelings and body in the classroom. Appropriate for anyone who works with children. Credit available by arrangement. Saturday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Sunday, 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

March 30-31

Universal Centering
Robert Nadeau

Weekend workshop $50

Center is the state you reach in those special moments when you transcend your norm and function beautifully. Awareness of Energy is the key to that happening. Meditation is experiencing the clarity of that Energy as a Universal Law and state of Being.

BIG SUR PROGRAMS

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 4–6

Introduction to Aikido
Robert Nadeau

A weekend to explore the Japanese art of aikido. The emphasis will be on centering, blending energy and awareness. Bring comfortable clothing for movement. $100

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

$100

Psychosynthesis
John & Heidi Firman

We invite you to join us in the adventure of self-exploration. Symbolic artwork, guided imagery, humor, movement and meditation are some of the tools we will use to experience the principles of psychosynthesis. By affirming our sense of personal center, we can gain a vantage point which adds clarity and balance, altering the process of growth from compulsive drudgery to playful and purposeful art. Beyond personal harmony, we have the opportunity to contact a higher, most essential self, whose energy and guidance can bring about increasing joy, creativity, and value in our daily lives. $100

A Weekend Workshop in Self-Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The object of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her or himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of psychodrama, encounter and gestalt will be used. $90

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEK OF JANUARY 6–11

Growth and Boundaries
David Schiffman & Harry Sloan

Where do you stop? When do you let go? This workshop will involve the complementary approaches of gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis and massage. The group will explore a wide variety of techniques (verbal and nonverbal) in order to experience the possibilities of greater personal expansion and openness with others. The use of personal boundaries, whether illusory or as tools of survival, will also be explored through risk-taking exercises. $250

Start the Year Right – Taking Care of Yourself with Massage and Movement
Barbara Clemans

Tension can be interpreted as resistance to experience: existential experience of ourselves and vibrational input from the environment. We will heighten our sensitivity to ourselves and others through subtle movement, gentle massage, directed breath awareness, vocal sound vibration and a special musical environment. Emphasis in this workshop will be on the individual's specific needs and on developing techniques which can be used at home. You will learn a complete body massage. $250

Psychosynthesis: A Return to Center
Steven Kull & Tom Yeomans

Even at times of intense inner conflict and confusion, we often have a sense of a calm center within us – a point of compassionate perspective where we can tap into sources of integrative energy and wisdom. In this workshop we will seek to build a bridge between this center and our daily lives. We will use such techniques as guided imagery, gestalt, symbolic art work, movement, journal writing and meditation. Emphasis will be placed on initiating an ongoing process of growth and integration which participants can continue to use after the workshop. $250

More
Michael Butler

Each of us is capable of more . . . emotional creativity, aliveness, sensuality. The methods of this workshop will be body disciplines, encounter and gestalt tools, and the life positive forces in the Esalen environment. Its goal: to experience "more," not just for a weekend at Esalen, but wherever we happen to be. Limited to 14. $250

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 11–13

Gestalt Awareness and Self-Image
Stella Resnick

As we move around in our world we carry with us a fantasy of ourselves which mediates and dictates our actions and limits our choices. Using the gestalt approach embellished by a variety of other techniques including movement and methods of the actor, participants will work toward clarifying their individual self-image and getting in touch with the disparity between their self-image and how others see them. Particular emphasis will be given to body image, self-esteem, role expectations and withholding excitement. We will work toward expanding our behavioral repertory, our creativity and our aliveness through attaining a more realistic and nourishing self-image. $100

More
Michael Butler

See January 6-11, above. Limited to 14. $100

New Paths to Healing
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

Use of color, aspects of aura reading, traditional Chinese acupuncture concepts and specific individualized meditative techniques will be utilized.

The above will enable the individual to begin to heal himself. $100

TO THE "LIMITS" OF SELF AND "BEYOND"

January 6-February 1

Julian Silverman, Co-ordinator
and: Diana Bechetti,
Chris Feldman,
Ann Halprin,
Janet Lederman,
Peggy Morrison,
Robert Nadeau,
Beverly Silverman,

No one person, no one method provides the key to discovering how we limit ourselves and how we can transcend these limits. This workshop is designed to present to individuals the opportunity of experiencing several different approaches to self-discovery, to offer individuals the possibility of testing their own limits and finding their own roads to a transpersonal self.

WEEK ONE: Julian & Beverly Silverman, encounter and gestalt. WEEKEND: Ann Halprin, dance and movement. WEEK TWO: Janet Lederman, experiential learning. WEEKEND: Chris Feldman, conscious evolution (see description in Jan 18-20, p. 38). WEEK THREE: Diana Bechetti, psychosynthesis. WEEKEND: Robert Nadeau, centering and energy awareness. WEEK FOUR: Julian & Beverly Silverman, back into the world.

Throughout the month, participants will be taking sessions in massage and participating in work on the Esalen grounds, with the aim of being literally in touch – with each other and with nature. $975

THE WEEK OF JANUARY 13–18

The Greater Gestalt
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Improvising together, we will create and explore our laughter, sadness and rage. Our synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Esalen encounter and massage, joined with Arica consciousness-expanding exercises works to dissolve your blocks to expression. $280

Gestalt & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price

One of a series of programs relating gestalt awareness practice to the spiritual disciplines developed within (and sometimes in opposition to) the great world religions. Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gai-fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F. S. Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov. $250

A Week of Energy Release Through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz

We tend to block the free flow of energy which allows us to express emotions. The reasons involve many facets of self: fear of rejection, fear of not being loveable, fear of falling on one's face, etc . . . .

Through bioenergetic techniques, we will focus on opening up channels to the free flow of energy and dealing with the resultant emotional release on the intrapsychic and interpersonal levels. Gestalt techniques will also be utilized to develop an environment in which risk-taking may occur in an atmosphere of trust. $220

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 18–20

A Weekend of Energy Release Through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz

See Jan. 13-18, above. $90

Accentuate the Positive
Lenore Lefer & Beverly Silverman

Many of us tend to focus on the negative aspects of our lives. We will accentuate the positive using gestalt, encounter and psychosynthesis techniques. $100

Conscious Evolution
Chris Feldman & Esalen Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary – this is a workshop for ordinary people. $90

Ecological Spirituality
Robert Hunter

This seminar explores a simple application of ecological principles to life and the development of a value system based on ecology. Essentially the ideas to be explored are a continuation of those developed in The Storming of The Mind. Through the medium of ecological insights we have an opportunity to observe a "higher order" directly at work influencing our lives. Existentially we have the freedom to systematize our delusions in whatever patterns we like. A metaphysical system based on an ecological survival code with an attendant social value system may be precisely what we require at this juncture. $90

THE WEEK OF JANUARY 20–25

Experiencing Wholeness
Seymour Carter

This workshop will emphasize gestalt methods for contacting ourselves as self-regulating organisms. The practice of integrating our senses, emotions and thought into a perceptual whole releases energy for a more connected experience of living and being. The work will be devoted to releasing excess efforts and tensions and awakening dormant functioning so that the participants may experience greater physical and emotional freedom. $250

Opening the Feelings: an Interscience Neo-Reichian Workshop
Laura Dillon & Elaine Warburton

Powerful non-verbal techniques derived from Wilhelm Reich can open deep levels of fear, rage and grief that have been locked in since childhood. By working through these, students can discover a new capacity for trust, love and joy. In time the sexual experience is changed profoundly as sexual and tender feelings for the mate expand and merge. $250

Invitations to Openness
Walt & Maurica Anderson

Basic propositions: (1) An increased capacity for personal openness and honesty makes life easier and a lot more interesting. (2) The need for privacy is to be respected. (3) Openness is best achieved in response to an invitation, not a demand. We will all explore our own boundaries of privacy/openness, and work with some techniques for being open and inviting openness in everyday life. $220

THE WEEKEND OF JANUARY 25–27

Bio-Feedback Training for Psychosomatic Problems: A Workshop for Professionals
Joe Kamiya

A seminar for professionals in psychotherapy, medicine and other fields dealing with mind/body relations. Demonstrations and discussions of bio-feedback training methods for enhancing self-control over tension headaches, migraine, anxiety, insomnia, hypertension, gastric acidity, impotence, frigidity and other symptoms of imbalance in brain and autonomic functions. The potential for application in education and self-development will be explored. $100

What's Available
George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. Limited to 20 persons. $100

The Energy Body in Action
George Leonard

Many ancient and modern disciplines of personal health, growth and change depend upon concepts of "energy flows" in and around the bodies of living things. Western science has not yet identified all of these biofields, but some significant work is under way, as in acupuncture, for example. Using techniques derived from aikido and breathing, Mr. Leonard will present his approach to the human biofield. He will discuss the application of biofield work to other growth disciplines and to certain currents in Western thought. Through bodily movement and exercises in perception, consciousness and being, participants will experience their energy bodies in interaction with nature and other people, and will practice centering and heightened awareness. $100

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEK OF JANUARY 27– FEBRUARY 1

Exploration and Integration
Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $220

Gestalt & the Body
Dick Price & Chris Stewart

Includes an introduction to a variety of body practices: acupuncture, Rolfing, bio-energetics, massage and polarity massage and their relation to gestalt awareness practice. $250

Encounter for Couples
Will Schutz and Valerie Blalock

This week is an opportunity for couples to explore the realities and the possibilities of their coupledom and to share the experiences of other couples through encounter. $280

Universal Centering
Robert Nadeau

Center is the state you reach in those special moments when you transcend your norm and function beautifully. Awareness of energy is the key to that happening. Meditation is experiencing the clarity of that energy as a Universal Law and a state of being. $250

THE WEEKEND OF FEBRUARY 1–3

Two Feet off the Ground
Bernard Gunther

Satori is like ordinary consciousness except you feel like you're floating two feet off the ground. How to be in and above your experiences will be the focus of this transpersonal weekend. Through the use of sensory awakening gestalt psychosynthesis meditation breathing energy and joy we will get in touch with how to be and stay centered: two feet off the ground. $100

Tao: the Watercourse Way
Alan Watts

Basic introduction to the philosophy of Lao-Tzu and Chuang-Tzu on going through life by the line of least resistance. $100

Steps to an Ecology of Mind
Gregory Bateson

ONGOING RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

Beverly Silverman, Julian Silverman, Richard Price, Janet Lederman will be available for direction and consulting.

A program for those who would like to have time and space in the Esalen environment of community and work, experiencing living from many different positions. Although this is not a training program, participants may select any five-day workshops offered in the Esalen catalog during their stay.

$880 per 4-week period*
(Residence requirement of 4 weeks).

September through April

Does not apply to February psychic series.*

ESALEN STUDY CENTER PROGRAM

Beginning November 15, we will initiate an advanced study program intended to deepen and integrate the various areas of endeavor that have evolved at Esalen. The program offers participants possibilities to expand, enrich and enliven their professional and personal capacities along physical, psychological and spiritual lines.

Based on a combination of Fritz Perls' Lake Cowichan community experiment and past Esalen residence programs, participants will live, work and study together at Esalen's 'Big House,' where they will take responsibility for their own food preparation, maintenance of their residence and its grounds, as well as for their learning experience.

Admission preference will be given to those already working as teachers, social workers, psychiatrists, etc., rather than to aspiring growth center leaders. Selection of participants will be made from the Ongoing Residential Program and, in some cases, by personal interview or through the five-day programs.

Persons may initially enter the program for a one-month period. Participation beyond that time will continue only by consent of the Study Center Board, based on an evaluation of the participant's utilization of the program.

For information write: Study Center, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

THE WEEK OF FEBRUARY 3–8

The World of Uri Geller
Uri Geller, Andrija Puharich, Ira Einhorn

A week long exploration of the unusual psychic talents of this young Israeli sensitive, including a day long demonstration by Uri. The seminar will explore Uri's powers, which include telepathy, levitation, translocation, time reversal and dematerialization, the history of their development, their ramifications with respect to contemporary science, and their relationship to U.F.O's and extraterrestrial intelligence. It will also discuss the relevance of the emergence of such powers to the present critical planetary situation.

Recommended reading: Beyond Telepathy, Andrija Puharich (Doubleday Anchor, 1973); 78-187880, Ira Einhorn (Doubleday Anchor, 1972). $250

Tools for Centering
Grace Stern, with Ellen Stevens and the Esalen Massage Staff

We have the perfect tool for learning to focus awareness and to live in the here and now; it is the body. Most of us have mis-used our bodies. We have tensed and tightened them, used them as storage houses for anxieties, molded them in postures of defense or pugnacity and censored what they are allowed to see, touch and hear. We have changed our bodies from tools into obstacles to contacting the here and now. This workshop is designed to introduce your body to you as a teacher and a tool. Through the use of deep breathing, yoga and movement, chanting, meditation and massage, we can learn to focus our awareness, consciously and fully, by "grounding it in our bodies. The path of "expanding" awareness lies through centering awareness. This workshop is aimed at providing you with tools for centering which you can use and enjoy in your daily life. $220.

Bioenergetics
Michael Conant

As a way to get more in contact with life within us and around us, we'll focus on both individual and group sessions utilizing neo-Reichian, bioenergetic, and gestalt approaches. Explorations of ourselves from these and other sources will take place in a relaxed, supportive setting; in keeping with this, the workshop is limited to 14 participants. $250

Growth Through Risk-Taking
David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $220

THE PSYCHIC SERIES

In February and again in May, there will be a month of seminars and workshops at Esalen/Big Sur in the field of metaphysics and psychic phenomena. Each workshop/seminar may be taken separately, or a "package" is available consisting of the four week-long sessions:

Feb. 3-8: "The World of Uri Geller": Uri Geller, Andrija Puharich, Ira Einhorn (p. 40)

Feb. 10-15: "Astrology as a Mirror of Life" Zipporah Dobyns & Shirley Leitch (p. 41)

Feb. 17-22: "Pyramid of Being" Olivia Skinner (p. 42)

Feb. 24-March 1: "The Medium, The Mystic and The Physicist: Toward a General Theory of the Paranormal" Lawrence J. LeShan (p. 43)

The price of $980 per person includes the above workshops plus room and board at Esalen from February 3 to March 1. Weekend workshops during this period are available to month-long participants at the catalog price, less room and board. February weekend workshops and seminars on the psychic theme are:

February 8-10: "Inner Space & Outer Space: The Adventure of Flight" Edgar Mitchell & George Leonard (p. 41)

February 15-17: "Conscious Evolution" Chris Feldman & the Esalen Staff (p. 42)

February 22-24: "The Aura of Infinite Change" Connie Weisman (p. 42)

March 1-3: "Readjusting the Base Line" Robert Monroe (p. 43)

The May Program currently includes workshops with Suzy Smith and Montague Ullman. Further details to be announced.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEKEND OF FEBRUARY 8–10

A Weekend Workshop in Self-Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly as others see us, or act as we really feel. The object of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her or himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of psychodrama, encounter and gestalt will be used. $90

Opening
Lyn Davis

We will work to increase our capacity, to take in and assimilate energy, to allow more to flow through us, holding onto nothing. In this way we can receive and transmit higher levels and forms of energy. We will use gestalt, massage, Reichian breathing work, Arica exercises and other meditations. $90

Psychosynthesis Workshop
Tom & Anne Yeomans

Psychosynthesis is a way of growing and a way of learning to direct one's personal growth. It seeks to develop a personal center from which to live, as well as deep connections with Self, Other, and the Universe. Through the use of directed fantasy, meditation, body movement and dialogue, it encourages new and more productive and harmonious relations between the many aspects of the personality. In theory and practice, it offers a means toward greater integration of one's energies, which leads to a richer experience on all levels of being. $100

Inner Space & Outer Space: The Adventure of Flight
Edgar Mitchell & George Leonard

The sixth man on the moon and the author of The Transformation will join together for a weekend of discussion and experience along the frontiers of human knowing. Astronaut Mitchell, now president of The Institute of Noetic Sciences, will provide an overview on the nature of consciousness and those sciences and disciplines that are exploring it. He will discuss his own work with various psychics, including the Israeli Uri Geller, and describe the latest developments in the field of psychic research, using films which show some of this work.

With George Leonard, a World War II pilot, Mitchell will give personal examples of flight experiences, both on earth and in space, that may provide clues for the great voyage of exploration now facing the human race. Leonard, using techniques of fantasy and energy awareness, will invite participants to experience the poetry of flight and transformation. $120

Renascence
Michael Butler

Each of us has within him a seed of untapped emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $250

Altering States of Consciousness: Music, Meditation, Massage, Movement
Barbara Clemans

Deep relaxation and quieting the inner voices allow the energy of the universe to penetrate. The body is the microcosm which encapsulates the totality of the macrocosm. Mantram, breathing and meditation with music will sensitize the body and enhance the intrinsic flow inherent in the organism. Massage will give expression to this flow and connection with the energy of others which is the synergy of the One. $250

Bioenergetics: a Workshop for Professionals
Michael Conant

An experiential seminar for professionals in psychotherapy and related fields who wish to learn more about bioenergetics and neo-Reichian modalities. Emphasis will be on group work, individual sessions in front of the group, and some discussion material. For those who wish to go into the field in depth, information regarding long-term training programs will be made available. $250

Astrology as a Mirror of Life
Zipporah Dobyns & Shirley Leitch

Astrology is man's earliest typology or way of describing inner dynamics. This workshop will explore astrology's potential as a viable tool for understanding inner and interpersonal motivations and conflicts. The presentation will cover the basic principles needed for the psychological understanding of a horoscope and will include discussions of advanced techniques as well as member participations in exploring psychological conflicts in the light of their own horoscopes. The format will be flexible, permitting dream analysis, and interpersonal exchanges, in addition to the individual work; all with the added insight of the horoscopes of the participants. Those who would like a computer processed chart which has many unique features should send full birth data (date, minute, and place of birth) to Esalen by February 1. $220

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

THE WEEKEND OF FEBRUARY 15–17

What's Available
George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. Limited to 20 persons. $100

Renascence
Michael Butler

Each of us carries within him, buried beneath layers of psychic tensions, the fertile seed of a new self. We will use many of the Esalen body-oriented and psychological techniques to allow ourselves to experience that seed center of self and nourish it. Limited to 14. $100

Women Relating to Women
Jill Johnson

. . . Lesbian Feminism . . . mothers and daughters . . . dream sources of rebirth . . . Amazons . . . & arch-dykes . . $100

Conscious Evolution
Chris Feldman & Esalen Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary – this is a workshop for ordinary people. $90

Wu Chi
Al Huang

Wu Chi: the original T'ai before such labels as Yan, Wu or Mah styles, and before its other re-creations in kung-fu, aikido, judo and karate. The symbol for Wu Chi is the empty circle before the man-made division of the S moving line. How moving is your S dividing line within your t'ai chi sign? Let us explore the ways the Taoists in the old days discovered, played with and flowed through. Shall we begin with this seminar, assuming this new-ancient-now way of bodymind-moving-together called Wu Chi, and liberate ourselves from the confusions and accretions of later forms? This weekend workshop will be an overall introduction-work-play-review of Wu Chi, and we welcome everyone who is willing to call himself a beginner. $100

THE WEEK OF FEBRUARY 17–22

Wu Chi
Al Haung

See Wu Chi weekend, Feb. 15-17 above.

The 5-day workshop will have more time to deal with some specific forms, motifs and methods. Bring musical instruments to play and dance, brush sets and papers to study Chinese Classics and poetry. Bring yourself and leave your dictating mind behind. $250

Experiencing Esalen
Janet Lederman, Richard Price, Paul Rebillot and the Esalen Staff.

See description on page 46. $220

Pyramid of Being
Olivia Skinner

This workshop will deal with the three levels of being: body, mind, spirit, and the balancing of Auric fields–emotionally, physically and spiritually–to the individual's essence. Experiential work will be done with interpreting the Auric field, trance, acupoints, shiatsu, meditation and psychic development. $220

The Workshop is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness: The Title is Unimportant
Bob & Marilyn Harris Kriegel

Our premise is that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by individuals increasing their available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used, as well as games and massage, to enable the participants to explore and expand the resources that exist within themselves. $220

THE WEEKEND OF FEBRUARY 22–24

The Workshop is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness: The Title is Unimportant
Bob & Marilyn Harris Kriegel

See description Feb. 17-22, above. $90

The Aura of Infinite Change
Connie Weisman

A three day journey into expanding personal identity into "New Age" consciousness. The vibration level is raised by erasing negative conditioning and realignment of the perception center. This is done on a psychic level by reprogramming the subconscious according to the seven Hermetic Laws of the Universe. The pace of this seminar is guided by the changes registered in the auras. $90

Surrender to Yourself
David Lees & Nancy Joeckel

The more you surrender to you, the more deeply you contact yourself. The deeper your contact with yourself, the clearer are your options for getting what you want and wanting what you get. With gestalt, soft-encounter, massage, and consciousness-expanding exercises, we will offer you the opportunity to learn more about surrendering to yourself. Limited to 14. $100

Yin-Yang: Receptivity & Creativity in Movement
Janet Lederman & Xavier Nash

Tuning Your Energy Body
Robert Nadeau

All of us have moments when we are balanced: when we are centered in ourselves yet open and at one with the richness of life around us. Such moments do not have to be rare accidents. We can exist in a vast reservoir of energy that we can learn to tune into and use to enrich our lives on every level. This workshop is an experience in the application of this life energy to relaxation, concentration, healing and life in general. $100

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEK OF FEBRUARY 24–MARCH 1

Experiencing Wholeness
Seymour Carter

This workshop will emphasize gestalt methods for contacting ourselves as self-regulating organisms. The practice of integrating our senses, emotions and thought into a perceptual whole releases energy for a more connected experience of living and being. The work will be devoted to releasing excess efforts and tensions and awakening dormant functioning so that the participants may experience greater physical and emotional freedom. $250

Exploring Self-Acceptance
David Schiffman

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $220

A Gestalt Workshop
Beverly Silverman & Janet Lederman

Dissolving . . .
the "stress syndrome" of our culture,
Moving . . .
toward a MORE GRACEFUL ETHIC.
$250

The Medium, The Mystic & The Physicist: Towards a General Theory of the Paranormal
Lawrence J. LeShan

Based on the book of the same title as this workshop, the five days will be part lecture, part experiential, with training in a variety of forms of meditation. It is suggested that participants read: The Medium, The Mystic & The Physicist: Towards a General Theory of the Paranormal, by Lawrence J. LeShan.
$250

SOUTH COAST CENTER

A place for new structures to emerge
An environmental experiment
A media center
A cabaret
A place to work, to study, to play,
Or just to be.
Studios may be rented on a monthly basis with access to the dining facilities and baths at Big Sur Hot Springs. Room and board: $485 per month

An apocryphal Alexander the Great holds a succulent lamb aloft; carnivorous griffons chained to his gondola beat their wings up toward the meat—and Alexander flies! Descent is easily accomplished by holding the bait below the basket.

THE WEEKEND OF MARCH 1–3

Massage and Energy Alignment
Nancy DeWoskin and Diane Weinberg

When we massage or simply touch each other we are aware of certain energy experiences. In this workshop we will pay special attention to exactly what is happening in energy as we massage or apply pressure to different areas of the body. The Energy Alignment method is based on the relationship between our physical bodies and the energy dimensions. $90

Re-entry into the Body: Massage, Movement, Meditation
Barbara Clemans

The experience of living in our bodies in a relaxed and integrated manner, is unavailable to most of us. Regaining a sense of total selfhood requires that we fill the gaps in our body image. Reclaiming our bodies is a slow, sensitive process requiring directed awareness and care from others. We will use Feldenkrais techniques (awareness suggested by the natural movements of the body), mantram and meditation with music to enhance the intrinsic flow and massage to focus on the element of pleasure and integration in a conscious and awake body. $100

Readjusting the Base Line
Robert Monroe

A programmed system of talks, seminars and training sessions in actual procedures aimed at controlled exploration and experience in the out of body state. Mr. Monroe will conduct sessions and bring with him assorted technical equipment to assist in the induction of the separation process. $100

Dream Appreciation
Montague Ullman

Dreaming is a universal experience in creativity and in crisis resolution. As such it presents opportunities and hazards. Getting closer to one's dream life depends on feeling one's way back into the dream rather than thinking one's way, that is, of appreciating rather than interpreting the dream. The personal, social and paranormal or telepathic dimensions of the dreams of the participants will be the focus of the workshop, along with a background discussion of the special qualities of dream consciousness. $100

Psychomotor Workshop
Albert & Diane Pesso

Psychomotor is an action-oriented form of therapy and emotional re-education that is based on the theory that a major route to the unconscious is through the body. At the heart of this approach is the belief that feelings, emotions, and states of mind affect the way we move, act, and hold ourselves, and that all human beings have vast amounts of information stored in their bodies and behavior that have not been tapped consciously and directly for the furtherance and fulfillment of their own lives. In Psychomotor Groups, each member has his own individual time or structure in which to explore and work with his feelings, both physically and verbally. Members become sensitized to the relationship between emotions and action so they can begin to move directly to the impulses that they discover in their bodies. They learn to appreciate and listen to the symbolic meanings expressed through their bodily states and movements. In Psychomotor theory, it is postulated that when developmental needs are met, the further process of becoming one's uniquely creative self can be attended to with more energy and less distraction. $100

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

A Tender Invitation
Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $220

Experiencing Esalen
Janet Lederman, Richard Price, Paul Rebillot and the Esalen Staff

See Description on page 46. $220

Awareness of Energy
John Heider March 3-29

The first and final weeks will focus on group process, encounter/gestalt as an exercise in awareness of energy. The second week will emphasize somatic awareness or body work. The third week will dwell on systems of awareness training or meditation. The purpose of this program is to promote a synthesis or integration of a number of the most vital of the 'Esalen Arts'. The workshop is suitable for professionals and non-professionals alike. Co-leaders will include Michael Butler, Simone Surpin, Seymour Carter and members of the Esalen Staff. $975

Listen to Yourself: A Gestalt Workshop
Frank Rubenfeld

During these five days, we will listen to ourselves with humor, dismay, compassion and whatever else arises. Through listening may come awareness; through awareness, an opportunity to create your own fate. $250

THE WEEKEND OF MARCH 8–10

A Gestalt Workshop with Jack & Lyn
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Everything you wanted to know about yourself but were too busy to ask. Being a subtle blend of: penetrating gestalt therapy, sensuous body experience, rousing bioenergetics, heartening folk humor, and gently meditative Arica exercises. We also welcome back our old friends who seek another saunter around their universe. $100

Psychosynthesis
Tom Allen & Margaret Conway

Psychosynthesis is a way of growing and a way of learning to direct one's growth. It is an inclusive and positive conception of man that considers him as a being in a process of personal growth within an evolving universe. It includes a superconscious as well as the unconscious, the imagination as well as the complexes, the will as well as the drives. Through the use of guided imagery, movement, gestalt, symbolic art work, meditation, and other processes, psychosynthesis encourages new and more harmonious relations between the many aspects of the personality and facilitates alignment with the "transpersonal" self, the higher unifying center. In this workshop, the focus will be on processes that can later be used independently by participants as steps toward self-realization. $90

STUDENT GROUPS AT ESALEN/BIG SUR –

To enable a wider range of young people to attend Esalen, we are offering a weekend "sleeping bag" rate to groups of students during the September to May period. These weekends are designed to allow the students the experience of a variety of Esalen activities such as gestalt, encounter, movement, massage, psychosynthesis, meditation . . . . .

The rate is $50 per student with a minimum of 10 students required. This includes meals from Friday supper through Sunday lunch. If members of your school or college are interested in participating in this program, write for information and available dates to: Esalen Student Groups, Esalen, Big Sur, 93920.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEK OF MARCH 10–15

A Gestalt Workshop
Richard Price and Chris Stewart
$250

Up To Now
Will Schutz and Valerie Blalock
In this week of encounter we will explore the images of ourselves and of our interactions which we've had up to now with an awareness that what we are in the future need not be limited to what we have been in the past. $280

Earth, Water, Fire, Air & Space
Alan Watts
Discussion with experiments concerning our relation to the five elements of the world, and of the identity of space and consciousness. $280

THE WEEKEND OF MARCH 15–17

Mythological Meditations: The Mythic Imagery of Hindu & Buddhist Art
Joseph Campbell
A series of masterworks of Oriental religious art will be viewed and re-viewed in such a way as to serve not only as an introduction to Hindu and Buddhist religious imagery, but also as an occasion both for individual inward explorations and for mutual discovery. The relation of dream to myth and of the figures of Oriental art to the archetypes of an inward visionary journey will be taken as a guiding principle; and the members of the group will be invited—after the opening general session and presentation—to explore the images and myths around which their lives are built. $100

Biocentric Therapy
Nathaniel Branden
This is a personal growth, experiential seminar, devoted to the themes of self-awareness, self-acceptance, self-responsibility and self-assertiveness. This work rests on the premise that self-esteem is a person's primary psychological need, that a deficiency of self-esteem underlies all psychological problems and that the essence of effective therapy consists of aiding the individual to develop or enhance self-esteem. In this workshop, I invite participants to explore some of the techniques and procedures I have found helpful in building self-esteem. $90

Universal Centering
Robert Nadeau
Center is the state you reach in those special moments when you transcend your norm and function beautifully. Awareness of energy is the key to that happening. Meditation is experiencing the clarity of that energy as a Universal Law and a state of being. $100

Conscious Evolution
Chris Feldman & Esalen Staff
Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. BIG SUR PROGRAMS

THE WEEK OF MARCH 17–22

Mythological Meditations: The Mythic Imagery of Hindu & Buddhist Art
Joseph Campbell & Sam Keen

A series of masterworks of Oriental religious art will be viewed and re-viewed in such a way as to serve not only as an introduction to Hindu and Buddhist religious imagery, but also as an occasion both for individual inward explorations and for mutual discovery. The relation of dream to myth and of the figures of Oriental art to the archetypes of an inward visionary journey will be taken as a guiding principle; and the members of the group will be invited—after the opening general session and presentation— to explore the images and myths around which their lives are built. $250

Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and discard the techniques and defenses we have come to rely on — when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this week, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents. $250

Gestalt Plus
George & Judith Brown

A workshop for individuals and couples where the approaches of gestalt therapy are combined with techniques from psychosynthesis. The focus will be on reowning energy and discovering new and alternative ways to be as individuals and in primal relationships. Emphasis will also be placed on what to do after leaving the workshop. $250

Renascence
Michael Butler

Each of us has within him a seed of untapped emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $250

EXPERIENCING ESALEN

Janet Lederman, Richard Price, Paul Rebillot & the Esalen Staff

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on choosing those approaches to self-actualization which prove most effective for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, theatre games, guided fantasy, meditation, bioenergetics and massage. Rolfing treatments are available at an extra cost. There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

THE WEEKEND OF MARCH 22–24

Energy
Bernard Gunther

We are all fields of energy living in an energy field. Our potential is limitless, yet we frequently find ourselves operating in fatigue and limitation. This damming of the Self is caused by excessive tension, shallow breathing, toxic relationships and non-focused thought which robs the organism of vitality and pleasure. How to tap this infinite supply of energy and how to apply this knowledge in every day activity will be the task of this seminar. In this work we will explore aspects of yoga, gestalt, psychosynthesis and meditation to experience more fully our flow of vital and psychic energy. $100

Praise the Lord!
Anne Heider

We will learn and practice musical devotions drawn from both Eastern and Western traditions. These will include chant, song, meditations on pure sound, and spiritual dances. Meetings will begin with silent meditation, either sitting or moving. There will be some instruction in the theory of melodic and harmonic forms and some experiments in melodic improvisation to mantram. Our goal is a fuller use of music as a spiritual practice. Participants need not have any musical training. I will emphasize singing in the workshop; but if you play an instrument well enough that it speaks, or sings, for you, bring it along. $90

Acupuncture Workshop
Hector Prestera

This workshop will include the basic theoretical premises of acupuncture. Practical acupuncture massage will be taught as well as meditative techniques utilizing acupuncture principals. Acupuncture demonstrations will be performed in the group. $90

THE WEEK OF MARCH 24–29

Rolfing Gestalt Psychosynthesis
Bernard Gunther & Jerome Rozner

A unique combination of methods to free body blocks, release suppressed emotions, harmonize the mind and open the energy path to the innermost self. In this workshop we will utilize the rolfing process to open the feeling body; then immediately deal with the spontaneous material that emerges, using a sensitive combination of gestalt psychosynthesis. There will be group sessions in sensory awakening, relaxation and meditation. Emphasis will be on deep experience and how to sustain, relate and cultivate these experiences in your every day existence. $250 (Two individual rolfing-psychosynthesis sessions will be available to each member of the group at a fee of $25 per session.)

Gestalt & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price & Paul Rebillot

One of a series of programs relating gestalt awareness practice to the spiritual disciplines developed within (and sometimes in opposition to) the great world religions. Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F. S. Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov. $250

Psychosynthesis: Bringing Out the Universe Within
Tom Yeomans

This workshop will focus on two complementary processes–inward search and outward expression. In the sessions we will seek to know our center and from there to find a creative and rhythmic balance between the exploration of our inner selves and the manifestation and expression of what we find within. We'll explore this balancing of inner and outer experience in art forms, in interpersonal reflections and, as it applies, to more harmonious daily living.

The group will work together using psychosynthetic approaches including symbolic imagery, guided fantasy, inner dialogue, art, sound, movement, gestalt, interpersonal education and meditation. In addition to the group work, time periods will be set aside for creative projects, journal writing, reading and self-reflection. Participants are encouraged to bring materials for whatever creative media they would like to explore during the week. $250

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

THE WEEKEND OF MARCH 29–31

A Siberian shaman details in his map beneficent and baleful forces passed on his journey to the Other World.

Self-Hypnosis & Selective Awareness
Emmett Miller

Selective Awareness provides a set of techniques for objectively identifying and unlearning undesirable characteristics of the mind or body and rapidly learning desirable patterns. These techniques are applied in a specific state of mind (similar to but not equivalent to meditational and self-hypnotic states) which allows complete recall of information necessary to illuminate and understand reflexes underlying any previously learned patterns. $100

Surrender to Yourself
David Lees & Nancy Joeckel

The more you surrender to you, the more deeply you contact yourself. The deeper your contact with yourself, the clearer are your options for getting what you want and wanting what you get. With gestalt, soft-encounter, massage, and consciousness-expanding exercises, we will offer you the opportunity to learn more about surrendering to yourself. Limited to 14. $100

Steps to an Ecology of Mind
Gregory Bateson

$100

Further Reaches of Human Experiencing
George Leonard

Using the concept of the energy body and the human biofield, Mr. Leonard will carry on experiments in perception, consciousness and being, seeking states of heightened awareness uncommon in Western culture. The physical exercise required will be light. No previous experience is needed. Wholeheartedness is. $90

Expanding Human Awareness Through Light-Fire Energy-Work
Ralph Metzner

This workshop provides participants with an experience in the techniques of the School of Actualism. These are means for working with energy focal-points within the nature, and channelling and directing energies for the enlightening of awareness and sensitizing perception. The workshop includes practice in the ancient art of laying on of lighted hands. The Actualism approach will be placed in the context of other approaches to the study of higher states of consciousness. $100

THE WEEK OF MARCH 31–APRIL 5

Removing "The Mask"
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

We all move about with a typical stance in the world. Whatever I call "me" defines "me" and "my" relation to others. I become physically and psychically limited. The aim of the workshop is to peel away part of "The Mask". This workshop will stress gestalt and Reichian body techniques. Also included will be a series of daily physical exercises, walking meditation and Esalen massage. Acupuncture and Rolfing as available at Esalen will be encouraged (separate fee). $220

A Gestalt Workshop with Jack & Lyn
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Everything you wanted to know about yourself but were too busy to ask. Being a subtle blend of: penetrating gestalt therapy, sensuous body experience, rousing bio-energetics, heartening folk humor, and gently meditative Arica exercises. We also welcome back our old friends who seek another saunter around their universe. $280

Growth and Boundaries
David Schiffman & Harry Sloan

Where do you stop? When do you let go? This workshop will involve the complementary approaches of gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis and massage. The group will explore a wide variety of techniques (verbal and non-verbal) in order to experience the possibilities of greater personal expansion and openness with others. The use of personal boundaries, whether illusory or as tools of survival will also be explored through risk-taking exercises. $250

An Integrative Approach to Self Actualization.
Ilana Rubenfeld

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion . . . so mind and body are one!

The focus in this workshop will be on experiencing one's own body and emotions as a total organism. Emotions and memories are often stored in our bodies, resulting in tension and imbalance. A unique blend of gestalt therapy, Alexander technique, Feldenkrais exercises and deep muscle work will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing and working through deep feelings.

We have the choice to contact ourselves and each other with joy, sadness, compassion, humor, ideas and with the body – the whole person. Paul Rebillot will lead gestalt improvisation sessions. $250

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 5–7

Aggression in the Service of Intimacy
George R. Bach

This workshop includes verbal and extra-verbal exercises in communication that have been found to enhance "the joys of sex" through the inclusion rather than the exclusion of conflict, frustration, anger and aggression. The participants will experience and practice various "love-tight" techniques and be led to observe their effects on the emergence and reinforcements of affective sensuousness and sexual competence. $100

Gestalt Tarot
Paul Rebillot

A pack of Tarot cards can be your own personal gestaltist. The weekend will explore gestalt methods of discovering the cards from your own experience. Bring your own deck if you like. $90

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Harris Kriegel
$100

Wu Chi
Al Huang

Wu Chi: the original T'ai before such labels as Yan, Wu or Mah styles, and before its other re-creations in kung-fu, aikido, judo and karate. The symbol for Wu Chi is the empty circle before the man-made division of the S moving line. How moving is your S dividing line within your t'ai chi sign? Let us explore the ways the Taoists in the old days discovered, played with and flowed through. Shall we begin with this seminar, assuming this new-ancient-now way of bodymind-moving-together called Wu Chi, and liberate ourselves from the confusions and accretions of later forms. This weekend workshop will be an overall introduction-work-play-review of Wu Chi, and we welcome everyone who is willing to call himself a beginner. $100

SPECIAL WORKSHOP ANNOUNCEMENTS

Workshops of more than one week require extra planning for participants. Whenever possible, we will announce such workshops well in advance. More detailed descriptions will appear in the catalog covering the period in which the workshop is scheduled.

May 5-31
A month of workshops/seminars in the psychic-metaphysical field: a scientific and experiential approach to ESP, psychometry, telepathy, psychokinesis, etc.

July 7-19:
A Training Workshop in Gestalt Therapy, George and Judith Brown

November 3-19:
Gestalt and Body Practice
Richard Price and the Esalen Staff.

Leonardo, a true Renaissance man following the belief in nature's laws as total guide, learned a lot about birds but couldn't fly. Suspending such belief, the Wright brothers in this century revealed new laws of nature—and new birds.

THE WEEK OF APRIL 7–12

Wu Chi
Al Huang

See Wu Chi weekend, April 5-7 above.
The 5-day workshop will have more time to deal with some specific forms, motifs and methods. Bring musical instruments to play and dance, brush sets and papers to study Chinese Classics and poetry. Bring yourself and leave your dictating mind behind. $250

Gestalt – the Tao of Learning and Growth
Richard Price, Janet Lederman, Chris Stewart

Recommended reading: Anger and the Rocking Chair by Janet Lederman; Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-fu Feng and Jane English. $280

The Workshop is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness: The Title is Unimportant
Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

Our premise is that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by individuals increasing their available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used, as well as games and massage, to enable the participants to explore and expand the resources that exist within themselves. $220

Confluent Education & the Integrated Man
Aaron & Rosemary Hillman

Confluent Education is the term used to signify a merging of the cognitive and affective domains in the act and art of teaching and learning. This process can lead to the development of the Integrated Man, or a person whose physical and mental beings are in harmony within himself and as a part of his environment. This workshop is directed toward the classroom teacher and school counselor but can be of benefit to anyone interested in any aspect of the learning process. We will work toward developing individual potential and strength and then toward developing strategy to assist another's intellectual and emotional growth. Gestalt Awareness Training and its classroom applications will be an integral part of the program. It is recommended that all participants read George Isaac Brown's book, Human Teaching for Human Learning. $250

For Biographical Information, see pp. 51-57.

THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 12–14

Personal Resurrection
Paul Rebillot

"To suffer one's death and to be reborn is not easy." Fritz Perls.
The Time: Easter Weekend
The Stage: Big Sur
The Script: Gestalt, Magic, Improvisation, Meditation, Movement and Song.
The Cast: You and Me $90

Encounter & Massage
Harry Sloan

We will explore how we touch each other verbally and non-verbally . . . how to communicate what we are feeling and how to ask for what we want. $90

Conscious Evolution
Chris Feldman & Esalen Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary – this is a workshop for ordinary people. $90

Psychosynthesis: Discovery & Transformation
Tom Allen

In this workshop we will use methods for recognizing the conflicts we all have within our personalities–the psychological roadblocks or detours, so to speak–and we will work towards transforming energies locked in these conflicts into new more harmonious qualities. Emphasis will be placed on processes which will encourage the co-ordination of body, feelings, thought, imagination and intuition and their integration around a unifying center of being and awareness, the Transpersonal Self. Some of the methods used will be guided imagery, spontaneous drawing and movement, inner dialogue, relaxation, centering and meditation. $90

Introduction to Aikido
Robert Nadeau

A weekend to explore the Japanese art of aikido. The emphasis will be on centering, blending energy and awareness. Bring comfortable clothing for movement. $100

THE WEEK OF APRIL 14–19

A Tender Invitation
Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new appraoch aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $220

Renascence
Michael Butler

Each of us has within him a seed of untapped emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $250

Locating our Inner Space
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

When we are able to release our bodymind tensions our inner space unfolds and flowers. We will include in this workshop techniques of deep sensing, meditation, chanting, fantasy, sensory Esalen massage as well as body stress postures for emotional and energy release. Time will also be set aside for gestalt work as needed. $220

Bioenergetics: The Other Side of Self
Alan Schwartz

We tend to block the free flow of energy which allows us to express emotions. The reasons involve many facets of self: fear of rejection, fear of not being loveable, fear of falling on one's face, etc . . . .

Through bioenergetic techniques, we will focus on opening up channels to the free flow of energy and dealing with the resultant emotional release on the intrapsychic and interpersonal levels. Gestalt techniques will also be utilized to develop an environment in which risk taking may occur in an atmosphere of trust. $220

He is experienced in the techniques of sensory awareness and Reevaluation Education (co-counseling) and has taught courses in rock climbing and ski touring. (pp. 12, 13)

CONNIE WEISMAN had a four-day illumination at the age of 9 at which time she received the gift of seeing auras. She has a medical background, heading labs in cancer research. She has studied sound therapy and acupuncture, mental control over muscle patterns and aging. She has travelled all over the western hemisphere studying healing and new techniques of realigning the perception center when it has been damaged by drugs, injury or emotional trauma. She was an architectural designer and has written two books of poetry, one nominated for a Pulitzer prize. (p. 42)

SHARON WHEELER trained in massage at Esalen Institute and in structural integration with Ida Rolf, as well as in structural patterning with Judith Aston. During the last year and a half, she has been a member of the Arica Institute. She has led workshops in Esalen massage and has been a practitioner of rolfing and structural patterning in New York and Esalen/Big Sur. (pp. 37, 48, 50)

NINA WINTER was a student of Martha Graham and Erik Hawkins in New York and studied acting at the Neighborhood Playhouse. She is currently with the John Graham Studio in San Francisco. She taught classes in voice and theater for several years, most recently at City College, New York; she is presently engaged in advanced studies in Jungian psychology. (p. 19)

Y

PAUL YEE was born in China where he learned the ancient art of kite making. He works as an accountant, and teaches conversational Cantonese. (p. 16)

ANNE YEOMANS, as associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, has worked with Roberto Assagioli in Italy and is in didactic training with Jim and Susan Vargiu. She has worked with groups of women, using psychosynthesis and, in addition to her own groups, has co-led groups with her husband. (pp. 20, 21, 41)

TOM YEOMANS is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute. He is in advanced training with its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu, and has worked with Roberto Assagioli in Italy. He is a teacher, musician and poet, and presently associate director of DRICE at the Graduate School of Education, University of California, Santa Barbara. He is particularly interested in the application of psychosynthesis to education and has conducted workshops for educational institutes and growth centers throughout the country. (pp. 20, 37, 41, 47)

Z

DAVID ZELLER, a spiritual evolutionist and a storyteller, comes from a Jungian family, a background that left him open for many spiritual teachers that followed: Rabbi Shlomo Carlebach (Hassidism), Alan Watts, Thomas Banyacyas (Hopi), Dr. Ho (I Ching), Sri Pad Maharaj (Bhakti Yoga), Sri Satya Sai Baba, The Mother (Sir Aurobindo), and the Arica Institute. He lived in Israel for two years studying religion and doing community development on a kibbutz and a year in India. He is currently working at the University of Redlands and Johnston College. (p. 29)

JOAN ELLEN ZWEBEN is a practicing psychotherapist, teacher and supervisor of graduate and post-doctoral students at UC Berkeley and a student and practitioner of meditation. (p. 24)

INFORMATION

SAN FRANCISCO

For reservations, literature, tickets and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute
1793 Union Street
San Francisco, Ca. 94123
Phone: (415) 771-1710
10 to 5, Monday through Saturday

RESERVATIONS: should be made at least one week prior to start of program. A non-refundable deposit must accompany registration as follows: $10 per person for programs costing under $35; $20 for programs costing under $100; $50 for those over $100, unless otherwise noted. Mail reservation form with check to: Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Balance is payable at the first session of the program. Do not send San Francisco reservations to Big Sur. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express.

INFORMATION, LITERATURE AND TICKETS: for lectures may be obtained Monday through Saturday, 10:00 to 5:00 at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Tickets obtained by mail will indicate the exact location and time of events; when not sold out in advance, tickets may be purchased at the door.

WORKSHOP SCHEDULES: One day workshops generally meet from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday weekend workshops meet from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. Friday through Sunday weekend workshops meet approximately from 8 to 11 p.m. on Friday, from 10 a.m. through the afternoon and/or evening on Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to early afternoon on Sunday. Schedules are not rigid, however, and exact meeting times are discussed at the first session.

ACCOMMODATIONS: Most San Francisco programs are non-residential. Participants in these programs must reserve their own accommodations at local hotels or motels. Unless stated otherwise, meals are not provided at such workshops.

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAMS: are indicated in individual workshop descriptions. Program cost of residential programs includes tuition, food and lodging. Shared occupancy only, no private accommodations available. Weekend residential programs, unless otherwise indicated, begin at 8 p.m. Friday (no supper served) and conclude following Sunday lunch. Programs are held at a conference center in Marin County or in Sonoma County; exact location will be included with reservation confirmation.

LOCATION: Participants will be informed of workshop location prior to the workshop date. Esalen uses several facilities in the Bay Area for its programs including its own building at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Call the San Francisco office for advance information on program location.

SCHOLARSHIPS, interest-free loans and work scholarships are available for many programs in San Francisco. Contact the S.F. office for information and forms. STUDENT AND "POOR PEOPLE" RATES are also possible on a space-available basis. These are stand-by rates of 50% off the stated workshop price. Come by the S.F. office no earlier or later than three days before the program's starting date to place your name on a stand-by waiting list, to leave a deposit for the program, and to validate that you qualify for stand-by rates. (The deposit is refundable if you do not get in the workshop.) Confirmations will not be made until the morning of the workshop date.

WAITING LISTS: Names are placed on waiting lists in cases of over-subscription or when demanded by workshop requirements. Registrants placed on such a list will be informed immediately and deposit checks held. Checks will be refunded if reservation cannot be confirmed or upon request by persons not wanting to be on a waiting list.

RECOMMENDED DRESS: Workshops are informal. Slacks and flat shoes are recommended for women; sport clothes for men.

Esalen Institute is a center to explore those trends in education, religion, philosophy and the physical and behavioral sciences which emphasize the potentialities and values of human existence. Our activities consist of seminars and workshops, residential programs, consulting and research.

We exist to sponsor, encourage, synthesize and attempt evaluation of work in these areas, both inside and outside our own organizational framework. Since we are a center for experimental education, we ask that persons come to our programs out of an educational interest. We ask that no one come whose interest is "cure." We point out here, as we have in workshops and seminars, that some persons, particularly those with a history of psychiatric problems, may find some programs difficult, traumatic or potentially risky. We recommend that in case of any doubt, a physician or trusted counselor be consulted.

BIG SUR

For reservations and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, Big Sur, Ca 93920
Phone: (408) 667-2335 – 10 to 4 every day;
10 to 8 Sunday & Friday

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific, with the Santa Lucia Coast Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute – By Reservation Only.

Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups, and $400 for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable; but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. Only U.S. currency, please.

Program costs cover tuition, food and lodging on the Esalen grounds. Our rooms are designed to be shared by two to three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 p.m.; however, guests are welcome to arrive earlier in the afternoon.

Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur. Pickups are made at Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5:00-5:30 p.m. each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person; please notify us in advance.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. We use organically produced meats, poultry and dairy products, and our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also discourage participants from having guests. Alas, no pets.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2.00. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office. Do not direct subscription inquiries to Big Sur.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE: Esalen is devoted to making life more human at all levels. Our work has reached thousands of individuals and hundreds of institutions. Until recently most of this work was being done at our own facilities, either in Big Sur or San Francisco. There is now, however, an ever-expanding part of Esalen's universe that is moving toward helping to effect changes in the world outside the workshop. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U.S. Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp., Model Cities, O.E.O., inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Esalen courses are now being given at the University of California and at New York University. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact Bob Kriegel at the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions are providing expenses for participants for some seminars and workshops. Please see membership form below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given them some sort of accreditation for leading programs involving encounter groups, gestalt therapy, etc. We have told everyone who has done this to stop using our name in such a manner. Esalen does not offer any kind of formal accreditation. Individuals and groups, of course, may use the insights and techniques they bring from our programs. Our Associates in Residence are working under Esalen auspices. But we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

FM RADIO STATIONS in the San Francisco Bay Area (KI01, KPFA, KQED, KSAN, KSFX, and KMPX) broadcast portions of Esalen seminars and lectures. (KI01 has a dependable weekly program each Sunday evening at 11:00 p.m.) Other West Coast radio stations, KZAP Sacramento, KTAO Los Gatos, KCSB Santa Barbara, KLOS, KUSC and KPFK Los Angeles, and KPFT Houston, WBAI New York and WOMB New Hampshire, broadcast Esalen programs on an occasional basis. Consult local program guides.

FILMS of the work of Frederick S. Perls in gestalt therapy and Alexander Lowen in bioenergetic analysis, as well as films of the work of Carl Rogers, Albert Ellis, Rollo May, Abraham Maslow, Virginia Satir and others are available from Psychological Films, 205 West 20th Street, Santa Ana, California 92706. Sources of more films, including work of Alan Watts and Huston Smith, are available from Association for Humanistic Psychology, 416 Hoffman Street, San Francisco, California 94114.

TAPE RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: Recordings of many past programs are available through a service which maintains archive copies for Esalen. Requests for tapes now come from educational and service institutions, libraries, religious and professional groups, business groups and individuals concerned with the human potential movement. Commercial use of these tapes is prohibited; all rights reserved. For a complete tape catalog, write Big Sur Recordings, 117 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, CA 94903. The cost of recordings is $8 per tape-hour (prepaid) and $10 per tape-hour (with purchase orders), stereo or mono, with choice of 5" reel or cassette.

FRIENDS OF ESALEN
MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

☐ I wish to renew my membership in Friends of Esalen.

☐ I wish to become a Friend of Esalen and I enclose my check for the category I have circled. (Contributions are tax-deductible).

DREAMS AND NIGHTMARES: A Book of Gestalt Therapy Sessions
Edited by Jack Downing, M.D., and Robert Mamorstein

$1.50, paper

"The more deeply you allow yourself . . . to actually live through the dream experience, the deeper and more complete the learning . . . So in gestalt dream therapy we plunge in as deeply as we can into the experience itself . . . This is a book for those of you who are interested in yourselves, those of you with the curiosity and courage to journey inward into the undiscovered world of your inner self." —From the Introduction: A Perennial Library paperback.

THE NATURAL DEPTH IN MAN
by Wilson Van Dusen

$1.50, paper

"Wilson Van Dusen is one of the most gifted, adventurous and wisest explorers of the inner life in the world today." —Michael Murphy
"A totally unique book, valuable for every person who wants to know himself better, and to explore his inner depths."
—Carl Rogers

Chapter titles:

The Castle of the Mind/The Mystery of Ordinary Experiencing/To See and Hear Another Person/Self-Reflection—Existence Gains from Itself/Feeling-Imagery/In the Stillness of the Mind/Fragile Fringe Phenomena/Dreams/The Shape of Madness/Hallucinations/Mystical Experience: The Flowering of Understanding/Implications of the Descent into Depth.

BOOKS

THE MEDIUM, THE MYSTIC AND THE PHYSICIST

Toward a General Theory of the Paranormal
by Lawrence LeShan

$8.95, hardbound

Dr. LeShan, a researcher on the paranormal and psychic healing, examines the Clairvoyant Reality (as he terms it) from three supposedly separate view points—that of the medium, the mystic and the physicist—and finds each view startlingly similar.

Advance mail orders will be filled soon after publication date in February, 1974.

THE NATURE OF HUMAN CONSCIOUSNESS
a Book of Readings
Edited by Robert E. Ornstein

$10.00, hardbound

Articles and essays are included from such diverse sources as: I Ching and Sufi literature, neurophysiological essays on the brain and linguistic analysis. Among the contributors are William James, Michael Polanyi, Charles Tart, Arthur Deikman, Aldous Huxley, Lama Govinda, Idries Shah, Roberto Assagioli, Carl G. Jung and David Sobel.

THE ACT OF WILL
by Roberto Assagioli

POETRY

GETTING CLEAR: BODY WORK FOR WOMEN
by Anne Kent Rush

$4.95, paper

A manual of verbal and body awareness especially geared to female consciousness. Included are interviews with ten women psychologists about their work. Included are many exercises and techniques selected with an eye for wholeness of the experience of women.

THE HEALING JOURNEY
New Approaches to Consciousness
by Claudio Naranjo

$6.95, hardbound

Psychiatrist Naranjo describes his recent work that uses several totally new drugs in combination with more traditional forms of psychotherapy. The author feels that the drug experience can open the door of the prison cell in which the patient has been living; it is then up to the patient to decide whether he wishes to walk out of the door.

Publication date: January, 1974. Advance mail orders will be mailed thereafter.

THE ONE QUEST
by Claudio Naranjo

$1.50, paper

This Esalen book which examines systems of meditation and mysticism is now available in paper.

CUTTING THROUGH SPIRITUAL MATERIALISM
by Chogyam Trungpa

$3.95, paper

Trungpa writes, "Walking the spiritual path properly is not something to jump into naively. There are numerous sidetracks which lead to a distorted, ego-centered version of spirituality; we can deceive ourselves into thinking we are developing through spiritual techniques. This fundamental distortion may be referred to as spiritual materialism."

"First discussed are the various ways in which people involve themselves with spiritual materialism, the many forms of self-deception into which aspirants may fall. After this tour of the sidetracks . . . the broad outlines of the true spiritual path are discussed."

EMBRACE THE TIGER, RETURN TO MOUNTAIN—THE ESSENCE OF T'AI CHI
by Al Chung-liang Huang

$3.50, paper, illustrated

"Huang teaches in a way that is unusual for an Asian master and, when I think back over my own schooling, for Western masters as well. He begins from the center and not from the fringe. He imparts an understanding of the basic principles of the art before going on to the meticulous details, and he refuses to break down t'ai chi movements into a one-two-three drill so as to make the student into a robot. T'ai chi exemplifies the most subtle principle of Taoism, known as wu-wei . . . its proper meaning is to act without forcing – to move in accordance with the flow of nature's course . . ." from the foreword by Alan Watts

THE ESALEN BOOKSTORE

Our office in San Francisco at 1793 Union St. features a bookstore stocking many of the latest publications in the areas of humanistic psychology, gestalt, psychosynthesis, Eastern philosophy and religion, body therapies and other books of interest to Esalen participants. The bookstore is open Monday through Saturday, 10-5, and at other times when workshops are taking place.

ALAN WATTS

If we wanted a marriage performed, a building or a bathtub blessed, a mass celebrated (in the High Episcopalian manner, with Roman and Orthodox touches added), a Buddhist prayer invoked, for the New Year or a grace said at meals, he was usually the first person we asked. Sometimes when he came to lead a seminar, we would find him in the kitchen, preparing one of his well-known dishes or admiring the latest vegetable from the Big Sur garden or letting us know that the cooking wasn't up to our usual standards.

He also loved the baths. Who will forget him standing there on windy nights, chanting mantrams toward the sea or delivering sermons to the others.

In 1962, he led our very first seminar, having shown us that philosophy was adventure and a form of play; and through all the years he would encourage, guide and support the enterprise, even when he couldn't understand what we were doing. Among all the leaders who came to Esalen, none has been more generous. He was quick to rejoice in another's gifts, insight or wisdom—and slow to criticize or belittle. He hated certain ideas and attitudes (like taking your cause too seriously), but people and all their imperfections were marvelous, unforgettable and often astonishing to him. He loved novelty, but could endure and support the most boring sorts. He loved pleasure, but was a good friend in difficult times. Any insight into the absurdity of things was enough to make his day.

So he taught us by who he was. We learned from his infectious, outrageous laughter, from his virtues and his faults, from his sense of play and his eye for the binds we would get ourselves into. He was our gentlest and most joyous teacher.

The Alan Watts Society for comparative Philosophy is sponsoring a public celebration in memory of Alan June 9 at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco. All proceeds will go to the Alan Watts Memorial Fund. Call the Society at 332-5286 for further details.

NEWS FROM ESALEN

NEW PRESIDENT OF ESALEN

November 1, 1973

Dear Friend:

It is a pleasure to announce that Richard Farson is now the President of Esalen Institute. As you may know, he was a founder of Western Behavioral Sciences Institute and its president from 1959 until 1968; he remains Chairman of its Board of Trustees. Most recently he has been Dean of California Institute of the Arts, a school for training in environmental and social design. While at WBSI he led in the development of various innovations in the intensive small group and he pioneered in the use of film and television to communicate the nature of these experiences. For a number of years he has been interested in the implication of contemporary social movements for our understanding of the human problems of the future. For example, he was one of the first social scientists to speak out on women's rights issues and has just completed a book entitled Birthrights, which deals with the politics of childhood and outlines a bill of rights for children. He shares with me and with many of the people working at Esalen a dislike for bullying in all its "spiritual", "moral" and "therapeutic" forms, and has worked to demystify the teaching and healing professions. You might say that at WBSI he played Tom Sawyer to my and Esalen's Huck Finn as we ventured forth from the cities of academia.

We have been friends these past ten years and he has given me inspiration and strength in good times and bad. Now our friendship will be joined in work, for I will still be active at Esalen (with the title of Chairman, which I share with Richard Price). This irrepressible organization, with its many virtues, strengths and faults, continues to amaze and intrigue me; and it shows every sign that its work is just beginning. You will be hearing more about that from Dick Farson and from me as time goes on.

Twelve years have passed since Dick Price and I conceived Esalen Institute – twelve years of labor, learning and adventure – and I feel the need now for a change in my life. I am writing a novel and studying some things I have wanted to for many years. I will continue to work on projects within the Institute which interest me and participate in the creation of overall policies and directions. I can do all of this knowing that the administration of Esalen is in capable hands.

I hope you will join me in saluting our new President and wishing him well in his demanding and exciting job.

With best regards,
Michael Murphy

NEW YORK CONFERENCE: THE NEW ENERGIES

May 10-12, Esalen and New York University will co-sponsor a conference in New York City. The focus will be The New Energies: Some Ways of Directing Old Concepts and New Awarenesses. The leaders will include: John Lilly, Will Schutz, James Fadiman, Gregory Bateson, George Leonard, John Pierrakos and Ilana Rubenfeld. The conference will offer an opportunity to explore some of the most recent developments in sports, female consciousness, the body's energies, healing and psychic phenomena and the transpersonal dimension. For further information contact Moshe Davidowitz, New York University, School of Continuing Education, New York City, New York 10003.

ESALEN'S RESPONSE TO THE ENERGY CRISIS

Chartered bus service has been inaugurated between the Bay Area and Esalen/Big Sur on Fridays and Sundays. Schedule and reservation form will be found on page 57.

One-stop limousine service is available between Monterey Airport and Esalen/Big Sur late Friday and Sunday afternoons. Car pool information from other California areas may be obtained from the Esalen/Big Sur office.

As of this writing, the Big Sur gas stations are open on Sunday and a 200-gallon emergency gas tank and stay-over plan are available at Esalen/Big Sur.

ANOTHER WAY TO GROW

Esalen is establishing a farm on the Big Sur property. The catalyst for this project is Hugo Reed, a seminarian from Lubbock, Texas, who has been attending Esalen off and on for the past year. Hugo is a civil engineer whose avocation is farming; he has set up three model farms of his own in Texas.

In collaboration with Selig Morganrath, the architect and designer of Esalen, Big Sur, Hugo is now drawing up plans for the layout and farm use of the 13 acres available on the north side of Hot Springs Creek. With Hugo's engineering and farming experience and Selig's expert knowledge of Big Sur's environment and overall Esalen design, the farm has a solid beginning.

Current plans include the construction of a barn (a project undertaken personally by Hugo), the clearing and fencing of pasture, organic gardening supplemental to that already in cultivation and soon – poultry, hogs and dairy goats. The supervision of the farm will be the responsibility of Hugo Reed and Jim Killean, manager of Esalen's maintenance and construction crew. Work is being done by staff, residents and volunteers from the workshop programs.

The benefits of this project are many. Most obvious is the advantage of food supply as the cost soars for trucked-in food. More important is the value of having an operating farm as part of the experience available at Esalen. People have already reported that working on the land brings them into a closer rapport with nature, provides a balance to group work and offers useful lessons in ecological awareness and knowledge. Another way to grow.

ORGANIZATIONAL CONFERENCES AT BIG SUR

Organizations wishing to improve their internal communication, to explore their problems and potentialities and to determine action programs in an atmosphere conducive to effective planning and decision making may hold conferences at Esalen Institute.

Organizations as varied as a college faculty-student group, an architectural firm, an association of physicians and a U.S. Army drug abuse program have held such conferences.

Each conference is planned jointly with the participating organization to make maximum use of the experienced staff and unique facilities of Esalen/Big Sur and at the same time enable the organization to cover its own particular agenda.

For further information, contact Julian Silverman, Director, Esalen/Big Sur, Big Sur, Ca. 93920.

SOME DEFINITIONS OF APPROACHES

ALEXANDER TECHNIQUE

The Alexander Technique is a method of re-educating the body that can have dramatic effects on the whole person. By applying sensory awareness, inhibition and conscious choice to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking and bending, under conditions of continuous feedback from an instructor, we can experience the specific ways in which we interfere with the natural flow of our total pattern and learn to permit and encourage a response that will strengthen our innate tendency towards an integrated use of ourselves – allowing new alternatives of movement and being. Guided by the direct touch of the instructor's hands, the process involves a gentle reorganization of the body in movement and at rest.

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual range of expression by working through this process.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement – to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness – to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility – to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to technique. Workshops are intended by both couples and singles.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal-keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced actualization of one's life.

SENSORY AWARENESS

Sensory awareness is Charlotte Selver's name for the work she studied with Elsa Gindler in Berlin and brought to the United States in 1938. Workshops in sensory awareness aim at a state of intellectual quiet in which each activity can be fully felt and allowed to find its natural way, free of inhibitions, techniques and images. When ideas are stilled, sense perceptions coming from the entire organism enable the person to function authentically, according to his nature, in all situations. Closely akin, in its pure form, to the practice of zen, sensory awareness brings the essential character of meditation to every aspect of daily living.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION (ROLFING)

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

PROGRAMS IN SAN FRANCISCO

Karlgren — The chinese language

Our own use of ideograms → 14 ⊗ ⊗ + ⊢ ⊻ etc.

But it has no literature. Show its possible elaboration

Children learning to read — difficulties with alphabets.

Chinese can be read without speaking.

The evolution of ideographs. Scratched pictures to brush.

Brush calligraphy. Water-flow. (Can blind read Ch. woodblocks?)

L.u. 道 — Tao: The imagery of water in Lao-tzu & Chuang-tzu.

Reasons for indescribability. Non linear. Too many variables.

Biting teeth analogy. Voidness = also basic materiality.

To be understood bodily rather than verbally.

Relation to chi & prana & thus yoga.

L.u. 易 — I Ching: The interaction of ☵☲ & ☶☰. The Maybe story.

No purely good or bad hexagrams. The Rorschach principle. [Perhaps this chapter should follow Ch. lang.]

無為 → Monkey — Wu-wei: The watercourse way. Following line of least resistance. Analogy with sailing → distinguish from flabbiness. Schwenck material on water-flow, grain, gas, etc. 天理 Nature as 自然. Truck-man in Lao-tzu, Chuang-tzu. Concordance. Hsiao Nan Tzu on wu wei.

EXTENDED LEARNING CENTER

Beginning this spring, Esalen plans to expand its present College Program into a center for longterm learning, involving people from all areas of the community. Many people who have attended workshops have expressed the need for some on-going sense; to see people again, to share experiences, to get advice on what programs to take, to get help to integrate the work into their lives and generally to be a part of a community of fellow seekers. The new Center is designed as a means through which people with a wide variety of occupations, ages, experiences and orientations can come together to learn, complementing and enriching each others' explorations and thereby forming a community of learners. Participants may enroll in the Center for college credit (through any college or university) or not, as they choose. The Extended Learning Center will incorporate many features of the current College Program. These include advisors who coordinate the students' overall programs, and facilitate the learners' integration of their current activities with their past experiences and goals as life-long learners. Weekly community meetings are a chance for all participants to come together to share experiences, ideas, feelings and resources. Students will continue to select programs from the catalog at a 15% discount and, beginning this spring, the Center will offer a variety of ongoing seminars and tutorials dealing with both theoretical and experiential aspects of Esalen's work; these courses are listed below. We hope to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas in this new area of intellectual investigation. Highly individualized programs are possible within this model: participants can choose from several options, depending upon the amount of involvement they prefer. For further information, contact Arthur Fox, Extended Learning Center, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union St., San Francisco, CA 94123.

EXTENDED LEARNING—SPRING COURSES

Thursday, April 4
"The Great Awakening? Or Are We Sleepwalking?"
Michael Murphy & Sam Keen—Introduction by Art Fox

Single evening event $3 general & student

"Are these times the beginning of a transformation? Or the beginning of the end? Is it the beginning of a Golden Age or, as some seers say, the Kali Yuga, the most difficult period in human history?" This is an introductory evening to the newly formed Extended Learning Center. Arthur Fox will be present to speak about the center and will introduce the evening's lecturers. 8-10:30 p m.

April 10-May 22
Alternative Life Styles: Living Poor with Style

Seven Wednesday evenings $80

How to live a high-quality life on a low budget. Speakers include:

April 10 – Stewart Brand
April 17 – Ernest Callenbach
April 24 – Red Dog Pieface (Peter Bailey)
May 1 – Bill & Helga Olkowski
May 8 – Communal Living
May 15 – To be announced
May 22 – Panel including Brand, Callenbach, Pieface & others.

Times: 8-10:30 p m each evening; work scholarships available.

April 16-May 28
Evolution of Consciousness / Michael Murphy

Seven Tuesday evenings $80

The emphasis will be on personal transformation with an exploration of the strengths and shortcomings of various models of the world and the soul (e.g. Buddhism, Tantra, Vedanta, Christian mysticism, psychosynthesis, Aurobindo, etc.) and various ways of growth. Some suggested readings: Sri Aurobindo—Future Evolution of Man; Satpren, Sri Aurobindo—The Adventure of Consciousness; Suzuki Roshi-Zen Mind, Beginners Mind; Spiritual Teachings of Raman Maharishi (a Shambala book). Time: 8-10:30 p m each evening.

May 1-17
Freud, Reich, Lowen & Keleman: A Theoretical Overview / Stanley Keleman & George Downing

Three afternoon lecture-discussions $36

Wednesday, May 1 & Wednesday, May 8: George Downing

Friday, May 17: Stanley Keleman

Time: 3-6 p m each afternoon. All three sessions must be attended; the course cannot be divided. Suggested Readings: Freud—Essays on Sexuality; Reich—The Function of the Orgasm and/or Character Analysis; Lowen—Betrayal of the Body; Keleman—Sexuality, Self & Survival, The Human Ground, Todtmoos.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

May 2-16
Breyer, Selver/Brooks, Proskauer—
Theoretical Perspectives / Doris Breyer,
Charlotte Selver/Charles Brooks, Magda Proskauer

Three Thursday evenings $36

Magda Proskauer's breathing work, Charlotte Selver's sensory awareness and Doris Breyer's style of body-oriented therapy are three approaches to the body that have a common theoretical and practical base. They share a concern for increasing perceptual awareness and contact with the world through gentle ways of working with the body. There are similarities in their backgrounds—all have been influenced by the work of Elsa Gindler in particular. The history of this work is not well known here; this course is designed for the leaders to discuss the evolution and theory of their work as well as give an experiential and/or demonstration session.

May 2 —Magda Proskauer
May 9 —Charlotte Selver and/or Charles Brooks
May 16 —Doris Breyer

Time: 8-10:30 p m.

June 8-9
Empire & Nature / Peter Marin

Weekend workshop $60

This workshop is meant to center around the ambiguous area at which the worlds of private health and politics come together: the point at which neither of them makes sense without the other. In the modern world the State takes the place of the World; our primary relations, ideally to one another, to the earth, the gods, etc., become, instead, a form of connection to the State; empire fills the vacuum left by our broken relation to the world. In therapy most of us strive to restore that relation, and yet, at best, we are only partially successful—perhaps because we stop short of understanding the ways in which what we do and even think is encapsulated in Empire, a function not just of character and private neurosis, but of the corroded and perverse network of relations we inhabit. And perhaps, perhaps, an individual life does not become truly whole, if ever, until we have decided to stand in some way for what we love against the elements destroying it. But that raises several questions. How does one know what one loves? What does it mean to "stand for it?" And against what must one stand? Those questions involve an understanding of both the religious and political traditions we inhabit; they involve an understanding of the past and present political conditions around us; they involve the beginnings of an attempt to see more clearly just how and in how many ways what we can feel in our deepest privacies are functions of a particular time and place, a particular way of inhabiting the world—and that we have been taught those ways intentionally (institutionally and through the media) as a function of the state, the system we inhabit. Without a clear understanding of that, and of the possibilities of breaking the hold it has upon us, upon action and imagination, no real individual change is possible, nor are we likely to learn to love the world.

Additional courses, with Will Schutz and others, will also be offered.

The courses are also open to the general public.

Special Features of Membership:

For a $25 fee per month (minimum 3 months enrollment), a member will receive the following benefits:

- 15% discount on all San Francisco workshops, some discount at Big Sur.
- Advisor and weekly group/community meetings.

The Extended Learning Center is open to anyone who would like to take advantage of its features, not only college students.

Esalen College Program

Board of Advisors:
Moon Eng
Richard Farson
Janica Fox
Sam Keen
George Leonard
Leo Litwak
Norma Lyman
Michael Murphy
Martha Weinstein

For the past year students enrolled at Antioch/West, Johnston and many other colleges were also accepted by Esalen to study here and receive credit from their respective colleges. Esalen is now expanding its college program to involve those students currently enrolled in a college or university in the U.S. or abroad who would like to spend a semester or longer at Esalen. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of academic credit at their schools for the program of study done at Esalen. The Esalen staff will assist students in documenting their work here.

The Esalen College Program is designed to include: advisor-tutors, who meet with students individually, recommend and discuss readings and coordinate the students' overall program, which the student creates from the total catalog program offering; group meetings of the Esalen students and their advisor; and courses or workshops specifically for students in the program. The wealth of people within the Esalen orbit we have to draw upon to teach courses and tutorials is enormous and provides a unique opportunity for the college and general population. We expect that most students will proceed from a broad exposure to concentrated study in one area. Students and teachers interested in designing programs with Esalen should write: Arthur Fox, College Program, c/o Esalen/San Francisco.

If your college or student group is interested in arranging an Esalen workshop (day, weekend or longer) to take place on your campus, contact Arthur Fox, College Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union St., San Francisco, CA 94123.

Antioch College/West
Undergraduate Degree Program At Esalen

Advanced undergraduate students (anyone who has completed some undergraduate work at any college or university) may enroll at Antioch College/West in San Francisco and work for their B.A. degree at Esalen. Course work is accredited through Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio; the B.A. degree is from Antioch College/West and the Union for Experimenting Colleges and Universities.

Students develop their own educational programs incorporating regularly scheduled Esalen workshops and courses and individual work created in conjunction with the Esalen staff. Esalen leaders and staff act as faculty and counselors for students in the program. Tuition for an academic year (generally nine months) is $2900. Financial aid is available. This program also qualifies for Veterans and Social Security benefits.

Inquiries for admission should be directed to: Ms. Cristy Willer, Antioch College/West, 149 Ninth Street, San Francisco, CA 94103. Information about program content and design should be addressed to: Arthur Fox, College Program, c/o Esalen/San Francisco.

Johnston College
Undergraduate Degree Program at Esalen

Esalen is happy to announce that Johnston College students may enroll at Esalen for a semester or longer and receive credit from Johnston. For further information and admission procedure, contact: George Rupp, c/o Johnston College, University of Redlands, Redlands, CA. 92373.

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

But only signs have meaning. {Does a bird track mean that a bird has been around?} Non-signs have no meaning. Mystical experience is a non-sign, & is called meaningful or significant only because of its delight, & because it takes away the problematic feeling about things in general. It does not explain the universe because it is not an explanation – i.e. a form of words. One must taste it to understand.

The philosopher gets bored with anything not in his word-game.

CONSCIOUSNESS AND PSYCHIC EVENTS

This series of seminars and workshops presents and explores current research in consciousness, altered states and parapsychological phenomena from both historical and experiential perspectives.

April 13

"The Posthumous Journey of the Soul": Myth & Science / Stan Grof & Joan Halifax Grof

One-day workshop $25

In many cultures of the ancient as well as contemporary world one encounters a firm belief that consciousness continues beyond the point of physical demise. Elaborate maps have been developed in these cultures to guide the soul through the complex transition associated with death. In this seminar the Grofs, drawing from their background in anthropology and LSD research, will discuss the possibility of a scientific approach to this question. The issues they will cover range from the Egyptian and Tibetan Books of the Dead and cross-cultural analysis of death-rebirth mysteries and rituals to death-bed observations, accounts of survivors of near-fatal diseases and accidents as well as clinical and laboratory research of psychedelic drugs.

Tuesday, April 23

Psychic Exploration / John White

Single evening seminar $5

"Psychic Exploration" presents an introduction to the field of psychic research and offers a perspective that places parapsychology in the larger framework of transpersonal psychology. A thirty-minute color film entitled "Inner Spaces", narrated by Apollo 14 astronaut Edgar Mitchell, documents the latest psychic research in the laboratory. 8-10:30 pm.

May 4-5

Studies in "PsychoEnergy" Thelma Moss & Ken Johnson

Weekend workshop $50

Dr Moss and Ken Johnson describe the focus of interest in this workshop: "Participants are invited to explore with us the areas of Kirlian photography and acupuncture. Kirlian photography is a high-frequency photographic technique that records on film the energy coming from organisms such as plants or the human body. We have been researching the flow of energy, "chi", along the meridians of the body by means of an instrument that detects acupuncture points, stimulating those points and recording biofeedback with the Kirlian apparatus. We are interested in the relation of that energy flow to health and sickness and we invite you to explore with us these areas through demonstrations, discussion and experimentation." The extent of involvement is a matter of individual choice.

May 9

Personal & Public Encounters with Psychical Phenomena / Montague Ullman

One-day workshop $25

"In the course of my life I have engaged with the subject matter of psychical research in three different ways. These include exposure to a range of informally generated effects as a teenager, a clinical encounter in the course of psychoanalytic practice and, in recent years, a body of experience derived from laboratory studies into the connection between altered states of consciousness, dreaming in particular, and psi phenomena. These three interrelated but different dimensions of the paranormal will provide the basis for discussion and exchange." – Montague Ullman.

May 18-19

Prophecy: Extending Awareness to the Future Alan Vaughan

Weekend workshop $50

Mr. Vaughan writes: "This seminar will explore the following issues: How prophetic talents can be developed through extrasensory or extended awareness exercises; how psychic prophecy compares with computer-derived technological forecasts; how the patterns of human life and society derive from age-old archetypes. Once the archetype in operation is identified, the future can be logically forecast. We'll investigate why the technological forecasting system of 'surprise-free projections' needs the psychic element to predict the 'surprises'."

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

May 25
Dreams, Creativity & Altered States of Consciousness / Stanley Krippner
One-day workshop $25

This seminar will be devoted to experiencing a number of processes useful in evoking creative, artistic and scientific images. The use of dreams will be considered and experiences will be provided with guided imagery, fantasy, revery, massage and body movement.

May 31-June 2
Parapsychology Intensive / Jeff Mishlove
Weekend workshop $40

In describing his workshop, Mr. Mishlove writes: "Parapsychology is the attempt to put the psyche back into psychology. This weekend will combine scholarly material with experiential activities and personal exploration. Research on ESP, psychokinesis, reincarnation, out-of-body experience, animal telepathy, altered states of consciousness, hypnosis, meditation, dreams and human energy fields will be discussed. We will attempt to understand this material as natural phenomena within the context of current scientific ideas. We will also explore ways of developing psychic awareness through hypnosis, meditation, yoga, information-feedback and other techniques." Sherry Hogue will assist the experiential sessions.

June 9
Psychic Perceptions Applied to Everyday Life Helen Palmer
One-day workshop $20

Many people working through the spiritual disciplines are experiencing the need to make that consciousness useful in the world of supermarket and laundromat. This workshop is an experiment in using the psychic impression as a bridge between the patterns of feeling, vision and sound experienced in meditation and the pattern of daily life in the world of form. Limited to 15 participants.

Monday, June 24

THE SPORTS CENTER

The sporting experience is a vehicle for eliciting the enormous potential that lies within us all. Yet for many it has been a roadblock, alienating us not only from sport, games and play but from our bodies as well. By blending techniques for expanded awareness, mind/body harmony and interpersonal relations with sport, games and the outdoor experience, we are developing new concepts, teaching methods and bringing back the sheer joy and delight of participation.

University extension credit will be available for several Sports Center courses. Contact the Esalen/San Francisco office at 771-1710 for further information.

Tuesday, April 2

Flowing with the River
Walt Anderson & Jim Katz

Residential weekend workshop $90

A weekend traveling on rafts through the spray and white water of the Stanislaus River, paying attention along the way to the spectacular beauty of the environment and to our bodies and how they can best be used in river running. Evenings will be devoted to unwinding, massage and getting to know each other.

April 27-28

Elastic Communication Art / Mal Andrews

Weekend workshop $50

As Mal Andrews says, "Elastic Communication is soul sensory, somatic perception and meditation. It is an intrapersonal endeavor to form a harmony between one's body and mental process for deep soul action." Elastic Communication is a form of exercise which helps men and women discover the real "self" through communication with one's own body. It can help you to lose mental and spiritual restriction, to blend your body with your soul.

April 28

A Day in the Art of Bouldering
Michael Tobias, Carol Macgee & Kurt Wehbring

One-day workshop $25

The British sociologist Harold Drasdo, along with many others consider climbing The psychedelic experience. "Bouldering" is its microcosmic rendering on small rocks (4-20 feet in height usually). This will be an initiation into an unusual realm during a day at Indian Rocks in Berkeley. Young children of participants invited free. Bring your sack lunch.

May 1 & May 3-5

A Hiking High in the Sierras
Michael Tobias, Carol Macgee & Kurt Wehbring

Residential weekend workshop $55

The Wednesday introductory discussion in San Francisco on the mountain environment and its openness to hiker-pilgrims should prepare us for a leisurely two-day excursion into the back-country above Yosemite. This engagement will focus on combining group and individual consciousness experience with important, fundamental facets of camping. An excellent introduction in safety, route, weather decipherment, decision making and equipment utilization for the novice interested in future wanderings in the hills or in leading his own family or friends into back wilderness.

May 4-11

Esalen/Outward Bound: The Inward & Outward Journey / Sam Keen and Dick Galland

Residential eight-day workshop $250

Men used to discover themselves by telling stories. Myths and legends were the building blocks of identity. Today we can integrate ourselves with our time and achieve identity and depth by learning to tell our stories. Being genuinely alive involves binding past, present and future into a meaningful whole. Memory, awareness and hope are essential to this wholeness. Using guided exercises, reflection and encounter, we will explore the private mythology, the unsung heroes and the silent hopes which influence our identity. We will explore confidence, fear and aloneness through whitewater rafting, rock climbing, short expeditions and solo. It will be a time for extending physical and emotional limits and creating new futures for ourselves. The setting for the workshop will be the desert and mountains around Big Bend National Park in Southwest Texas.

May 11-12

Jogging & Your Health / Hal Bailen & Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $45

Running and jogging are efficient means of body conditioning. The integration of this activity with the progressive forms of medicine and healing constitute a large advance in the formalization of holistic athletic experiences. Many techniques for running, such as "power running", tempo training and fuller breathing, meditation and psychological approaches will be combined with acupuncture and new structural body insights.

May 11-12

Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend workshop $45

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. The workshop is designed for beginners as well as advanced students of the game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

May 11-12

Aikido / Bob Nadeau

Weekend workshop $50

Through the physical art of aikido we will work with a psychological and philosophical approach to movement. We will learn how to observe attitudes in motion and how to make corrections and improvements on those attitudes leading to a more complete mind/body unity.

May 17-19

Mountain Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

Residential weekend workshop in Big Sur $100

This workshop will combine new ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur. Technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, meditation, centering, hiking disciplines and mountain lore will be ways which can provide us with unique insights into ourselves, the group and the environment. Reservations should be made through Esalen/Big Sur. (See p 58 for Big Sur information.)

May 24-27

A Sailing Workshop
Co-sponsored with the Oceanic Society
Mary Crowley & Jerome Downes

Four-day workshop $200

Upon boarding the sailing vessel, participants of this workshop will join the crew as active members of this seafaring community. The experience of living and working closely together while at sea will tend to break people out of old roles and give them an opportunity to experience changes and become aware of themselves within this environment. The real emphasis for this workshop is the group participation in sailing. No boating knowledge or experience is necessary. This workshop will be equally exciting for the novice or the experienced. The voyage will leave from San Francisco Bay and return after having explored the wilderness of the Drakes Bay region, the Farallones and other northern points (distance covered will depend on weather conditions). Limited to eight people. Payment must be made in full at least two weeks in advance.

May 25-26

Knowing Your Body in Water / Barbara Lamblin

Weekend workshop $50

Water is a new and often frightening medium to relax in. We will work on land with stretching, breathing, massaging inflexible body parts to gain confidence with ourselves and each other before entering the water. Once in the water these techniques will help us to achieve self control and confidence in our bodies.

May 25-27

Inspiration & the Power of the Body: Two-Day Bike Trip in Sonoma County / Dyveke & Mike Spino

Residential weekend workshop $75

Inspiration is to be found in every age. The turn of the century was an era of inspiration symbolized by the writings of the coterie of artists surrounding Jack London, the American master of realism, whose recurrent theme throughout his work has been the power of physical adventure. By viewing the unpublished writings of his closest friend, George Sterling, and biking along the trails which served as their inspiration, we may touch upon a spark awaiting ignition in each of us. Limited to 10. Fee includes room and board. Scholarships are available.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

June 1-2

Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend workshop $45

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. The workshop is designed for beginners as well as advanced students of the game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

June 1-2

T'ai Chi Chuan & Everyday Life / Judyth Weaver

Weekend workshop $50

T'ai Chi Chuan is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self defense. The straight postural lines and relaxation in movement learned from it can be significantly applied to any sport or everyday activity. In this workshop we will learn about the form and how to apply the principles.

June 2

A Day on Mount Tamalpais / Bob Kriegel

One-day excursion $10

On a one-day stroll we will explore the idea that yoga, meditation, sensory awakening and the putting of one foot in front of another are all harmonious activities. Participants should bring lunches and meet at the Mountain Home Inn parking lot. 10 am – 5 pm.

June 3, 5 & 7

Jogging, Conditioning & Creativity / Mike Spino

Three evenings $20

Without stamina, developed when the body increases its ability to utilize oxygen, sports, games and recreational leisure cannot be performed to capacity. Jogging and running are effective means of accomplishing this. Information about environment, equipment, nutrition, visualization and sensory stimulation techniques, assimilation of yoga and Eastern meditations will be discussed and practiced. Every participant will receive a suggested training plan based on a scale of his potential improvement. Monday, Wednesday & Friday, 5:30-7:00 pm.

June 8-9

Golf, Energy Awareness & Video Feedback Mike Murphy, Robert Nadeau & Jerome Downes

Weekend workshop $55

Centering, energy awareness and video recording will be applied to the game of golf. The mind/body disciplines are derived from meditation and aikido. There will be sessions for practicing energy awareness and integrating these approaches by working on the golf swing at a local driving range. As a vehicle for awareness, immediate video feedback will be available throughout the workshop.

June 8-9

A Reunion with the Sea / Ron Clark

Weekend workshop in La Jolla $65

Water has long provided us with a profound metaphor and dream symbol for our emergent bodily states—for our formative processes. Actual experience in the water can provide us with a unique growth-exploration—a process through which we can, to some degree, experience formative processes and a direction for ourselves to become more fully functioning organisms: more at one with our bodies. In this workshop we will work in a pool and in the ocean. Through a variety of techniques we will attempt contact, expression, integration and sharing of experiences and internal states. Fee includes room but not meals.

June 15

Knowing Your Body in Water / Barbara Lamblin

One-day workshop $25

Water is a new and often frightening medium to relax in. We will work on land with stretching, breathing, massaging inflexible body parts to gain confidence with ourselves and each other before entering the water. April 4-May 9

The Three Faces of the Goddess
Maggy Anthony & Suzanne Venesta

Six Thursday evenings $40

A group exploration of the feminine archetype through world mythologies. Emphasis will be on the inner experiences of women through personal expression of dream and fantasy material and the relationship of these to the archetype of the Great Goddess. Men are also welcome to attend. 7:30-9:30 pm. Suggested reading: Women's Mysteries by M. Esther Harding; The Summer Before the Dark and The Four Gated City by Doris Lessing.

April 12-May 3

Unlifting the Armor with the Armor of Art / Herb Gold

Four Friday evenings $25

We will explore the possibilities of finding truth through the genial lying of literature. Brainstorming upon a shared stimulus, we will live through the poetry-story-essay which results. Bring a portable typewriter or soft pencils to the meetings. A situation from the memory will be evoked – love, death, ambition, pride, self-discovery, fear, hatred, jealousy – and we will write for an hour; then we will read and rewrite each other's work. What should emerge: A sense of the place of style and control as a part of revelation. We will practice this freedom. April 12, 19, 26 & May 3; 8-10 pm.

TRAINING IN PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

September 17-October 27

Psychosynthesis Professional Training Series
Jim & Susan Vargiu & Associates of the Psychosynthesis Institute

Six Tuesday evenings, a weekend & individual sessions. $280

A program designed for psychotherapists, educators, counselors and others involved in the helping professions. The group will explore the fundamentals of psychosynthesis, theoretically and experientially, in a coordinated program designed to give each participant both the understanding and the personal experience needed to begin to utilize and apply psychosynthesis within his own field.

The program includes: identification and harmonization of sub-personalities–integration of body, feelings, and mind–guided day-dream principles and practice–release and utilization of psychological energies–a model of personality in terms of energy fields–creativity and imagination–Height Psychology, the Transpersonal Self, and the superconscious–symbols and the development of intuition–the inner dialogue–meditation principles and practice–optimum utilization of current major approaches to growth. We will work together so that each can recognize the process of psychosynthesis at work both in himself and in the others. There will be assignments and exercises to complete between meetings. In addition, each participant will have one private psychosynthesis session, and will have the opportunity to observe two sessions of other members of the group. Further individual work during the six week period can be arranged. Advanced training following this program is also available.

Six Tuesday evenings, September 17, 24, October 1, 8, 15, 22 and weekend workshop, October 26-27. For application form, contact Esalen/San Francisco.

Monday, April 8

Introduction to Psychosynthesis

April 19-21

Psychosynthesis: Who Are You?
John & Heidi Firman

Weekend workshop $50

What kinds of answers do you have for this most basic question? Who is it in you that questions? Who is it that answers? Are any of the responses in conflict? As we begin to observe and listen to the various parts within us, we can discover a center distinct from the questions, the answers, and the conflicts. This workshop will provide an opportunity for you to connect with the energy and guidance of this center in order to explore these inner voices and create harmony among them. Together we will seek solutions which move us toward actualizing the very best within each of us, our most essential Self.

April 27-28

Art & Psychosynthesis / Tom Allen

Weekend workshop $50

In this workshop we will use a variety of art media to go through, past or around our inner blocks, and come into contact with our deeper, more expressive selves, our integrative center of being and awareness. Particular emphasis will be given to the use of focused and spontaneous drawing, guided imagery, the development of imagination, gestalt art and symbolic art. 10 a m-10 p m.

Being a Woman: Liberation From Within
Anne Yeomans & Anne Hubbell

Weekend workshop $50

A weekend together, turning inward toward a renewed awareness of woman's strengths, both ancient and modern. We will use the tools of psychosynthesis: including fantasy, art, movement, journal-keeping and meditation to center ourselves, and from there to begin to address the personal and spiritual questions of our lives.

May 25-26

Introduction to Psychosynthesis
Tom Allen & Margaret Conway

Weekend workshop $50

A weekend workshop designed as an introduction to psychosynthesis, utilizing processes such as guided imagery, self identification, the recognition and integration of subpersonalities, and the balancing of opposites. Emphasis will be integrating various aspects of the personality as a means for contacting the energy of the transpersonal Self.

June 8

Psychosynthesis: Transpersonal / Betsie Carter

One-day workshop $25

This will be a general introduction to psychosynthesis emphasizing the transpersonal or spiritual dimension. 10 a m – 10 p m.

Wednesday, June 19

An Introduction to Psychosynthesis
Tom & Anne Yeomans

Single evening event $5

$2 general and student; First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco.

An evening's experience with the principles and practice of psychosynthesis as a means to increase personal and transpersonal awareness and growth. 8-10:30 pm.

June 28-30

The Process of Psychosynthesis
Tom & Anne Yeomans

Weekend workshop $50

Psychosynthesis is a way of growing and a way of learning to direct ones growth. In this workshop, using such techniques as symbolic imagery, guided fantasy, gestalt, art, movement, inner dialogue and meditation, we will seek to know better the many parts of ourselves; we will work to integrate these around a center of personal and transpersonal awareness, the Self.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

INTERPERSONAL

SAN FRANCISCO INTRODUCTIONS TO INTERPERSONAL METHODS

These evening programs are specially intended for, but not limited to, persons who have not previously participated in Esalen encounter groups.

Working in small and large group sessions, participants will be introduced to many methods for personal growth being explored at Esalen. Comfortable clothing recommended; bring a pillow for easy sitting.

$5; 8-10:30 pm; call Esalen office (771-1710) for locations.

Wednesday, April 3 – Robert Cromey

Tuesday, May 7 – Arthur & Janica Fox

Tuesday, June 4 – Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

April 6-7

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

Weekend workshop $50

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse."

April 7

The Roles People Play
Walt Anderson & Joe Alexander

One-day workshop $25

We will draw on the insights of transactional analysis and the spontaneous-enactment techniques of psychodrama to explore our own roles—how we create them, act them out, and often let them block free development and growth. We will work with the idea of life-scripts (scenarios made in childhood and sometimes held onto forever) for deeper understanding of how we function in the here and now and to see how creative changes might be made.

April 20

Humor: A Sense of Letting Go / Harry Sloan

One-day workshop $25

Humor is a transpersonal transcendent quality frequently showering grace upon the most grim situation. Looking at what you find funny can help you appreciate and understand where you are NOW. Though there may be some tears along the way, looking at our laughter teaches us to find a liberating perspective, a "letting go" of self-imposed limits, with a pleasant bodily response. Bring anything that tickles you; a friend's uncle, an over-ripe banana, jokes, cartoons, personal incidents.

April 20-21

Fair Fight Training for Couples: With Instant Videotape Replay
Ed & Esther Bourg

Weekend workshop $50

In this weekend couples will have a chance to learn and practice the basic techniques of "Fair Fight Training" as outlined in The Intimate Enemy by Dr. George Bach. In Fair Fight Training, couples learn ways to constructively channel their aggressive energies into the revitalization, growth and development of their relationship. This workshop will also provide a valuable opportunity for couples to observe their own personal interaction patterns and communication styles through the use of focused videotape feedback. Limited to 8 couples.

April 26-28

The New Communication / John Ziegler

Weekend workshop $50

John Ziegler writes: "The New Communication is a tool for developing effective ways of communicating in order to help you live your life the way you want to live it. Three basic areas of communication for sensitizing problem-solving skills are explored experientially: 1) Self-Contact, 2) Interpersonal Contact and 3) Group Contact. The contributions of gestalt therapy, sensory awareness, fantasy, psychosynthesis, bioenergetics, biocentric psychology and mass communication techniques will be applied."

May 4-5

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

Weekend workshop $50

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risktaking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning.

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

SAN FRANCISCO PROGRAMS

May 11-12

How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World?
Arthur & Janica Fox

Weekend workshop $50

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques, including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies.

May 17-19

Acting-In- Practical Applications of Psychodrama
Howard Blatner

Weekend workshop $50

In psychodrama, the individual is helped to clarify his own "psychological reality" through enactment. By becoming empathically involved in the emotional aspects of one's own roles, or those of significant others, a person can extend his capacity for intimacy and sensitivity. In this experiential workshop, the participant will be introduced to a variety of psychodramatic methods as part of the exploration of his own life situation. We will further explore the applications of these methods in other settings and the integrations with other approaches to personal development.

May 25-26

Conjoint Consciousness Raising Workshop for Men & Women / Robert Cromey & Esther Warsinski

Weekend workshop $50

Bob & Esther write: "In this workshop we will deal with issues of social role versus personal experience. Men and women will meet separately to explore such role/images for women as: mother, lover, receiver, soft, gentle, passive; for men as: provider, father, tough, aggressive, defender. Then we will meet together as a whole and use our findings about ourselves as a basis for relating to each other. We shall help people to affirm their real humanity, asserting those parts of themselves which they choose to affirm rather than accepting the roles foisted on them by society."

May 31-June 2

Relationship Experience & Training in Depth
Stan Standal & Staff of Deer Creek Center

Weekend workshop $50

The three major tools to be introduced and explored during this weekend are: the Relationship Journal Method (for cleaning up the past), the R & R technique (for work in present time) and the Deer Creek method of modifying body image in relationship. There will be some exposure to the "vesuvius" process for dissipating chronic, mutual resentment. There will be theoretical discussion and practical application of Stan Standal's "pure relationship" approach to increasing openness, caring and responsibility in relationships, and the use of relationship as a therapeutic and personal growth vehicle for the individual.

June 8-July 20

Here & How as Leader / Participant: Demystifying the Group Process
David Schiffman

Mini-extended growth program $150

David Schiffman writes: "This program will provide an opportunity to explore the basic elements underlying the group process and individual growth. We will examine the techniques, strategies and theoretical components inherent in all forms of personal interaction and the use of specific themes in facilitating focus and flow in group sessions. The themes to be covered will include: Growth Through Risk Taking; Humor: A Sense of Letting Go; Growth and Boundaries; Integrative Approaches to Self-Actualization. We will work within an experiential and didactic framework, and each person will be given the opportunity to apply his newly acquired skills by acting in the capacity of a group leader. This workshop will be particularly useful for people in the helping professions. However, it is open to anyone who would like to clarify and refine his/her understanding of a process which has normally been considered too intuitive to be grasped in a cognitive way.

The program consists of two weekend workshops on June 8-9 and July 19-20 and five Thursday evening meetings between the dates of the two workshops.

Limited to 16 persons, selection will be made by David Schiffman between May 20-June 3. If you are interested in applying, send a letter telling us briefly about yourself to Esalen/San Francisco, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123.

June 9

Open Psychodrama Encounter
Walt & Maurica Anderson

One-day workshop $25

A flexible day's work and play using a variety of encounter and gestalt approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama – the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity and creativity and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice.

June 16

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

One-day workshop $25

A workshop devoted to adding up the resources available to each couple. It is our belief that individuality and personal integration need not be sacrificed in the process of joining with another. A workshop on becoming more than the sum of the parts. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used. Limited to 10 couples.

June 21-23

Changing Courses in Midstream / Jack Gaines

Weekend workshop $50

The change from what you are doing to what you want to do is not easy for most people – at any age. Many of us talk of changing life styles, getting out of the rat race, no longer willing to look for our identity in an endless string of shiny new possessions. Some of us do. Few among those who do are prepared for the impact of change and/or idleness. This is an exploratory seminar for people who are interested in the development of new attitudes preparatory to changing career and family responsibilities.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

June 28-30

Finding Your Own Way / Lenore Lefer

Weekend workshop $50

The way we choose to be and live our lives is limited by our perceptions and attitudes to ourselves. To broaden and illuminate these perceptions, we will explore untapped energy resources using such tools as gestalt awareness, encounter, guided daydreams and psychosynthesis techniques and thus help each participant begin to discover his or her own path.

GESTALT

April 1-May 20

Ongoing Gestalt Group / Frank Rubenfeld

Eight Monday evenings $80

One-to-one work, awareness exercises, and gestalt-encounter will all be part of the weekly meetings. Participants will have the opportunity for self-exploration and growth within a therapeutic framework stressing autonomy, immediacy and excitement. In order to facilitate member participation and continuity, group size is limited to 10 and participants must register for the series as a whole. Meetings will be held in Berkeley from 7-9 pm, April 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, May 6, 13 and 20.

April 13

Exploring: A Gestalt-Bioenergetic Workshop
Michael Conant

One-day workshop $25

Exploring the unknown territories of ourselves through intensive group work in gestalt and bioenergetics. We'll focus on centering ourselves in our bodies so that we may become more and more trustworthy and human guides to ourselves in self-exploration.

April 20-21

Living 1974: A Workshop on the New Consciousness
Stella Resnick & Jerry Rubin

Weekend workshop $50

Stella Resnick, gestalt therapist, and Jerry Rubin, political activist, will bring their energies together in a workshop designed to explore and experience inner and outer revolution/evolution. We will play with gestalt, yoga, massage, gestalt theater, and concern ourselves with the developing new consciousness of health, sexual and sex-role liberation, interpersonal relationships and political action.

April 27-28

A Gestalt Workshop with Jack & Lyn
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Weekend workshop $50

Everything you've wanted to know yourself but were too busy to ask: being a subtle blend of penetrating gestalt therapy, sensuous body experience, rousing bioenergetics, heartening folk humor and gently meditative Arica exercises.

Thursday, May 2

Personal Growth & the Social Revolution
John Enright & Jerry Rubin

Single evening event FREE

A social revolution led by irresponsible, uptight, pleasure-limited people will only succeed in changing tyrannies. The growth movement as it is structured however, is not too helpful to would-be revolutionaries. This evening will explore ways of getting revolutionaries into the growth movement and making the growth movement more useful to revolutionaries. 8-10:30 pm.

May 4-5

Gestalt & the Body / Mari Krieger

Weekend workshop $50

Participants will learn Esalen sensory massage as well as work on releasing muscular tensions. Gestalt awareness exercises and hot seat work will be used to deal with any personal and interpersonal concerns that may arise.

Thursday, May 9 & Thursday, May 30

Theory & Practice of Aliveness / John Enright

Single evening event $5 each evening

A discussion of what it means to be aware or awake as opposed to automatic or asleep, including gestalt exercises to help stay in the state of awareness for longer periods. The two evenings will supplement and reinforce each other, but each is organized to be meaningful and complete by itself. 8-10:30 pm.

May 11

Where Might We Go From Here? / Jack Downing

One-day workshop $25

Now our culture must change mightily, going from a higher to a lower physical energy state. What new social institutions might evolve, if we so desired? Can social and spiritual energies desirably replace the physical forces which have preoccupied us for so long? A day-long small and large group discussion of your ideas; if you wish, send a one-page idea outline in advance and we'll duplicate it for distribution at the seminar.

Monday, May 13

We Are the Transitional People / Stella Resnick

Single evening event $5

We are the transitional people; born into one historical age, we will die in another. More and more we are shifting our life styles and our values, but our old programming often confuses us and limits our ability to make nourishing changes. This talk will be concerned with the pains and pleasures of individual evolution, particularly as relating to health, sex and sex-role liberation, interpersonal relationships, being alone. 8-10:30 pm.

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

May 25-26

Energizing Your Gestalts / Elaine Kepner

Weekend workshop $50

Body-mind and concentration exercises to develop energy and focus for gestalt work. This workshop combines gestalt methods with some of the Arica awareness exercises so that "habitual" negative gestalts can be overcome. The workshop is designed to promote an inner objectivity and centering – people in the helping professions will find it particularly useful in their work.

June 1-2

Massage & Gestalt / Ruth Ross & Brenda Sales

Weekend workshop $50

We will use massage, movement and relaxation exercises. Gestalt and other verbal processes will be available for working with feelings that emerge. The emphasis throughout will be on the discovery of what gives us pleasure, what nourishes us, what makes our contact and movement satisfying. A feast of finger foods will be provided on Sunday.

June 7-9

Gestalt, Hypnosis & the Problem of Identity
Abe Levitsky

Weekend workshop $50

"You cannot find yourself without finding others. You cannot find others without finding yourself." This workshop will utilize a novel technique of hypnosis and meditation which seeks to translate age-old concepts of the Self into concrete experience. The methods of gestalt therapy will also be employed for self-exploration.

June 14-16

Advanced Workshop in Gestalt Therapy
Joel Latner

Weekend workshop $50

If our ideas rule us, we subjugate or ignore our viscera – our emotions, our sensations, our perceptions. But if we come to our senses and leave our heads behind, we are still not whole. In the gestalt approach, principles and practice are cut from the same cloth. In this workshop, we will experience the methods of gestalt therapy and begin to discover its mentality. This workshop is open to professionals, graduate students and trainees in the healing arts.

June 29-30

The Next Step Along the Path –
Advanced Gestalt & Beyond / Jack Rosenberg

Weekend workshop $55

The techniques and attitudes of gestalt therapy are exceptionally suited for finishing unfinished situations and allowing each of us to come to the here and now. These moments of the present then fade and again and again new situations become foreground. It is from the present that we have the opportunity to begin to sense or experience the transcendence of our everyday consciousness. This workshop is aimed at focusing our attitudes on the present and beginning an introduction to some of the techniques for meditation, fantasy, as well as body energy, aimed at preparing ourselves for taking the next step along the path. Limited to 15.

POTPOURRI

Sunday, April 7

Passover Seder
Rabbi Abraham Feinberg, assisted by Arthur Fox

Single evening event $12 including full meal

A Passover Seder combining the choice treasures of tradition with profound awareness of freedom's true meaning today, not only for a (Jewish) people but for all people. The universal passion for freedom began with the Israelite Exodus from Egypt 35 centuries ago – but its form and story must be rewritten and adapted to the now! 've song, poetry, ritual, prayer, shared by every creed and race, will challenge us to fight for always-endangered external freedom and to find the hard road to inner freedom. A belly-filling Seder meal with the symbolic dishes. Everybody welcome!

(Scholarships available). Begins at 7 p m.

May 4

Awakening Intuition / Frances Clark

One-day workshop $25

Intuition is known to all of us by experience, yet frequently remains a repressed and undeveloped function. Awakening intuition means tapping the deepest wellsprings of creativity within the self. We will learn to distinguish various levels of intuition, differentiating intuitive perception from imagination and projection. We will work with the spontaneous imagery of dreams and fantasy as well as meditative exercises to facilitate the clearing of inner vision. We will explore meditation and self-hypnosis as ways of increasing receptivity to subjective impressions and discuss various methods of interpretation and validation. Our focus will be on the development and integration of intuition as a source of wisdom, inspiration and guidance in everyday life, and on learning practical methods for continuing amplification after the workshop.

June 14-16

Extending Awareness Through Hypnosis / Lee Pulos

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will combine the approaches of hypnosis and psychosynthesis. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that participants can focus in on themselves through hypnotically induced dreams, automatic writing and drawings. These self-discoveries will be extended through guided fantasies, symbolic imagery and learning how to tune into the "inner theater" of one's unconscious.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE HUMAN BODY

Monday evenings

Alexander Technique / Frank Ottiwell

Continuing program $35 per month

Enrollment is limited to 6 persons; new persons may join the classes as spaces become available; 6-7:30 pm.

April 6-7

The Way of the Chi
Marshall Ho'o, assisted by Hope Adler

Weekend workshop $50

One portion of yang and one portion of yin equals the tao—temple movements, aspects of t'ai chi chuan, acupuncture massage are all part of Chinese philosophy, which is a unified world view—the tao.

April 6-7

Movement & Mind / Gabrielle Roth & Pennell Rock

Weekend workshop $50

The leaders write about their workshop: "We will make an attempt to alter the way we understand ourselves through various forms of movement work and discussion. The work will include massage, dance, theater forms, free movement and Arica consciousness expanding exercises combined with discussions about this work and its significance."

April 8-May 20

Understanding Body Energy / Doris Breyer

Seven Monday evenings $45

Energy is our aliveness. It is our capacity to produce motion and is directly related to our individual manner of being-in-the-world. This workshop will deal with a body-based approach to human growth in which our biological energy, our posture, and our movements are seen as a complex statement of each person's existence. Experiential sessions are designed to assist each person in feeling their own energy, sensing their flow, their blocks, their flexibility and constrictions. The series is limited to 10 people; the time is 6-7 pm, April 8, 15, 22, 29, May 6, 13 and 20.

April 13

Exploring: A Gestalt-Bioenergetic Workshop
Michael Conant

One-day workshop $25

Exploring the unknown territories of ourselves through intensive group work in gestalt and bioenergetics. We'll focus on centering ourselves in our bodies so that we may become more and more trustworthy and human guides to ourselves in self-exploration.

SAN FRANCISCO PROGRAMS

April 15-June 20

Massage Training / Brenda Sales & Jane Walter

Ten week – 100 hour course $280

Initially we will be concerned with developing ease and sensitivity with our hands and allowing ourselves to become quiet. Then a variety of massage techniques will be taught with an emphasis on the development of a personal style and a responsiveness to another as an individual, unique in her needs and pleasures. The ten week course will consist of 100 hours of class work – two four-hour classes per week in massage instruction with carefully supervised practice scheduled for one group of students. There are also ten classes in human anatomy, taught by William Brostoff, MD. The anatomy course is limited to 20 participants and is also open to the general public. Near the end of the course there will be a one-day seminar featuring lecture-demonstrations by practitioners proficient in other styles including Swedish and Japanese. We invite participants who would like to be trained as professional masseurs and masseuses, or who would like to use more touching in their work and others who want to use massage to enrich their lives.

Massage Class: 7 to 11 p m: Ten Monday and Wednesday evenings, April 15 – June 19. Limited to 16 participants.

Anatomy Class: 7:30 to 9:30 p m: Ten Thursday evenings, April 18 – June 20.

A non-refundable deposit of $150 is required. More information about the course is available by contacting the instructors through Esalen.

April 19-21

Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

Weekend workshop $50

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and come to rely on – when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this weekend, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents.

德 Te: Power-virtue [see above]. Passages in Chuang-tzu on skills. Principles of Chinese medicine, irrigation, farming, Story of helping wheat to grow. Consequence of wu-wei. Gravity = energy — Lao-tzu: "Gravity is root of lightness." Our lack of distinctions between power, energy, effort, force. Muscle & nerves.

空 Space: Uses of space in Lao-tzu. Window & vase. Exemplary employment in Chinese painting, & later in Japanese architecture & dry-landscape gardening. Consciousness as space in Chuang-tzu. Empty mindedness.

April 18-June 20

Bio-Anatomy / William Brostoff

Ten Thursday evenings $90

This course deals with human anatomy and physiology, with an emphasis on the neuromuscular system. The orientation will be toward understanding the basic structural units of the body and the way in which structure and function interrelate in health and illness. Students will be encouraged to experience and integrate bio-anatomical information through concentration and objective observation. 7:30-9:30 p m. Limited to 20 participants. A non-refundable deposit of $50 is required.

April 21

The Feldenkrais Method: Extending Our Possibilities
Judith Stransky

One-day workshop $25

This is an experience in the subtle and powerful new body technique originated by Moshe Feldenkrais. Feldenkrais devised a series of simple, ingenious exercises which involve integration of the physical and the mental, expand boundaries of human possibility and lead to release from fixed habits that restrict us. Awareness of our self-image is developed, and the range of our movements is greatly extended. The work teaches integration, differentiation, relaxation and balance, improvement in alignment and greater ease in movement.

Thursday, April 18

Yoga: A Lecture Demonstration / Joel Kramer

Single evening event $5

The session will include a discussion of the different types of yoga and their pertinence for modern living, a demonstration of advanced yogic posture and a brief introduction to meditation. 8-10:30 pm.

Thursday, April 25

Dimensions of Structural Integration
Michael Salveson

Single evening event $5

A discussion and demonstration of the Rolf method of structural integration. 8-10:30 pm. (See page 5 for definition.)

April 27-28

The Physical, Psychological & Spiritual Dimensions of Yoga / Joel Kramer

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is designed to present yoga to the interested novice, as well as to the serious practitioner, as a tool for self-inquiry in learning to tune into the feedback systems of the mind and body. The emphasis will be to utilize both the physical yoga (hatha) and the mental yoga (jnana) to enable participants to do yoga on their own.

May 3-5

Two Somatographers & You George King & H Bryn Jones

Weekend workshop $50

Somatography is defined as: "The systematic and formulated pursuit of knowledge regarding the human body and its energic relationship with the environment, and the creative application of that knowledge in an essentially educative situation. It is a bridge between the ancient body arts and the sophisticated body sciences and techniques of today." This weekend will include: creative analysis of the state of your subtle energy body, using the hands as a delicate instrument to find high and low energy concentrations. Then balancing out the energy in and around your physical body through very intensive yet caring massage, physical manipulation and perhaps some exercises. Finally going into the question and reality of how to "charge" your subtle energy system – through people, food, natural surroundings, color and your personal environment.

May 11-12

How Do You Want to be Alive in This World? Arthur & Janica Fox

Weekend workshop $50

See p 22 for description and information.

May 18-19

Massage for Couples / Jean Porter

Weekend workshop $50

We will learn basic techniques for giving and receiving massage both for immediate relaxation of tension with your mate and the longer more complete massage, as ways of caring for each other. Emphasis will be on deepening the quality of the non-verbal communication and expanding awareness of energy flow between each other. Limited to 8 couples.

June 1-2

Massage & Gestalt / Ruth Ross & Brenda Sales

Weekend workshop $50

We will use massage, movement and relaxation exercises. Gestalt and other verbal processes will be available for working with feelings that emerge. The emphasis throughout will be on the discovery of what gives us pleasure, what nourishes us, what makes our contact and movement satisfying. A feast of finger foods will be provided on Sunday.

Tuesday, June 18

Present-Centered Bioenergetics / Michael Conant

Single evening event $5

A talk on the integration of bioenergetics and gestalt therapy. Plenty of time will be available for questions and discussion so that other important matters may naturally emerge. 8-10:30 pm.

June 22

Present-Centered Bioenergetics / Michael Conant

One-day workshop $30

Working primarily as a group we'll use bioenergetic, neo-Reichian and gestalt approaches to center in our bodies and thus deepen contact with ourselves and each other. One or two individual bioenergetic sessions may also take place during the day for demonstration purposes.

June 30

Massage & Movement / Bill Glover

One-day workshop $25

Bill describes his work as follows: "I see massage as communication between a body in motion and one at rest. In this workshop, we'll use awareness and movement techniques to develop our natural sense of rhythm and flow. If we then connect our movement to another's body through our hands, our dance becomes a massage, relating how we move to how we touch. Massage technique will be shown, enough to guide but not restrict our sense of touch."

November 3-May 5

Extended Growth Program / George Downing

Six month program $550

The Extended Growth Program is an in-depth, continuing six-month program in the San Francisco Bay Area; it combines a selected schedule of workshops with ongoing small group work under the direction of the program coordinator, George Downing. As a non-resident program in an urban area, it provides a way for persons to experience directed and focused work in several disciplines while living and working in their own environment.

George Downing writes: "This year's program will provide an opportunity to explore and to integrate a number of different pathways toward personal growth. Our focus will be on the body as the source and center of our being; and on our individual styles of making contact, both with ourselves and with other persons. We will make extensive use of gestalt, meditation and dream journals, and a variety of methods of working intensively with the body, including breath awareness, Feldenkrais techniques, movement, Esalen massage, polarity therapy and others. An intellectual as well as an emotional understanding of our shared experience will be encouraged."

The program will consist of the following, all in the San Francisco area: continuous group work with George Downing during the six-month period, specifically one evening meeting per week; two weekend workshops with George Downing (November 3-4 and May 4-5); one special weekend workshop for program members only with Stanley Keleman; and three weekend programs to be selected by participants according to individual interest from regularly scheduled Esalen/San Francisco workshops during the November through April period. A month will be taken off for Christmas vacation from mid-December to mid-January.

Interested persons are encouraged to send in their applications early; send a letter telling us briefly about yourself to Esalen Institute, Longterm Programs, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. The program is limited to 16 persons; selection will be made by interview with George Downing between October 1 and November 1.

"I—and others—have been saying for years that destruction of the environment is based on contempt for everything outside the human skin, failure to see that as a field flowers, the planet peoples, and ignorance of the fact that the oceans, the air, and even the solar system are as much our vital organs as heart and stomach."

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

EXPERIENCING ESALEN

The Esalen Staff, with Janet Lederman, Richard Price, Paul Rebillot or Julian Silverman

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on choosing those approaches to self-actualization which prove most effective for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen Workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, theatre games, guided fantasy, meditation, bioenergetics and massage. Rolfing treatments are available (separate fee). There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

April 21-26 ($240)
May 26-31 ($240)
June 23-28 ($250)

THE WEEK OF MARCH 31 - APRIL 5

Growth & Boundaries
David Schiffman & Harry Sloan

Where do you stop? When do you let go? This workshop will involve the complementary approaches of gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis and massage. The group will explore a wide variety of techniques (verbal and non-verbal) in order to experience the possibilities of greater personal expansion and openness with others. The use of personal boundaries, whether illusory or as tools of survival will also be explored through risk-taking exercises. $280

A Gestalt Workshop with Jack & Lyn
Jack Downing / Lyn Davis

Everything you wanted to know about yourself but were too busy to ask. Being a subtle blend of: penetrating gestalt therapy, sensuous body experience, rousing bio-energetics, heartening folk humor and gently meditative Arica Exercises. We also welcome back our old friends who seek another saunter around their universe. $280

Integrating Gestalt, Alexander Technique & Feldenkrais / Ilana Rubenfeld

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion—so mind and body are one!

The focus in this workshop will be on experiencing one's own body and emotions as a total organism. Emotions and memories are often stored in our bodies, resulting in tension and imbalance. A unique blend of gestalt therapy, Alexander technique, Feldenkrais exercises and deep muscle work will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing and working through deep feelings.

We have the choice to contact ourselves and each other with joy, sadness, compassion, humor, ideas and with the body—the whole person. Paul Rebillot will lead gestalt improvisation sessions. $250

Removing "The Mask"
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

We all move about with a typical stance in the world. Whatever I call "me" defines "me" and "my" relation to others. I become physically and psychically limited. The aim of the workshop is to peel away part of "The Mask". This workshop will stress gestalt and Reichian body techniques. Also included will be a series of daily physical exercises, walking meditation and Esalen massage. Acupuncture and Rolfing as available at Esalen will be encouraged (separate fee). $220

THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 5–7

Aggression in the Service of Intimacy
George R. Bach

This weekend is designed for singles and couples who want to achieve a genuine intimacy (and for those engaged in counselling them). Dr. Bach will explain, demonstrate and practice various "love-fight" techniques that enhance the joys of love and sex. A video feedback session will help participants to recognize their own "pairing-fight" styles. $100 plus $2 video fee.

Wu Chi / Al Huang

Wu Chi: the original T'ai before such labels as Yan, Wu or Mah styles, and before its other recreations in kung-fu, aikido, judo and karate. The symbol for Wu Chi is the empty circle before the man-made division of the s moving line. How moving is your s dividing line within your t'ai chi sign? Let us explore the ways the Taoists in the old days discovered, played with and flowed through. Shall we begin with this seminar, assuming this new-ancient-now way of bodymind-moving-together called Wu Chi, and liberate ourselves from the confusions and accretions of later forms? This weekend workshop will be an overall introduction-work-play-review of Wu Chi, and we welcome everyone who is willing to call himself a beginner. $100

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

A workshop devoted to adding up the resources available to each couple. It is our belief that individuality and personal integration need not be sacrificed in the process of joining with another. A workshop on becoming more than the sum of the parts. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used. Limited to 10 couples. $100

Gestalt Tarot / Paul Rebillot

A pack of Tarot cards can be your own personal gestaltist. The weekend will explore gestalt methods of discovering the cards from your own experience. Bring your own deck if you like. There will be work with the video camera as we discover our tarot character. $90 plus $2 video fee.

BIG SUR PROGRAMS

THE WEEK OF APRIL 7–12

Gestalt – the Tao of Learning & Growth
Richard Price, Janet Lederman, Chris Stewart

Recommended reading: Anger and the Rocking Chair by Janet Lederman; Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-fu Feng and Jane English. $280

The Workshop Is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness; The Title is Unimportant
Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

Our premise is that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by individuals increasing their available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used, as well as games and massage, to enable the participants to explore and expand the resources that exist within themselves. $250

Wu Chi / Al Huang

See Wu Chi weekend, April 5-7 above.

The 5-day workshop will have more time to deal with some specific forms, motifs and methods. Bring musical instruments to play and dance, brush sets and paper to study Chinese Classics and poetry. Bring yourself and leave your dictating mind behind. $250

Human Teaching for Human Learning (An Introduction to Confluent Education)
Aaron & Rosemary Hillman

The basic premise is that in education we must consider not only the intellectual development but the emotional, physical, and spiritual needs as well. In this workshop we will present a group process in which this can be done drawing upon techniques, theory and practice derived from the humanistic psychology and human awareness fields. The workshop is directed toward educators of any level but is also a growth experience for anyone. It is recommended that all participants read George Isaac Brown's Human Teaching for Human Learning. $250

THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 12–14

Psychosynthesis: Putting It Together / Tom Allen

In this weekend we will explore the many approaches available in psychosynthesis for reowning energy lost in many past inner and outer conflicts. Among processes used will be the identification and integration of subpersonalities, the balance of opposites, guided imagery and spontaneous drawing. $90

Personal Resurrection / Paul Rebillot

"To suffer one's death and to be reborn is not easy." Fritz Perls.
The Time: Easter Weekend
The Stage: Big Sur
The Script: Gestalt, Magic, Improvisation, Meditation, Movement and Song.
The Cast: You and Me. $90 plus $2 video fee.

Introduction to Aikido / Robert Nadeau

A weekend to explore the Japanese art of Aikido. The emphasis will be on centering, blending energy and awareness. Bring comfortable clothing for movement. $100

Encounter & Massage / Harry Sloan

We will explore how we touch each other verbally and non-verbally . . . how to communicate what we are feeling and how to ask for what we want. $90

Conscious Evolution / Chris Feldman & Esalen Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary – this is a workshop for ordinary people. $90

What is this experience?
As soon as you ~~[illegible]~~ ask, it is the asking.
"I would like this experience to be transformed."
The wish is now this.
"I would like not to wish."
How can you not wish? [You wish not to wish?]
"I am the wish. . . . to transform this experience."
WISH! "I want out from wanting out."
But this, also, is IT.
"I don't see it."

THE WEEK OF APRIL 14–19

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $250

Self Healing: Locating our Inner Space
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

When we are able to release our bodymind tensions our inner space unfolds and flowers. We will include in this workshop Reichian body techniques for emotional and energy release. Time will also be set aside for gestalt work as needed. Techniques for self-healing will include daily morning exercise series, self massage, and specific color meditations, eye exercises, polarity massage principles, and the psychic work of George Simon. $220

Bioenergetics: / The Other Side of Self
Alan Schwartz

We tend to block the free flow of energy which allows us to express emotions. The reasons involve many facets of self: fear of rejection, fear of not being loveable, fear of falling on one's face, etc . . . Through bioenergetic techniques, we will focus on opening up channels to the free flow of energy and dealing with the resultant emotional release on the intrapsychic and interpersonal levels. Gestalt techniques will also be utilized to develop an environment in which risk taking may occur in an atmosphere of trust. $220

Gestalt, Encounter & Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

Open to non-professionals. Limited to 14. $270

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $220

THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 19–21

Self-Affirmation: A Workshop for Those Who Put Themselves Down / Pennell Rock

The world is a place where we are constantly undermined and made aware of our shortcomings: so much so that we develop fixed patterns of self-negation which prevent a fuller realization of ourselves. The workshop will demonstrate the arbitrariness of such negativity and will show how the creative flow of living is enhanced when these patterns are reversed. The work will include experiences in personal creativity, validation techniques from Re-evaluation Counselling and Arica exercises in consciousness expansion. $110.

A Workshop for Gay People / Sally Smith

A chance for gay men and women, singly or in couples, to come together at Esalen, explore life styles, problems, joys, directions; share massage, music and plain talk. $100

A Weekend of Energy Release through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz

See April 14-19 above. $100

Contact & Consciousness / Simone Surpin

This weekend we will emphasize the moment-by-moment process of our group as one dynamic organism, – the process of how we do and don't pay attention to ourselves and each other. We will explore how to "keep ourselves" while communicating with others. Body work and some meditation will be part of the weekend. $100

THE WEEK OF APRIL 21–26

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $240

Interscience Neo-Reichian Workshop: Opening the Feelings / Charles & Erica Kelley

See description, page 40. $300

Endarkenment / Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock

(For people who want a respite from the pursuit of enlightenment.) This week we will learn to be closed, deceptive and dishonest; to be in our heads and not our bodies; how to worry during meditation; methods of structural *dis*integration; techniques for being off-center; ways to avoid touching and closeness. There will be extensive practice in how to blame others for our troubles.

By experiencing these endarkening techniques, we will get in touch with how we block and frustrate ourselves. (Lapses into joy, contact, clarity and centeredness are permitted.) The premise of this workshop is that sometimes we learn best by experiencing opposites. $300

See workshop description, page 35. $240

Massage Workshop / Dick Horan & Peggy Morrison

$270

MEDIA CENTER

"Oh, would some Power the giftie gi'e us
To see ourselves as others see us."

The Esalen Media Center has video recording services available for individuals interested in working privately, or in twos and threes. If you wish to explore every aspect of your visual self – how you use your body, how your self-image compares with your real image – the video camera offers you instant feedback.

Studio and operator: $15 per hour, including playback time. If you wish to purchase the videotape, there is an additional charge.

(Leaders wishing to retain the use of video for groups must arrange this with the program coordinator at the time the group is scheduled.)

THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 26-28

A Bodyshop / Xavier Nash

A Massage workshop using special techniques to:
–allow the body and mind to experience the more restful states of consciousness,
–allow the body and mind to physically experience an energized body.

A Movement Awareness Workshop designed to expand the body's musculature structure (through simple structural anatomical movements).

a Movement Awareness Workshop designed to:
–allow the mind to confront the body as it exists in space,
–explore one's personal range of body limitations as it affects the mind and conversely, the emotional limitations as they affect the body,
–initiate integration of mind, body and feeling states. $100

Towards a More Sensitive Relating Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and discard the techniques and defenses we have come to rely on–when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this weekend, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents. $120

Bodymind / Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock

The workshop will attempt to integrate the Feldenkrais exercises with fantasy and encounter. Everyone will be given an opportunity to experience several exercises followed by a fantasy, then, in an encounter group, to deal with the material generated. The aim is for a more complete integration of each person's organism. $110

The Art & Practice of Self-Observation: A Gestalt Workshop / Stella Resnick

Self-observation is a crucial talent to develop in order to recognize when behavior, fantasy and environment is nourishing and self-enhancing or toxic and self-depleting. Using the gestalt approach supplemented by a variety of other techniques including video feedback, participants will focus on learning how to observe themselves more clearly and to recognize and maintain themselves in nourishing environments. $110 plus $2 video fee.

ONGOING RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

Offered from September through May, the Ongoing Residential Program is designed for those who would like to have time and space in the Esalen environment of community and work for an intensive workshop program over a long term (minimum four weeks).

Participants may select any of the five-day workshops offered during their stay. Some programs are cancelled, so second choices are advised. Some special staff programs will also be open to residents. Participation in the Ongoing Residential Program may also lead to participation in the Study Center (see below).

Cost: $880 per four week period. (Subject to change in future catalog periods.)

THE STUDY CENTER

The Study Center operates as a section of the Ongoing Residence Program. It is a place where up to 15 residents can be living in community with one another. Preference is given to persons with special learning relationships to Esalen teachers and/or are working professionally with people (teachers, ministers, psychiatrists, etc.). As in the Ongoing Residence Program, residents can take any of the five-day programs. Some special in-house programs are given at the Center and visiting teachers and scholars are often in residence.

$880 per four-week period.
(Subject to change in future catalog periods.)

THE WEEK OF APRIL 28 - MAY 3

Selective Awareness & Advanced Gestalt
Emmett Miller, Richard Price & Esalen Staff

For those who have had some previous experience in gestalt and/or selective awareness.

Selective awareness provides means for identifying and unlearning undesireable characteristics of body/mind and rapidly learning desireable patterns. This takes place in a state of mind related to those of meditation and hypnosis. Like gestalt, selective awareness aims at the development of internal guidance free of externally imposed conditioning. $270

Massage, Music & Meditation
Deborah Medow & Myrtle Ratcliffe

A week of massage, using polarity and sensory methods, combining yoga, music, meditation and the wonders of the Big Sur woods and seacoast. $240

The New Communication / John Ziegler

The goal of this workshop is to develop our communication skills to live life more fully and productively. Self contact, interpersonal contact and group contact will be explored experientially to facilitate meaningful change. The contributions of gestalt, sensory awareness, fantasy, psychosynthesis, bioenergetics, biocentric psychology are applied in the New Communication. Video will be used as a tool to discover our patterns of communications, body language, how we interact and listen. $270 plus $2 video fee

Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

See April 26-28 description, above. $270

Experiencing the Obvious: A Week of Gestalt Momentum / Neil Lamper

Whatever is here is what's here. Wholeness and integrity always lurk somewhere. Fritz says the breakthroughs are of little use unless we work through. We will work through from faith to the obvious.

We will work for our "aha" moment and to see how we got it; we will deal with what we want to do with it now that we've got it. This is a workshop for people who want to risk doing something with their insight. $270

OPENING THE FEELINGS

Interscience Neo-Reichian Workshops

To grow in the capacity to experience and express deep feeling, to connect up with oneself and to contact others is the aim of this series of workshops which employ neo-Reichian techniques of emotional release. The Interscience Intensive, a period of individual work within a small group setting, is practised by Charles and Erica Kelley and their staff at the Interscience Work Shop. The Intensive, like other neo-Reichian techniques used in these workshops, grew from the discovery by Charles Kelley's teacher, Wilhelm Reich, of the way in which feeling is rooted in the flow of energy in the body, and is blocked by chronic muscular contractions which Reich called the muscular armor. Freeing the armor enables the student to open feeling that is buried and to soften and free feeling that is too strong and has been held in for fear of explosion.

In these workshops armor is softened by simultaneous work on the character and body, using techniques not only from Reich, but also from bioenergetics, sensory awareness and other body-oriented approaches. Groups will be kept small – never more than eight per leader, so that significant individual help can be given. Grief or pain, fear and rage that have been held in since childhood emerge in these workshops. As the participant accepts and works through these negative feelings, he discovers a new capacity for pleasure, trust and love. In time the sexual experience changes profoundly as tender and sexual feelings for the mate intensify and merge.

Participants will receive ten two-and-a-half to three hour sessions in a week, or four sessions in a weekend. They will receive two and sometimes three individual Intensives during a week, or one during a weekend. Neo-Reichian work will be done in groups and pairs in those sessions that do not include the intensive. This will add up to all of the deep emotional release work that a person can ordinarily take on a day-after-day basis.

Taking these workshops as a series will provide participants who are unable to get neo-Reichian work in their locality with a continuing program equivalent both in price and "power" to weekly classes. For those regularly enrolled, the special environment and facilities of Esalen Big Sur will help to speed their progress toward deep-seated change.

Schedule

Five-day
April 21-26 Charles and Erica Kelley
June 9-14 Valerie Miller, Judy Unell and Laura Dillon

Weekend
May 24-26 Elaine Warburton and Eleanor Southers

PLUS: August 23-25, September 1-6, November 3-8, and December 20-22.

THE WEEKEND OF MAY 3–5

Psychosynthesis: Down with Shoulds, Up with Coulds / Tom Allen & Margaret Conway

All too often we listen to clamoring inner and outer voices that compel us to act against our own and other's best interest. Psychosynthesis provides many ways to contact our true inner self, our center, from which we can guide our lives with love and wisdom. In this workshop we will experience the integration of subpersonalities and the balance of opposites using such processes as guided imagery, symbolic visualization, movement, inner dialogue, and meditation. $110

The Feldenkrais Method: Extending our Possibilities Judith Stransky

This is an experience in the Feldenkrais method. Moshe Feldenkrais is the originator of a subtle and powerful new body technique. He has devised a series of simple, ingenious exercises which involve integration of the physical and the mental, expand boundaries of human possibility and lead to release from fixed habits that restrict us. Awareness of our self-image is developed, and the range of our movements is greatly extended. The work teaches integration, differentiation, relaxation and balance, improvement in alignment and greater ease in movement, and is a unique means of bringing us closer to the fulfillment of our human potential. $100

The New Communication / John Ziegler

See April 28 - May 3, above. $110

Boogie with a Conga Beat Barbara Clemans & Richard Adelman

We are already perfect. When we experience tension, upset, negativity and conflict in our universe we are only experiencing the barriers to the expression of that perfection. In this weekend, let us recapture the natural yet magical sense of pulsatory, rhythmical, flowing movement. We will release tension through massage and Feldenkrais exercises, we will explore our inner music with meditation and we will express the energyof the group with drumming, movement and sound.

We are the music while the music lasts – T.S. Eliot

$110

Experiencing the Obvious / Neil Lamper

See April - May 3, above. Those who wish to carry through from the five-day workshop are welcome. $110

THE WEEK OF MAY 5–10

The Physical, Psychological & Spiritual Dimensions of Yoga / Joel Kramer

A workshop designed for the interested novice as well as the serious practitioner. Yoga is presented as a tool for self inquiry, based upon building one's sensitivity in order to tune into the feedback systems of the mind and body. The emphasis will be to introduce both the physical yoga (Hatha) and the mental yoga (Jnana) with the aim of enabling the participants to do yoga on their own. $270

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness, and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Often, under the ongoing inner and outer pressures of living, we split with ourselves and lose touch with our most basic nature which is balance. Centering is the process of returning to yourself, to your inherent balance.

Utilizing simple exercises, we'll learn to settle, relax and be easy in a variety of everyday situations. We'll explore the nature of being split and the process of re-centering. We'll also touch other dimensions of centering . . . energy awareness and meditation. $270

*Current Knowledge of Psychic Phenomena George & Iris Owen

The most recent and up-to-date information on the scientific understanding of Man's paranormal abilities will be reviewed: extra-sensory perception (telepathy, clairvoyance, precognition) in the laboratory and everyday life, conscious and subconscious; the arts of dowsing, paranormal healing, seeing the human aura; ghosts, apparitions, mediumship and evidence for human survival of death; psychokinesis, poltergeists, group psychokinesis. Participants in the workshop will be able to test whether they themselves have psychic abilities either as individuals or working in groups. $270

Psychic Series*

Living 1974: A Workshop on the New Consciousness / Stella Resnick and Jerry Rubin

Stella Resnick, gestalt therapist, and Jerry Rubin, political activist, will bring their energies together in this weeklong workshop designed to explore and experience inner and outer revolution/evolution. We will work and play with gestalt, yoga, massage, gestalt theater and video. We will concern ourselves with the developing new consciousness of health, sex and sex role liberation, interpersonal relationships and political action. $300 plus $2 video fee.

THE WEEKEND OF MAY 10–12

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and to laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $110

"One's not half two. It's two are halves of one."* A Weekend for Couples Betty Fuller & S. Dub Leigh

A workshop for couples, lovers, mates, partners, friends designed to rehabilitate the ability to nourish one another, to communicate openly and honestly, to love and express love verbally and non-verbally, to live as self-responsible individuals in a one-to-one relationship. Experimental and didactic sessions will explore love, jealousy, sex, money, work, play, control, freedom, touching, talking, listening, relating, privacy, choosing, children and other "topics of interest" as they emerge in the group. The workshop is designed to serve a large number of couples in order to share the widest possible range of experience.

In the supportive context of the group each participant will encounter the "significant other"–other individuals and couples, and, most usefully, the self. Group sessions will also experience 1776 Union: American yoga, psychosynthesis, art, music and meditation. $110

e. e. cummings.*

*Dream Telepathy / Montague Ullman

Psi (paranormal) effects have been observed in dreams anecdotally, clinically and experimentally. The workshop will be devoted to a brief review of the characteristics of dreams occurring in each of these ways and will then go on to explore the psi dream potential of the participants. The group will act both as agents and percipients in a series of informal exercises. $110

Psychic Series*

PSYCHIC SERIES

In May, Esalen/Big Sur is again featuring a series of workshops/seminars in the field of parapsychology.

BIG SUR PROGRAMS

THE WEEK OF MAY 12–17

Listen to Yourself: / A Gestalt Workshop
Frank Rubenfeld

During these five days, we will listen to ourselves with humor, dismay, compassion and whatever else arises. Through listening comes awareness; through awareness, an opportunity to create your own fate. $270

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques and video feedback, the participants can accep or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $240 plus $2 video fee.

1776 Union: American Yoga
S. Dub Leigh & Betty Fuller

An intensive workshop to experience and celebrate what works and gets results in body movement–both physical and mental. 1776 Union: American Yoga is Dub's and Betty's synthesis of the methods of Moshe Feldenkrais, Perls' gestalt awareness training, and Ida P. Rolf's gravitational alignment theories. More a moving meditation than "exercise", the work is done slowly with heightened awareness and concentration on process and experience Here/Now. The experience results in increased sensitivity, reduced friction, expanded self-image and improved alignment in the gravitational field. The workshop will also feature massage, reflexology, meditation and creative house cleaning of personal space through gestalt process. $300

* Pyramid of Being / Olivia Skinner

This workshop will deal with the three levels of being: body, mind, spirit, and the balancing of Auric fields – emotionally, physically and spiritually – to the individual's essence. Experiential work will be done with interpreting the Auric field, trance, acupoints, shiatsu, meditation and psychic development. $240

Psychic Series*

THE WEEKEND OF MAY 17–19

Open Psychodrama Encounter
Walt & Maurica Anderson

A flexible weekend's work and play using a variety of encounter and gestalt approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama–the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity, and creativity, and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice. $110

Contact & Consciousness
Simone Surpin and Al Haimson

This weekend we will emphasis the moment by moment process of our group as one dynamic organism. The process of how we do and don't pay attention to ourselves and each other. We will explore how to "keep ourselves" while communicating with others. Body work and some meditation will be part of the weekend. $110

*How to Develop Your ESP / Suzy Smith

Each member of this group will be tested for their ESP potential and various forms of meditation will be taught. During meditation periods, attempts will be made at psychometry, seeing auras and psychokinesis. This workshop will go into the various forms of ESP which one might develop, including trance, out of the body experiences, physical mediumship and healing. Miss Smith will discuss her personal experiences with well known mediums, such as Arthur Ford. $110

Psychic Series*

Mountain Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

This workshop will combine new ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur. Technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, meditation, centering, hiking disciplines and mountain lore will be ways which can provide us with unique insights into ourselves, the group and the environment. $100

Dimensions of Consciousness
Stan Grof & Joan Halifax Grof

This is the first in a series of six seminars to be given by the Grofs on culture and unusual states of consciousness. In this workshop they will utilize their combined backgrounds in anthropology and the clinical research of LSD to explore the human unconscious and the nature of consciousness. $110

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEK OF MAY 19–24

Finding Your Own Way / Lenore Lefer

The way we choose to be and live our lives is limited by our perceptions and attitudes about ourselves. To broaden and illuminate these perceptions, we will explore our untapped energy resources. With richer alternatives and choices available, finding our own way will be a nourishing experience.

Gestalt awareness, encounter, guided daydreams and psychosynthesis techniques will be among the tools used on our search. $240

*Parapsychology, Consciousness, & Creativity
Stanley Krippner

This experiential seminar will attempt to develop each person's creative ability through the utilization of paranormal abilities that manifest themselves during altered states of consciousness. Dream recall will be utilized as will guided imagery, massage, group hypnosis, sensory bombardment, body movement, and fantasy. In these states of consciousness, participants will be trained to gain access to the personal and universal symbols, archetypes, and thematic concepts which encourage creative development. In addition, the basic approaches to psychic healing will be discussed and experienced. Kirlian photography equipment will be available, demonstrating how altered consciousness also changes the bodily energies. Workshop participants will be given the opportunity to participate in telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition experiments during several different states of consciousness.

Suggested reading: Dream Telepathy, Ullman, Krippner & Vaughan; The Kirlian Aura, Ed. Krippner & Rubin; The Secret Life of Plants, Tompkins & Bird; We Are All Healers, Hammond; Passages, A Guide for Pilgrims of the Mind, Krippner.
$270

Psychic Series*

Gestalt, Body Energy & Beyond
Jack Rosenberg & Lyn MacCuish

This workshop will be a synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Reichian yoga and other energy body practices used to enable you to have more of your potential available in the here and now. $270

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

Encounter for Couples
Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock

This week is an opportunity for couples to explore the realities and the possibilities of their coupledom and to share the experiences of other couples going through encounter. $300

THE WEEKEND OF MAY 24–26

Bodymind / Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock

The workshop will attempt to integrate the Feldenkrais exercises with fantasy and encounter. Everyone will be given an opportunity to experience several exercises followed by a fantasy, then in an encounter group to deal with the material generated. The aim is for a more complete integration of each person's organism. $110

Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and discard the techniques and defenses we have come to rely on—when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this weekend, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents. $120

*Maps of the Psyche: A Survey of Occult & Spiritual Experience
Stan Grof, Joan Halifax Grof, Michael Murphy & Richard Price

A survey of various maps of consciousness which will try to find connections between the theories and experiences which have been presented in this Psychic Series. Buddhist, Hindu, theosophical, Neo-Platonic, psychosynthesis, Aurobindonian and other models of the psyche will be discussed. $120.

THE WEEK OF MAY 26–31

Four Pillars of Health: A Workshop in Preventive Medicine John McCamy with Al Drucker

A workshop to improve your health. John McCamy, a physician in the field of preventive medicine, works with the four "pillars" of nutrition (detoxification), exercise/movement, stress reduction and ecological awareness.

Participants are asked to bring a record of their last week's diet and physical exercise: what was eaten (meals and snacks) and how much exercise taken (work, play, stairs, carrying, etc.) Workshop sessions will include: lecture and discussion; daily aerobic and movement exercises, personally tailored; stress-reduction techniques similar to meditation and alpha-state induction; meal-time awareness exercises. People in the helping professions – psychologists, teachers, nurses, doctors, ministers – can acquire a basic and simple illness-prevention approach which can be passed on to those seeking improved health and well-being.

Sessions in alternative health techniques will be offered by Dr. McCamy and Al Drucker. Participants will become acquainted with approaches to physical-mental-spiritual balance such as: structural integration (Rolfing), acupuncture, Feldenkrais movement and various meditation practices. $270

John McCamy's program also forms part of the Health program in Oct.-Nov. See this page.

The Workshop is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness, The Title is Unimportant Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

This workshop is based on the premise that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by each individual increasing his available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used as well as games and massage to enable the participants to explore and extend the resources that exist within themselves. $270

Experiencing Esalen

See workshop description, page 35. $240

*Color Sensitive / Rosemary Lahey

In this workshop, spectrum colors will be used as a tool to bring to light hidden positive and negative influences in our lives and hidden aptitudes or inhibitions of which we may be unaware. The healing uses of color will be explored and participants will be taught how to develop awareness of the auric body and sensitivity to the many aspects of the psychic dimension. $240

Psychic Series*

HEALTH MONTH

The first Esalen month-long workshop devoted to health will begin in October. The broad terms of reference for this program are to provide the information, the practice and the environment which will enable participants to care for their bodies.

The cornerstone of the program will be physician John McCamy's preventive medicine program: a systematic and simple approach to good health through diet/detoxification, exercise, stress reduction and ecological awareness. (See the description of his workshop on this page.) Esalen staff will supplement Dr. McCamy's program with a variety of approaches to balance and well being in body, mind and spirit. The program will include:

- –daily hot mineral baths
- –demonstrations of structural integration (Rolfing) and acupuncture
- –massage sessions and massage instruction as well as polarity massage
- –body work: Alexander technique, Feldenkrais, bioenergetics, etc.
- –meditation practice and chanting
- –group work (gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis) to deal with ways we prevent ourselves from feeling well
- –interaction with the Big Sur environment.

The Health Month will begin October 6th and end November 1st. The cost will be $1160. Esalen leaders involved with the program include Richard Price, Julian and Beverly Silverman, Hector Prestera, Al Drucker, Bob Kriegel and Peggy Morrison. Further information will be found in the summer and fall catalogs.

THE WEEKEND OF MAY 31–JUNE 2

Self Hypnosis & Selective Awareness Emmett Miller

In this workshop, the principles and techniques of selective awareness will be applied in three main areas: introduction to altered states of consciousness through auto-suggestion; elimination of unwanted symptoms, habits and emotional response-patterns; application to learning, listening, communication and body work through self-exploration exercises. $110

*Transcending Time, Matter, & Personality: Experiencing Growth through ASC Telemachos Greanias

Experiential and exploratory journies into other dimensions of existence. Altered states of consciousness, psychic and spiritual techniques are used to expand awareness and grow. Past lives and the nature of one's own consciousness are experienced. The programs stretch ideas of reality and release one from the limitations of self-concept. $100

The Search for Certainty in the Midst of Indeterminancy / John & Antoinette Lilly

Each of us tends to value certain beliefs – disbeliefs above all others. The current belief systems can be voluntarily modified through proper analysis. In general, beliefs – disbeliefs program our behavior, our thinking and our feeling. Those particular beliefs which we consider to be most important are called, for purposes of discussion, simulations of God. Typical simulations are God as Sex, God as Wisdom, God as War, God as Power, God as Beauty, etc. Beliefs and disbeliefs generate certainty in an essentially indeterminate universe. Experiential and experimental. $175

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEK OF JUNE 2–7

Psychosynthesis / Tom Allen & Margaret Conway

What are you doing from day to day that gets in the way of your inner desire for harmonious, loving, wise, and pleasureful functioning? Perhaps you feel it's what others do to you! In either case you probably know that the key to getting where you really want to be lies within. In this workshop we will explore processes designed to validate our sense of personal center, our nourishing source of strength, love and integration. Among processes used will be guided imagery, spontaneous movement, focused and spontaneous drawing, journal writing, inner dialogue, and meditation. $280

Disidentification Meditation / Bernard Gunther

Our real self is a center of pure energy, bliss consciousness. This sense of being is constantly disrupted by our false identification with thoughts, feelings, problems, emotions and desires. Meditation and awareness is a way out of this hypnosis and suffering. Sitting is just one form of meditation, for this kind of heightened awareness can be a joyous part of everything you do. The simplest function as well as work and play can be used as an active path to realization. In this workshop we will use various aspects of meditation, including sensory awakening, yoga and psychosynthesis to increase vitality, creativity and a lasting sense of inner peace. $280

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. There will be a session with video for "taking a look" at ourselves. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $250 plus $2.00 video fee.

Leadership Training/ Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock

For experienced group leaders. Each will get a chance to lead under supervision and to explore self in relation to leading. There will be demonstrations of several techniques and discussions of theory. Limited to 15. $310

Gestalt & the Body / Richard Price & Chris Stewart

Includes an introduction to a variety of body practices: acupuncture, Rolfing, bioenergetics, massage and polarity massage and their relation to gestalt awareness practice. $280

"Let me in! let me in!
I love you so much I could eat you.
I love you to the very core,
especially the soft juicy parts,
the vitals most tender and alive.
Surrender to this agony and you will be transformed into me.
Dying to yourself you will become alive as me.
We shall all be changed in a moment,
in the twinkling of an eye, on the morning when the last trumpet sounds. For behold! I am he who stands at the gate and knocks."

ESALEN STUDENT GROUPS

To enable a wider range of young people to attend Esalen, we are offering a weekend "sleeping bag" rate to groups of students during the September to May period. These weekends are designed to allow the students the experience of a variety of Esalen activities such as gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis, movement, massage, meditation . . .

The rate is $50 per student with a minimum of 10 students required. This includes meals from Friday dinner through Sunday lunch. Please write for information and available dates to: Student Groups, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

STUDENT RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

We have a limited number of spaces available during the September to May period for college students who would like to find out more about the approaches to human growth and spiritual practice that are being developed within the Human Potential Movement. Students will be provided with shared accomodation and will contribute some hours of work each week to the Esalen community. A minimum residence of one month is required. Write for further details and cost to: Student Residential Program, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

BIG SUR PROGRAMS

THE WEEKEND OF JUNE 7–9

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $120

Energy / Bernard Gunther

We are all fields of energy living in an energy field. Our potential is limitless, yet we frequently find ourselves operating in fatigue and limitation. This damming of the Self is caused by excessive tension, shallow breathing, toxic relationships and non-focused thought which robs the organism of vitality and pleasure. How to tap this infinite supply of energy and how to apply this knowledge in every-day activity will be the task of this seminar. In this work we will explore aspects of yoga, gestalt, psychosynthesis and meditation to experience more fully our flow of vital and psychic energy. $120

Couples Massage Workshop
Richard Horan & Peggy Morrison

$120

Simulations of God & Indeterminacy
John & Antoinette Lilly

Each of us tends to value certain beliefs – disbeliefs above all others. The current belief systems can be voluntarily modified through proper analysis. THE WEEK OF JUNE 9–14

Interscience Neo-Reichian Workshop
Opening the Feelings
Valerie Miller, Judy Unell and Laura Dillon

See description p 40. $280

Psychosomatic Medicine within a Gestalt
Karl Pribram & Janet Lederman

The biological revolution continues and what we call "medicine" is changing almost beyond recognition.

The psychological revolution continues and what we call "health" is changing with our self-recognition. $280

Introduction to Self Healing
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler with Bill Lisles

In this workshop, techniques for healing the self will include self massage, color therapy, gestalt awareness, Reichian body energetics, aspects of aura reading, and polarity therapy. A diet utilizing principles of organic nutrition is also planned. A morning ritual of cleansing oneself and a light exercise series will also be taught. Gestalt work will be used as the need arises. Polarity massage sessions by Bill Lisles. $250

Gestalt & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price, Chris Stewart & Esalen Staff

One of a series of programs relating gestalt awareness practice to the spiritual disciplines developed within (and sometimes in opposition to) the great world religions. Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F. S. Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov. $280

SOUTH COAST CENTER

The living center is slowly evolving into a participatory environment vital changing
designing, re-designing inner and outer space with residents responsible for their own evolution.

The focus of South Coast: The Arts – as a part of a functional living environment

Studios may be rented on a monthly basis with access to the dining facilities and baths at Big Sur Hot Springs. Room and board: $485 per month.

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEKEND OF JUNE 14–16

Femininity in Humanistic Medicine: A workshop for women doctors and nurses Marguerite Abell, Mary Morgan, Naomi Remen

Many people have experienced the necessity to separate, in one degree or another, their femininity from their professional lives in medicine. We will explore ways to heal such fractures and move toward a humanistic medical practice in which femininity finds its natural place. Discussions, exercises from a variety of experiental disciplines and demonstrations. $120

Body Energetics / Hector Prestera

A weekend workshop dealing with body energy blocks and techniques to work them through. Included will be principles from Reich, Rolfing, acupuncture, body-centered gestalt and also color therapy and aspects of aura reading. $110

Come as You Are / Paul Rebillot

The focus is your uniqueness. Using gestalt, dance, improvisation and ritual magic, we will delve into the mysteries of your mythology and bring your fantasies and visions to life through creative self expression. We will use video as one way to express ourselves to ourselves. $110 plus $2 video fee.

Conscious Evolution / Chris Feldman & Esalen Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary – this is a workshop for ordinary people. $110

The Feldenkrais Method: Extending our Possibilities Judith Stransky

This is an experience in the Feldenkrais method. Moshe Feldenkrais is the originator of a subtle and powerful new body technique. He has devised a series of simple, ingenious exercises which involve integration of the physical and the mental, expand boundaries of human possibility and lead to release from fixed habits that restrict us. Awareness of our self-image is developed, and the range of our movements is greatly extended. The work teaches integration, differentiation, relaxation and balance, improvement in alignment and greater ease in movement, and is a unique means of bringing us closer to the fulfillment of our human potential. $110

THE WEEK OF JUNE 16–21

Deep Massage & Body Awareness Ellen Stevens & the Esalen Massage Staff

Through deep massage supplemented by sessions in movement, sensory awareness, gym, meditation (and a lot of soul boogie), we will learn to use our bodies as totally connected beings. Most sessions will meet at the hot mineral baths. Limited to 14. $250

Renascence / Michael Butler

See June 7 – 9, above. $280

Gestalt Improvisations Paul Rebillot & Richard Price

Sing the glory of your life to the world,
Dance the story of your life to the world.
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world,
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
–Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bio-energetic methods of liberating breath, movement and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. Limited to 16. $280 plus $2 video fee.

Accentuate the Positive / Lenore Lefer

Hidden within many of our traits, habits and hangups are positive, creative qualities wanting to emerge. In an atmosphere that is supportive and nourishing, we will explore and encourage that emergence. Gestalt, soft-encounter and psychosynthesis techniques will be used to accentuate the positive. $250

Human Potential Practice for Professionals John Heider

This workshop is intended to provide persons in the people-helping professions with skills derived from human potential practice. We shall focus on a synthesis of: encounter/gestalt, body work and meditations.

The sessions will be primarily experiential. We will encounter together, meditate together and so on. Yet time will be set aside for theoretical discussion linking human potential practice with traditional psychological, psychiatric and counselling models. $280

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

BIG SUR PROGRAMS

THE WEEKEND OF JUNE 21–23

What's Available / George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. Limited to 20 persons. $120

No-Body's Perfect: Directed Body Awareness and Massage / Barbara Clemans

If we could but experience ourselves as free and flowing as we really are, we would then know our own perfection.

Through a series of specific, directed movements with awareness we can begin to alter the patterns of habitual movement in the body. By doing so, the psyche is then altered in its habitual manner of responding to the world. In addition, we will aid each other in enhancing our organic sense of well-being and integration with massage. $120

New Paths to Healing – Body Energetics Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

Use of color, aspects of aura reading, traditional Chinese acupuncture concepts and specific individualized meditative techniques will be utilized. We will use Reichian body energy techniques for release of physical and emotional tension.

The above will enable the individual to begin to heal himself. $120

Tuning Your Energy Body / Robert Nadeau

All of us have moments when we are balanced: when we are centered in ourselves yet open and at one with the richness of life around us. Such moments do not have to be rare accidents. We can exist in a vast reservoir of energy that we can learn to tune into and use to enrich our lives on every level. This workshop is an experience in the application of this life energy to relaxation, concentration, healing and life in general. $120

The Nature of Birth and Death Stan Grof & Joan Halifax Grof

The biological, emotional, philosophical and spiritual aspects of birth and death will be approached from the point of view of anthropology and psychedelic research. We will explore such phenomena as the memory of biological birth, spiritual death-rebirth, subjective experiences accompanying clinical death, "curse death" and LSD-assisted psycho-therapy with terminal cancer patients. We will use films, discussion and in-group experiences. $120

THE WEEK OF JUNE 23–28

Freeing the Voice / Mary Corrigan

This workshop will concentrate on freeing the voice. It has been established that physical tensions inhibit the production of a free tone. This method employs various physical and vocal exercises that are designed to reduce tensions and to provide the kinaesthetic experience of what a free voice feels like. This experience also allows the participant to discover a sense of ease and effortless vocal power. This method is employed at most of the major residential theatres and professional training programs in the U.S. and England. There will be gestalt work to explore personality through sound. $280

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Often, under the ongoing inner and outer pressures of living, we split with ourselves and lose touch with our most basic nature which is balance. Centering is the process of returning to yourself, to your inherent balance.

Utilizing simple exercises, we'll learn to settle, relax and be easy in a variety of everyday situations. We'll explore the nature of being split and the process of re-centering. We'll also touch other dimensions of centering . . . energy awareness and meditation. $280

Experiencing Wholeness / Seymour Carter

This workshop will emphasize gestalt methods for contacting ourselves as self-regulating organisms. The practice of integrating our senses, emotions and thought into a perceptual whole releases energy for a more connected experience of living and being. The work will be devoted to releasing excess efforts and tensions and awakening dormant functioning so that the participants may experience greater physical and emotional freedom. $280

Experiencing Esalen

See workshop description, page 35. $250

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience – love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $280

For Reservation Information, see page 58.

THE WEEKEND OF JUNE 28–30

Satipatthana Vipassana / Anagarika Sujata

The goal of this workshop is to provide a foundation of mindful awareness which can expand into a spontaneous and creative relationship with everyday life.

Sujata will give instruction in the Satipatthana Vipassana technique of Insight Meditation (mindfulness.) Through ever-increasing awareness of the moment-to-moment experience of the here-now, habits of past conditioning are penetrated and transformation in ethical and perceptual consciousness develops.

In patient application of the Mahasi Sayadaw method, one learns how to build detachment from vicious emotional circles that prevent a free flow between oneself and others and an unconditional open-ness to the phenomenal vitality of the universe. Information dealing with longterm training will be made available. $110

See June 23 to 28, above. $120

Mythological Meditations: The Mythic Imagery of Hindu & Buddhist Art / Joseph Campbell

A series of masterworks of Oriental religious art will be viewed and re-viewed in such a way as to serve not only as an introduction to Hindu and Buddhist religious imagery, but also as an occasion both for individual inward explorations and for mutual discovery. The relation of dream to myth and of the figures of Oriental art to the archetypes of an inward visionary journey will be taken as a guiding principle; and the members of the group will be invited – after the opening general session and presentation – to explore the images and myths around which their lives are built. $120

The Spirit/Body / Simone Surpin

This weekend we will emphasize the moment by moment process of our group. We will work toward finding and using our intuition. Being together and being conscious together. We will do some body work and meditation. $110

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $120

THE WEEK OF JUNE 30 - JULY 5

The Workshop is You & Me, Work & Play, Joy & Sadness; The Title is Unimportant Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

Our premise is that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by individuals increasing their available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used, as well as games and massage, to enable the participants to explore and expand the resources that exist within themselves. $280

For Biographical Information, see pp 50-56.

Continuum / Emily Conrad

This workshop will explore the techniques of Continuum. Continuum is a means of sending lower back and genital energy upward through the solar plexus to the brain by using very intense breathing exercises along with penetrating spinal movements. The effect is to awaken the dormant sensory centers of the body and to reabsorb blocked energy, allowing the life process to continue. Continuum is a dance of our instinctual energies. It starts with feeling. Feeling leads to knowing. Knowing to wisdom. (Please bring appropriate apparel, preferably tights and leotards.) $250

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques and video feedback, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $250 plus $2 video fee.

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $250

Advanced Gestalt / Donald Barenfeld

It is possible to increase awareness and thereby discover how we block our excitement, nourishment, contact, creativity, etc. From this awareness might flow suggestions of new ways to experiment with being in the world, and hopefully an awakening of appreciation for how we are. This focus will allow participants to re-identify with their energy lost to disowned parts and should provide a nourishing context for their reclamation. We will incorporate a session with the video camera as an awareness tool.

This workshop is open only to those with prior gestalt experience. $280 plus $2 video fee.

Special Workshop Announcements

Workshops of more than one week require special planning for participants. Whenever possible, we will announce such workshops well in advance. More detailed descriptions will appear in the catalog covering the period in which the workshop is scheduled.

FRIENDS OF ESALEN

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

Energy Crisis. As of this writing (Jan '74), Esalen/Big Sur has the following information for those conserned about Sunday travel:

- in conjunction with other Big Sur businesses, we are arranging for at least one big Sur gas station to be open on Sundays. (Credit cards vary—be prepared with cash.)
- We have arranged for limited supplies of gasoline to be available at Esalen for seminarians.
- We are developing a stayover plan at minimum cost to be implemented for any seminarians stranded due to lack of fuel.

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific with the Santa Lucia Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute—By Reservation Only.

Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups and $400 for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. U.S. currency only, please.

Program costs cover tuition, food and lodging on the Esalen grounds. Our rooms are designed to be shared by two to three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 pm; however, guests are welcome to arrive earlier in the afternoon.

Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur. Pickups are made at the Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5-5:30 pm each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person one way; please notify us in advance.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. Our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also discourage participants from having guests. Alas, no pets.

BIG SUR TRANSPORTATION SERVICE: A convenient and comfortable transportation service is available for Esalen/Big Sur guests flying into the Bay Area and for Bay Area residents inconvenienced by the energy crisis. Airconditioned touring vans will run between the San Francisco Peninsula and East Bay Areas and points south to Esalen/Big Sur on Fridays and Sundays. Reservations for your trip to and/or from Esalen/Big Sur can be obtained by filling out the form provided on page 57 and mailing along with your check or money order to BIG SUR TOURING, 200 Parnassus, Suite 302, San Francisco, CA 94117. Immediately upon receipt of your reservation form and check or money order, reservation confirmation and the exact location of your departure point will be mailed to you.

The joyous monk on the cover is from an unfinished woodcut by Phyllis Bailey. The quotation on p 45 was written out by Red Dog Pieface, the catalog designer. He also provided the circles, variations on enso or expressions of the Tao, yin and yang genuflecting before the endless "one-liner."

Esalen Institute is a center to explore those trends in education, religion, philosophy and the physical and behavioral sciences which emphasize the potentialities and values of human existence. Our activities consist of seminars and workshops, residential programs, consulting and research.

We exist to sponsor, encourage, synthesize and attempt evaluation of work in these areas, both inside and outside our own organizational framework. Since we are a center for experimental education, we ask that persons come to our programs out of an educational interest. We ask that no one come whose interest is "cure." We point out here, as we have in workshops and seminars, that some persons, particularly those with a history of psychiatric problems, may find some programs difficult, trying or potentially risky. We recommend that in case of any doubt, a physician or trusted counselor be consulted.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office. Do not direct subscription inquiries to Big Sur.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE: Esalen is devoted to making life more human at all levels. Our work has reached thousands of individuals and hundreds of institutions. Until recently most of this work was being done at our own facilities, either in Big Sur or San Francisco. There is now, however, an ever-expanding part of Esalen's universe that is moving toward helping to effect changes in the world outside the workshop. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U S Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp, Model Cities, O E O, inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Esalen courses are now being given at the University of California and at New York University. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions are providing expenses for participants for some seminars and workshops. Please see membership form below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given some sort of accreditation for leading programs involving encounter groups, gestalt therapy, etc. We have told everyone who has done this to stop using our name in such a manner. Esalen does not offer any kind of formal accreditation. Individuals and groups, of course, may use the insights and techniques they bring from our programs. Our Associates in Residence are working under Esalen auspices. But we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

FM RADIO STATIONS in the San Francisco Bay Area (K101, KPFA, KQED, KSAN, KSFX, and KMPX) broadcast portions of Esalen seminars and lectures. (K101 has a dependable weekly program each Sunday evening at 11:00 pm). Other West Coast radio stations, KZAP Sacramento, KTAO Los Gatos, KCSB Santa Barbara, KLOS, KUSC and KPFK Los Angeles, and KPFT Houston, WBAI New York and WOMB New Hampshire, broadcast Esalen programs on an occasional basis. Consult local program guides.

FILMS of the work of Fritz Perls, Carl Rogers, Abraham Maslow, Rollo May, Virginia Satir, Alexander Lowen and others are available from Psychological Films, 205 West 20th Street, Santa Ana, California 92706. For color film documentaries with Alan Watts, Huston Smith, Lama Govinda, Joseph Campbell, Edgar Mitchell and Margaret Mead, write Hartley Productions, Cat Rock Road, Cos Cob, Connecticut 06807. For a list of other humanistic film sources write the Association for Humanistic Psychology, 325 Ninth Street, San Francisco, CA 94103.

TAPE RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: Recordings of many past programs are available through a service which maintains archive copies for Esalen. Requests for tapes now come from educational and service institutions, libraries, religious and professional groups, business groups and individuals concerned with the human potential movement. Commercial use of these tapes is prohibited; all rights reserved. For a complete tape catalog, write Big Sur Recordings, 117 Mitchell Blvd, San Rafael, CA 94903. The cost of recordings is $8 per tape-hour (prepaid) and $10 per tape-hour (with purchase orders), stereo or mono, with choice of 5" reel or cassette.

Our office in San Francisco at 1793 Union Street features a bookstore stocking many of the latest publications in the areas of humanistic psychology, gestalt, psychosynthesis, Eastern philosophy and religion, body therapies and other books of interest to Esalen participants. The bookstore is open Monday through Saturday, 9 am to 9 pm, Sunday 9 am to 6 pm.

BOOKS

BIRTHRIGHTS
A Bill of Rights for Children
by Richard Farson

$6.95 hardbound

This radical book advocates a thorough-going liberation of children from the authority of their parents, and challenges the basic tenets upon which the nuclear family is based. Children are capable of forming accurate judgments and of making their own life decisions – and they have a positive right to do so. Farson provides an alternative program for the rearing of children – a total departure from "permissive" as well as "traditional" methods – one that frees the nuclear family from the stresses and hostilities that threaten it today. The author realistically discusses the difficulties which will be faced by parents and by society as a whole as a result of the children's liberation that he advocates.

Richard Farson, a psychologist, is co-founder of the Western Behavioral Sciences Institute in La Jolla, California, and is the father of five children. He is the author of numerous articles which have appeared in professional psychology journals and in widely-read popular magazines. He has recently been named President of Esalen Institute.

IF YOU MEET THE BUDDHA ON THE ROAD, KILL HIM!
The Pilgrimage of Psychotherapy Patients
by Sheldon B. Kopp

6.95 casebound

"The guru instructs by metaphor and parable, but the pilgrim learns through the telling of his own tale. Each man's identity is the emergence of the myths, rituals and corporate legends of his culture compounded with the epic of his own personal power of the story-telling that distinguishes men from beasts . . ." from the text.

For over twenty years Sheldon Kopp has served as a guide for the troubled in prisons, hospitals, clinics and private practice. GURU, his first book, and IF YOU MEET THE BUDDHA ON THE ROAD, KILL HIM! act as a culmination of this man's years of experience and training into the behavior of man.

THE GESTALT ART EXPERIENCE
by Janie Rhyne

$12.50, hardbound, illustrated

The Gestalt Art Experience describes ways to use art media for discovering and exploring unique personal qualities in oneself and others. In a warmly personal manner, Janie Rhyne describes how the Gestalt art experience can be used with both individuals and groups, in settings ranging from occupational therapy rooms in hospitals to home or studio. The GESTALT ART EXPERIENCE is a book for psychologists, counselors, teachers, art therapists and people who delight in experiencing new approaches to communication problems.

THE ACT OF WILL
by Roberto Assagioli, MD

$10.00 hardbound

This major work brings human will back to the center of psychology, education, and everyday life . . . he elaborates a comprehensive notion of the will which is not merely "strong", but more importantly, "skillful", "wise" and "good."

THE MEDIUM, THE MYSTIC, AND THE PHYSICIST
Toward a General Theory of the Paranormal
by Lawrence LeShan

$7.95, hardbound

Dr LeShan's ideas and their implications for the understanding of the problems of psychic healing, personality survival of biological death, hauntings and telepathy will be of interest to believers and non-believers alike.
A researcher on the paranormal and psychic healing, he examines the Clairvoyant Reality, as he terms it, from three supposedly separate view points — that of the medium, the mystic and the physicist, and finds each view startlingly similar.

ABOUT THE ILLUSTRATIONS:

The theme of this catalog is one of Variations on Transformation. The mysterious figure on the cover is a cave painting of a shaman executed about 15,000 years ago. Deep in an immense cave in France, this figure surveys hundreds of realistically-depicted animals on the walls around it. Beneath its costume of skins, antler, horse's tail, bear paws and chamois whiskers, we sense man's first consciousness of himself as distinct from other beasts, that first awareness of his own erectness and mindness. He is filled with awe at the wonder of himself.

news from esalen

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

I want to begin this first letter (in what I hope will become a regular series of reports to you about Esalen's programs, problems, and possibilities) by telling you how proud I am to have been named president of this remarkable organization. No institution has played a larger role in helping to form our contemporary ideas of what human relationships and human potentialities might be. Indeed, the name Esalen has become generic for certain aspects of the new consciousness of Americans. So I am delighted that my old friend Mike Murphy stepped into the role of Chairman (along with co-founder Dick Price) to make it possible for me to work with them as the new president.

It seems to me that what Esalen does best is to make the invisible visible, whether it is a hidden personal feeling, a strongly defended unconscious process, a covert interpersonal style, a higher form of consciousness or a new dimension of awareness. In the twelve years of Esalen programs, tens of thousands of individuals have experienced the excitement of discovering these previously invisible aspects of themselves and each other. Moreover, when Esalen shines its light on particular fields of endeavor, as it has for example with psychotherapy, education and medicine, these fields suddenly take on new dimension. More recently that light has been focused on the areas of sports and the arts. And from these explorations we are again seeing previously invisible but vitally important aspects emerge. As we are able to find the necessary financial support we can focus on other areas such as mass media, environmental and social design and community development.

Another part of our ongoing effort is to develop a comprehensive theoretical basis for our work. Esalen tends not to be recognized as an intellectually-oriented institution mainly because the publicity that was generated in the late sixties about the sensory, emotional and experiential aspects of our work obscured the fact that our programming has always had a strong intellectual component. We often forget that the very first seminars Esalen offered were led by people like Aldous Huxley, Arnold Toynbee, Alan Watts, R D. Laing, Gregory Bateson, Paul Tillich and Buckminster Fuller. In the future we intend not only to continue this emphasis by presenting such creative theoreticians in our seminars but also to organize a series of special conferences and a theoretical studies program to help bring system and coherence into the many seemingly disparate ideas encountered in this work.

One of the more frequent and telling criticisms of Esalen, a criticism we staff members often make ourselves, is that our programs are necessarily limited to those people with enough time and money to come to California to attend workshops at Big Sur or San Francisco. This means that we do not now reach in any way the vast majority of our population. We regard this issue to be of fundamental importance and are committed to finding ways to serve a broader spectrum of society. To accomplish this will mean that we must learn how to put the mass media to work in the public interest, how to develop social designs, non-geographic communities, networks of people which, when turned on to their own resources, can provide not only low cost human services to each other but also supply the continuing social support system so necessary for the translation of new insights into sustained action in family, job and community.

All this represents an admittedly ambitious program. Strengthening the theoretical underpinnings of our work, illuminating the hidden dimensions of the basic institutions in our society and developing a socially-concerned outreach program to meet the needs of those we cannot now serve seems to us, however, to be imperative. If we are, as Mike Murphy likes to say, to facilitate the new culture that is struggling to emerge, it will be my pleasure to keep you informed of our progress toward these objectives. You can be sure we will welcome your ideas and contributions along the way.

Richard Farson

REICH CONFERENCE

In The Function of the Orgasm, Wilhelm Reich writes:

"It was not until a few years ago that I began to understand why free, self-regulated behavior fills people with enthusiasm but at the same time terrifies them. The fundamentally changed attitude toward the world, toward one's own experience, toward other people, etc., which characterizes the genital character, is simple and natural. It is immediately evident, even to people whose structure is completely different. It is a secret ideal in all people, and it always means the same thing, even if called by a different name. . . .

In the field of psychotherapy, I worked out the technique of character-analytic vegetotherapy. Its basic principle is the re-establishment of biopsychic motility through the dissolution of the character and muscular rigidifications ('armorings'). This technique of treating neuroses was experimentally substantiated by the discovery of the bioelectric nature of sexuality and anxiety. Sexuality and anxiety are functions of the living organism operating in opposite directions: pleasurable expansion and anxious contraction. . . .

This is saying a lot all at once and it sounds almost too simple. This 'simplicity' constitutes the secret which some people sense in my work. I want to describe how the difficulties were solved which have blocked human insight into these problems until now. I very much hope to persuade the reader that there was no magic involved. On the contrary, my theory is general but unadmitted human knowledge about the functioning of life."

This summer Esalen is sponsoring a Conference on Wilhelm Reich: Body Therapy and Body Politics. Reichians, neo-Reichians and therapists whose work is influenced by Reich will convene in San Francisco for two days of lectures, panel discussions and seminars. For details, see pages 24-25.

CERUTTY ON SPORTS

Percy Wells Cerutty, whose unique training system earned him the only Gold Medal ever awarded by the Olympics to a coach, will present a series of clinics for Esalen Sports Center this summer. In his book Be Fit or Be Damned, Cerutty writes:

"Man, under the conditions of civilization, if he is to enjoy a fit survival, must have some knowledge of his prehistoric origins: the construction of his body: the skeleton, muscles and organs, and the strengths and weaknesses of the various parts.

"It is one of the astonishing facts of modern life that a man will spend many years in fitting himself to earn a livelihood, but spends little or no time in discovering what he is as a machine that does the earning.

"Because he may enjoy normally good health in his early manhood, he does not consider it necessary to understand, not only what he is—his nature, but the remarkable complicated piece of machinery his body actually is.

"Therefore, he acts, thinks and lives, as if his body was something detached from him as a person: something that can be ignored as to its vital needs and treatment.

"He imagines, if he thinks about it at all, that his mind (brain) is everything: that his appetites are normal, or that he can abuse, neglect or poison his body with impunity: just as if it was something separate from his mind, and his personality.

"When, after some years of neglect, or actual abuse, he finds he has one of the many diseases common in modern society, he attributes the fact to 'bad luck.' He seldom realises that his coronary, his high blood pressure, his cirrhosis, his rheumatism, most called fibrositis today, even his tumours and cancers, are all preventable, NOT by drugs, but by understanding his bodily organism, caring for it and nourishing it, and exercising it, as he is customarily prepared to do for his race-horse, even his automobile, in the sense of proper care and maintenance.

"In a word, man pays considerably more intelligent attention to his live-stock, and upon his machinery, than ever he does upon his most personal machine, his own body."

DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR AT ESALEN/BIG SUR

Diane Smith, who has been a member of the Big Sur staff for over two years, has now taken on the area of communications between Big Sur and its seminarians. We would like to hear from seminarians how they experience Esalen, outside of the actual workshop experience. We would like seminarians to know what our current projects are, what our long term goals are and what funds are most needed for which projects.

The Big Sur staff is not always available for exchanging information with our guests; they are busy with the day to day operation of the Institute. Now Diane will be available—in her "office" the Esalen lodge—to talk with and listen to seminarians during the most valuable time—while they are at Big Sur.

COLLEGE CONFERENCE

Esalen and the University of Massachusetts will co-sponsor a conference in Boston, November 15-17, 1974. The focus will be Approaches to Health. Among the leaders will be: Stanley Krippner, Jack Schwartz and Beverly and Julian Silverman. For further information, contact Carole Levine, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

SUMMER INSTITUTE

Esalen Institute, in cooperation with the Association for Transpersonal Psychology, is planning its fourth summer institute on human consciousness. Leading specialists, practitioners and researchers will conduct the intensive month-long course of seminars, experiential work and focused discussion. For details, see pages 6-7.

CONFERENCE FACILITIES AT BIG SUR

From October through May, the meeting rooms, housing accommodations and unique facilities of Esalen/Big Sur, are available to those seeking a conference site. In the past, organizations as diverse as a college faculty-student group, an architectural firm, an association of physicians and a U.S. Army drug abuse program have made use of Big Sur in this way.

For further information and available dates, contact Julian Silverman, Director, Esalen/Big Sur, CA 93920.

extended learning center

Esalen has expanded its present College Program into a center for long-term learning, involving people from all areas of the community. Many people who have attended workshops have expressed the need for some on-going sense; to see people again, to share experiences, to get advice on what programs to take, to get help to integrate the work into their lives and generally to be a part of a community of fellow seekers. The new Center is designed as a means through which people with a wide variety of occupations, ages, experiences and orientations can come together to learn, complementing and enriching each others' explorations and thereby forming a community of learners. Participants may enroll in the Center for college credit (through any college or university) or not, as they choose. The Extended Learning Center will incorporate many features of the current College Program. These include advisors who coordinate the students' overall programs, and facilitate the learners' integration of their current activities with their past experiences and goals as life-long learners. Weekly community meetings are a chance for all participants to come together to share experiences, ideas, feelings and resources. Highly individualized programs are possible within this model: participants can choose from several options, depending upon the amount of involvement they prefer. For further information, contact Arthur Fox, Extended Learning Center, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union St., San Francisco, CA 94123.

Special Features of Membership:

For a $25 fee per month (minimum 3 months enrollment), a member will receive the following benefits:

- 15% discount on all San Francisco workshops, some discount at Big Sur.
- Advisor and weekly group/community meetings.

The Extended Learning Center is open to anyone who would like to take advantage of its features, not only college students.

For the past year students enrolled at many colleges were also accepted by Esalen to study here and receive credit from their respective colleges. Esalen has expanded its college program to involve those students currently enrolled in a college or university in the U S or abroad who would like to spend a semester or longer at Esalen. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of academic credit at their schools for the program of study done at Esalen. The Esalen staff will assist students in documenting their work here.

esalen college program (continued)

The Esalen College Program is designed to include: advisor-tutors, who meet with students individually, recommend and discuss readings and coordinate the students' overall program, which the student creates from the total catalog program offering; group meetings of the Esalen students and their advisor; and courses or workshops specifically for students in the program. The wealth of people within the Esalen orbit we have to draw upon to teach courses and tutorials is enormous and provides a unique opportunity for the college and general population. We expect that most students will proceed from a broad exposure to concentrated study in one area. Students and teachers interested in designing programs with Esalen should write for applications to: Arthur Fox, College Program, c/o Esalen/San Francisco.

If your college or student group is interested in arranging an Esalen workshop (day, weekend or longer) to take place on your campus, contact Arthur Fox, College Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union St., San Francisco, CA 94123.

He has implemented humanistic education into a Swiss school and at colleges in the U S both as a teacher and consultant. He is the director of the Esalen College Program and the newly formed Extended Learning Center and is a student of Stanley Keleman.

human consciousness: explorations, maps & models

July 14-August 10, 1974

The exploration of human consciousness is emerging as one of the most significant and broadly-based revolutionary phenomena of this century. Investigation into the realm of the human mind and the search for the limits of spirit and awareness are adding to the sum of man's knowledge and stretching and modifying the boundaries of our assumptions about ourselves and reality.

This study of consciousness is dominated by individuals, groups and systems; it is not yet organized into a systematic body of knowledge nor perhaps should it be. Though separate, these explorations all add to our understanding of the nature of consciousness, its functions and uses. Such investigations transcend disciplines and even cultures, with modern Western technology and science finding resonance points with centuries-old Eastern and esoteric traditions.

Esalen Institute, in cooperation with the Association for Transpersonal Psychology, is planning its fourth summer institute on human consciousness, an intensive month-long course of seminars, focused discussion and experiential work, with a faculty of leading researchers, practitioners and specialists.

Two central themes run through the Institute's program. The first is the presentation of research and experiential investigations on topics such as theories of consciousness, techniques for altering and exploring states of consciousness, Jungian psychology, mythology, esoteric psychologies, parapsychology and psychic phenomena, physical correlates and brain research, mental illness and psychotherapy and the social implications of consciousness research.

The second theme is the development of perspective for the understanding and integration of the main facets of consciousness. These perspectives include the development of languages for subjective states, the use of mythic processes, cultural support systems, theories, and systems of training and development.

The formats for the Institute include regular class sessions, one and two day seminars by faculty members, experiential exercises and practices, and group discussion.

The content of the program will draw from contributions by individual faculty members, who will present research, experiences and theories. Many of these will be individual points of view. The overall perspective—a structure of understanding—will be woven from these contributions through the discussion and interaction of the group. Aided by the program director, the group will move toward the expansion of individual metaphors of consciousness and the development of common languages. The director will also facilitate the group's interaction and help develop focused communication between the group and the faculty of the Institute.

FACULTY

ARTHUR HASTINGS, PhD, is the Summer Institute's program director. He is a specialist in language and communication, with further interests in parapsychology and consciousness processes. He has taught at California State University San Jose and at Stanford University. In addition to group facilitation, he will focus on relations between language, consciousness and reality; the development and use of languages for subjective states; and experience outside of language-controlled reality.

DOROTHY FADIMAN is an artist and writer who offers experiences using simple art techniques as a way to explore psychological processes. She works with guided imagery, art and nonverbal consciousness.

JAMES FADIMAN, PhD, is president of the Association for Transpersonal Psychology and a lecturer in Design Engineering at Stanford University. He is Associate Editor of the Journal of Transpersonal Psychology and is editor of The Proper Study of Man and Exploring Madness: Experience, Understanding and Research. The Practice of Psychosynthesis and Personality and Personal Growth (with Robert Frager) will be released soon. His seminars will cover the realm of transpersonal psychology; the personality and its relation to paths of development; psychotherapy and altered states of consciousness; psychosynthesis as an integrating process.

JOAN HALIFAX-GROF, PhD, is a medical anthropologist specializing in psychiatry and religion. In 1972-73 she was a research associate at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Institute, working primarily as a therapist and anthropological consultant in LSD psychotherapy with terminal cancer patients.

STANISLAV GROF, MD, has done clinical research with LSD and other psychedelic drugs for the last seventeen years. He was a research psychiatrist in Prague until 1967, and more recently, Chief of Psychiatric Research at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Center and Assistant Professor at the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Johns Hopkins University. He and his wife will talk about maps of consciousness derived from psychedelic and psychotherapeutic states, cultural uses of consciousness states and the functions of those states.

JEAN HOUSTON, PhD, is a leading pioneer in the exploration and development of human potentials and in the study of human consciousness. As Director of the Foundation for Mind Research, she has for many years pursued extensive non-drug studies of altered states of consciousness, accelerated mental processes, time distortion, alternate cognitive modes, the effects of audiovisual environments, biofeedback training, the programming of dreams, the psychology of creative processes and the laboratory study of religious and peak experiences. She is co-author with her husband of The Varieties of Psychedelic Experience, Psychedelic Art and Mind Games as well as of numerous articles. She has served on the faculties of religion, psychology and philosophy at Columbia, Hunter, The New School for Social Research and Marymount College. Dr Houston will discuss some of her research expecially as it applies to the understanding and application of models of consciousness.

STANLEY KELEMAN heads the Center for Energetic Studies in Berkeley, runs professional training groups for psychotherapists and maintains a private practice. He is author of Sexuality, Self and Survival, The Human Ground and the forthcoming The Body is Alive and More and Living Your Dying. He will introduce the biological basis of consciousness as well as bioenergetic approaches to centering and grounding consciousness.

JOHN PERRY, MD, a Jungian analyst in private practice, is on the faculty of the C G Jung Institute of San Francisco. He is Assistant Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at U C Medical Center and is the author of The Self in Psychotic Process, Lord of the Four Quarters, and numerous articles. He is supervising Psychiatrist of a new facility for the therapy of schizophrenics under Northeast Community Mental Health Services. In addition to presenting selected Jungian concepts, Dr Perry will talk about mythology as consciousness and contemporary mythic processes.

CHARLES T TART, PhD, is Associate Professor of Psychology at the University of California, Davis. He has conducted extensive research into sleeping and dreaming, hypnosis, ESP and drugs. Dr Tart is editor of Altered States of Consciousness: A Book of Readings, author of On Being Stoned, and the forthcoming The Spiritual Psychologies. He will review some theories of consciousness, state specific sciences and their investigation and summarize issues and research in parapsychology.

TARTHANG TULKU is an incarnate Lama of the Myingmapa school of Tibetan Buddhism and former head of Tarthang Monastary in Eastern Tibet. He is the spiritual head of the Tibetan Nyingmapa Meditation Center in Berkeley. He will present Tibetan Buddhist views on consciousness and approaches to meditation.

In addition, there will be special discussions on the following topics:

EDGAR MITCHELL, ScD, Apollo 14 Astronaut and Director, Institute of Noetic Sciences: "Issues in Consciousness Research."

MARK (Ō W) MARKLEY, PhD, Director, Center for the Study of Social Policy, Stanford Research Institute: "The Social Impact of Consciousness."

DAVID GALIN, MD, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry in Residence, Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute, San Francisco: "Brain Research and Consciousness States."

ARTHUR FOX and JANICA FOX, Esalen-trained group facilitators, will be in residence for the duration of the program.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Summer Institute will be held from July 14 through August 10, 1974, near the University of California, Berkeley. This program is intended primarily for teachers, students and researchers in psychology, psychiatry, philosophy and theology, as well as those outside the academic community who would like to integrate this study into their lives and environments.

The program must be taken in its entirety; no part-time participation is possible. Program tuition is $425. Room and board fees are $165 for the program period; this includes shared accommodations, plus meals five days a week (weekend meals not provided). A nonrefundable deposit of $100 is required at time of acceptance. Partial scholarships are available; an application will be sent upon request. The program involves approximately five or six days of intensive participation per week for the full four-week period.

To apply, write us about who you are, what you are doing, studying or practicing and what your interest is in the Esalen Summer Institute. Apply early; enrollment is limited.

Send to: Human Consciousness, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

SAN FRANCISCO PROGRAMS

The study of consciousness is described by some researchers as an expanding gestalt that begins with "normal" consciousness and opens to other behavioral possibilities from that perspective. Focusing on what is available to awareness, research is done in meditation, dreaming, hypnosis, brain waves and altered states of consciousness. Within this framework, psychic events may be seen as figures against a ground and as social consciousness expands what was once considered "psychic" becomes a part of that ground.

Research in psychic phenomena is addressed to paranormal occurrences—ones that have no explainable scientific base and may exist independently of an altered state of consciousness. These programs were developed with an interest in clarifying the differing orientations, emphases and aspects of concern to both fields and are presented by leaders in each area.

July 20-21

Biofeedback & Meditation: Mapping States of Consciousness / Kenneth Pelletier

Weekend workshop $50

This seminar will focus on exploring the interaction between the psyche and soma through biofeedback as a means of probing the neurophysiological basis of consciousness. Emphasis will be upon the similarities and differences between meditation and biofeedback and upon the relationship between brain structures and functions of consciousness such as left and right hemisphere differences. Consideration will also be given to the use of imagery and active imagination in conjunction with biofeedback for the exploration of states of consciousness and the alleviation of psychosomatic disorders. The seminar will include films of recent experiments with Jack Schwartz and the unique meditative practices of a sect of Indian yogis.

July 29 & 31

Consciousness & the Psychic Interplay of Potentiality & Actuality / Dane Rudyhar

Two-evening workshop $15

In the aura of wholeness (consciousness) exist potentiality and actuality, one waxing, the other waning in constant relatedness. At any given moment there is a tending to becoming at the same time that who we are becomes a part of our past. Mr Rudyhar invites us to consider this dynamic balancing process as we pass through the successive phases of the existential cycle from birth to death. Monday & Wednesday evening, 7-10 pm each evening; limited registration.

Friday, August 2

Inside Out— A Transformation Drama Jean Houston

Single evening event $3

A kaleidoscope of consciousness processes. By playing each character herself, Dr Houston engages the audience in the dynamic of communication among the "personas" within each individual. Jeffrey Mishlove will assist with audio-visuals. 8-10:30 pm; advance registration recommended.

August 3

New Ways of Being / Jean Houston

One-day workshop $25

A day long exploration in personal evolution. Discussion and demonstration with the seminar participants of methods and techniques that have been the focus of extensive research by Dr Houston for many years, such as time distortion, accelerated mental processes, non-drug studies of altered states of consciousness, the programming of dreams, biofeedback training and the psychology of creative processes.

August 31

The Consciousness of Aging / Gay Luce

One-day workshop $25

Seminar on life rhythms with particular emphasis on the expansion of consciousness in the late years of life. Persons from a newly started growth center for older people will be present to speak of their experiences. The workshop will involve relaxation exercises, esoteric disciplines, massage and group activity in exploring the change in personal and social consciousness as one ages. Videotapes of the group's activities will also be shown.

Monday, September 9

The Role of Dogma in Consciousness / Joe K Adams

Single evening event $5

Certain medieval religious cults had the practice of requiring initiates to kiss the buttocks of nobles and thus insure their obeisance; Joe Adams feels there are schools of psychology that apply the same principle in order to weld the supplicant to the authority of the group. This evening will be devoted to eliciting parallels between historical and present day functions of irrational idealogies in both religion and psychology and discussing their implications. 8-10:30 pm.

Wednesday, September 25

Teaching Stories from the Sufi & Other Traditions James Fadiman

Single evening event $5

An evening of regaining the lost capacity to incorporate spiritual wisdom while enjoying oneself—an essential aspect of Sufism. 8-10:30 pm.

September 28-29

Feminine/Masculine: The Open Way & the Way of Power José & Miriam Arguelles

Weekend workshop $50

Exploring the nature of feminine/masculine consciousness, the seminar will focus on understanding the experience of the féminine perception of the world. By discovering anew the feminine—the open way—the masculine—the way of power—will naturally be redefined. The weekend will include an illustrated cultural retrospective of traditional and contemporary masculine-feminine roles and opportunities for evoking and uncovering our own feelings and attitudes. There will also be directed discussion groups emphasizing the recycling of primary attitudes toward the end of renewing and revitalizing our most fundamental self-images.

JOE K ADAMS has been a heretic in the field of psychology for many years. His main interest is in ideological change and conflict and he places strong emphasis on historical parallels. He is the author of Secrets of the Trade (Notes on Madness, Creativity and Ideology).

Physics, Consciousness & Psychic Phenomena
Nick Herbert

Single evening seminar $5

Models for consciousness based on physics have been surprisingly rare in view of the central nature of this phenomena and the indispensable role it plays in human experience. Questions of "where" the "soul" is, what its' physical link is with the body and the nature of sleep and death will be discussed in light of recent theoretical work of physicist, E H Walker. 8-10:30 pm.

Thursday, September 5

Uses of Psychic Abilities / Arthur Hastings

Single evening event $5

How can psychic abilities be integrated into the self? How does the psychic function for the person and for society? This talk will discuss these and other questions on the promises and dangers of psychic development. 8-10:30 pm.

September 7

Seeing / Helen Palmer

One-day workshop $25

Techniques of clairvoyant vision: seeing without the eyes. This kind of mental practice requires a lot of individual work in focusing and visualization. It is particularly useful to people who are beginning to experience inner vision either spontaneously or through a mental discipline. Limited to 15 participants.

psychic phenomena (continued)

September 14

Integrating Psychic Abilities / Arthur Hastings

One-day workshop $25

This workshop will focus on understanding and experiencing how psychic abilities can be used for personal and social purpose. Some methods of developing psychic abilities will be presented with the emphasis on integrating them into the person's life and personality. Participants will be expected to discuss their own ways of experiencing and integrating such abilities.

September 20-22

Readjusting the Base Line / Robert Monroe

Residential weekend workshop $100

A round-the-clock weekend of training sessions in actual procedures aimed at controlled exploration and experience in the "out-of-body state." The workshop is designed to give the participant basic grounding in techniques of utilizing life-energy fields for the exploration and development of experiences in other states of reality. Suggested areas of exploration and practical uses of such energy fields will be included. Mr. Monroe will conduct the sessions and will bring with him assorted technical equipment to assist in the induction of the separation process. Recommended reading: Journeys Out of the Body. Limited to 25.

Friday, September 27

Using Psychic Counsel
Georgianna Sagee & James Andrews

Single evening event $5

Combining the abilities and perspectives of psychic reading and counseling psychology, the speakers will demonstrate and discuss the potentialities and pitfalls of giving as well as seeking and using psychic counsel. Dr Sagee will share her insights and significant experiences from her long career as a gifted psychic. Special focus will be given to exploring the creative factors necessary for a beneficial psychic-client relationship. 8-10:30 pm.

September 27-October 2 & October 12-13

Centering and the Psyche
Anne Armstrong, Ann Dreyfuss & Lawrence LeShan

Five-day residential & weekend workshop $360

"God calls one man with a shout, one with a whisper, one with a song and one with a dance."

We believe there is a relationship between physical centeredness and the transpersonal state of awareness. This workshop will present opportunities for the merging of the centering process and the state of being aware of and sensitive to our own body and body-image with direct experience of our own energy—leading to greater insight into the transpersonal and paranormal fields. Each participant is asked to commit him/herself to one five-day workshop and a follow-up weekend ten days later to allow for work to be done between sessions; this will provide continuity, depth and breadth in the experience of the psychic, physical and intellectual merge. The residential portion of the program will begin with dinner Friday evening, September 27 and conclude Wednesday, October 2, 5 pm; the follow-up weekend October 12-13 will be held in San Francisco and will be non-residential. Limited to 15 participants, selection will be made by the leaders by September 1. If you are interested in applying, send a letter telling us briefly about yourself to: Centering & Psyche Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

September 22

Psychic Liberation / Eleanor Criswell

One-day workshop $25

This workshop will explore ways to liberate psychic capacity from our habitual modes of consciousness. Using a variety of techniques such as biofeedback, optokinetic training, concentration and meditation, Kirlian photography, I Ching and various parapsychological techniques, we will move toward awakening and enhancing psychic awareness in our everyday lives.

JAMES ANDREWS is professor of psychology at City College of San Francisco in addition to having a private practice in clinical psychology. For the past two years, he has taught a course on human consciousness and psychic phenomena; he has had a close working relationship with Dr Sagee for many years and is currently interested in utilizing psychic readings within the context of traditional psychotherapy.

ANNE ARMSTRONG, a clairvoyant from Sacramento, uses her abilities for deep level analysis of personal problems and for guidance in the growth of the inner life.

ELEANOR CRISWELL is the associate director of the Humanistic Psychology Institute and an associate professor of psychology at Sonoma State College.

ANN DREYFUSS has a background of work in individual and family therapy and has worked with a variety of groups ranging from small children to groups of families. Her work emphasizes sensing and being in contact with the mind-body unity and thus becoming more aware and in tune with the surrounding energies. Presently she is on the faculty of the Psychology Department at Sonoma State College and has a private practice in San Francisco.

ARTHUR HASTINGS is a specialist in language and communication, with further interests in parapsychology and consciousness processes. He has taught at California State University, San Jose, and at Stanford University.

NICK HERBERT, PhD in nuclear physics and optics, has primary interest in "how spirit comes into matter:" the physical basis of consciousness and the relationship of the non-material to the material realm.

LAWRENCE LESHAN received his doctorate in psychology from the University of Chicago. He has been chief of the Department of Psychology and director of a research project in psychosomatic medicine at Trafalgar Hospital and The Institute of Applied Biology. He is the author of The Medium, The Mystic and the Physicist and Meditation is for Grown Ups.

ROBERT MONROE, author of Journeys Out of the Body, has also been the creator and producer of some 700 radio and TV programs. A director, writer and composer, he was at one time Vice President and Director of the Mutual Broadcasting Corporation, Inc. In recent years, his major avocation has been the exploration of the phenomenon known as the out-of-body state. He now operates a research facility where a concentrated effort is being made to establish systems of training so that others may experience this state in a controlled environment.

HELEN PALMER is a clairvoyant working and teaching in the Bay Area. She holds a master's degree in clinical psychology and has worked for the California Society for Psychical Studies.

GEORGIANA SAGEE is a psychic and psychometrist. She has exhibited her gift on radio and television and now is engaged in giving personal readings and consultations in Fairfax, California.

workshops for educators

With the support of Ford Foundation grants, Esalen participated for three years in a research project to study the application of approaches used at Esalen to learning experience and learning communities. The term confluent education was coined by the Ford/Esalen research group to emphasize the integration of affective and cognitive elements in the learning process. This summer's education and teacher training programs are, in part, derived from this investigation into the processes by which learning, growth and change take place—inside and outside of the classroom. Credit is available by arrangement.

July 26-28

Body Awareness, Learning & Learning Difficulties
Richard Weber

Weekend workshop $50

Dr Weber feels that "premature action may well be the greatest single cause of behavioral and learning difficulties frequently diagnosed but seldom cured before the student develops inefficient patterns of learning that affect his entire being and becoming." Balance and centering, using his method of "Think, Wait & Act" are the primary concerns of his approach to all educational experiences. Through the use of the piano keyboard as a "teaching machine" and motivational tool and direct body-contact techniques his methods are designed to educate both sides of the body and brain, strengthening visual perception, muscular coordination and concentration. The workshop will include films of his work, unrehearsed demonstrations with children and direct work with the participants in energy awareness and Feldenkrais exercises and manipulation.

August 10-11

Building Self-Esteem
Stanley Coopersmith & Ken Christian

Weekend workshop $60

This workshop will enable participants to experience and learn several procedures that build self-esteem in the classroom and clinical setting. Attention will be focused on such issues as: Becoming aware of self-defeating patterns, discovering personal strengths and learning how to defend one's sense of worth.

August 15-18

The Live Classroom / George Brown & Aaron Hillman

Four-day workshop $140

This workshop will combine theory and practice in an introduction to confluent education, the integration of feeling and thinking. There will be an emphasis on experiential work. George Brown will lead the first two days, focusing on gestalt and psychosynthesis and their application to education. Aaron Hillman will conclude the workshop with a variety of affective experiences, making specific applications to the classroom. Lodging is available at an extra cost for out-of-town participants; daily luncheons are included in tuition price. 10 am to 6 pm Thursday through Sunday.

GEORGE BROWN, an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, is one of the first to combine gestalt and psychosynthesis in workshop and educational contexts. He is Professor and Director of the program in Confluent Education at the University of California at Santa Barbara and is the author of Human Teaching for Human Learning and the forthcoming The Live Classroom.

KEN CHRISTIAN is currently Director of the Graduate Program in Clinical Psychology at Lone Mountain College and a member of the undergraduate psychology faculty. Prior to this, he did individual and group counseling and conducted personal growth workshops in a federally funded anti-poverty program in Fresno, California. He also works part-time in the outpatient clinic of the San Francisco VA Hospital.

STANLEY COOPERSMITH, a member of the Psychology Department at the University of California at Davis, previously taught at Wesleyan and at the University of Copenhagen. Dr Coopersmith's major work has been the development of methods of building and changing self-esteem. Among his books are: The Antecedents of Self-Esteem, Frontiers of Psychological Research, The Myth of the Generation Gap and The Formative Years.

AARON HILLMAN is Director of Training for the Educational Administrators Project in Confluent Education at the University of California, Santa Barbara, Graduate School of Education. He is also Senior Coordinator of the Confluent Education Development and Research Center at UC Santa Barbara.

RICHARD WEBER has pioneered the use of music as a tool for increasing awareness in education. His background includes a career as a professional pianist, a doctorate in music and special education from Columbia University and the publication of extensive teaching materials including Sight, Sound and Symbol and Musicall. He has had training in Feldenkrais movement work, gestalt, t'ai chi chuan, sensory awareness and psychosynthesis. He has led workshops for educators throughout the United States, Canada and Europe and has been featured on NBC-TV, in the Reader's Digest (August 1968) and New York Times. He is currently involved in aikido, meditation and energy awareness with Robert Nadeau.

Percy Cerutty exercising on the sand dunes of Australia

Esalen presents: THE PERCY WELLS CERUTTY CLINICS

Percy Wells Cerutty: 79-year-old coach, athlete, philosopher, founder of the International Centre for Health, Fitness and Athletics at Portsea, Australia, coach to over 30 world record athletes.

"It is not merely that you are alive but how much you are alive that is important"—says Percy Wells Cerutty; but in 1938, the Australian civil service mustered Percy Wells Cerutty out of its ranks because it was decided that he had become too sick to continue work. The medical doctors consulted indicated that Mr. Cerutty would soon die.

Percy Cerutty decided not to die. He began studying and went to work on himself. At first he could hardly walk. In two years he could run a mile. Eight years later he set the Australian record for the marathon and competed in races of fifty and one hundred miles.

The threat to his survival forced him to discover a unique way of life that evoked health and physical fitness. He first taught this way of life to athletes, helping more than thirty to break world records. In 1960, his best known student, Herb Elliott, won the Olympic Gold Medal in the 1500 meters race, setting a world record. No one ever beat Herb Elliott in a one mile race. In 1964 in Tokyo, Percy Cerutty received the only Gold Medal ever awarded by the Olympics to a coach.

Since that time thousands of athletes have made the pilgrimage to Mr. Cerutty's center for health and physical fitness at Portsea, Australia. During the last ten years, Mr. Cerutty has evolved a method by which anyone can come to learn and apply his discoveries. For the first time he is able to come to the United States to teach his approach to health and fitness. Percy Wells Cerutty's appearances in the United States will be held in the following California locations:

Embrace Tiger – Return to Mountain: A T'ai Chi Workshop with Al Huang

Weekend workshop $50

Al Chung-Liang Huang is a t'ai chi master who is currently teaching oriental theater and dance at York University in Canada, and has also taught dance and t'ai chi at UCLA and the University of Illinois.

"Huang teaches in a way that is unusual for an Asian master . . . He begins from the center and not from the fringe. He imparts an understanding of the basic principles of the art before going on to the meticulous details and he refuses to break down the t'ai chi movements into a one two three drill . . . With his skill in t'ai chi, as well as in dancing and flute playing, he woos and beguiles his students instead of forcing them. This is the mark of a truly superior and gifted teacher who works upon others as the sun and rain upon plants."—Alan Watts

July 27-28
Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino
Weekend workshop $45

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. The workshop is designed for beginners as well as advanced students of the game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

September 28-29
New Techniques of Jogging & Conditioning
Mike Spino
Weekend workshop $45

Orthodox jogging is an efficient means of overall body conditioning, but it holds few keys to heightened physical awareness or short cuts to peak body functioning. This workshop will focus on the work of Percy Wells Cerutty and Mihaly Igoli who between them are responsible for more than forty world track and field records. We will blend their techniques of aerobic training, resistence conditioning, diet, philosophy and practical experience with advanced research being done in the field of sport here at Esalen. These techniques which have been utilized by championship athletes are pertinent to people at all levels of fitness. Each participant will receive an individual training consultation, as well as insights into preventive and practical sports medicine.

September 28-29

Esalen Sports Center / Oceanic Society
David Schiffman
Two-week cruise down the Baja Coast $650

This workshop co-sponsored with the Oceanic Society will leave Ensenada October 15, and cruise down the Baja Coast to La Paz. En route such places as Todos Antos, Magdalena Bay, Cabo San Lucas will be explored. The Marabell is a 136 foot motor vessel run by a French Canadian crew. For further information contact the Esalen Sports Center. Enrollment limited.

July 14-27
ESALEN SPORTS CENTER SUMMER INSTITUTE
Two-week program to be held at Dominican College, San Rafael, California (twelve miles north of San Francisco in Marin County)
$350 including room and meals; $225 non-residential fee

Sport and skill development are taught for the most part in a mechanical way emphasizing form, specific movements and minute details. This approach often overlooks the most important element in the sporting experience—the uniqueness of each individual. This two-week intensive program will present many innovative disciplines developed at Esalen and elsewhere for increasing mind/body harmony, movement and flexibility, and for discovering natural rhythm, balance, flow and movement. Focus will be on finding points of integration between these disciplines and current methods of teaching and practicing sports, physical education and recreation.
The goal is for each participant to develop his/her own approach to enriched participation and heightened potential.

The program is designed to provide a brief intensive exposure to:

Yoga

Sensory Awareness & Movement

Feldenkrais Exercises – Breaking fixed patterns to increase range of movement and flexibility.

Rolfing: Structural Integration – Realignment of the body to increase efficiency of movement.

Energy Awareness & Centering

Aikido – Japanese martial art

T'ai Chi – Chinese moving meditation

Meditation & concentration exercises

Interpersonal development

New approaches to the following sports will also be explored:

Jogging	Hiking	Swimming	New games
Tennis	Volleyball	Basketball

Core seminars will be led by: Al Huang, Bob Nadeau, Betty Fuller & Bob Kriegel.

Inservice credit will be available through Dominican College. A limited number of partial scholarships will be available. For more information write or phone the Esalen Sports Center, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. Telephone: (415) 771-1710.

BETTY FULLER, a humanist counselor, has been leading encounter, couples and training groups in the USA and abroad since her 1967-68 Esalen residency, following 37 years in the theatre. She is featured in the documentary film Here Comes Everybody. In San Francisco, Betty leads seminars for EST and conducts groups and Feldenkrais movement classes at American Yoga Center, which she founded with Dub Leigh.

AL HUANG was born in Shanghai, China and was trained in classical Chinese arts and theater techniques before coming to the United States to become an architect and concert dancer. He has taught and performed at major universities and festivals throughout North America and the Far East. He lectures and conducts seminars in Taoism, Ch'an (Zen) Buddhism and related Asian Arts. He now teaches Oriental Theatre and Asian Arts at the University of Illinois; he is author of the book Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain: The essence of t'ai chi.

BOB KRIEGEL is the director of the Esalen Sports Center and the Esalen Consulting Service. He was the founder and director of Anthos, a New York City growth center. He is a staff group leader and has conducted special programs at universities, social agencies, business corporations and growth centers around the country. He has also been a swimming and skiing instructor. He has trained at the Psychosynthesis Institute and is studying aikido.

ROBERT NADEAU is a master of aikido and has been a student of oriental martial arts for the past twenty years. He is also a teacher of aikido, energy awareness and meditation.

DAVID SCHIFFMAN is the former director of Anthos, a growth center in New York City. He was founder and coordinator of the Humanistic Psychology Program at New York University's School of Continuing Education. In addition to leading groups at Esalen and Anthos, he has lectured at the University of California, Princeton and many other schools, as well as conducting special programs for industry and social agencies. Recently a leader-in-residence at Esalen/Big Sur, he is currently working on an approach which synthesizes the creative and therapeutic possibilities of group process.

DYVEKE SPINO, Esalen Sports Center staff, was formerly a Community Mental Health Consultant. She has taught advanced tennis for the Berkeley Parks and Recreation Department and has been a tennis pro at Round Hill Country Club and Squaw Valley, ski instructor, dance and concert pianist.

MIKE SPINO is co-director of the Esalen Athletic Club and a former co-director of Berkeley Otherways School, the first public alternative school. A nationally ranked marathon runner, he is presently studying the techniques and philosophy of Australian Percy Wells Cerutty. He is the author of Running as a Spiritual Experience and Poems of a Long Distance Runner. His present interests include meditation, diet, sports medicine and the inner world.

WILDERNESS WORKSHOPS

The Esalen Sports Center emphasizes activities in which participation is not limited by age, sex or athletic ability, but which focus on the joys of participation and the thrill of competing. They are designed to make sport richer and more rewarding—a vehicle for eliciting the potential that lies within us all.

The Sports Center is devoted to furthering new concepts, practices and teaching methods in lifetime sports. As a part of this program, the Center is developing a new approach to wilderness outings. These programs will attempt to blend outer awareness with inner consciousness. They are designed to facilitate greater awareness of the outdoors, the group and oneself by combining techniques for expanded awareness, mind/body integration, interpersonal relationships and the development of wilderness skills.

June 30-July 5
Rafting on the Rogue River / James Katz & Jerome Downes

Residential six-day workshop $180

Spend the 4th of July on a rugged outdoor adventure rafting for six nights and five days on the Rogue River in Oregon. This workshop is open to the novice or the experienced.

July 5-7
Mountain Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

Residential weekend workshop in Big Sur $120

New ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur including technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, hiking desciplines and mountain lore. (Reservations should be made through Esalen/Big Sur. See p 62.)

Tuesday, July 9
The Lore of the Mountains / Walt & Maurica Anderson, Steve Miller, Michael Tobias, Carol Macgee & Kurt Wehbring

Single evening event $5

A gathering of the Esalen Sports Center wilderness leaders to explore contemporary trends in mountaineering, backpacking, river rafting and survival training. The leaders will show equipment, slides and films and tell stories of the lore of the mountains. 8-10:30 pm.

July 12-14
Off The Beaten Track / Ann & Kurt Wehbring

Residential weekend workshop $50

A weekend of backpacking off established trails—instruction in the use of map and compass, backpacking and camping. For those who would like to learn how to backpack and camp, or hikers with experience who would like to expand their abilities.

July 15-19
Wilderness Workshop in the Sierra Nevada / Steve Miller

Residential five-day workshop $150

The workshop will focus on developing rock climbing, backpacking and survival skills in the Sierra Nevada wilderness.

July 21-26
Backpacking, Body Awareness & Encounter For Women
Maurica Anderson & Lindsay Drache

Residential six-day workshop $110

A hike into an unspoiled area of the Sierra National Forest during wild flower season with time for exercises and nature "grokking." In order to keep pack weight down, mules will take in some of the baggage.

July 28-August 6
Aspen Mountaineering Meditation
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

Residential ten-day workshop $350

An intensive introduction to technical mountaineering in the Colorado Rockies. The group will spend the first and last evenings in Aspen and the intervening eight days hiking and climbing, integrating technical mountaineering skills with Esalen disciplines and learning the lore of the mountain.

August 4-24
Alaskan Wilderness Adventure / Ann & Kurt Wehbring

Three-week wilderness workshop $875

A rugged outdoor experience with Mt. McKinley as the destination. The trip is designed to elicit the sense of distinction and contrast in one's life travelling through a land of awesome contrasts—Alaska. The trip includes a boat trip through the inland passage from Seattle to Juneau, exploration of glaciers in Glacier Bay National Park and hiking in McKinley National Park. Total cost includes all transportation, room and board from Seattle. Interested persons should register by July 10; detailed information on request.

August 6-16
Esalen/Outward Bound: Personal Survival on the Planet
David Schiffman & Dick Galland

Residential ten-day workshop $350

An opportunity to explore the nature of personal boundaries—physical, emotional, mental and spiritual, whether as illusion or as tools for optimum self survival. The use of such skills pioneered at the Outward Bound School as rock climbing, mountain climbing, rapelling and hiking will be integrated with the more purely process-oriented work pioneered at Esalen. The workshop will center on white water rafting through the Lower Canyons of the Rio Grande with side canyon hikes included.

August 10-17
Encountering in the High Sierras / Walt & Maurica Anderson

Residential seven-day workshop $140

A week-long campout at a high mountain basin in the John Muir wilderness area. The group will meet at a designated roadhead point Saturday, hike to the campsite on Sunday, and return the following Saturday. Mountaineering experience is not required, but applicants should be in good condition and capable of hiking.

August 19-23
A Reunion With the Sea / Ron Clark

Residential five-day workshop in La Jolla $205

Water has long provided us with a profound metaphor and dream symbol for our emergent bodily states—for our formative processes. We will work in a pool and in the ocean and through actual experience in the water, we will attempt to contact and integrate that formative process in ourselves. (Fee includes room but not meals.)

August 21-31
Esalen/Outward Bound: Personal Survival on the Planet
David Schiffman & Dick Galland

Residential ten-day workshop $350

This program will center on backpacking and hiking in the desert and mountains around Big Bend National Park in Southwest Texas. It will be more strenuous than the August 6-16 Outward Bound workshop and will include a solo desert experience.

August 30-September 2
Wilderness Workshop in the Sierra Nevada / Steve Miller

Residential four-day workshop $125

This workshop will focus on developing rock climbing, backpacking and survival skills in the Sierra Nevada wilderness.

September 13-18
Yosemite Mountaineering Meditation
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

Residential six-day workshop $175 per person or $300 per couple

A six day camping, hiking and climbing experience in unpopulated areas of Yosemite Valley. The group will explore many facets of rock climbing: Free form, aid climbing and bouldering, plus endurance for hiking and its relationship to climbing. (Reservations must be made with full payment by September 6.)

September 20-22
Flowing with the River / James Katz

Residential weekend workshop $90

A weekend traveling on rafts through the spray and white water of the American River.

September 25-29
Where the Sea Meets the Land / Kurt Wehbring

Residential five-day workshop $120

A thirty-mile backpacking and exploring trip along the last wild beach on the California coast, taking advantage of the good late September weather.

September 27-29
Mountain Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

Residential weekend workshop in Big Sur $110

New ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur including technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, hiking disciplines and mountain lore. (Reservations should be made through Esalen/Big Sur. See p 62.)

MAURICA ANDERSON is a recent graduate of Sonoma State's humanistic psychology program. She studied psychodrama under Lewis Yablonsky, has co-led the Esalen High Sierra encounter program for the past three years and works as a consultant to various growth centers and educational institutions.

WALT ANDERSON studied psychodrama under Lewis Yablonsky, is accredited by the Moreno Academy of New York and was former executive director of the California Institute of Psychodrama. He led the first Esalen High Sierra programs and is currently exploring new ways of combining encounter and outdoor activities. He is also author of several books, including Politics and the New Humanism.

RON CLARK has been a diver for 15 years and is currently director of a national Scuba Instructors' Training program. He has been a teacher of literature and creative writing and Director of Kairos Institute.

JEROME DOWNES is a student of gestalt therapy and the Feldenkrais approach to body awareness. He is a former ice hockey player who skated for the U S Ambassador team in '67. He has produced and directed 4 motion pictures and has recently worked as a cameraman with National Football League films and Newsweek Broadcasting Services. He is currently exploring the utilization of the media as an approach to expanding personal and social consciousness.

LINDSAY DRACHE studied at the Gestalt Institute of Canada. She has led group and individual gestalt sessions in a treatment center for teenagers and is currently teaching body awareness and yoga groups in Berkeley.

DICK GALLAND is Founding Director of the Texas Outward Bound School and a student of gestalt.

JAMES KATZ is the director of James Henry River Journeys, an educational river touring company; he is also a free-lance nature photographer.

CAROL MACGEE is a former student of the French sociologist and philosopher, Henri Lefebvre. She is a poetess, associate editor of the "International Mountaineering Arts Journal" and author of two works, Azure and Hill Fragments. She has climbed the Alps and Rockies and trained in method acting and jazz dance.

STEVE MILLER is currently chairman of the Department of Physical Recreation at New Mexico Tech, where he directs the Wilderness Encounter program. He has been a senior instructor with the California, Northwestern and Colorado Outward Bound schools. He has studied gestalt, EST, anthropology and human ecology.

DAVID SCHIFFMAN is the former director of Anthos, a growth center in New York City. He was founder and coordinator of the Humanistic Psychology Program at New York University's School of Continuing Education. In addition to leading groups at Esalen and Anthos, he has lectured at the University of California, Princeton and many other schools, as well as conducting special programs for industry and social agencies. Recently a leader-in-residence at Esalen/Big Sur, he is currently working on an approach which synthesizes the creative and therapeutic possibilities of group process.

MICHAEL TOBIAS is recognized as one of the finest and most novel mountaineers on the contemporary scene, having made innumerable ascents in Yosemite, the Rockies, the Alps, in Greece, the Kashmiri Himalaya, and in the Sinai Peninsula where he wandered for six months, climbing solo in a virtually unexplored mountain region. He has invented and vanguarded the art of bouldering and has studied under the Swiss Tibetologist Blanche Olschak and the Chilean scholar-mystic, Miguel Serrano. He is the author of a four-volume work on mountain aesthetics, Dhaulagirideon, and has taught literature, linguistics and mountaineering.

ANN WEHBRING's initiation to backpacking was a 45-mile hike in two and one half days. She has since learned more relaxed approaches to the outdoors and has continued to hike and camp in the Sierras, Baja California, Norway, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

KURT WEHBRING has climbed extensively in the Sierras, Tetons, Wind Rivers and in the Alps and made a first ascent of the East Ridge of Mt. St. Elias in Alaska. He is experienced in the techniques of sensory awareness and Reevaluation Education (co-counseling) and has taught courses in rock climbing and ski touring.

ENERGETIC STUDIES

The Center for Energetic Studies, under the direction of Stanley Keleman, is a program of workshops, teaching and publishing concerned with the bodily experience of the here and now and the biological form which gives identity. Workshops will be led by Keleman and other invited leaders who explore human development from a perspective of experiences enhancing the biological life.

John Chamberlain's sculpture of auto parts and cardboard somehow releases a spirit of exuberance and elegance from a symbol of death

The Professional Development Program of the Center is a curriculum in which students can develop a deepening understanding of both the biological roots of experience and the applications of that understanding to personal and cultural expression. The Summer Institute with Stanley Keleman, listed on this page, is a part of this Program. It is open to all professional applicants, and special consideration will be given to people in the helping professions, the arts and sciences, and those interested in an extended course of study at the Center. Please describe your background in a brief letter of application to this seminar.

Stanley Keleman, Director
announces a 3-week

SUMMER INSTITUTE: The Life of the Body

July 1-19, 1974

This three-week educational program is based on the emotional life of the body. As individuals and as a group, we will look at how we inhabit our bodies, how experience forms us and how body self-perception shapes self-image and world-view. Self-learning and formation will grow out of these discoveries and feelings.

Energetic and bio-energetic work and concepts will be used to amplify the understanding of character formation, armoring and the formative process.

The program will be conducted by Stanley Keleman, director of the Center and author of Sexuality, Self and Survival, The Human Ground, and the forthcoming The Body is Alive and More and Living Our Dying.

THE PROGRAM

The program will meet five days a week, Monday through Friday, July 1-19. Each day will include experiments in self-perception and movement as well as experiential sessions on the relationship of body and personality and excitement and expression, led by Keleman. There will also be day and evening seminars on character types, character formation, family therapy, phenomenology of perception, dreams, and opportunity to share the adaptations and applications of the biological perspective developed by each of the leaders.

Teachers who will participate in leading seminars and groups include:

Paul Aikin, PhD
Alan Clarke, MD
George Downing, PhD
Ian Grand
Nancy K Jungerman, Licensed Psychologist
Monique Nagy, Physical Therapist
Sylvia Schmidt, LCSW
David Sheinkin, MD

Guest lecturers will be: T A Munson, MD, Ludwig Lefebre, PhD, Jules Grossman, PhD and Joseph Lyons, PhD.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Center for Energetic Studies Summer Institute will be held July 1-19, 1974 at Berkeley, Calif. While there are no special prerequisites for the program, preference will be given to applicants who are interested in developing connections between the central perspectives of this program and their own special areas of interest, especially the arts, science and therapies. To apply, please write briefly about who you are, what you do, and why you're interested in coming. Send the application letter to: Keleman Summer Institute, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123.

Tuition is $600. The program can only be taken in its entirety. Accommodations at the program location are available at $9 per day ($171 for the full program period), which includes shared room and three meals per day. Note that room and board fees are in addition to tuition. A LIMITED NUMBER OF PARTIAL SCHOLARSHIPS IS AVAILABLE. If you require scholarship assistance, please ask for a scholarship application in your letter.

The program is limited to forty participants. A nonrefundable deposit of $200 is required upon acceptance.

July 27

Paths / George Downing

One-day workshop $25

Using an approach combining gestalt and energetic techniques we will try to experience the messages our bodies are sending us about where we have been, our contact in the now, and what wishes to emerge in us. 10 am to 5 pm, Saturday.

August 26-30

Forming / Ian Grand

Five-day workshop $120

An intensive workshop to explore the kinds of attitudes, feelings, postures and movements we form in our interactions with each other and our worlds. Energetic approaches, song and dance will be used. 10 am to 6 pm, Monday through Friday, deposit of $50 required.

PAUL AIKIN is a clinical psychologist at the Counseling Center, U C Davis, and in private practice. He has had extensive experience in the training of counselors in drug, crisis and counseling centers in affective techniques.

ALAN CLARKE, M D, is a training therapist for the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis and is in private practice in Los Gatos, California.

GEORGE DOWNING, PhD, combines gestalt with intensive methods of working with the body. He is a member of the teaching staff of the Family Therapy Institute of Marin and is the author of The Massage Book and Massage and Meditation.

IAN GRAND studied at the Center for Energetic Studies with Stanley Keleman and has an individual and group practice in San Francisco. He has served as coordinator of the Experimental College and director of the Center for Educational Alternatives at California State University, San Francisco.

JULES GROSSMAN, PhD, is Professor of Psychology at California State University, San Francisco.

NANCY K. JUNGERMAN, Licensed Psychologist, is a counseling psychologist and senior member of the Counseling Center, University of California, Davis and in private practice.

STANLEY KELEMAN heads the Center for Energetic Studies, runs professional training groups for psychotherapists and maintains a private and group practice. He is interested in the energetic expressions of the body, their relationship to the feeling life, and the proper functioning of the organism. He is author of Sexuality, Self and Survival and The Human Ground.

LUDWIG LEFEBRE is a psychologist on the faculties of the University of California Medical Center and the California School for Professional Psychology.

JOSEPH LYONS, PhD, is Professor of Psychology at the University of California, Davis and the author of Experience.

MONIQUE NAGY is a registered physical therapist in France and was trained in Copenhagen in the Eutonie Method by the creator of the system, Gerda Alexander. Eutonie is a system of relaxation that functions through the development of muscle tone, body image and natural body movement.

SYLVIA SCHMIDT, Licensed Clinical Social Worker, is a family therapist in private practice in San Francisco. She was co-founder and director of professional education at the Family Institute of Chicago.

DAVID SHEINKIN, M D, member of the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis (New York), works in community mental health and preventive medicine and does research into Kirlian photography.

psychosynthesis

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach that considers the human being dynamically, as a being in a process of personal growth within an evolving universe. It appears in embryonic form in the doctoral dissertation of its founder, Roberto Assagioli, M D, as early as 1910. Since that time, Assagioli has spent his professional life elaborating it into a comprehensive psychology that includes the soul as well as the libido, the imagination as well as the complexes, the will as well as the instinctual drives. More than a theory, it is a way of looking at the mystery of humanity, the inner life and the psyche; it is a practical, working method that includes such methods as guided imagery, movement, self-identification, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal keeping, ideal models, and the development of intuition. These techniques are unified around the notion of a Self at the core of each individual that can direct the harmonious development of all aspects of the personality. Beyond that personal harmony lies access to higher realms—creativity, transpersonal experience and spiritual development.

Esalen Institute Psychosynthesis Programs are offered in cooperation with the Psychosynthesis Institute, and are coordinated by its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu.

TRAINING IN PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

October 26-December 8*

Psychosynthesis Professional Training Series
Jim & Susan Vargiu & Associates of the Psychosynthesis Institute

Weekend, six Wednesday evenings, one day & individual sessions. $280

A program designed for psychotherapists, educators, counselors and others involved in the helping professions. The group will explore the fundamentals of psychosynthesis, theoretically and experientially, in a coordinated program designed to give each participant both the understanding and the personal experience needed to begin to utilize and apply psychosynthesis within his own field.

The program includes: identification and harmonization of sub-personalities—integration of body, feelings, and mind—guided daydream principles and practice—release and utilization of psychological energies—a model of personality in terms of energy fields—creativity and imagination—Height Psychology, the Transpersonal Self, and the superconscious—symbols and the development of intuition—the inner dialogue—meditation principles and practice—optimum utilization of current major approaches to growth. We will work together so that each can recognize the process of psychosynthesis at work both in himself and in the others. There will be assignments and exercises to complete between meetings. In addition, each participant will have one private psychosynthesis session, and will have the opportunity to observe two sessions of other members of the group. Further individual work during the six week period can be arranged. Advanced training following this program is also available.

Weekend, October 26-27, six Wednesday evenings, October 30, November 6, 13, 20, 27, December 4 and one day Sunday, December 8. For application form, contact Esalen/San Francisco.

*Please note new dates.

What To Do Once You've Seen the Light / Steven Kull

One-day workshop $25

Many of us have had experiences where we transcended our day-to-day state of consciousness and glimpsed a higher level of being and awareness which seemed even more "real" than our normal awareness. But, almost inevitably, as we return to our daily lives again we experience a real split—as one person expressed it, "How is it that I am one with the whole universe and still get uptight talking to my mother on the phone?" At times the dissonance can make us laugh with its irony while at other times we may feel a real sadness, a kind of "divine homesickness." In this workshop we will explore the relationship of these two levels in ourselves and in the universe. Using a variety of methods we will look for ways for each of us to find a bridge between these two levels of being. 10 am-10 pm.

July 27-28

Bear Therapy: Nurturing the Child Within
Betsie Carter & Heidi Firman

Weekend workshop $50

Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing from being rigid and critical to being collapsed or being dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we learn to center and to nourish ourselves from that center.

August 2-4

High Psychology / Piero Ferrucci

Weekend workshop $50

What is the field and what is the technique of High Psychology? What is transpersonal and what paranormal? Is transpersonal in opposition to personal? What is the difference between the transpersonal self and the superconscious? What are the approaches to the transpersonal self and how can we choose among the ones that fit best? The seminar will address itself to questions such as these; especially for persons acquainted with psychosynthesis and those with a particular interest in the transpersonal field.

For Reservation Information, see page 62.

August 9-11

Being a Woman: Liberation from Within
Anne Yeomans & Anne Hubbell

Weekend workshop $50

A weekend together, turning inward toward a renewed awareness of woman's strengths, both ancient and modern. In our exploration we will use experiences from psychosynthesis, gestalt and Jungian psychology, including journal writing, movement, imagery, art and meditation. We will work toward recognizing, balancing, and synthesizing our many selves, developing a center of consciousness and choice and freeing and directing energy to act. Each woman will have an opportunity to explore her inner resources, both personal and spiritual, and then work to integrate her increased awareness in her present life choices.

Wednesday, August 21

An Evening Introduction to Psychosynthesis
Tom Yeomans

Single evening event $5

Increasingly, psychosynthesis is being recognized and used as a comprehensive and effective means to personal and spiritual development. This evening's presentation will provide participants with an experiential overview of its basic principles and practice and an introduction to some possibilities for their own growth. 8-10:30 pm.

September 6-8

Psychosynthesis: Toward Wholeness
Tom & Anne Yeomans

Weekend workshop $50

At one time or another each of us suffers the painful recognition that he or she is living out and expressing only a small part of sensed possibilities within. This realization, though difficult, is crucial, for at this point a journey can begin—the journey toward wholeness. Psychosynthesis is a means and a map for this inner quest, and a guide to the inner reaches that must be explored and understood in order for their energies and resources to be made available and integrated into conscious daily living. In this workshop, using such psychosynthetic techniques as imagery and guided fantasy, gestalt, symbolic art work, movement, journal writing and meditation, we will begin this journey, will explore the inner universe of the selves and Self, and will bring back from those discovered realms a clearer sense of the whole possible to us and a surer grasp of what more we need to do to fully realize it.

September 21

Introduction to Psychosynthesis / Tom Allen

One-day workshop $25

An introduction to the principles and practice of psychosynthesis. There will be an emphasis on the use of the guided daydream and other imagery processes as ways to reorient ourselves toward a more unified life. 10 am-10 pm.

TOM ALLEN, a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, leads workshops at growth centers and educational institutions throughout the country and abroad. He has taught courses in psychosynthesis at the college and university level. He is an artist and has worked to integrate art into the psychosynthesis process as a means of self-realization.

BETSIE CARTER is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute. She completed advanced training at the Psychosynthesis Institute with Jim and Susan Vargiu, and underwent didactic training in Italy with Roberto Assagioli. Currently, she is working with individuals, supervising trainees in the practice of psychosynthesis, and is an editor of the forthcoming journal SYNTHESIS, The Realization of the Self.

PIERO FERRUCCI, an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, is from Italy, presently travelling and lecturing in this country. He underwent didactic training at the Istituto di Psicosintesi, Florence, with Roberto Assagioli and worked with him during the past several years. He has been collaborating with Laura Huxley, has given lectures and workshops in this country and in Europe, and has taught psychosynthesis at the University of Florence.

HEIDI FIRMAN is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, and a member of the Institute's training staff. She has completed advanced training with Jim and Susan Vargiu, directors of the Institute, and has had didactic training with Roberto Assagioli, the originator of psychosynthesis. A former teacher of meditation and yoga, she is currently working with groups, individuals and couples in psychosynthesis.

ANNE HUBBELL is a psychotherapist in private practice and a counseling psychologist at the University of California, Santa Barbara. In her work she uses gestalt, psychosynthesis, Jungian psychology, art and movement approaches.

STEVEN KULL is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute. He underwent didactic training in Italy with Roberto Assagioli, has worked with him over the past five years and has completed advanced training at the Psychosynthesis Institute with Jim and Susan Vargiu. He currently is involved in the training of professionals and works with individuals and groups in psychosynthesis.

JIM and SUSAN VARGIU are the directors of the Psychosynthesis Institute. They underwent didactic training at the Istituto di Psicosintesi, Florence, Italy, with Roberto Assagioli, and have worked with him over the past nine years. Presently they are engaged in training professionals, and are editors of the forthcoming magazine SYNTHESIS, The Realization of the Self.

ANNE YEOMANS is an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute. She has studied with Roberto Assagioli in Italy and is in advanced training with Jim and Susan Vargiu. She has worked with groups of women, using psychosynthesis and, in addition to her own groups has co-led groups with her husband.

TOM YEOMANS is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute in Redwood City. He is in advanced training with its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu and has worked with Roberto Assagioli in Florence, Italy. He was associate director of DRICE (Development and Research in Confluent Education) at the Graduate School of Education, University of California, Santa Barbara. He currently works with individuals and groups in psychosynthesis and as an educational consultant. He is particularly interested in the application of psychosynthesis to education at all levels.

July 6-7

Growth Through Risk-taking/David Schiffman

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience.

Tuesday, July 16 & Tuesday, July 30

Close Yet Free in Marriage & Other Significant Relationships / Gerald W Smith

Single evening events $5 each evening

Being free to grow yet close to be intimate is the main dilemma of every important relationship. This talk will include specific "experiences" for creatively coping with this dilemma of keeping a relationship alive. The two evenings will supplement and reinforce each other, but each is organized to be meaningful and complete by itself. 8-10:30 pm each evening.

Thursday, July 25

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good / Harry Sloan

Single evening event $5

Frequently participants come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earthshaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. This evening will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. 8-10:30 pm.

Monday, August 5

An Evening with Will Schutz

Single evening event $5

The author of Joy and Here Comes Everybody will contrast the various human potential techniques such as encounter, gestalt, bioenergetics, rolfing and feldenkrais with the more transpersonal methods of Arica and EST, and describe general principles that encompass all the approaches. 8-10:30 pm.

August 10-11

Contact & Consciousness / Simone Surpin

Weekend workshop $50

This weekend will emphasize the moment by moment process of the group as one dynamic organism and the process of how we do and don't pay attention to ourselves and each other. We will explore how to "keep ourselves" while communicating with others. Body work and some meditation will be part of the weekend.

August 22-25

How to Educate Your Dreams to Work For You Clara Stewart Flagg & Alan Flagg

Weekend workshop $55

The techniques of dream education used in this workshop come from the cross-cultural research of Dr. Kilton Stewart, the first psychologist to study the dreams of the Senoi of Malaya. The Senoi believe that dreams are psychological forces that the dreamer can learn to control through a process of dream education. The Senoi's interpersonal relationships are so advanced that individual and group violence are unknown in their culture. Dream directives will help participants learn to control the dream mind and work toward its integration with the conscious mind for increased creativity and psychological maturity. Participants will socialize their dreams with the group, as the Senoi do at breakfast, and will be encouraged to interact with those they have dreamed about, in order to improve their interpersonal relationships. Increased success in dreaming improves the likelihood of the group's acceptance of dream projects, dream designs, dream dances and the power in dreams to foresee and prevent accidents. The program includes Senoi dream music recordings, slides of Senoi life, including dream dances and printed materials. August 22, 23, 7-10 pm; August 24, 25, 10 am-1 pm. Light breakfast provided Saturday and Sunday. Recommended reading: Pygmies and Dream Giants, Kilton Stewart.

September 7-8

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

Weekend workshop $50

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. The participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse."

September 21-22

Therapeutic Use of Constructive Aggression: For Professionals / George R Bach

Weekend workshop $75

A two-day intensive training course under the personal direction of George Bach. The program includes supervised practice of "coaching" fair fights for change in marital, family and sexual relationships. Techniques of assisting divorcees and singles in the ability to develop meaningful intimacy will also be employed through the use of the pairing system. The workshop is open to those licensed or eligible to be licensed as psychotherapists, marriage counselors or social workers, and in addition, educators and teachers. Required reading: The Aggression Lab, George Bach and Yetta Bernhard (Kendall-Hunt); recommended in addition: Creative Aggression—The Assertive Life Style, George Bach and Herbert Gold. Registration for this workshop closes September 7.

September 27-November 10

Six-Week Intensive / Walt Anderson

Extended growth program $255

This is an integrated and intensive growth experience structured around an urban situation which combines group encounter work in a variety of modes, physical exercise, meditation and personal evaluation of one's lifestyle and goals. Participation in the program does not interfere with normal working or school hours and may allow participants to integrate an intensive growth experience into their customary living and working environments. The structure includes: Two residential weekend workshops September 27-29 and November 8-10, two non-residential weekend workshops and twice-weekly evening group meetings between September 27 and November 10. Participants are also asked to follow an individual daily program which includes exercise, meditation, journal-keeping, abstinence from drugs, tobacco, alcohol and coffee and attention to a balanced diet. The basic purpose of the program is to become healthier physically and emotionally and to discover how effectively life situations can be dealt with from this new perspective. To apply, send a letter stating briefly who you are, what you do and your interest in participating in the program. Send to: Coordinator, Interpersonal Programs, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. Deposit of $150 required upon acceptance.

September 28-29

Workshop in Self-Awareness / David Schiffman

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The object of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her or himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of psychodrama, encounter and gestalt will be used.

WALT ANDERSON studied psychodrama under Lewis Yablonsky, is accredited by the Moreno Academy of New York and was former executive director of the California Institute of Psychodrama. He led the first Esalen High Sierra programs and is currently exploring new ways of combining encounter and outdoor activities. He is also author of several books, including Politics and the New Humanism.

GEORGE R BACH is a psychologist and author. His studies focus on aggression, intimacy, violence prevention and group process. His principle occupation is a consulting psychologist specializing in psychotherapy, human growth, family therapy and marriage counselling. He has written several books including the Intimate Enemy and Stop Being so Nice — You're Killing Me.

ALAN FLAGG is Adjunct Professor at Fairfield University, Connecticut, Graduate School of Communications. He teaches at Queens College and IBM in New York and is Executive Director of the New York Society for General Semantics.

CLARA STEWART FLAGG is the widow of Dr. Kilton Stewart. She accompanied him on his many trips to the Senoi of Malaya and other tribes. She is a teacher and psychological consultant in private and group practice in New York City.

DAVID SCHIFFMAN is the former director of Anthos, a growth center in New York City. He was founder and coordinator of the Humanistic Psychology Program at New York University's School of Continuing Education. In addition to leading groups at Esalen and Anthos, he has lectured at the University of California, Princeton and many other schools, as well as conducting special programs for industry and social agencies. Recently a leader-in-residence at Esalen/Big Sur, he is currently working on an approach which synthesizes the creative and therapeutic possibilities of group process.

WILLIAM SCHUTZ has had extensive training in the fields of encounter, gestalt, bioenergetics, rolfing, feldenkrais and EST. He is author of Firo, Joy, Here Comes Everybody and most recently, The Elements of Encounter. He is currently in residence at Esalen/Big Sur.

HARRY SLOAN, a former dentist and Esalen resident fellow, is an experienced leader, organizational consultant and playwright. His first play "The Burden" was showcased in New York in 1971. He is in private practice in San Francisco and is currently interested in broadening perspective—"seeing oneself beyond an impasse." He is training in psychosynthesis at the Psychosynthesis Institute in Redwood City.

GERALD W SMITH is a family therapist in Belmont, California. He received his doctorate from the Division of Family Study, Department of Psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania Medical School. He led the first couples' workshops at Esalen and is author of Me & You & Us (in paper as Couple Therapy) a book of communications experiences. He now has a daily program on KPIX-TV in San Francisco called "Talk It Out With Dr Gerald Smith."

SIMONE SURPIN, a former Esalen resident, trained in group process with John Heider. She has led groups in the U S and abroad and is a rolf practitioner. She is currently in private practice in Mountain View and is studying meditation and psychic healing.

September 20-October 18

Myth, Archetype and Metaphoric Patterning in Contemporary Film / Robert E. Gajdusek

Five Friday evenings $25 series, $6 single evenings

September 20	Blue Angel, Von Sternberg (1930)
September 27	Picnic, Joshua Logan (1956)
October 4	Bonnie and Clyde, Arthur Penn (1967)
October 11	King Kong, Schoedsack and Cooper (1933)
October 18	Sundays & Cybele, Serge Bourgignon (1962)

The films will be shown at 7:00 pm. Following a brief intermission with refreshments, there will be a lecture and discussion of the evening's film. The major concern of the lectures will be with visual metaphor and mythic pattern. Throughout the series we will try to develop a filmic vocabulary for the psychic dialogue between masculine and feminine. The discussion will attempt to enunciate the conscious structures of the films, their art and their contrivance, the myths in which they participate, the archetypes they express. We will consider the struggle between masculine and feminine modes, heroic and anti-heroic stances, and Apollonian and Dionysian forces. 7-10:30 pm each evening.

ROBERT E GAJDUSEK is currently a professor of English at San Francisco State College where he teaches Literary Aspects of Contemporary Film. He studied at Princeton, U C Berkeley, University of Lausanne, London University and Columbia and taught at Hunter College, Kansas University and George Washington University. He has a forthcoming article in American Imago entitled "Death, Incest and the Triple Bond in the Late Plays of William Shakespeare" and has just finished a book entitled The King, The Queen and the Celluloid Throne.

gestalt

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement – to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness – to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility – to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

Hypnosis, Meditation & Identity Boundaries
Abe Levitsky

Single evening event $5

This presentation employs a recently developed method for translating into concrete experience age-old but elusive concepts of self versus Self. 8-10:30 pm.

August 2-4

Fritz Perls & Martin Buber / Stephen Schoen

Weekend workshop $50

A workshop in gestalt therapy and its extensions in the thought of Martin Buber. Buber's interpersonal mysticism in particular, lights up the nature of therapy and is affirmed by it; psychological and spiritual processes are seen to be the same. This workshop will use the stimuli of Martin Buber and Fritz Perls to help the participants realize the I-Thou relation, its distortions in living – commonly know as psychopathology – and its ethical and religious import.

August 5-8

The Transactional "Script" & Gestalt
Fanita English

Residential four-day workshop $180

Transactional analysts have found that early in life, usually between the ages of three and eight, most people develop a "Script" with which they chart their lives for the future, particularly in regard to the manner in which they will use their time, the kinds of relationships they will develop, and the ways they will find to satisfy or frustrate themselves. Scripts resemble fairy tales and myths with ups and downs of "good luck" and "bad luck". Frequently they have predetermined outcomes. In this intensive four-day workshop TA and gestalt approaches will be used to work with the stories that turn us on at different stages of our lives in order to identify their significant dynamic and symbolic common denominators. Recommended reading: "Transactional Analysis and Script Analysis Today", Fanita English, "Psychology Today", April, 1973.

For Reservation Information, see page 62.

August 10-11

Gestalt & Hypnosis / Irving Katz & Marvin Lifschitz

Weekend workshop $50

Through hypnotically induced drawings, dreams and automatic writing, participants will have the opportunity to bring unresolved material from the inner theater of the unconscious to the surface. Gestalt methods will be used to integrate what emerges into the conscious life and complete unfinished business.

August 17-18

Gestalt & Massage / Ruth Ross & Brenda Sales

Weekend workshop $50

We will use massage, movement and relaxation exercises. Gestalt and other verbal processes will be available for working with feelings that emerge. The emphasis throughout will be on the discovery of what gives us pleasure, what nourishes us, what makes our contact and movement satisfying.

August 31-September 1

Gestalt, Hypnosis & the Problem of Identity Abe Levitsky

Weekend workshop $50

The question "Who am I?" is at the root of many mystical systems of thought as well as present-day psychological inquiry. In this workshop hypnosis, meditation and gestalt methods will be employed to translate the elusive concept of Self into concrete experience.

September 22

Developing Assertiveness / Mary Ann Snyder, Roz Parenti & Lorle Kranzler Kennedy

One-day workshop $25 –

We limit ourselves by holding back from risks and remaining unaware of the potential in ourselves and the world. In this workshop, gestalt therapy, movement and psychodrama will be used to explore and confront the unknown and daring in ourselves.

FANITA ENGLISH is a psychotherapist and the director of the Eastern Institute for Transactional Analysis and Gestalt where whe trains clinicians in those fields. She is a teaching member of the International Transactional Analysis Association and has had extensive training in gestalt with Fritz Perls and the Cleveland Institute. She conducts training workshops throughout the United States and is a training consultant for the Fritz Perls Institute of Germany. She has taught at various universities, including the University of Chicago and the University of California at La Jolla where she just completed a course on "Scripts". In addition to her articles in the Transactional Analysis Journals, she has written in Psychology Today and has produced the official ITAA Videotape on "Script".

IRVING KATZ is a clinical psychologist and professor of psychology at University of Nevada, Las Vegas. He is director of VIDA, a growth center.

LORLE KRANZLER KENNEDY is a movement therapist in private practice in Berkeley and is on the staff of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and the San Francisco Merola Opera Company.

ABE LEVITSKY has done extensive original work in clinical and experimental hypnosis. He is on the faculty of the San Francisco Gestalt Institute and has co-authored papers with Fritz Perls and James Simkin. He has recently completed Arica Training and is in private practice in Berkeley.

MARVIN LIFSCHITZ is a gestalt therapist in private practice in New York City. He is an associate member of the New York Gestalt Institute and is on the faculty of the New School.

ROZ PARENTI, a former communications therapist at the University of California Medical Center, is presently a staff member of the Family Therapy Center.

RUTH ROSS is a college instructor and a member of the Gestalt Institute of Sacramento. Her background includes work in gestalt, massage, meditation, bioenergetics and body awareness.

BRENDA SALES completed the 1972-73 Esalen Extended Growth Program with Ian Grand. A certified masseuse, she was head of the Esalen/San Francisco massage crew for two years. She was trained in massage by Gunver Ingeborg Jackson and also studied with George Downing. She has had a private practice in massage for three years and has been teaching massage for the past two years.

STEPHEN SCHOEN is a psychiatrist in private practice with individuals, families and groups in San Francisco and San Rafael. He is a member of the faculty of the California School of Professional Psychology, a member of the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco, and a classical pianist and creative writer.

MARY ANN SNYDER is a member and trainer at the San Francisco Gestalt Institute and is in private practice in Berkeley.

Wilhelm Reich: Body therapy and Body politics

Wilhelm Reich died in a Federal penitentiary in 1957. Thirteen years after his death a Ralph Nader study group wrote: " . . . the FDA conducted a vicious campaign to discredit him and his ideas, distorting facts in its possession to achieve that goal . . . " Reich's tragic death ended an extraordinary career that involved him in controversy in psychology, psychotherapy, politics, biology, physics, and medicine.

A brilliant student and colleague of Freud's and author of the psychiatric classic Character Analysis, he was later expelled by the International Psychoanalytic Association. While a Communist and a leader in the anti-fascist movement of the early 1930's, his books were first censored and then banned by the German Communist Party. Pursued by the Nazis, he left Germany and eventually settled in this country. Here he further developed his theory of orgone energy, which has some similarities with the Chinese theory of acupuncture, and came under Federal prosecution for allegedly claiming to cure cancer. In 1956 by court order his books were burned in the Gansevoort incinerator in lower Manhattan, and he was imprisoned.

Today Wilhelm Reich's complex theoretical and therapeutic work in character structure, human sexuality, politics, and orgone energy is undergoing a serious re-examination. His seminal concepts and theories such as character armor; orgastic potency; resistance interpretation and character analysis; the person as a biological, energetic process rather than a mind/body duality; have given birth to much of the new therapy, particularly bioenergetics and gestalt.

And in politics, with the collapse of the New Left movement and the current national political malaise, his attempts to relate personal liberation to social liberation, psychology to politics, Freud to Marx, the family and sexual repression with the authoritarian state, are stimulating increasing interest.

Reich may have been mistaken in some of his still highly controversial theories; he himself changed his theories as his work evolved. Serious scientific work testing some of his hypotheses, such as his relating cancer to depression, is incomplete. But his work has proven enormously fruitful for the kinds of questions he asked and the interconnections he proposed.

—Moon Eng, Conference Coordinator

A SYMPOSIUM: AUGUST 24-25

The purpose of this conference is to explore Wilhelm Reich's life and work and its implications for us today. For this, the first major conference on Reich in this country, we are inviting persons who worked closely with Reich and educators/therapists who have been significantly influenced by his life and work.

PROGRAM:

Sessions of the conference will be held all day Saturday and Sunday, August 24-25.

Two day admission—$40/general; $30/student. One day admission—$23/general; $16/student.

For further information and a complete brochure of the event, write or call Esalen Institute San Francisco.

For workshops related to the Reich symposium, see page 28.

Partial List of Participants:

DAVID BOADELLA is the editor of the Journal of Energy and Character and the author of Wilhelm Reich: The Evolution of His Work, the most comprehensive study of Reich to date.

SYLVIA GOODMAN is a Reichian therapist who combines Reich's techniques of breathing, eywork and dissolution of the physical and character armor with techniques from her background in dance, music, art, voice and theater. She is the daughter of the late Simeon J Tropp, a medical orgonomist and close friend of Reich.

BERNARD GRAD, PhD, is a biologist at the William Allan Memorial Institute of Psychiatry, McGill University. He met Reich in 1949 and worked with him on his research into biogenesis, cancer, the bion theory, and weather control. He is the author of over 80 articles and has conducted extensive research into psychic healing.

JULES GROSSMAN, PhD, is Professor of Psychology at California State University, San Francisco. A clinical psychologist, in recent years he has trained with Ola Raknes and studied with Stanley Keleman.

STANLEY KELEMAN heads the Center for Energetic Studies, runs professional training groups for psychotherapists, and maintains a private and group practice. He is interested in the energetic expressions of the body, their relationship to the feeling life and the proper functioning of the organism. He is author of Sexuality, Self and Survival, The Human Ground and the forthcoming The Body is Alive and More and Living Your Dying.

CHARLES R KELLEY, Director of the Interscience Work Shop in Santa Monica, is an applied experimental psychologist and vision specialist. He was a student of Wilhelm Reich and for five years edited America's only journal devoted to exploring and developing Reich's concepts. He and the staff he has trained are noted for their adaptation of Reichian techniques in the small-group process Kelley terms the "Interscience Intensive."

GENESE LEIBOWITZ is Director of the Chicago Bioenergetic Training Group which is affiliated with the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis headed by Alexander Lowen. She has developed an interactional approach to bioenergetics which makes use of the group energy field. Her work has been most influenced by Reich, Lowen and Keleman.

RICHARD LICHTMAN, PhD, teaches at the University of California, Berkeley, at the Wright Institute and at the California School for Professional Psychology. He is writing a book on Marx's theory of ideology and is interested in developing a Marxian psychiatry.

PETER MARIN is the former director of Pacific High School, a radically experimental high school, and has been a visiting fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. He has worked as a counselor and has taught literature at various colleges. He is author of The Free People and (with Alan Cohen) Understanding Drug Use.

W EDWARD MANN, PhD, is a sociologist and author of Orgone, Reich and Eros and is preparing a new book to be entitled Beyond Reich.

OLA RAKNES, PhD, now in his late eighties, was one of the earliest psychotherapists to be trained by Reich in character-analysis and vegetotherapy, and has practiced as a Reichian therapist in Oslo for the past 35 years. He studied at the Berlin Psychoanalytic Institute and at the University of Berlin. His training analyst was Karen Horney and he also studied with Otto Fenichel. At the time of Reich's death Raknes was one of the few men still loyal to him and one of the few to enjoy his complete confidence. Dr. Raknes is the author of Wilhelm Reich and Orgonomy and is a fellow of the American College of Orgonomy.

EVA REICH, MD, is in private practice in Maine, where she utilizes orgonomic and other therapeutic approaches. She is Wilhelm Reich's oldest child and worked with him on his Oranur radiation research and other projects.

ILSE OLLENDORFF REICH was married to Wilhelm Reich from 1939-1954. She was the Administrative Director of the Orgone Institute Research Laboratory in Rangeley, Maine and is the author of Wilhelm Reich: A Personal Biography.

PAUL ROBINSON, PhD, teaches at Stanford University and is the author of The Freudian Left, a discussion of Freud, Reich, Roheim and Marcuse.

MYRON SHARAF, PhD, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at Tufts Medical School, is an orgonomically oriented psychologist who makes considerable use of Reich's concepts in his clinical, teaching and research activities. He was a student and assistant of Reich's from 1948-52, translated some of Reich's papers from German and contributed to Reich's journals. A frequent contributor to the Journal of Energy and Character, he is currently working on a biography of Reich commissioned by Praeger Publishers.

EMILY SITKIN, PhD, has had psychoanalytic and gestalt training and is currently studying Reichian therapy with Gerald S Frank.

EILEEN WALKENSTEIN, MD, is a Diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. She began with a psychoanalytic orientation, studied gestalt therapy with Fritz Perls and Reichian therapy with Elsworth Baker, MD, the man designated by Reich to train medical orgonomists. Her present work represents a moving away from identification with any particular approach. She is the author of Beyond the Couch, a radical critique of medical and therapeutic orthodoxies.

the human Body

This section of programs attempts to explore the life of the person through its bodily expression of vitality, gesture, emotion and relationship. The person is viewed as participating as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. For this brochure the majority of the programs are organized around the themes of: Energies of the Body, Experiencing Movement and Reich and After.

The major event of the Human Body Center this summer will be the conference on Wilhelm Reich: Body Therapy and Body Politics. See pages 24-25.

For further information or suggestions regarding Esalen's body programs, write Moon Eng or Lynn Vandenberg, Esalen Institute, San Francisco.

July 22-August 4

Caring For Our Bodies Through Awareness, Movement & Massage / Bill Glover

Four evenings & one-day $50

Starting with an attitude to the body of acceptance, caring and exploration, the workshop series will present a number of ways persons can work to release tension and increase motility in themselves and others. Awareness, movement, massage and related manipulation techniques will be used to experience the body, release holding patterns and open possibilities of being. The program will consist of four Monday and Wednesday evenings, July 22, 24, 29 & 31 and will conclude with an all day workshop August 4 on a farm in Sonoma County with a hot tub and sauna.

August 17-18

The Human Voice / Peter Marin

Weekend workshop $50

We are by nature speech-making creatures, not merely storytellers, but namers, the source of perception and meaning. We weave experience into truth. But that act presupposes not merely a self grounded in the world, but also a voice, an ability to accept the nature of our own experience beneath all rhetoric and pretense, and to speak it openly, honestly, without caring much about how it is received. To do that means we have to love the world of experience and our own relation to it more than our public roles in the world, and though that apparently means denying at times the community around us, it is also the only way to restore real community, a community founded on the sense of each member as a speaker, one of the community's extended "senses", one of its extensions into the world. So, in a sense, both individual and communal life depends for its depth upon the willingness of all of us to become creators, speakers, voices. This workshop is meant to try to establish, as the ground of being, a love of the world, and a willingness to be its voice, a vehicle for it.

August 17-18

Gestalt & Massage / Ruth Ross & Brenda Sales

Weekend workshop $50

For description and information, see p 23.

Wednesday, September 4

An Introduction to the Bates' Method Raymond Gottlieb

Single evening event $5

A theoretical and experiential introduction to the Bates' system of "Better Sight Without Glasses" and other approaches related to the improvement of vision. 8-10:30 pm.

September 14-15

Rediscovering Your Vision / Raymond Gottlieb

Weekend workshop $50

Dr. Gottlieb will discuss the basic principles behind the Bates' system of "Better Sight Without Glasses" and other approaches related to the improvement of vision. He will teach specific exercises within an integrated whole body approach to removing the stress that hinders vision. Limited to 25 people.

September 28

Biotonics / Jonathan Krown & Patricia Riley

One-day workshop $25

Our emotions and sensations are partly the experience of energy movement in our bodies, producing pleasure, anxiety, sadness and rage according to the path of energy flow. We invest a great deal of energy in suppressing painful memories and fears which surface as muscular holding and tension, ultimately affecting our day-to-day moods, sexuality and capabilities. Biotonics is a recently developed technique that focuses on areas in which "chi" (orgone/pranic) energy is blocked and strives to restore the flexibility and physical health which have been inhibited.

experiencing movement

Monday evenings

Alexander Technique / Frank Ottiwell

Continuing program $35 per month

An intensive, developmental, ongoing program limited to 6 persons; new persons may join the classes as spaces become available; 6-7:30 pm.

For Reservation Information, see page 62.

July 6-7
Dance as the Expression of Life
Helga Ezazi-Ashfar
Weekend workshop $50

Dancing is the symbol of joy; movement is the expression of life. Free movement is the privilege of living in one's own desire. This workshop will involve us in the rediscovery of the child in each of us and through free movement create the unity between child and adult which results in a state of harmony and balance.

July 12-14
The Body as a Focus for Meditation
Hildegard Elsberg
Weekend workshop $50

In an atmosphere of quiet and introspection the group will explore the relationship between the cerebrally governed activities of the motor system and the functions of the autonomic nervous system. Through breathing, movement, the sense of touch and the proprioceptive functions, the participants will move from the development of a sense of the self to the development of a sense of the group.

July 20-21
Releasing Fixed Patterns / Gabrielle Roth
Weekend workshop $50

Letting go of rigid patterns of behavior is the focus of this workshop. Awareness of our current body states as they are opens the possibility of changing these states and, ultimately, ourselves. Through awareness and body movement we will explore the expression of ourselves—our spontaneity and our uniqueness.

September 18-October 21
The Feldenkrais Method / Ruth Alon
Ten Mondays and Wednesdays $80

The Feldenkrais method is an emerging major system of body movement which focuses on the re-directing of the brain's habitual responses to movement in the gravitational field in ways which make possible more natural and efficient paths for the mobilization and expression of body energy. The theoretical basis of the work of Moshe Feldenkrais is described in his book Body & Mature Behavior: A Study of Anxiety, Sex, Gravitation and Learning. Some selected relatively simple exercises are described in his latest book, Awareness Through Movement. Dr Feldenkrais holds a doctorate in physics and was an associate of Joliet-Curiet. He is also an authority on judo and was an associate of Kano, the developer of Judo. His system has been developed from his study of physics, physiology, judo and anatomy, and represents one of the most profound approaches to the body. September 18, 23, 25, 30, October 2, 7, 9, 14, 16 and 21, 7:30-9:30 pm.

ENERGIES OF THE BODY

July 5-8
Polarity Therapy / Ray Castellino & Cindy Brown
Four-day workshop $110

This intensive four day workshop will include experiential learning of basic techniques, individual physical exercises to facilitate energy balance and circulation and discussion of the theoretical principles of polarity therapy. The leaders will also demonstrate their method of giving polarity therapy together.

July 11-August 29
Acupuncture & Body Energy / Hector Prestera
Four Thursday evenings $30

This workshop will present the basic theoretical premises of Chinese acupuncture and particularly its use to facilitate emotional release and the treatment of emotional disturbances. It will also explore the relationship of this healing approach with western medicine, structural integration, Reichian energetics, body-centered gestalt, and other body approaches which Dr. Prestera has studied. The workshop will include both lectures and experiential sessions. 8:30-10:30 pm.

July 27-28
Polarity & Unity: Human Energy & Health Using Polarity Therapy / Peter Pick
Weekend workshop $50

Health may be felt, seen and stimulated—this weekend will explore the streaming of its flow, the resonance of its strength and the vitality given to one's body and mind. We will work with ourselves and each other to develop the tactile memory of the body. Nutrition and polarity yoga will be included to complete the health gestalt we are all seeking. Slides and illustrations will be used to compare different medical and metaphysical systems of health.

Thursday, August 22
Yoga & Modern Therapeutic Techniques
Vijavendra Pratap
Single evening event $5

Traditional yogic techniques and the yogic approach to interaction with one's environment, both internal and external, will be introduced. Dr. Pratap will discuss yoga in the light of current scientific research on its relationship to therapeutic techniques and humanistic psychology. 8-10:30 pm.

September 6-27
Reflexology / Anna Kaye
Four Friday evenings $35

Reflexology or "zone therapy" is based on the theory that energy travels in the body in "zones" or patterns which connect reflexes in the feet to organs in the body. In this theoretical and experiential workshop Anna Kaye will demonstrate methods of stimulating these reflexes by specialized massage work on the feet. 7-9:30 pm.

POLARITY THERAPY
Polarity therapy is an intensive pressure-point massage system similar in both theory and practice to Chinese acupuncture. Developed and synthesized by Dr Randolph Stone from Oriental traditions many centuries old, its purpose is to realign posture and to release blocked energy throughout the body. Although advanced work in polarity therapy requires extensive training, a number of its more basic techniques are accessible to the interested layperson.

Reich & after (continued)

August 10-11

Bioenergetic Work & Play / Alan Clarke

Weekend workshop $50

The duality between work as directed energy and play as undirected energy is similar to the dualities of yang and yin, mind and body, adult and child and doing and being. Growth is the energetic expansion of these dualities within the person so that increased complementary function can occur. This workshop will be an experience of growth as energy moves and expands within individuals and the group. The leader will respect the work-play rhythms of participants in the belief that life is the process of each individual's autonomous work and play response, as life is the flow of energy in the tree from root to leaf and leaf to root.

August 12-15

Bioenergetics—A Four Day Intensive Workshop Alan Schwartz

Four-day workshop $100

We tend to block the free flow of energy which allows us to express emotions. The reasons involve many facets of self: fear of rejection, fear of not being loveable, fear of falling on one's face, etc. . . Through bioenergetic techniques, we will focus on opening up channels of the free flow of energy and dealing with the resultant emotional release on the intrapsychic and interpersonal levels. Gestalt techniques will also be utilized to develop an environment in which risk-taking may occur in an atmosphere of trust.

September 7

Present-Centered Bioenergetics / Michael Conant

One-day workshop $30

Working primarily as a group we'll use bioenergetic, neo-Reichian and gestalt approaches to center in our bodies and thus deepen contact with ourselves and each other. One or two individual bioenergetic sessions may also take place during the day for demonstration purposes.

Thursday, August 22

Wilhelm Reich: An Introductory Seminar David Boadella

Single evening event $5

A basic survey of the life and work of Reich focusing on the logical development of themes inherent in his work from character structure to orgonomy. Limited to 50; advance registration recommended. 8-10 pm.

Monday, August 26

Reich, Community & Human Association / Peter Marin

One-day workshop $25

We are all used to talking about human experience in terms of animal and natural aggressiveness, territoriality and the like. But there is also a body of interesting but much-ignored work dealing with the natural forms of animal and human community and cooperation. The impulse toward community and society is perceived in this work as a biological urge and need as strong as any other instinct or appetite—and its frustration is understood to be as destructive as the frustration of other biological needs. Reich stands directly in that tradition, for much of his work was an attempt to explore the biological and organismic roots of tenderness, love and community—and his work in that direction is related to the work of people like Rousseau and Kropotkin and even the philosophers of the enlightenment. But that is precisely the aspect of human experience which our body therapies, derived from Reich, have ignored. They become unnecessarily limited, empty and ineffective, leaving out precisely the larger vision which produced the work of Reich. This seminar is an attempt to restore that missing element to consciousness, to discuss the political and philosophic basis and implications of Reich's work, and to see it in terms of community and political philosophy rather than in therapy and self-improvement—all of which is doomed to failure when emptied of the larger vision.

August 31-September 1

Psychiatric & Sociological Work of Wilhelm Reich Myron Sharaf

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will explore the development of Reich's work from character analysis in the 1920's to his focus in the 1940's on muscular armor and the movement of bio-energy. It will also deal with his social investigations—from sex-politics in the 1920's to work democracy in the 1940's. The workshop will include some experiential group participation and clinical demonstrations to illustrate concepts. Limited to 15 participants.

November 3-May 5

Extended Growth Program / George Downing

Six month program $550

The Extended Growth Program is an in-depth, continuing six-month program in the San Francisco Bay Area; it combines a selected schedule of workshops with ongoing small group work under the direction of the program coordinator, George Downing. As a non-resident program in an urban area, it provides a way for persons to experience directed and focused work in several disciplines while living and working in their own environment.

George Downing writes: "This year's program will provide an opportunity to explore and to integrate a number of different pathways toward personal growth. Our focus will be on the body as the source and center of our being; and on our individual styles of making contact, both with ourselves and with other persons. We will make extensive use of gestalt, meditation and dream journals, and a variety of methods of working intensively with the body, including breath awareness, Feldenkrais techniques, movement, Esalen massage, polarity therapy and others. An intellectual as well as an emotional understanding of our shared experience will be encouraged."

The program will consist of the following, all in the San Francisco area: continuous group work with George Downing during the six-month period, specifically one evening meeting per week; two weekend workshops with George Downing (November 3-4 and May 4-5); one special workshop for program members only with Stanley Keleman; and three weekend programs to be selected by participants according to individual interest from regularly scheduled Esalen/San Francisco workshops during the November through April period. A month will be taken off for Christmas vacation from mid-December to mid-January.

Interested persons are encouraged to send in their applications early; send a letter telling us briefly about yourself to Esalen Institute, Longterm Programs, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. The program is limited to 16 persons; selection will be made by interview with George Downing between October 1 and November 1.

RUTH ALON is one of the few practitioners comprehensively trained in the Feldenkrais method and is a trainer at the Feldenkrais Institute in Tel Aviv. During her short stay here she will conduct the above series as well as several one-day workshops in October.

DAVID BOADELLA is the editor of the Journal of Energy and Character and the author of Wilhelm Reich: The Evolution of His Work, the most comprehensive study of Reich to date.

CINDY BROWN has studied LOMI body work with Dr. Robert Hall, breath awareness with Magda Proskauer, and polarity therapy with Dr. Randolph Stone and Pierre Pannetier.

RAY CASTELLINO has been a student of hatha yoga with Rama Jyoti Vernon, breath awareness with Alyssa Hall, gestalt with Dr. Robert Hall and the LOMI school and polarity therapy with Dr. Stone and Pierre Pannetier.

ALAN CLARKE, MD is a Training Therapist for the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis and is in private practice in Los Gatos, California. He is actively engaged in finding ways of extending bioenergetic knowledge from the narrow confines of therapy to the broader range of education.

MICHAEL CONANT is a psychologist in private practice in Berkeley who works in gestalt and bioenergetic reeducation. He directs training for the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis in Northern California and is a member of the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco. He holds degrees from Columbia and Stanford Universities and is a former Director of Bridge Mountain Foundation. His current practice centers around group work and his particular interest is in teaching people to become more expressive, more themselves.

GEORGE DOWNING, author of The Massage Book, is a gestalt therapist who specializes in the combining of gestalt with intensive methods of working with the body. He is currently Director of Esalen's Extended Growth Program and is a member of the teaching staff of the Family Therapy Institute of Marin. He maintains a private practice in Berkeley working with individuals, couples and families.

HILDEGARD ELSBERG has a rich background in Western and Eastern approaches to body awareness. She studied with Elsa Gindler, Mary Wigman and Kurt Jooss (choregrapher of the well known ballet, The Green Table) in Germany, where she also took a degree in physiotherapy. She came to this country following ten years in India where she studied yoga with Ramana Maharishi and taught yoga and meditation. She has also been deeply influenced by Jungian work and was an associate of Alan Watts.

HELGA EZAZI-ASHFAR is an experienced European dance and sensory awareness teacher who is offering her first workshop in this country through Esalen Institute. Her background includes extensive study in psychology and philosophy; her dance has been most influenced by the modern dancer Isadora Duncan.

BILL GLOVER is an Esalen/San Francisco staff member and a professional masseur. He is studying various approaches to the body—bioenergetics, Feldenkrais, Alexander technique, and is also training with physical therapist Marian Rosen.

RAYMOND GOTTLIEB is an optometrist who has experienced and taught the Bates' system for over three years. He believes that visual problems are stress-induced and that they are reversible. Dr. Gottlieb currently practices in Cotati, California.

ANNA KAYE studied reflexology or "zone therapy" with Eunice D. Ingham, author of Stories The Feet Can Tell, and related approaches with Dr Houston and Dr Randolph Stone. She has taught reflexology and the Bates' eye method for many years as well as having a private practice in San Francisco.

JONATHAN KROWN spent many years designing large-scale environments for peak experience experimentation before coming to the West Coast, where he developed Biotonics with Patricia Riley as a means of releasing body tension. Having served as a consultant in the nature of energy to the Ford Foundation and other institutions, he is currently writing and researching in the field of "pyramid" (orgone/chi) energy. His experiences include the Arica and EST trainings, body work and several psychic and spiritual paths.

PETER MARIN is the former director of Pacific High School, a radically experimental high school, and has been a visiting fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. He has worked as a counselor and has taught literature at various colleges. He is author of The Free People and (with Alan Cohen) Understanding Drug Use.

FRANK OTTIWELL is a director and co-founder of the American Center for the Alexander Technique. He teaches the Technique at the American Conservatory Theatre, and is in private practice in San Francisco.

PETER W PICK has been trained in yoga, Oriental art history and massage. He studied polarity therapy with Dr Randolph Stone and Pierre Pannetier and is the founder of the Marin Polarity Health Center in which he utilizes Dr Stone's theories in the context of transpersonal psychology.

VIJAVENDRA PRATAP holds a PhD in psychology and a diploma in Yoga Pravishta from Iaivalyadhama, India's renowned yoga institute. He founded and directs the Kuvalayananda Yoga Foundation in its training and research into the physiological and psychological aspects of yogic practices.

HECTOR PRESTERA, a doctor of internal medicine and cardiology, is licensed in acupuncture in England. He has spent the last year and a half within the Arica Institute. His prior training includes gestalt, Reichian energetics and structural integration. He has studied and led workshops with Richard Price, John Heider, John Lilly, Will Schutz, Ida Rolf and Jack Worsley. He is currently interested in fusing the above teachings toward developing a new humanistic model for healing the whole person (body-mind-spirit).

PATRICIA RILEY's work during the past eight years has been toward synthesizing Eastern teachings, Reichian therapy, and psychic and spiritual training and led to her co-developing Biotonics with Jonathan Krown as a more efficient means of dealing with day-to-day problems. Her experiences include work with Neo-Reichian and orgone experimentation, Feldenkrais technique, yoga and meditation, EST, gestalt, polarity therapy, bioenergetic studies, acupuncture and the Community for Conscious Evolution.

GABRIELLE ROTH has been working with movement for the past twelve years. She was the movement and massage specialist at Esalen Institute in Big Sur for four years. Most recently she has led large movement groups for the Arica Institute, EST and other human potential organizations throughout the U S and Canada. She gives private sessions and classes in Beverly Hills.

ALAN J SCHWARTZ practices privately in New York City and is also associate professor at the City University of New York, Iona College and New York University. He is an active member of the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis and an associate member of the Gestalt Institute of New York, where he was trained in gestalt by Laura Perls. He leads groups throughout the United States and Europe and last year spent three months at Esalen/Big Sur as the first resident bioenergetics specialist. Currently he is researching the combination of bioenergetic and gestalt techniques.

MYRON SHARAF, PhD, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at Tufts Medical School, is an orgonomically oriented psychologist who makes considerable use of Reich's concepts in his clinical, teaching and research activities. He was a student and assistant of Reich's from 1948-52, translated some of Reich's papers from German and contributed to Reich's journals. A frequent contributor to the Journal of Energy and Character, he is currently working on a biography of Reich commissioned by Praeger Publishers.

THE WEEK OF JUNE 30 - JULY 5

The Workshop is You & Me
Work & Play
Joy & Sadness
The Title is Unimportant
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

Our premise is that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by individuals increasing their available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used, as well as games and massage, to enable the participants to explore and expand the resources that exist within themselves. $280

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques and video feedback, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $250 + $2 video fee.

Advanced Gestalt / Donald Barenfeld

It is possible to increase awareness and thereby discover how we block our excitement, nourishment, contact, creativity, etc. From this awareness might flow suggestions of new ways to experiment with being in the world, and hopefully an awakening of appreciation for how we are. This focus will allow participants to re-identify with their energy lost to disowned parts and should provide a nourishing context for their reclamation. We will incorporate a session with the video camera as an awareness tool.

This workshop is open only to those with prior gestalt experience. $280 + $2 video fee.

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $250

Continuum / Emilie Conrad

Participants in this experiential workshop will be learning a series of body meditations, which will take them back to the inner cellular movements of their bodies. Concentration will be on deep breathing exercises, and penetrating movements of the belly, solar plexus and spine. This life energy when properly channeled stimulates and expands the brain. Everything pulsates with powerful life force. Everything dances. Everyone dances. Human movement becomes a dialogue with one's own inner life. $250
(Please bring comfortable apparel, preferably tights and leotards.)

For Big Sur leaders' biographies, see pp 53-56. For Reservation Information, see page 62.

THE WEEKEND OF JULY 5 - 7

Being "Together" / Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together," both with ourselves and with others. $120

How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World? Arthur & Janica Fox

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques, including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies. $110

Interpersonal Sensing / Simone Surpin

The focus of this weekend will be the practice of listening to the vibrational statements, exchanges and flows we are constantly partaking of. We will be learning to work with intuition and heart as tools of knowing and contact. We will make use of body work and meditation to facilitate opening to this form of perceiving. $120

Mountain Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

This workshop will combine new ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur. Technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, meditation, centering, hiking disciplines and mountain lore will be ways which can provide us with unique insights into ourselves, the group and the environment. $120

THE WEEK OF JULY 7 - 12

Psychosynthesis: Return to Center / Tom Yeomans

Even at times of intense inner conflict and confusion, we often sense the presence of a calm center within us—a point of compassionate perspective from which to draw integrative energy and wisdom. In this workshop we will work to find this center, to strengthen it, to reorganize and harmonize our daily lives around it. We will use such techniques as imagery and guided fantasy, gestalt, symbolic art work, movement, journal writing and meditation. Emphasis will be placed on initiating an ongoing process of growth and integration which participants can continue to use after the workshop. $250

Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain: The Essence of T'ai Chi / Al Chung-liang Huang

Tao-like wind, like water. Learn to be in your element like fish in water and bird in flight. Centering with Al Huang is t'ai chi, brush calligraphy, discussions of the classics and the meditative arts. Play-music, theater and joyous dancing. Bring musical instruments, brush, ink set and papers. Bring yourself and leave your dictating mind behind. $280

The shimmering undefinable edge of a Brancusi polished metal sculpture interpreted on a typewriter by Jiri Kolar

These workshops are designed for professionals who wish to explore alternatives to the strictly medical model of understanding and treating madness. Each workshop will approach psychosis as a comprehensible and adaptive response to an insane environment. Emphasis will be given to: 1) the meaningfulness of the psychotic episode when it is viewed in the context of a person's family background, 2) the potential growth experience of the psychotic episode for the "patient" and his family, 3) the process of establishing a creative relationship with the psychotic individual and his family, and 4) the process of establishing an "asylum-like" in-patient community for psychotic persons and their families.

The workshop is designed to have experiential and didactic components. Experientially, we will attempt to connect with each of our own "madnesses" through gestalt, bioenergetic and improvisation exercises. Didactically, we will describe our work as well as explore the works of Laing, Lidz, Haley and Perls. $280

For professionals and students in the mental health field.*

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $280

July 7-19

A Supervisory Workshop in Gestalt George and Judith Brown

For professional psycho-therapists and other people helpers, includes work in co-therapy. Applicants must provide biographical data to George Brown, 2141 Ridge Lane, Santa Barbara, California, by June 24. Limited to 16 participants. $585

EXPERIENCING ESALEN

The Esalen Staff, with Janet Lederman, Richard Price or Paul Rebillot

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on choosing those approaches of self-actualization which prove most effective for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen Workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, theatre games, guided fantasy, meditation, bioenergetics and massage. Rolfing treatments are available (separate fee). There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

Schedule:
- July 19-21 $110
- August 9-11 ($110)
- August 23-25 ($110)
- Sept. 6-8 ($110)
- Sept. 15-20 ($240)

opening the feelings

Interscience Neo-Reichian Workshops

To grow in the capacity to experience and express deep feeling, to connect up with oneself and to contact others is the aim of this series of workshops which employ neo-Reichian techniques of emotional release. The Interscience Intensive, a period of individual work within a small group setting, is practised by Charles and Erica Kelley and their staff at the Interscience Work Shop. The Intensive, like other neo-Reichian techniques used in these workshops, grew from the discovery by Charles Kelley's teacher, Wilhelm Reich, of the way in which feeling is rooted in the flow of energy in the body, and is blocked by chronic muscular contractions which Reich called the muscular armor. Freeing the armor enables the student to open feeling that is buried and to soften and free feeling that is too strong and has been held in for fear of explosion.

In these workshops armor is softened by simultaneous work on the character and body, using techniques not only from Reich, but also from bioenergetics, sensory awareness and other body-oriented approaches. Groups will be kept small—never more than eight per leader, so that significant individual help can be given. Grief or pain, fear and rage that have been held in since childhood emerge in these workshops. As the participant accepts and works through these negative feelings, he discovers a new capacity for pleasure, trust and love. In time the sexual experience changes profoundly as tender and sexual feelings for the mate intensify and merge.

Participants will receive ten two-and-a-half to three hour sessions in a week, or four sessions in a weekend. They will receive two and sometimes three individual Intensives during a week, or one during a weekend. Neo-Reichian work will be done in groups and pairs in those sessions that do not include the intensive. This will add up to all of the deep emotional release work that a person can ordinarily take on a day-after-day basis.

Taking these workshops as a series will provide participants who are unable to get neo-Reichian work in their locality with a continuing program equivalent both in price and "power" to weekly classes. For those regularly enrolled, the special environment and facilities of Esalen Big Sur will help to speed their progress toward deep-seated change.

Schedule: August 23-25 - Elaine Warburton & Laura Dillon $120

September 1-6 – Charles Kelley and Judy Unell $300

PLUS: October 27-November 1 and December 20-22

media center

"Oh, would some Power the giftie gi'e us
To see ourselves as others see us."

The Esalen Media Center has video recording services available for individuals interested in working privately, or in twos and threes. If you wish to explore every aspect of your visual self—how you use your body, how your self-image compares with your real image—the video camera offers you instant feedback.

Studio and operator: $15 per hour, including playback time. If you wish to purchase the videotape, there is an additional charge.

(Leaders wishing to retain the use of video for groups must arrange this with the program coordinator at the time the group is scheduled.)

WEEKEND OF JULY 12 - 14

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $120

Psychosynthesis / Tom Allen & Margaret Conway

This workshop will introduce psychosynthesis as a multi-dimensional approach to personal integration and self-fulfillment. We will work on identifying and bringing together various sub-selves and on harmonizing polarized ways of experiencing the world, both within and without. Processes used in these explorations will be guided imagery, spontaneous drawing, gestalt, movement, symbolic visualization and meditation. $120

Accentuate the Positive / Lenore Lefer

Many of us tend to focus on the negative aspects of our lives. We will accentuate the positive, using gestalt, encounter and psychosynthesis techniques. $110

Self Hypnosis & Selective Awareness
Emmett Miller

In this workshop, the principles and techniques of selective awareness will be applied in three main areas: introduction to altered states of consciousness through auto-suggestion; elimination of unwanted symptoms, habits and emotional response-patterns; application to learning, listening, communication and body work through self-exploration exercises. $120

STUDENT WORK-SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

We have a limited number of spaces available during the September to May period at reduced rates for college students who would like to find out more about the approaches to human growth and spiritual practice that are being developed within the human potential movement. Students will be provided with shared accommodation and will contribute some hours of work each week to the Esalen community. A minimum residence of one month is required. Write for further details and cost to: Joan Fiore, Student Work-Scholarship Program, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 39320.

STUDENT GROUPS

To enable a wider range of young people to attend Esalen, we are offering a weekend "sleeping bag" rate to groups of students during the September to May period. These weekends are designed to allow the students the experience of a variety of Esalen activities such as gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis, movement, massage, meditation . . .
The rate is $55 per student with a minimum of 10 students required. This includes meals from Friday dinner through Sunday lunch. Please write for information and available dates to: Christine Price, Student Groups, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

THE WEEK OF JULY 14 - 19

Here & How as Leader/as Participant: Demystifying the Group Process / David Schiffman

This workshop will provide an opportunity to explore the basic elements underlying the group process and individual growth. We will examine the techniques, strategies and theoretical components inherent in all forms of personal interaction and the use of specific themes in facilitating focus and flow in group sessions. We will incorporate a session with video as a self-observation tool. This workshop will be particularly useful for people in the helping professions. However, it is open to anyone who would like to clarify and refine his/her understanding of a process which has normally been considered too intuitive to be grasped in a cognitive way.
$250 + $2 video fee

Gestalt Workshop / Esalen Staff

$250

Deepening the Experience of the Self with Movement, Music, Meditation & Massage Barbara Clemans

You are already more beautiful, more loving, more gentle and more perfect than you think you are. Establish your connection with this self, using: music to relax and sensitize the body, allowing the unconscious to emerge; Feldenkrais directed awareness movement to alter uncomfortable fixed patterns; creative movement to establish individual uniqueness; meditation to quiet inner voices and massage to establish group contact and support. $280

Body Awareness, Learning & Learning Difficulties: For Educators / Richard Weber

Dr Weber feels that "premature action may well be the greatest single cause of behavioral and learning difficulties frequently diagnosed but seldom cured before the student develops inefficient patterns of learning that affect his entire being and becoming." Balance and centering, using Weber's method of "Think, Wait & Act" are the primary concerns of his approach to all educational experiences. Through the use of the piano keyboard as a "teaching machine" and motivational tool and direct body-contact techniques, his methods are designed to educate both sides of the body and brain, strengthening visual perception, muscular coordination and concentration. The workshop will include films of his work and direct work with the participants in energy awareness and Feldenkrais exercises and manipulation. $280

THE WEEKEND OF JULY 19 - 21

Intensive Interdisciplinary Workshop for Educators / Richard Weber

Whatever happened to the great simplicities? Experiences in discovering new ways to use physical, intellectual and emotional centers to intensify and simplify learning, living and loving. Practical application of various Esalen experiences to the classroom at all levels. Recommended reading: Ouspensky's In Search of the Miraculous. Limited to 14 participants.
$120

Body Energetics / Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

A weekend workshop dealing with body energy blocks and techniques to work them through. Included will be principles from Reich, Rolfing, acupuncture, body-centered gestalt and also color therapy and aspects of aura reading. $120

Massage Workshop / Peggy Morrison & Richard Horan

$120

Conscious Evolution / Chris Feldmann & Esalen Staff

Our aim is to reopen the channels of being and intuitive perception lost in childhood. Our method is to break down conscious experience into specific dimensions, according to a precise experiential language. We will explore thinking in higher dimensions and increase our psychic empathy with others. We will work intellectually, intuitively, emotionally and spiritually. Unusual abilities are unnecessary—this is a workshop for ordinary people. $110

Experiencing Esalen

See description p 39 $110

THE WEEK OF JULY 21 - 26

The Softening of Certainty: A Workshop in Medical Speculation / Don Lindsay with Janet Zuckerman

This course is about creativity and humanism in medicine. It is open to physicians, nurses, scientists and anyone interested in, or angry about, health care. Our theme will be a future course medicine might take while we endeavor to live in the present. Topics will range from automatic physical testing and computer simulations of neuro-endocrine automata to prepaid medical care and the mind-body dichotomy. Interwoven through all this will be the experience of Esalen. Janet Zuckerman will lead experiential gestalt sessions. We will endeavor to soften our present certainty as a prerequisite to creating future changes. $280

Experiencing Wholeness / Seymour Carter

This workshop will emphasize gestalt methods for contacting ourselves as self-regulating organisms. The practice of integrating our senses, emotions and thought into a perceptual whole releases energy for a more connected experience of living and being. The work will be devoted to releasing excess efforts and tensions and awakening dormant functioning so that the participants may experience greater physical and emotional freedom. $280

Energy / John Heider

"This is how I see group leading at this time: encounter, gestalt, meditation and body work are the staples of growth groups and the human potential movement. These various disciplines can be seen as an integrated and meaningful whole when viewed in energetic terms. This workshop will include these staple disciplines. We shall be learning to become increasingly aware of our personal energy fields and the energy fields formed by a couple and by a group. This is the most exciting, the very clearest way I have found to understand and work with the human potential. Suitable for beginners and professionals alike." $280

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $280

Contact & Consciousness / Simone Surpin

The focus of this weekend will be the practice of listening to the vibrational statements, exchanges and flows we are constantly partaking of. We will be learning to work with intuition and heart as tools of knowing and contact. We will make use of body work and meditation to facilitate opening to this form of perceiving. $280

THE WEEKEND OF JULY 26 - 28

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $110

Dissolving Blocks to Creative Expression: A Key to Developing Intellectual Self-Confidence Lee Gibson

There is a creative child and a creative adult in all of us. Important aspects of the creative adult are often not discovered because they are blocked off. For the same reason, much of the creative child often goes unremembered. Until creative child and adult are reunited, a person will not fully realize nor utilize his creative potentials. This workshop will explore differences between creative expression and manufacturing; similarities between creative child and creative adult. Until such differences and similarities are understood, a fear-to-function can keep a person from being creatively expressive. Explorations will be made through reading, writing, painting, drawing; dialogues with self, others and objects; body movement; verbal and silent expression; sense awareness; focusing awareness on here-and-now and the relevance of there-and-then; plus various counseling techniques. $120

Gestalt & Theatre Games Frank Rubenfeld & Mari Krieger

"All the world's a stage"—and what roles do you play? Are you satisfied with them? Choose your roles and play them zestfully! A way of being devoutly to be wished. Through gestalt hot-seat work and theatre games we'll explore our role-choices and our zest. $120

Body Energetics / Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

A weekend workshop dealing with body energy blocks and techniques to work them through. Included will be principles from Reich, Rolfing, acupuncture, body-centered gestalt and also color therapy and aspects of aura reading. $120

Varieties of Transpersonal Experiences Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

Transpersonal experiences are characterized by an expansion of consciousness beyond the usual "ego boundaries" and limitations of time and space. Experiences of this sort have been described in the framework of ancient mysteries, various schools of mysticism, initiation rites, shamanic ecstasies and visionary states. On the basis of their experience in LSD research and anthropology, the Grofs will explore various types of transpersonal phenomena and their significance for the understanding of human nature and culture, as well as their therapeutic potential. This workshop will combine cognitive and experiential approaches to the transpersonal realm, videotape from selected LSD sessions, and anthropological film. $120

THE WEEK OF JULY 28 - AUGUST 2

Gestalt Improvisations / Paul Rebillot

Sing the glory of your life to the world,
Dance the story of your life to the world,
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world,
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
–Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bio-energetic methods of liberating breath, movement and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. $250

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience–love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $280

Gestalt Training Workshop / Frank Rubenfeld

Hot-seat work, gestalt exercises and mini-raps will be part of this experiential-didactic workshop. Participants will also have the opportunity to work with each other under the direct supervision of Dr Rubenfeld. Limited to those in the helping professions. $280

Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

$280

An Integrative Approach Towards Self-Actualization
David Schiffman & Ilana Rubenfeld

This workshop will involve the complementary approaches of gestalt, encounter, massage and the use of direct body work (Alexander and Feldenkrais techniques) at critical junctures during group sessions. The group will explore a wide variety of techniques, verbal and non-verbal, in order to experience the possibilities of greater total personal expansion and openness with others. $310

THE WEEKEND OF AUGUST 2 - 4

Invitations to Openness / Walt & Maurica Anderson

Basic propositions: 1) An increased capacity for personal openness and honesty makes life easier and a lot more interesting; 2) The need for privacy is to be respected; 3) Openness is best achieved in response to an invitation, not a demand. We will all explore our own boundaries of privacy/openness, and work with some techniques for being open–and inviting openness in everyday life. $110

A Weekend Workshop in Self-Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The objective of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her/himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of gestalt, meditation, encounter and video will be used. $110 + $2 video fee

Being Meditation / Bernard Gunther

Our real self is a center of pure energy consciousness which is always in a state of quiet bliss. This sense of being is constantly disrupted by our false identification with thoughts, feelings, emotions and desires. Meditation is one way out of this hypnosis and suffering. Sitting is just one form of meditation, for this kind of heightened awareness can be a joyous part of everything you do. In this workshop, we will quiet the mind/body and explore various kinds of meditation including aspects of yoga, sensory awareness, gestalt and psychosynthesis to increase energy, consciousness and a sense of inner peace. $120

Bioenergetics: Energy Release & Integration
Alan Schwartz

There is a tendency for us to block the free flow of energy which allows us to live a life of freedom–freedom to express the range of emotions which make up the human being. Through bioenergetic techniques we will focus on opening the channels to free expression and the flow of energy. Integration of energy within the gestalt structure will enable us to deal with here-and-now issues which emerge. $110

ONGOING RESIDENTIAL PROGRAM

Offered from September through May, the Ongoing Residential Program is designed for those who would like to have time and space in the Esalen environment for an intensive workshop program over a long term. A minimum stay: 26 days (or four "weeks" and three weekends).
Participants may select any of the five-day workshops offered during their stay. Some programs are cancelled, so second choices are advised. Some special staff programs will also be open to residents. Participation in the Ongoing Residential Program may also lead to participation in the Study Center (see below).
Cost: $960 per 26-day period.

STUDY CENTER

The Study Center operates as a section of the Ongoing Residence Program. It is a place where up to 15 residents can be living in community with one another. Preference is given to persons who are working professionally with people (teachers, ministers, psychiatrists, etc.). As in the Ongoing Residence Program, residents can take any of the five-day programs. Some special in-house programs are given at the Center and visiting teachers and scholars are often in residence. $960 per four-week period. For further details write: Joan Fiore, Study Center, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920

THE WEEK OF AUGUST 4 - 9

Bioenergetics: Energy Release & Integration
Alan Schwartz

There is a tendency for us to block the free flow of energy which allows us to live a life of freedom—freedom to express the range of emotions which make up the human being. Through bioenergetic techniques we will focus on opening the channels to free expression and the flow of energy. Integration of energy within the gestalt structure will enable us to deal with here-and-now issues which emerge. A video session will enable us to focus visually on our movement. $250 + $2 video fee

Touching the Energy Body / Bernard Gunther

Within/beyond the physical-emotional-mental body is the invisible etheric body. Here in this subtle part of you is being, peace, feeling, energy, healing, release, pleasure beyond intensity; a finer reality beyond the transitory duality of thought, emotion and the senses. In this workshop, we will explore psychosynthesis, relaxation, thought, touch, meditation and non-verbal communication to make contact and keep centered in our subtler selves. $280

Integrating Gestalt, Alexander Technique & Feldenkrais / Ilana Rubenfeld

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion—so mind and body are one!

The focus in this workshop will be on experiencing one's own body and emotions as a total organism. Emotions and memories are often stored in our bodies, resulting in tension and imbalance. A unique blend of gestalt therapy, Alexander technique, Feldenkrais exercises and deep muscle work will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing and working through deep feelings.
We have the choice to contact ourselves and each other with joy, sadness, compassion, humor, ideas and with the body—the whole person. Paul Rebillot will lead gestalt improvisation sessions. $280

Psychosynthesis: Nurturing the Child Within
Betsie Carter & Heidi Firman

This workshop will focus on the psychosynthesis technique of "bear therapy," an approach of self-acceptance and self-nurturing. Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing between being rigid and critical to being collapsed or dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we learn to center and to nourish ourselves from center. $280

Inspiration & the Power of the Body: New Tools for Psycho-Physical Development
Dyveke & Mike Spino

The inevitable dilemma of mind/body involvement is to develop techniques for both excellence and fun. This workshop offers keys to enhance enjoyment and performance by presenting some revolutionary training tools for sports and games. Beginning with over-all body conditioning and focusing on tennis and running, we will integrate the work of athletic masters such as Mihaly Igloi and Percy Wells Cerutty with the spiritual aspect of sport being developed at Esalen. This experience brings you to the peak of mind/body integration, matching literature, books, manuscripts and poems with a psycho-physical program, allowing each person to construct a personally satisfying training ritual. This week can change your entire notion of physical exercise. $280

THE WEEKEND OF AUGUST 9 - 11

Experiencing Esalen

See description p 39 $110

The Greater Gestalt / Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Improvising together, we will create and explore our laughter, sadness and rage. Our synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Esalen encounter and massage, joined with Arica consciousness-expanding exercises works to dissolve your blocks to expression. $120

Come As You Are / Paul Rebillot

Behind the fantasy self lies the authentic self that cannot be duplicated. Using gestalt, dance, improvisation and ritual magic, we will delve into the mysteries of our mythology and bring ou fantasies and visions to life. Once expressed, we can take a look at whether our fantasies nourish or limit the range of our experience. $110 + $2 video fee

Psychosis in Human Growth* / John Weir Perry

Acute schizophrenic episodes in young adults, if properly handled, can be nature's way not only of reorganizing the self along more favorable lines of growth but also of resynthesizing values and meanings in the revitalization process of cultural change. This seminar will be a discussion and exchange of research possibilities, observations and experiences in the investigation of psychosis. $120

Renaissance Therapy
Laura Huxley & Piero Ferrucci

Therapy derives from the Greek "therapeuin" meaning "to honor and to serve." Art can be viewed as therapeutic because it honors and serves our highest aspirations and intentions. Workshop emphasis will be given to techniques and exercises designed to stimulate the mind, elevate feelings, enrich imagery and foster rebirth through the use of art materials as well as exercises in imagery. $120

THE WEEK OF AUGUST 11 - 16

Energy / John Heider

"This is how I see group leading at this time: encounter, gestalt, meditation and body work are the staples of growth groups and the human potential movement. These various disciplines can be seen as an integrated and meaningful whole when viewed in energetic terms. This workshop will include these staple disciplines. We shall be learning to become increasingly aware of our personal energy fields and the energy fields formed by a couple and by a group. Leadership Training
Will Schutz

For experienced group leaders. Each will get a chance to lead under supervision and to explore self in relation to leading. There will be demonstrations of several techniques and discussions of theory. Limited to 12. $310

Integration: The Recovery of Wholeness
Neil Lamper

"Gestalt is a way of life more than a form of therapy. Participants in this workshop can expect to experience their here-and-now and discuss their what-and-how. I am interested in people learning how to use their what—at work, play, in families, couples and as singles. At times our entire group will be active and at times one person will wrestle with the impasse. I cannot force, will not coerce and have no neat package of salvation. People maintain their own momentum, work in their own way. I will share my eyes and ears. I invite people to this workshop who want to experience Esalen and themselves anew and expect to express this in their broader lives." $280

THE WEEKEND OF AUGUST 16 - 18

The Agnews Project: A contribution to the understanding of psychotic behavior
Maurice Rappaport & Julian Silverman

This seminar will explore various problems associated with the categorization "schizophrenia." The insightful obervations of clinicians of past decades will be discussed in relation to those of the new humanistic medicine. Problems of integrating humanistic and scientific points of view, for the benefit of individuals in the throes of psychotic experience, will be of primary concern. Questions will be raised about the appropriate use of drugs. Results of the newly completed Agnews Project will be reported in depth. These findings will make practitioners and others aware of important differences among individuals carrying the label schizophrenic; they will highlight the need for more selective care and the importance of reconsidering the nature of the therapist-patient relationship. These findings also have serious implications for proliferating community mental health programs. All may not be as well in the community as the architects of community mental health programs envisioned only a few years ago. Workshop members will be encouraged to share their experiences and ideas about schizophrenia in the light of the results of the Agnews Project and other recent studies. $120

Self-Image vs Self-Actualization
Paul Rebillot & Janet Zuckerman

What are our social images? our family images? our professional images? How does the image of what we ought to be compare with what we see in the mirror? Does this comparison limit or nurture our enjoyment of ourselves? What price do we pay for our facades? How much of our true selves must be killed off and how much can be allowed to live? In this workshop we transform all these questions into statements and learn how we might integrate the statements into our lives. $120 + $2 video fee

Weekend Workshop
Will Schutz

Limited to 12. $130

Spiritual Cleaning & Daily Practice / Al Drucker

The focus of our weekend together will be to purify our body-mind and heart. In the process we hope to develop a practice that we can take home with us (to use alone or share with those we live with). This will include a cleansing bath, a cleansing diet, morning meditation, some yoga, t'ai chi and Arica exercises, self-massage, karma cleaning and chanting . . . lots of chanting (down by the sea if the weather's good). If there's time we'll also demonstrate rolfing, acupuncture and other healing/purification practices. $110

Schizophrenia & the Visionary Experience
Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

In spite of many decades of intensive research, schizophrenia has remained the most enigmatic disease in psychiatry. In this workshop, the Grofs will survey the existing theories of psychosis and outline new alternatives emerging from LSD research and cross-cultural anthropological studies. The discussion will focus on such issues as LSD psychotherapy of schizophrenics, parallels between psychosis and mystical or shamanistic experiences, "temporary insanity" in temple mysteries and rites of passage, the positive value of the psychotic experience and the concept of "higher sanity." $120

The intimacy of "A Couple" by Kirchner combines to reveal a third, shared face with an expression all its own

THE WEEK OF AUGUST 18 - 23

Self Healing in Mind & Body / Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

Techniques for healing the self will include self massage, color therapy, gestalt awareness, Reichian body energetics, aspects of aura reading, polarity massage and the psychic work of George Simon. A morning ritual of cleansing oneself and a light exercise series will also be taught. $280

A Gestalt Workshop for Professionals Stella Resnick

This workshop is designed for people who are working as group leaders, therapists and in related fields. We will review basic principles of gestalt awareness through discussion and practice. There will be work with video for feedback. Some time will be set aside for revolving leadership under supervision. $280 + $2 video fee

Energy Here & Now Through Bioenergetics Alan Schwartz

A workshop for those who sense the power and vitality which can be self. Participants will be encouraged to risk mobilizing their feelings and energy to help them become aware of how they block self-expression. The gestalt process will be used to provide an environment for integration and growth. We will use a video session for feedback on our physical patterns. $250 + $2 video fee

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $280

What's Available / George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. Limited to 20 persons. $280

THE WEEKEND OF AUGUST 23 - 25

Experiencing Esalen

See description p 39 $110

Yoga: A Scientific Approach / Vijayendra Pratap

This workshop will include important postures for both beginning and advanced students, breathing and preliminary meditation techniques. The yogic approach to interaction with one's environment—both internal and external—will also be introduced. This workshop will give a clear picture of the traditional techniques in a scientific manner and in the light of modern scientific research. Questions and discussion will be encouraged on anything from scientific research on yoga, to the yogic approach to problems of day-to-day living, to yoga and humanistic psychology.

The schedule is as follows, subject to group consensus:

Friday:	8:30 pm	orientation, preliminary instruction
Saturday:	7:30-8:30 am	yoga practice
	10:00 am	discussion and sharing lunch
	2:00 pm	discussion/instruction
	3:00-4:00 pm	yoga practice dinner
	8:00-10:00 pm	lecture: "Yoga Philosophy" questions and discussion
Sunday:	7:30-8:30 am	yoga practice
	10:00 am	discussion and sharing

No previous training is necessary. The Esalen menu provides sufficient variety for those wishing to keep to a vegetarian diet. Dress in loose comfortable clothing and bring a mat of your size (beach towel, small rug). If weather permits, practices will be done outside. $120

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earthshaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $120

Opening the Feelings: a Neo-Reichian Interscience Workshop / Elaine Warburton & Laura Dillon

For description, see p 40 $120

Centering / Robert Nadeau

THE WEEK OF AUGUST 25 - 30

The Psychotic Opportunity* / Coordinator Russell Lee with Stanley Mayerson, Richard Price & Paul Rebillot

These workshops are designed for professionals who wish to explore alternatives to the strictly medical model of understanding and treating madness. Each workshop will approach psychosis as a comprehensible and adaptive response to an insane environment. Emphasis will be given to: 1) the meaningfulness of the psychotic episode when it is viewed in the context of a person's family background, 2) the potential growth experience of the psychotic episode for the "patient" and his family, 3) the process of establishing a creative relationship with the psychotic individual and his family, and 4) the process of establishing an "asylum-like" in-patient community for psychotic persons and their families.
The workshop is designed to have experiential and didactic components. Experientially, we will attempt to connect with each of our own "madnesses" through gestalt, bioenergetic and improvisation exercises. Didactically, we will describe our work as well as explore the works of Laing, Lidz, Haley and Perls. Special lectures will be given by Drs. Stanislav Grof and Joan Halifax-Grof. $280

For professionals and students in the mental health field.*

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $280

Psychoenergetics / Buryl Payne

The workshop will focus on ways of transforming the coarser energies of the organism into finer form and connecting to the superconscious mind. The work is based on the formulations of the hydrogens by Gurdjieff and Ouspensky. Powerful exercises from kundalini and dhavana yoga, bioenergetics and free movement will be used to generate basic energies which will be transformed and focused by chanting and meditation. Participants will be trained in self-hypnosis using biofeedback equipment to aid them in focusing the coarser energies and attaining a higher state of consciousness. Participants should be in good physical health and should bring a portable tape recorder (for the hypnosis) and a simple musical instrument which can be played while moving. $280

The Workshop Is You & Me
Work & Play
Joy & Sadness
The Title is Unimportant
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

Our premise is that the process of change and growth can be facilitated by individuals increasing their available resources and options for being and interacting. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used, as well as games and massage, to enable the participants to explore and expand the resources that exist within themselves. $280

August 25 - September 6

Being in Touch: A Two-Week Gestalt Experience Frank Rubenfeld & Mari Krieger

Through gestalt hot-seat work and exercises participants will have the opportunity to be in touch with their feelings and role-choices. Massage and theatre games will supplement the gestalt work, providing a way to experience the sensory and creative parts of ourselves. There will also be time and the space of Big Sur, enabling us to contact our more natural selves. Limited to 16. $585

THE WEEKEND OF AUGUST 30 - SEPTEMBER 1

The Making of a Chronic Schizophrenic* Stanley Mayerson, Harvey Klein, Bruce Peck

Of the many problems confronting the community mental health center, probably the most taxing financially and energetically is what is commonly tagged chronic schizophrenia. It is very hard to get any consensus about what this label means. Suffice it to say that in many counties, they are the people who seem to spend more of their lives in the mental health system than out of it. In this workshop, we will take a fresh look at our role in creating chronicity and some possible ways out of it. We will look at our collaboration with the family and social agencies in creating dependence and in hypnotizing individuals into accepting the crazy role as a style of living. $120

For professionals and students in the mental health field.*

The Feldenkrais Method: Extending our Possibilities Judith Stransky

This is an experience in the Feldenkrais method. Moshe Feldenkrais is the originator of a subtle and powerful new body technique. He has devised a series of simple, ingenious exercises which involve integration of the physical and the mental, expand boundaries of human possibility and lead to release from fixed habits that restrict us. Awareness of our self-image is developed, and the range of our movements is greatly extended. The work teaches integration, differentiation, relaxation and balance, improvement in alignment and greater ease in movement, and is a unique means of bringing us closer to the fulfillment of our human potential. $110

Psychosynthesis / Tom Allen & Margaret Conway

In this weekend workshop we will explore the many approaches psychosynthesis has to offer for re-owning energy lost in past inner and outer conflicts. Among processes used will be the identification and integration of sub-personalities, the balance of opposites and inner alignment, using such techniques as guided imagery, movement, inner dialogue and meditation. $120

Being "Together" / Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together" both with ourselves and with others. $120

THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 1 - 6

Finding Your Own Way / Lenore Lefer

The way we choose to be and live our lives is limited by our perceptions and attitudes about ourselves. To broaden and illuminate these perceptions, we will explore our untapped energy resources. With richer alternatives and choices available, finding our own way will be a nourishing experience.
Gestalt awareness, encounter, guided daydreams and psychosynthesis techniques will be among the tools used on our search. $240

Opening the Feelings: An Interscience Neo-Reichian Workshop / Charles Kelly & Judy Unell

September 1-20

A Tutorial in Gestalt & Sensory Awareness Seymour Carter

For the past ten years, I have been exposed to and have studied with most of the major teachers/influences/practices presented at Esalen. My approach has been to be as open as possible and to learn all I could about paths to self-discovery—from Arica to Zen. In becoming a teacher in my turn, I am now at a point where I want to share the defining and refining of the practices I consider most valuable.
This workshop will be a clarification of the basic perspectives and viewpoints from which the work of Fritz Perls and Charlotte Selver developed. We will examine the theoretical and philosophical bases underlying gestalt and sensory awareness. Through discussion and practice, we will learn to distinguish the central statements of these two approaches from the many confusing interpretations which inevitably form around any simple and profound teaching.
We will devote an intense period of study and experiential work to the nature of thought, emotion and reality, to the continuum of awareness and the collected quiet state of awareness as in meditation.
In returning to these basic considerations of gestalt and sensory awareness and in allowing ourselves time for real understanding and assimilation, each of us will have gained a firm grounding from which to continue our separate journeys as individuals and teachers.

Week One: 3 sessions per day, experiential work in gestalt and sensory awareness
Week Two: 2 sessions a day experiential; one session tutorial and discussion
Week Three: practice, revolving leadership among group participants, discussion
Massage sessions at the baths

Suggested reading: Karen Horney: Neurosis & Human Growth. Perls, Heferline & Goodman: Gestalt Therapy. Carlos Castaneda: Journey to Ixtlan. Edward Conze: Buddhist Thought in India. Selver: Sensory Awareness and Total Functioning. (available through the Esalen bookstore, $1).

Caravan of Dreams: A Gestalt Workshop Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Here we are, all of us in a dream-caravan.
A caravan, but a dream—a dream, but a caravan.
And we know which are the dreams. Therein lies the hope.
Baha Udin, el Shah

In this two weeks, we will explore our multi-faceted selves; the beliefs and the experiences that make us all that we are. We will work with gestalt, selective awareness, massage, meditation, bioenergetics, movement, ourselves and each other. Recommended reading: Idries Shah, The Dermis Probe and Jack Downing, MD, Dreams and Nightmares (Harper & Row). $600

THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 8 - 13

Continuum / Emilie Conrad

Participants in this experiential workshop will be learning a series of body meditations, which will take them back to the inner cellular movements of their bodies. Concentration will be on deep breathing exercises, and penetrating movements of the belly, solar plexus and spine. This life energy when properly channeled stimulates and expands the brain. Everything pulsates with powerful life force. Everything dances. Everyone dances. Human movement becomes a dialogue with one's own inner life. $270
(Please bring comfortable apparel, preferably tights and leotards.)

Skills Workshop for Group Leaders Jacqueline Larcombe Doyle

The focus of this workshop will be on providing an intensive group experience, introducing group techniques and enhancing the transfer of these skills for persons already leading groups in various settings. Techniques will be drawn from psychodrama, encounter, gestalt, bioenergetics, psychomotor and fantasy. $270

Organic Wisdom—"Tze Ruan" (self-nature or spontaneity)
Energy Flow—"Chi" (breath or cosmic rhythm)
Breakthrough—"Wo" (awakening of the Tao, or ego transcendence)
We invite all therapists, gurus, "see-ers" and anyone else to be crazy together, to experience one mind, blow out and in, and to mirror each other, themselves and the world.
We will use the camera as a tool for mirroring and for seeing. We do not expect technical perfection in photography and will use Polaroid materials to avoid confusing ourselves with technical details.
Each participant should bring a Polaroid camera and film. If you do not own one, borrow one or buy one cheaply at a pawnshop. Participants: please bring some photographs of your own or some favorites by others. $110

LSD & the Cosmic Game
Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

All through recorded history, man has been asking questions related to the basic metaphysical problems of existence—the enigma of the cosmos and of the creative principle behind the universal design, the relationship between mind and matter, the dilemma of space and time, the nature of man and the meaning of human life. On the basis of several thousand records from LSD sessions and crosscultural research, the Grofs will explore these questions as they appear to individuals who have experimented with altered states of consciousness. The focus will be on the surprisingly consistent ontological and cosmological system emerging from psychedelic research; this material will be compared with cosmologies of various ancient and contemporary cultures, as well as revolutionary discoveries of twentieth century science. $110

Exploring Theology Experientially
George Sallaway & Bill Ross

A weekend drawing on the riches of the Old and New Testaments, seeking awareness of and integration of the present, personal meaning of revelation, incarnation, mercy and metanoia—re-surrection, re-membering and re-union. Double accent on getting our practice into theory and vice-versa. $110

THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 15 - 20

Body Language & Energy
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

Body analysis including: Reichian and neo-Reichian concepts, rolf principles, body color readings, aspects of the human aura. Acupuncture and psychic energy work will be illustrated and experienced. $270

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

Experiencing Esalen

See description p 39 $240

5-Day Introduction to Arica / Lyn Davis, Roland Hall, Irene Hall & Bill Woodson

Arica trainings offer each individual the opportunity to correct the imbalance of the three basic instincts: Conservation ("How am I?"), Relations ("Who am I with?") and Syntony ("Where am I?"). When these instincts are in harmony, our psyche becomes purified and we see the world exactly as it is. Work during this 5-day training will include: psychocalisthenics—physical exercises for harmonizing body movements with the psyche; JERFS—exercises for relaxing the body, increasing vitality and having fun; forums—discussion of Arica theory; and various meditations and mantra for developing the energy centers of the body and for facilitating essential contact between individuals. Through the use of these and other techniques, the participants will receive an intensive introduction to practices used in the longer Arica programs. This week is designed to stimulate mental clarity, physical relaxation and emotional well-being. $270

THE WEEKEND OF SEPTEMBER 20 - 22

Spiritual Cleaning & Daily Practice
Al Drucker & Christine Price

The focus of our weekend together will be to purify our body-mind and heart. In the process we hope to develop a practice that we can take home with us (to use alone or share with those we live with). This will include a cleansing bath, a cleansing diet, morning meditation, some yoga, t'ai chi and Arica exercises, self-massage, karma cleaning, and chanting . . . lots of chanting (down by the sea if the weather's good). If there's time we'll also demonstrate rolfing, acupuncture and other healing/purification practices. $110

Weekend Workshop
Will Schutz

Limited to 12. $120

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good
Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earthshaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $110

A Weekend Workshop in Self-Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The object of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her or himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of psychodrama, encounter, gestalt and video will be used. $110 + $2 video fee.

A Workshop for Gay People / Sally Smith & Paul Rebillot

A chance for gay men and women, singly or in couples, to come together at Esalen, explore life styles, problems, joys, directions; share massage, music and plain talk. $110

Sept. 22-Nov. 1

The Human Experience: Transitions and Transformations
Coordinated by Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

A six week institute for professionals and graduate students in the fields of medicine, behavioral sciences, psychotherapy and anthropology.

Under the direction of Stan and Joan Grof, Esalen/Big Sur is gathering over a dozen faculty to offer 200 curriculum hours of theoretical and experiential sessions covering developments in three major areas: 1) individual and group psychotherapy and self-exploration practice; 2) healing; 3) altered states of consciousness.

TRACK I: Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis. Leaders who have pioneered in each of these approaches will provide an introduction to these disciplines and conduct workshops for the participants.

TRACK II: Healing. This track will consist of a historic overview and cross-cultural survey of healing: analysis of shamanism; mythological/religious parallels to re-emerging models of mind/body/spirit; comparison of indigenous and ancient healing practices with modern therapies; the relevance of anthropology for the delivery of health care; practical application of innovative therapies.
Participants will be introduced to such healing techniques as acupuncture, polarity (the therapeutic use of massage), structural integration—also known as Rolfing—and psychic healing.

TRACK III: Altered States of Consciousness. This track will focus on unusual states induced by psychedelic drugs and various non-drug techniques. Individual units will be devoted to: discussion of historical and cross-cultural perspectives of psychedelic drug use; laboratory research of altered states of consciousness and psychedelics; psychophysiological comparison of the LSD-induced state and schizophrenia; the use of psychedelic drugs in psychotherapy, including work with individuals facing imminent death; maps of consciousness emerging from LSD research and metaphysical issues arising in psychedelic sessions. Special emphasis will be on the application of this knowledge to the areas of drug abuse, crisis intervention and various forms of psychotherapy.
Non-drug technology for inducing experiences of altered states of consciousness will be available for supervised use by participants.

Faculty: Craig Enright, Stanislav Grof, Joan Halifax-Grof, Janet Lederman, Emmett Miller, Hector Prestera, Christine S. Price, Richard Price, Valerie Blalock Schutz, Will Schutz, Beverly Silverman, Julian Silverman, Sharon Wheeler

Guest Faculty: Gregory Bateson, Lois Bateson, Joseph Campbell, Ann Heider, John Heider, Antoinette Lilly, John C. Lilly, Karl Pribram (to be confirmed)

This program will be limited to 25 participants, selected from applicants. Fee: $1320. Some working scholarships of up to 50% are available to students, on basis of need. For further information write Joan Halifax-Grof, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

For Big Sur leaders' biographies, see pp 53-56. For Reservation Information, see page 62.

THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 22 - 27

Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

For couples. Limited to 14. $270

Gestalt & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price, Christine Price & Esalen Staff

One of a series of programs relating gestalt awareness practice to the spiritual disciplines developed within (and sometimes in opposition to) the great world religions. Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-Fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F. S. Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov. $270

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. There will be a session with video for "taking a look" at ourselves. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $270 + $2 video fee.

Being "Together" / Bob Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to a coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together," both with ourselves and with others. $270

THE WEEKEND OF SEPTEMBER 27 - 29

Greek Dancing & Gestalt / John & Sandy Enright

"This earth, this earth we tread upon . . .
All shall enter it . . .
If I knew how to escape, I would make
To the earth a vow of silver.
This earth, which will devour us;
Assail her with the foot!"
Fragment of a Greek dance-song (Tsamikos)

Greek dancing is inward and social; serious and gay; disciplined and free. We are drawn to it more than any other of the many forms of dancing we have done. We will combine this pleasure of movement and quality of feeling with gestalt-oriented encounter. $110

Mountain Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

This workshop will combine new ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur. Technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, meditation, centering, hiking disciplines and mountain lore will be ways which can provide us with unique insights into ourselves, the group and the environment. $110

Come As You Are / Paul Rebillot

Behind the fantasy self lies the authentic self that cannot be duplicated. Using gestalt, dance, improvisation and ritual magic, we will delve into the mysteries of our mythology and bring our fantasies and visions to life. Once expressed, we can take a look at whether our fantasies nourish or limit the range of our experience. $100 + $2 video fee

One Plus One: A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

A workshop devoted to adding up the resources available to each couple. It is our belief that individuality and personal integration need not be sacrificed in the process of joining with another. A workshop on becoming more than the sum of the parts. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be used. Limited to 10 couples. $110

THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 29 - OCTOBER 4

The Psychotic Opportunity*
Coordinator: Russell Lee, with Stanley Mayerson, Richard Price & Paul Rebillot

These workshops are designed for professionals who wish to explore alternatives to the strictly medical model of understanding and treating madness. Each workshop will approach psychosis as an appropriate and understandable response to an insane environment. Emphasis will be given to: 1) the meaningfulness of the psychotic episode when it is viewed in the context of a person's family background, 2) the potential growth experience of the psychotic episode for the "patient" and his family, 3) the process of establishing a creative relationship with the psychotic individual and his family, and 4) the process of establishing an "asylum-like" in-patient community for psychotic persons and their families.

The workshop is designed to have experiential and didactic components. Experientially, we will attempt to connect with each of our own "madnesses" through gestalt, bioenergetic and improvisation exercises. Didactically we will describe our work as well as explore the works of Laing, Lidz, Haley and Perls. Special lectures will be given by Drs Stanislav Grof and Joan Halifax-Grof. $270

For professionals and students in the mental health field.*

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $270

SPECIAL WORKSHOP ANNOUNCEMENTS

Workshops of more than one week require special planning for participants. Whenever possible we will announce such workshops well in advance. More detailed descriptions—and any changes—will appear in the catalog covering the period in which the workshop is scheduled.

November 24-December 20 (Note: date changed from previous catalog)

Gestalt, Physical & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price & Esalen Staff

A 4-week residential program centered in daily gestalt sessions which are based in awareness of body and breath. Gestalt is viewed not as a "therapy" but as a practice with strong affinities to a number of spiritual practices, especially those emerging from Taoism and Buddhism. Some of these will be experienced and discussed. Physical practice centers on forms coming out of spiritual traditions and on exercises developed by the students of Wilhelm Reich. Key concepts (which gain meaning only in practice) are awareness, responsibility, organic self-regulation. Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-Fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F. S. Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov; Cutting Through Spiritual Materialism by Chogyam Trungpa; Selected Writings by Wilhelm Reich.

Month-long workshops in the planning stage:

January 5-31
Month-long workshop coordinated by Julian Silverman

February 2-28
Month-long workshop by John Heider and Michael Butler

March 2-28
Training Program in Intuitive Process by Harry Sloan

October 6-November 1

HEALTH MONTH
Coordinator: John McCamy

This month-long workshop has three aims: 1) to provide the environment and the time for participants to accomplish a significant improvement in their health and well-being; 2) to offer Dr McCamy's preventive medicine program—a simple and workable presentation of health information and practice—so that participants will be able to continue their own program after the workshop and have an informed basis from which to help others: 3) to extend the preventive medicine practice into approaches to physical/emotional/spiritual balance practiced at Esalen.

Dr McCamy's health program—called Human Life Styling—approaches the goal of "zero symptoms" in four ways: nutrition/detoxification, exercise/movement, stress reduction and ecological awareness. Sessions will include:

- diet analysis, food supplement and fasting information
- personally tailored aerobic exercise
- simple exercises for relaxation, similar to those used for meditation and alpha state induction
- massage and hot mineral baths

Esalen staff will lead sessions in group process (gestalt, encounter, etc.) focusing on ways we prevent ourselves from feeling well. There will be supplementary sessions in body awareness and movement, as well as introductions to such energy-balancing practices as bioenergetics, Feldenkrais exercises, polarity massage, meditation and chanting, acupuncture, rolfing (structural integration) and so on.

Esalen leaders associated with Health Month so far include: Julian and Beverly Silverman, Hector Prestera, Al Drucker, Bob Kriegel, Peggy Morrison, Ellen Stevens, Richard Price.

Fee: (including room and board) $1160

SOME DEFINITIONS
Of Approaches to Human Growth Used in this Catalog

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this process.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

GESTALT: see definition on page 22

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to techniques. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS: see definition on page 18

SENSORY AWARENESS

Sensory awareness is Charlotte Selver's name for the work she studied with Elsa Gindler in Berlin and brought to the United States in 1938. Workshops in sensory awareness aim at a state of intellectual quiet in which each activity can be fully felt and allowed to find its natural way, free of inhibitions, techniques and images. When ideas are stilled, sense perceptions coming from the entire organism enable the person to function authentically, according to his nature, in all situations. Closely akin, in its pure form, to the practice of zen, sensory awareness brings the essential character of meditation to every aspect of daily living.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION (ROLFING)

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi Chuan is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese philosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION : BIG SUR

TOM ALLEN, a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, leads workshops at growth centers and educational institutions throughout the country and abroad. He has taught courses in psychosynthesis at the college and university level. He is an artist and has worked to integrate art into the psychosynthesis process as a means of self-realization. (pp 40, 47)

MAURICA ANDERSON, a former staff member of the California Institute of Psychodrama, is currently working in psychodrama and encounter with various Berkeley womens' groups and is a graduate student in the humanistic psychology program at Sonoma State. (pp 43)

WALT ANDERSON studied psychodrama under Lewis Yablonsky, is accredited by the Moreno Academy of New York and was former executive director of the California Institute of Psychodrama. He led the first Esalen High Sierra programs and is currently exploring new ways of combining encounter and outdoor activities. He is also author of several books, including Politics and the New Humanism. (p 43)

DON BARENFELD is a gestalt therapist in private practice with the Gestalt Associates of Los Angeles. He spent three years in training with the Gestalt Institute of Los Angeles and one year as a trainee/apprentice with Robert W Resnick. Don has been teaching and demonstrating massage in Los Angeles for several years and most recently has been studying Reichian therapy with Dr Curcuruto. (p 38)

GREGORY BATESON is a world-famous ecologist and ethnologist. He originated the "double bind" theory which explains some of the causes of schizophrenia. His most recent interests join the workings of the human mind and emotions to the problem of ecology. (p 50)

VALERIE BLALOCK SCHUTZ is first and foremost a woman. In addition, she has been a musician, dancer, philosopher, actress, cook and gymnast. She has trained in encounter with William Schutz and in EST with Werner Erhard. With Will Schutz she has co-led workshops in the United States, Canada and Australia. She is presently in residence at Esalen/Big Sur. (p 50)

GEORGE BROWN, an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, is one of the first to combine gestalt and psychosynthesis in workshop and educational contexts. He is Professor and Director of the program in Confluent Education at the University of California at Santa Barbara and is the author of Human Teaching for Human Learning and the forthcoming The Live Classroom. (pp 39, 46)

JUDITH BROWN has an international reputation as a gestalt awareness trainer and has been interested in the use of symbols as an expression of the creative unconscious. In addition to her own groups, she has co-led numerous groups with her husband. (pp 39, 46)

MICHAEL BUTLER is a group leader and rolfer who is interested in ways to integrate the body, mind, and spirit. A former Esalen resident fellow, he was trained in group process by John Heider and subsequently by Dr. Ida Rolf. Currently he is a member of a meditation training group led by Robert Nadeau. Primary emphasis in his work is on ways to translate growth practices into everyday life. (pp 40, 42, 51, 52)

JOSEPH CAMPBELL is the author of The Hero with a Thousand Faces and The Masks of God, among other works. He has been a member of the Literature Department of Sarah Lawrence College since 1934. (p 50)

BETSIE CARTER is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute. She completed advanced training at the Psychosynthesis Institute with Jim and Susan Vargiu, and underwent didactic training in Italy with Roberto Assagioli. Currently, she is working with individuals, supervising trainees in the practice of psychosynthesis, and is an editor of the forthcoming journal SYNTHESIS, The Realization of the Self. (p 44)

SEYMOUR CARTER has been a teacher at Esalen for the past five years and maintains a private practice in San Francisco. He has served as consultant in self-awareness programs to the US Army and several universities. Studies in the body/mind field which he feels have significantly influenced him include: Esalen teachers such as Fritz Perls, Richard Price, John Heider and Will Schutz; Zen Buddhism; Feldenkrais; Bioenergetics; the Arica training; Aikido; training as a rolfer and, most recently, a nine month study program given by Charlotte Selver for teachers of her work. Against the background of these experiences, he describes his work as an integration of gestalt and sensory awareness. (pp 42 & 48)

BARBARA CLEMANS is a teacher, dancer and practitioner of massage in San Francisco. Her approach has been synthesized from nine years of experience with various techniques, including: graduate work in creative movement, gestalt, yoga, Reichian therapy, belly dancing and EST. During the past year she has been influenced by her training with Moshe Feldenkrais in individual and group work and with George Simon in psychic development. She is an Arica trainer and her work is featured in Getting Clear: Body Work for Women. (p 41)

EMILIE CONRAD received her early dance training in New York. She has been on the faculty of the Lee Strasberg Theatre Institute and the Actors Studio. Currently she is a consultant for the California School of Professional Psychology and a faculty member of the Center for the Healing Arts. Her recent workshops include those for the Association for Humanistic Psychology, The Institute for Analytical Psychology, The Group Psychoanalytic Association and various universities. The five years she spent living in Haiti, studying and participating in native rituals, provide the anthropological roots for Continuum. (pp 38, 48)

MARGARET CONWAY, a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, is in advanced training with its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu, and has worked with Roberto Assagioli in Italy. Trained as a psychiatric nurse, she also has extensive experience as a group leader. Presently she works with individuals and groups in psychosynthesis. (pp 40, 47)

LYN DAVIS is a member of the Arica teaching staff and a gestalt trainer. She leads women's workshops in the San Francisco Bay Area and works lovingly with Jack Downing. (pp 44, 48)

LAURA DILLON. Interest in Reich's work brought Laura into the Interscience Work Shop more than two years ago where she has taught a score of classes and workshops and has a busy individual practice. She has led or co-led workshops at Kairos and Esalen in California and throughout the country, most recently in the mid-west during a series of workshops in which she combined her neo-Reichian work with the work of well-known leaders in Transactional Analysis. (p 40)

JACK DOWNING MD is a life-long student. He studied psychiatry at the Menninger School, gestalt therapy with Fritz Perls, structural integration with Ida Rolf. He was among the original group who studied with Oscar Ichazo in Arica. He is learning. (pp 44, 48)

JACQUELINE LARCOMBE DOYLE is a psychologist and former Esalen resident fellow, trained by William Schutz. Her background includes teaching and clinical work. She has done encounter work here and abroad. For the past year she has served as a director of group training and member of the board of Greenhouse, a new Boston growth center. (p 48)

AL DRUCKER is a former space scientist whose primary work now is rolfing and teaching. He's lived at Esalen and in Big Sur for six years. Al is qualified as an acupuncturist (licensed in England) and as an Arica trainer. He has led gestalt, encounter and synanon groups, is trained in iridology, nutrition and psychic processes and on various occasions has taught anatomy, physiology, massage, yoga, t'ai chi and folk dance sessions. He recently returned from a spiritual journey to India to see Sai Baba (pp 45, 49, 52)

JANE ENGLISH is a professional photographer who also holds a PhD in physics. With her husband, Gia-Fu Feng, she is author-translator of Tao Te Ching and Chuang Tsu, and directs Stillpoint, a Taoist community in Manitou Springs, Colorado. (p 49)

CRAIG S ENRIGHT, MD, received his MD Degree in 1969, and worked in conventional hospital practice until 1971. He has resided in Big Sur for the past 2½ years. His present interests are focused on expanding awareness of the psychophysical processes which determine one's position along the spectrum of ease/dis-ease. (50)

JOHN ENRIGHT is vice president of the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco and a free lance psychologist. (p 51)

SANDY ENRIGHT's major focus is the bodymind. She has been influenced by several divergent streams of thought: bioenergetics, gestalt, ethnic dance, massage, effectiveness training and Synanon games. She uses a blend of these in working with individuals and groups, separately and with her husband, John Enright. (p 51)

CHRIS FELDMANN studied with George Simon for two years and became his teaching associate. She has an MA in school administration and has taught in many places, including the Philippines and a Chicano barrio. She was formerly the director of a free school. Currently she teaches classes in consciousness and has a private counselling practice under the auspices of the Community for Conscious Evolution. (p 41)

GIA-FU FENG is author-translator of T'ai Chi - I Ching, Tao Te Ching and Chuang Tsu. With his wife, Jane English, he directs Stillpoint, a Taoist community in Manitou Springs, Colorado. (pp 48, 49)

PIERO FERRUGCI, an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, is from Italy, presently travelling and lecturing in this country. He underwent didactic training at the Istituto de Psicosintesi, Florence, with Roberto Assagioli and worked with him during the past several years. He has been collaborating with Laura Huxley, has given lectures and workshops in this country and in Europe, and has taught psychosynthesis at the University of Florence. (p 45)

HEIDI FIRMAN is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, and a member of the Institute's training staff. She has completed advanced training with Jim and Susan Vargiu, directors of the Institute, and has had didactic training with Roberto Assagioli, the originator of psychosynthesis. A former teacher of meditation and yoga, she is currently working with groups, individuals and couples is psychosynthesis. (p 44)

ARTHUR FOX, a 1969 Esalen resident fellow, has been leading groups for Esalen and throughout the United States and Europe. He has implemented humanistic education into a Swiss school and at colleges in the US both as a teacher and consultant. He is the director of the Esalen College Program and newly formed Extended Learning Center and is a student of Stanley Keleman. (pp 38, 39, 42)

JANICA FOX has a background of research in groups at Harvard and was a 1969 Esalen Resident Fellow. For the past six years, she has been leading groups at Esalen, around the country and in Europe. She is the assistant to the director of the Esalen College Program and works privately with individuals and couples in the Bay Area. (pp 38, 39, 42)

LEE GIBSON works as a learning therapist in the Los Angeles area. For twelve years he taught in public schools, where he carefully observed and studied learning processes and problems in both children and adults. Through his observations and studies, Lee discovered numerous ways in which the development of intellectual self-confidence is stifled and creative expression blocked. (p 42)

STANISLAV GROF has done clinical research with LSD and other psychedelic drugs for the last seventeen years and has published over 50 articles in professional journals and books. He was a research psychiatrist at the Psychiatric Research Institute in Prague until 1967, Clinical and Research Fellow at Johns Hopkins University Henry Phipps Clinic until 1969 and Chief of Psychiatric Research at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Center and Assistant Professor at the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Johns Hopkins University until 1973. He is presently on leave of absence from Maryland and Johns Hopkins and is a resident scholar at Esalen/Big Sur. (pp 42, 45, 49, 50)

JOAN HALIFAX-GROF is a medical anthropoligist specializing in psychiatry and religion. Her dissertation "Indigenous Healing Systems and Contemporary Medicine: Toward an Integration of Approaches" reflects her crosscultural studies at Columbia University and subsequent field work in Africa and the Caribbean Islands, the study of the Afrocuban religion "Santeria" and her work as anthropologist for the University of Miami School of Medicine in the Departments of Psychiatry and Pediatrics. In 1972-73, she was a research associate at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Institute, working primarily as a therapist and anthropological consultant in LSD psychotherapy with terminal cancer patients. She is currently a scholar in residence at Esalen/Big Sur. (pp 42, 45, 49, 50)

BERNARD GUNTHER was for seven years a staff member of the Esalen Institute in Big Sur. In recent years he has been involved in the study of psychosynthesis, mind dynamics, breathing, energy and hypnosis as they relate to transpersonal consciousness. He is the author of Sense Relaxation, Love View, What to Do Till The Messiah Comes and How The West Is One. His latest work High Cards was released this February by Harper and Row. (pp 43, 44)

ROLAND & IRENE HALL were associate artists at Esalen/Big Sur from 1962 to 1968. They formed part of the original American group that studied with Oscar Ichazo at Arica, Chile. They are presently members of the Marin Teaching House.

ANN HEIDER received a bachelor's degree in music history and theory and a master's degree in musicology. From 1967 to 1971 she lived and worked at Esalen Big Sur, where she studied and taught chanting, massage, tai chi chuan and other moving meditations. (p 50)

JOHN HEIDER was educated at Harvard College and Duke University. His doctoral thesis dealt with the effects of meditation on perception of Rorschach Ink Blots. From 1967 to 1971 he was an Associate in Residence at Esalen Institute, Big Sur, California. Most recently he has been Visiting Professor at Menninger Foundation's School of Psychiatry. His recent paper, Catharsis in Human Potential Encounter will be published in an upcoming issue of Journal of Humanistic Psychology. (pp 42, 45, 50, 52)

RICHARD HORAN is an artist, masseur and organic gardener. (pp 41, 45)

AL CHUNG-LIANG HUANG was born in Shanghai, China and was trained in classical Chinese arts and theatre techniques before coming to the US to become an architect and concert dancer. He has taught and performed at major universities and festivals throughout North America and the Far East. He lectures and conducts seminars in Taoism, Ch'an (Zen) Buddhism and related Asian Arts. He lives in Urbana, Illinois with his wife and daughter and teaches Oriental Theatre and Asian Arts at the University of Illinois. His book is Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain: The essence of t'ai chi. (p 39)

LAURA ARCHERA HUXLEY came to the United States from Italy shortly after World War II. During the following years she intensely studied health, nutrition and psychology. Impressed with the vast amount of avoidable unhappiness which people are afflicted with, she conceived You Are Not the Target, a book of practical recipes for personal growth. Laura's second book The Timeless Moment, a personal view of her husband, Aldous Huxley, has also been widely acclaimed. (p 45)

CHARLES R KELLEY, Director of the Interscience Work Shop in Santa Monica, is an applied experimental psychologist and vision specialist. He was a student of Wilhelm Reich and for five years edited America's only journal devoted to exploring and developing Reich's concepts. He and the staff he has trained are noted for their adaptation of Reichian techniques in the small-group process Kelley terms the "Interscience Intensive." (p 40)

HARVEY KLEIN is a psychiatrist and Director of Psychiatric Services at Emanuel Community Mental Health Center. He is a former student of Carl Whitaker. His approach to the psychotherapy of psychosis represents a unique combination of family therapy and gestalt-humanistic inquiry. (p 47)

Mari is also an Esalen-trained masseuse and has led numerous workshops combining gestalt and massage. (pp 42, 47)

NEIL LAMPER is straight to the far out and far out to the straight. He is far out at Western Michigan University and straight in his rejection of magic in his work in his private practice. He experienced his rebirth under Fritz Perls and hones his craft under Janet Lederman, Elaine Kepner, Julian Silverman and others. He lives in a house with a wife and five young ones and periodically straddles his Honda and drops out of sight into the desert "to take his pulse." He is the author of The Village Idiot, and Growing Pains. He says, "The temptation of imitation and expertise is always there but I prefer the uncertainty and often fear of doing my own thing. I value the feel of my work on the fringes in New York, Philadelphia, Toronto, at Esalen and Tuwaqachi." He is a founder of Tuwaqachi, the new Gestalt Learning Center, a 140-acre farm in Michigan. He says his work is organic: observation of the wholeness in everyone and working to bring it to awareness. (p 45)

JANET LEDERMAN is an artist, teacher and author of Anger and the Rocking Chair, a poetic account of the use of the gestalt learning process of which she is the originator. She is currently associate director of Esalen/Big Sur. (pp 39, 50)

She has also had extensive experience in tank work. (p 50)

JOHN C. LILLY, M D has primary research interest in the relation of the mind to the brain. He is trained in psychoanalysis, computer theory, biophysics, neurophysiology and interspecies communication. He has been an Esalen leader since 1968 and trains in solitude, isolation and confinement (water tank work). He has a seminar center in Malibu, California, and has written the books Center of the Cyclone and Human Biocomputer. (p 50)

DON LINDSAY is a humanist, a physician, a teacher and a research scientist. He has worked as a small town GP, a military psychiatrist and a specialist in dermatology. He is assistant clinical professor of medicine at USC medical school and president of the Foundation for Research in Aging. Three years ago he returned to UCLA and repeated the freshman year of medical school. He is now finishing a fellowship there in Endocrinological Research. He is intensely interested in creative awareness, discovery and the prerequisite softening of one's certainty. (p 42)

CAROL MACGEE is a former student of the French sociologist and philosopher, Henri Lefebvre. She is a poetess, associate editor of the "International Mountaineering Arts Journal" and author of two works, Azure and Hill Fragments. She has climbed the Alps and Rockies and trained in method acting and jazz dance. (pp 39, 51)

STANLEY MAYERSON has been working for the past seven years coordinating non-medication programs that are designed to develop and evaluate the potential of the acute psychotic episode as an opportunity for personal growth. He is currently in-patient treatment coordinator at Emanuel Hospital. (p 39, 47, 51)

JOHN McCAMY is a family physician in St. Petersburg, Florida, specializing in the field of preventive medicine. He worked with several doctors and with organizations such as the Southern Academy of Clinical Nutrition and the Academy of Metabiology to develop an effective system for treating the whole person. For the past seven years he has offered his preventive program, called Human Life Styling, which has shown that the individual can control his health through regulating diet, exercise and stress response. His health program has been presented at several conferences including the Association of Humanistic Psychology and the Symposium of Biological Medicine, in Switzerland. His book on Human Life Styling will be relased in the fall of 1974. (p 52)

EMMETT MILLER, presently practicing medicine and hypnotherapy in Carmel, California, has also had extensive training in physics, mathematics and computer science. friends of esalen MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

☐ I wish to become a Friend of Esalen and I enclose my check for the category I have circled.

THE NATURE OF HUMAN CONSCIOUSNESS
A Book of Readings
edited by Robert E. Ornstein

$15.00 casebound

THE NATURE OF HUMAN CONSCIOUSNESS provides us with a most provocative mix of sources for study: we have the I Ching and Sufi literature on one hand, and neurophysiological essays on brain function and linguistic analysis on the other. Contributors include such current researchers as Charles Tart, Arthur Deikman, and Roberto Assagioli; other students of consciousness such as William James, Carl Jung, Michael Polanyi, and Aldous Huxley; and representatives of the "esoteric" psychologies of other cultures such as Lama Govinda and Idries Shah. Together their selections point to the need to extend the boundaries of scientific inquiry as well as our conception of human capacities.

THE FAR SIDE OF MADNESS
by John Weir Perry

2.75 paper

From Bedlam to Bellevue, the schizophrenic has been shunned by society as a dangerous aberration and even today is often treated with drugs that suppress the "abnormal" ideas and emotions of the disturbed psyche.

In the FAR SIDE OF MADNESS, Dr. Perry challenges this as an outmoded approach to schizophrenia, which he says often "fixates the patient in an arrested state of disability." Concentrating not on the causes or chemistry of schizophrenia, but instead on our empathetic understanding of the individual's inner processes, Dr. Perry provides the means for the intrapersonal process between patient and therapist.

MASSAGE AND MEDITATION
by George Downing illustrated by Anne Kent Rush

1.65 paper

What really brings a person to massage is their longing for contact and for a sense of expanded spaciousness within. MASSAGE & MEDITATION presents a gateway for the reader, novice and veteran alike, to begin to integrate meditative techniques into a massage practice. It fulfills the author's promise of further exploration in the Going Further section of THE MASSAGE BOOK. For those people who regularly practice massage, or meditation, or both, or even neither, this book can add a new life dimension. After all, by integrating massage with meditation what you are really teaching yourself are ways to explore with a new awareness a more primordial level of your being; ways to live a little closer to that common root from which "mind" and "body" both spring.

EXISTENTIAL SEXUALITY, CHOOSING TO LOVE

by Peter Koestenbaum

2.45 paper

To help the reader determine his or her own readiness for loving and being loved, both physically and emotionally, EXISTENTIAL SEXUALITY contains questionnaires and instructions for self-evaluation and provides the first practical existential description of the acts of love and sex. In addition, Koestenbaum includes an appendix of the practical applications of existential philosophy – offering the reader everything needed to "customize" the life-options of love, sex, and family for a fulfilling, happy life.

special information

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2. Those attending Esalen workshops and conferences are automatically added to the mailing list. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office. Do not direct subscription inquiries to Big Sur.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE: Esalen is devoted to making life more human at all levels. Our work has reached thousands of individuals and hundreds of institutions. Until recently most of this work was being done at our own facilities, either in Big Sur or San Francisco. There is now, however, an ever-expanding part of Esalen's universe that is moving toward helping to effect changes in the world outside the workshop. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U S Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp, Model Cities, O E O, inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Esalen courses are now being given at the University of California and at New York University. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions are providing expenses for participants for some seminars and workshops. Please see membership form below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given some sort of accreditation for leading programs involving encounter groups, gestalt therapy, etc. We have told everyone who has done this to stop using our name in such a manner. Esalen does not offer any kind of formal accreditation. Individuals and groups, of course, may use the insights and techniques they bring from our programs. Our Associates in Residence are working under Esalen auspices. But we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

FM RADIO STATIONS in the San Francisco Bay Area (K101, KPFA, KQED, KSAN, KSFX and KMPX) broadcast portions of Esalen seminars and lectures. (K101 has a dependable weekly program each Sunday evening at 11:00 pm.) Other West Coast radio stations, KZAP Sacramento, KTAO Los Gatos, KCSB Santa Barbara, KLOS, KUSC and KPFK Los Angeles, and KPFT Houston, WBAI New York and WOMB New Hampshire, broadcast Esalen programs on an occasional basis. Consult local program guides.

FILMS of the work of Fritz Perls, Carl Rogers, Abraham Maslow, Rollo May, Virginia Satir, Alexander Lowen and others are available from Psychological Films, 205 West 20th Street, Santa Ana, California 92706. For color film documentaries with Alan Watts, Huston Smith, Lama Govinda, Joseph Campbell, Edgar Mitchell and Margaret Mead, write Hartley Productions, Cat Rock Road, Cos Cob, Connecticut 06807. For a list of other humanistic film sources write the Association for Humanistic Psychology, 325 Ninth Street, San Francisco, CA 94103.

TAPE RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: Recordings of many past programs are available through a service which maintains archive copies for Esalen. Requests for tapes now come from educational and service institutions, libraries, religious and professional groups, business groups and individuals concerned with the human potential movement. Commercial use of these tapes is prohibited; all rights reserved. For a complete tape catalog, write Big Sur Recordings, 2015 Bridgeway, Sausalito, CA 94965. The cost of recordings is $10 per tape-hour (prepaid) and $12.50 per tape-hour (with purchase orders), stereo or mono, with choice of 5" reel or cassette.

Phone: (415) 771-1710; 9:30 - 6, Monday through Sunday

RESERVATIONS:

Reservations close 5 days prior to the program, in order to facilitate planning and for the convenience of participants' time plans. A non-refundable deposit must accompany registration as follows: $10 per person for programs costing under $35; $20 for programs costing under $100; $50 for those over $100, inless otherwise noted. Mail reservation form with check to Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Balance is payable at the first session of the program. Do not send San Francisco reservations to Big Sur. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express.

INFORMATION, LITERATURE AND TICKETS for lectures may be obtained Monday through Sunday, 9:30 am to 6 pm at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Tickets obtained by mail will indicate the exact location and time of events; when not sold out in advance, tickets may be purchased at the door.

WORKSHOP SCHEDULES: One day workshops generally meet from 10 am to 6 pm. Saturday and Sunday weekend workshops meet from 10 am to 6 pm each day. Friday through Sunday weekend workshops meet approximately from 8 to 11 pm on Friday, from 10 am through the afternoon and/or evening on Saturday, and from 10 am to early afternoon on Sunday. Schedules are not rigid, however, and exact meeting times are discussed at the first session.

ACCOMMODATIONS: Most San Francisco programs are non-residential. Participants in these programs must reserve their own accommodations at local hotels or motels. Unless stated otherwise, meals are not provided at such workshops.

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAMS are indicated in individual workshop descriptions. Program cost of residential programs includes tuition, food and lodging. Shared occupancy only, no private accommodations available. Weekend residential programs, unless otherwise indicated, begin at 8 pm Friday (no supper served) and conclude following Sunday lunch. Programs are held at a conference center in Marin County or in Sonoma County; exact location will be included with reservation confirmation.

LOCATION: Participants will be informed of workshop location prior to the workshop date. Esalen uses several facilities in the Bay Area for its programs including its own building at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Call the San Francisco office for advance information on program location.

WORK SCHOLARSHIPS are available for many programs in San Francisco. Contact the San Francisco office for information and forms.

WAITING LISTS: Names are placed on waiting lists in cases of oversubscription or when demanded by workshop requirements. Registrants placed on such a list will be informed immediately and deposit checks held. Checks will be refunded if reservation cannot be confirmed or upon request by persons not wanting to be on a waiting list.

RECOMMENDED DRESS: Workshops are informal. Slacks and flat shoes are recommended for women; sport clothes for men.

BOOKSTORE: Esalen's Bookshop provides a comprehensive selection of books ranging from general psychology, body work and education to the Eastern philosophies, Jung and the mystics. It is open Monday through Sunday, 9:30 am-6 pm.

Energy Crisis. Esalen/Big Sur has the following information for those concerned about Sunday travel:

- In conjunction with other Big Sur businesses, we are arranging for at least one Big Sur gas station to be open on Sundays. (Credit cards vary—be prepared with cash.)
- We have arranged for limited supplies of gasoline to be available at Esalen for seminarians.
- We are developing a stayover plan at minimum cost to be implemented for any seminarians stranded due to lack of fuel.

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific with the Santa Lucia Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute—By Reservation Only.

Deposit Information. Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups and $400 dollars for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen / Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen / San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. U.S. currency only, please.

Program costs cover tuition, food and lodging on the Esalen grounds. Our rooms are designed to be shared by two to three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 pm; however, guests are welcome to arrive earlier in the afternoon.

Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur. Pickups are made at the Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5-5:30 pm each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person one way; please notify us in advance.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. Our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also discourage participants from having guests. Alas, no pets.

Seminarians as Staff (Karma Yoga). Seminarians residing for a week or longer at Esalen are asked to contribute one or two hours a week to the kitchen or garden staff. These hours do not interfere in any way with scheduled groups or meals. Your help enables us to meet the pressures of peak working times and enables you to experience Esalen from the inside out. A staff member will appear at your first workshop meeting to schedule volunteer help.

Esalen Institute RESERVATIONS & TICKET ORDER

This form is for your convenience in preparing attendance at Esalen workshops and lectures. You may use it for Big Sur and San Francisco programs, although it is suggested that you make reservations independently at each location rather than place a "mixed" order. You will receive a new order form with your tickets or confirmation of reservations. In completing the form, please include the name, address and telephone number of each person registering, and clearly indicate the title of the workshop for which each person is reserving a place. Please make reservations early; some workshops are booked to capacity weeks in advance.

news from esalen

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Nothing I have done since becoming President of Esalen has given me more pleasure than the appointment of Leigh Rhett as director of our San Francisco-based programs and overall manager of our business affairs. We are fortunate indeed to have a person of Leigh's caliber in this important leadership role.

It is my impression that many friends of Esalen do not know much about our San Francisco operation. For most people the name Esalen calls up an image not of an urban center but of our better known program center in Big Sur. Even those regular readers of our catalog who know that we also offer programs in San Francisco seldom realize that since 1969 most of our business affairs, legal and accounting work, publishing, printing and mailing, fund raising, planning and development have been handled out of the president's office in San Francisco.

From this San Francisco base we conduct not only workshops and seminars similar to those we offer at Big Sur but also lectures; film series; major conferences such as the ones we have presented this past year dealing with spiritual and therapeutic tyranny, psychic phenomena and the work of Whilhelm Reich; special events of all sorts, such as the U.S. visit of Australian physical culturist Percy Cerutty, the annual summer session on human consciousness, and the series on Jungian psychology; specialized programs in sports, the arts, energetic studies and psychosynthesis; the Esalen consulting program, the Esalen college program, the bookstore and readers' service; and university conferences in collaboration with such institutions as the Universities of Miami, Maryland and Massachusetts, New York Univeristy and Park College. In addition to all this, San Francisco is the center from which we move out into research activities and other new programs. For example our Center for Theoretical Studies and its research programs in the media environment and social design operate out of the San Francisco office.

So as you can well imagine the job of directing the San Francisco program is a difficult and challenging one. It is comforting therefore to know that this responsibility is in the competent hands of Leigh Rhett. Leigh brings a wealth of experience to this task. Having known him for more than a decade, I can attest to his personal attributes of integrity, creativity and a concern for high standards of quality. His academic credentials are equally impressive. After receiving a law degree from the University of Virginia and a PhD in economics from New York University, he moved up through a series of faculty and administrative posts at Lehigh University and NYU before casting his lot with more experimental and unconventional educational programs. With respect to the latter he had been dean of the school of business administration, then dean of the college of arts and sciences at California Western University, dean of the faculty at the University of the Americas in Mexico and vice-president of Mark Hopkins College in Vermont.

Leigh has indicated that his first responsibility is to our program participants—to make sure that in design, preparation, reception and facilities our policies achieve the highest standards. Beyond that Leigh will participate in developing ongoing programs appropriate to the institutions of the city and the many forms of urban living.

We all wish Leigh well in his new job. With his leadership we look forward to Esalen's taking new and exciting directions.

COLLEGE CONFERENCES

700 people attended the Esalen/NYU conference on "Focusing New Energies." We were particularly pleased to see many Esalen alumni who came to participate, renew old friendships and keep abreast of Esalen's new directions.

A conference on "Expanding Awareness: New Ways of Seeing and Knowing" will be held with Park College in Kansas City, Missouri, Sept. 13-15. Among the leaders will be Janet Lederman, Will Schutz, Gregory Bateson, Ilana Rubenfeld, George Leonard, Al Huang and Dick Farson.

"Approaches to Health" will be the focus of our conference with the University of Massachusetts in Boston Nov. 15-17. Stanley Krippner, Julian Silverman and Jack Schwartz are among the leaders who will participate.

In addition to a conference for the host college, these programs are opportunities for our alumni throughout the country to renew their contacts with Esalen, meet our new leaders and participate in our development.

NEW EDUCATIONAL & SPIRITUAL COMMUNITY

William Irwin Thompson, author of At the Edge of History and Passages About Earth: An Exploration of the New Planetary Culture, and lecturer and participant in various Esalen programs, has helped to set up a new educational and spiritual community called The Lindisfarne Association. Open to students of all ages, Lindisfarne is not a guru-directed ashram but a spiritual fellowship in which individuals work with body, mind and spirit to realize a new cultural synthesis of religion, science and art. For information about the summer, fall and spring programs write: Lindisfarne, 50 Fishcove Road, Southhampton, New York 11968; (516) 283-8210.

SPORT AS YOGA: Altered States of Consciousness & Extraordinary Powers

by Michael Murphy

From the earliest days of recorded history many cultures have recognized a connection between sport, philosophy and religion. Among the ancient Greeks, the Maya and the Celts, there were sacred games to evoke and re-enact the deeper truths of life. Black Elk tells us about Tapa Wanka Yap, The Throwing of the Ball, a game of the Sioux in which God's grace and omnipresence were revealed to the players. In Tibet, there were the lung gom walks that lasted for thousands of miles day and night at a steady pace, in which a monk confirmed his mastery of the inner life. Though formal religious games and rituals like these have vanished in the West, the connections they point to have not been lost.

For the past two years, I have collected stories about these connections. This project grew out of responses to Golf in the Kingdom, a novel in which I described a mind-opening game of golf and day-long sojourn with Shivas Irons, a philosopher-athlete I met by chance in Scotland during the summer of 1956. When I wrote the book I hadn't realized there were so many others who had fallen through similar star-gates. For relatively few sportspeople have the language or philosophy to interpret altered states like these, and very little of it finds its way into their biographies or into their reports to the media.

The material I am gathering has led me to construct the frameworks that appear below. Because these reports of transcendence are similar in so many ways to those of shamans, Sufis, Zen masters and yogis, I am led to believe that for some people sport is a liberating discipline of sorts, a kind of yoga or sadhana in the making. There are many differences, of course, between ordinary athletics and the classical contemplative disciplines. I am only suggesting that there are surprising and significant similarities.

Ron Wurtsbaugh, a doctoral student in Physical Education, is helping me collect this material. Both of us would appreciate any reports you might want to send along. All of this may grow into a book one day, so it is conceivable that you would be immortalized along with Brodie, Jacklin, Meggyesey and that lady skydiver who rode with the angels.*

A. Altered states of consciousness in sport.

The list of categories below could be extended indefinitely, for the varieties of mystical experience are endless; it will certainly be changed as we gather more stories. Every experience included in it has some or all of the aspects described by the other categories: for example, there was intense enjoyment or ecstasy in almost every instance.

1. Extraordinary clarity, as if the doors of perception were suddenly opened. John Brodie, the San Francisco 49er quarterback, described this state in the December 1972 issue of Intellectual Digest: "Often, in the heat and excitement of a game, a player's perception and coordination will improve dramatically. At times, and with increasing frequency now, I experience a kind of clarity that I've never seen adequately described in a football story. Sometimes, for example, time seems to slow way down, in an uncanny way, as if everyone were moving in slow motion. It's beautiful."

Tony Jacklin, Britain's famous professional golfer, described a similar state in the November 4, 1973 issue of the Sunday Times of London: "It's not like playing golf in a dream or anything like that. Quite the opposite. When I'm in this state everything is pure, vividly clear. . . . I'm living fully in the present, not moving out of it. [This state] comes and goes, and the pure fact that you go out on the first tee of a tournament and say 'I must concentrate today,' is no good. It won't work. It has to already be there."

The statement that such a state must "already be there," that it can't be commanded by simple admonitions or brute will, is characteristic of the yogic and mystical literature. Such states come like visitations, like grace. In the same Times article Jacklin says that he has experienced them about ten times in his life.

2. Extraordinary focus and concentration. Quoting Jacklin again: "When I'm in this state . . . I'm in a cocoon of concentration. And . . . I'm invincible. . . . I'm absolutely engaged, involved in what I'm doing at that particular moment." He described such a moment during the Trophee Lancome tournament outside Paris in 1970, when he reached "the purest psychological state" in his life. On the next to last hole of the tournament, "everything came into focus. Although I could feel my club at every half-inch of my swing, I was free from thinking about various parts of my game. I hit my drive 350 yards, about 50 yards further than I had ever hit a ball in my life." In this state, he eagled the hole, birdied the next and won the tournament by one stroke ahead of Arnold Palmer.

3. Emptiness. A sense of nothingness or void. Much contemplative philosophy is built upon the experience of emptiness, in which the perceiving ego gives way to the void. Something like this state has been described by ocean divers and professional football players. Once while I was playing golf, there was a stupendous silence in which the other players, the golf course, the distant hills seemed suspended in air. Although some sense of effort remained, my actions seemed to happen by themselves.

4. Deautomatization. A breaking of the perceptual constancies. For example, the flow of time may alter. Racing driver Jackie Stewart has described the uncanny sense of things slowing down in a race, permitting him to make maneuvers that would be impossible in his ordinary state.

Or people may begin to look different. David Meggyesey, the St. Louis Cardinals' linebacker, described a game in which he saw auras around the other players. He could anticipate the moves his opponents were about to make, in a kind of precognitive playing trance.

With old habits suspended, new powers have a chance to come into play.

5. Equality. A perception of oneness everywhere. Such a feeling may come with greater or lesser degrees of intensity and may last for a second or for days. A mountain climber I know was in this state for a week after a climb in Nepal, in spite of the fact that he lost some of his toes to frostbite. During his descent from the mountain, he was "enveloped in a psychic fire that came with a vision of [his] future life." Afterwards he felt an all-encompassing unity. Everywhere, in everything, one presence held the world.

6. Access to larger energies, insights and behaviors. Sometimes one seems to be lifted into other realms, where power, beauty and invincibility are the natural state of things. In this state, a new and larger self comes into being.

Mike Spino, a former college distance champion and now director of a research project in sport at Esalen Institute, described such an experience. In the winter of 1967, he was training on dirt and asphalt, paced by a friend who was driving a car. He had intended to run six miles at top speed, but after the first mile he was astonished at how easily he could do it. He had run the first mile in four and a half minutes with little sense of pain or exertion. It was as if "he was carried by a huge momentum." The wet pavement and honking horns were no obstacle at all. Then his body had no weight or resistance. It "began to feel like a skeleton—as if the flesh had been blown off the bones." He felt like the wind. Daydreams and fantasies disappeared. The only negative feeling was a guilt for being able to do this.

When the run was over, he couldn't talk, for "he didn't know who he was." Was he "the one who had been running or was he Mike Spino?" He sat down by the road and wept. He had run the entire six miles on a muddy roadside at a four-and-a-half minute pace, which was close to the national record, but now there was "a crisis deciding who he was."

7. Communication with or perception of disembodied entities. A lady skydiver who had read Golf in the Kingdom told me that the book reminded her of a time when she rode a thermal up-wind on her parachute for over an hour while a company of dazzling figures danced around her—figures with human shapes made of nothing more substantial than light. She was a mother and sensible housewife, a practical earthbound type, she said, but that experience had made her believe in something like angels. Her vision could be dismissed as an hallucination, but that would not explain its convincing quality or its power and beauty. She had never had an experience like it, and the glowing figures seemed utterly real.

Her vision resembles the spirit visitations so often described by people at sea. Joshua Slocum, the first man to sail alone around the world, in his classic tale of that historic voyage, tells about the appearance of a "helpful sailor" who talked to him for hours in Portugese. This disembodied figure claimed to have been the pilot of the Pinta during the voyage of Columbus, and shared some of his knowledge with Slocum. There are many accounts of such "helpful sailors." Being at sea may induce a state of mind like that produced through deliberate sensory deprivation. In such a state, normal perceptions may break down to open the way for other kinds of seeing—whether of projections from the person's own mind or of beings with a life of their own.

8. Ecstasy, delight, supreme aesthetic enjoyment. In Sanskrit there is the word ananda to denote the delight of existence without which the world would collapse. The pleasures, joys, and ecstasies that occur in sport are at the heart of playing, they are the ultimate reinforcer. Every athlete—professional or amateur, proficient or not-so-proficient—whom I have questioned has said that enjoyment is the real name of the game.

In his book First Four Minutes, Roger Bannister tells about a day in Scotland: "Soon I was running across the moor to a distant part of the coast of Kintyre. It was near evening and fiery sun clouds were chasing over to Arran. It began to rain, and the sun shining brightly behind me cast a rainbow ahead. It gave me the feeling that I was cradled in the rainbow arc as I ran.

I felt I was running back to all the primitive joy that my season had destroyed. At the coast the rainbow was lost in the particles of spray, beaten up by the breakers as they crashed against the granite rocks. . . . The gulls were crying overhead and a herd of wild goats were silhouetted against the headland. I started to run again with the sun in my eyes nearly blinding me. I could barely distinguish slippery rock from heathery turf or bog, yet my feet did not slip or grow weary now—they had new life and confidence. I ran in a frenzy of speed, drawn on by an unseen force. The sun sank, setting the forest ablaze, and turning the sky to dull smoke. Then tiredness came on and my bleeding feet tripped me. I rolled down a heather topped bank and lay there happily exhausted."

B. Extraordinary powers, or Siddhi in Sport

Siddhi is the Sanskrit word for those extraordinary powers or capacities which emerge with the practice of a liberating discipline. The aspirant is often warned against the glamour a particular Siddhi has for him, for it may produce an enchantment that leads him away from the liberation he seeks. Moksha before siddhi—liberation before powers—is a constant adage in the contemplative literature. However, even in the strictest traditional systems the pursuance of a siddhi may be permitted if it seems important to the aspirant's growth. But because this occult world is a complex and often perilous realm, the explorer usually needs guidance through it. If sport were to open up to these kinds of things, it would probably have to draw upon the ancient wisdom as it developed its own guides and maps.

NOTE: (The physical power, or siddhi is listed first, followed by the psychological or spiritual change that goes with it and then by an example from the world of sport. The list of siddhis is drawn from various religions and shamanistic traditions.)

Also: George Leonard's The Ultimate Athlete will be published next summer. It tells about some surprising ramifications which spring from this joining of play and vision, and provides a theoretical framework for them.

SPORT AS YOGA: Altered States of Consciousness & Extraordinary Powers

PHYSICAL SIDDHI	PSYCHIC ANALOGUE	FROM SPORT
1. Extraordinary control of the bodily processes.	Control of feelings, thoughts, imagination and other psychic processes.	This is fundamental to all high level performance in sport. Pulse, heart beat, breathing and other physiological processes come under extraordinary control when a runner does the marathon in a little over two hours (which means that he averages better than a mile every five minutes for the entire 26 miles) or when underwater swimmers hold their breath for more than five minutes at depths of up to forty feet, or when a race driver makes the hairpin turns required in Grand Prix driving.
1a. Mastery of pain, both psychic and physical		The transcendence of pain in football, boxing, wrestling and other sports borders on the miraculous. Football players have gone through games with broken ribs, noses, toes and fingers. Boxers have finished fights with broken hands and wrists. Often there was no pain at all during the contest, so great was the player's concentration.
1b. Ability to survive with little or no oxygen, e.g. when a yogi is buried alive.		The anaerobic abilities of ocean divers and distance runners.
1c. The Tibetan tumo; the ability to generate heat from within the body with little or no muscular exertion.		Mountain climbers and ocean swimmers report similar abilities to withstand freezing temperatures.
2. Ability to change shape, size and mass.	Psychic mobility, altered consciousness.	Morehei Uyeshiba, the inventor of Aikido, it is said, seemed to change his shape and size in the swirl of a free-form match. Drastic changes in body image have been reported to me by golfers, football players, ocean divers, skydivers and mountain climbers; sometimes such a change seems to communicate itself to onlookers.
3. Invisibility	Ego-loss, blending, harmonizing with the elements.	The same Master Uyeshiba, in a movie of him demonstrating Aikido, seems to disappear from view for an instant then reappear in another place. His followers swear the film was never tampered with. There are legends about similar feats among football players. George Best, the Irish soccer star, has been described as "going underground" or "going invisible" during a match. (See David Ponsonby's article "Soccer in the Kingdom" in Soccer America, May 29, June 5, 1973).
4. Auras, lights, the odor of sanctity, emanations of energy.	Acting as a channel for higher levels, "manifesting the Divine."	Again in Aikido, where the perception of "ki" is part of the discipline, many participants claim that they have seen an energy field around themselves or others. (See for example George Leonard's article in the June, 1973 issue of Intellectual Digest or Koichi Tohei's book entitled Aikido in Daily Life.) What was that lady skydiver seeing when she saw those "forms of light" tumbling down the wind around her?
5. Levitation.	Sustenance by other energies, by the "ki" or prana of the Eastern disciplines.	A form of levitation appears in some of the martial arts when the participant is taught to make himself lighter or heavier at will through the manipulation of "ki".
6. Bilocation, being in two places at once.	Astral travel, power to impress at a distance.	David Smith, in his unique pentathalon, described the sensation of "rising above his body" while he was swimming. The "out of the body experience" is frequently reported by athletes.
7. Stigmata, tokens of espousal and other signs on the body.	Conforming to a religious or philosophical ideal or to a "Higher Form," singleness of being and purpose.	Could it be argued that the sometimes radical changes of body structure which an athlete goes through in order to perform a particular feat or to play a particular position is like this? The same power of mind over matter is involved.
8. Ability to pass through solids.	Inner emptiness, loosening of ordinary psychic structures.	Again, in Aikido (and Kung Fu), there is something called "mesh practice" in which the participant imagines—then becomes—a net through which an opponent's energy and body may pass. I have never heard of someone actually passing through a solid object, but the practice goes in that direction. In karate, the power to split boards and bricks is ascribed as much to "ki" as it is to sheer muscular force.
9. Incombustability and impassability.	Inner equality, imperturbability, identification with the ultimate being and delight.	In firewalking and sword-swallowing—which might be classified as sports, we see this siddhi. In the nineteenth and early twentieth century there was a game which involved the ducking of bullets. Some of the great heroes of this pastime, it was said, became refractory to bullets through the power of their minds.

PHYSICAL SIDDHI	PSYCHIC ANALOGUE	FROM SPORT
10. Incorruptability at death, and freedom from the aging process.	Contact with the ever-born, ever-renewed, self-existent being which is characteristic of higher states.	George Blanda, at 45, continues to amaze us. Sam Snead is a moneywinner on the PGA tour at the age of 61 and still has that famous swing. Percy Cerutty, one of the great track coaches and physical culturists of all time, is highly active at 79. Bernard McFadden parachuted into the Seine and the Thames on his 85th and 86th birthdays. Where will it all end?
11. Androgyny; ability to change sex; the 32 male and 32 female signs of the perfect Buddha.	Balance of the "male" and "female" characteristics.	Many male athletes, even in the fiercest sports, have a strikingly feminine aspect, contrary to the old macho cliche. Freed from the need to prove themselves in this regard they can allow a wider range of feeling and perceptions. This expansion of awareness through the dropping of defenses has been pointed out by various psychologists and sociologists of sport.
12. Precognition, prophecy, retrocognition, time travel.	Freedom from tyranny of past, present or future; closeness to the Eternal; freedom from this game; psychic mobility	The David Meggesey incident described above is an instance of this. Meggyesey claims he made many tackles because he could anticipate the moves of the other team's running backs: somehow he knew what they would do an instant before they did it. A tennis instructor told me that the same kind of precognition has come to him during tennis games.
13. Clairaudience	Access to the inner worlds, the Music of the Spheres, the Omkar.	Bobby Jones often heard a melody as he played and sometimes used it to give a rhythm to his swing. The sound of crickets or a subtle ringing sometimes comes to golfers in the stillness of their concentration. Roscoe Newman, a retired Navy Captain tells about times when he was learning to fly, when he would "climb over the haze into a different world above five thousand feet and roll and loop until pleasantly pooped." During these flights he would "synchronize vocally, in song, with the vibrations and noise frequencies around me to come up with all the voice parts of a great choral group and/or the various instruments of a large orchestral assembly. There was absolutely no discord in the music I heard. Every part and tone was crystal clear, true, properly amplified and in unison."
14. Telepathy, clairvoyance.	Freedom from the tyranny of the five senses.	An incredible power of communication often develops between members of a team—between a quarterback and wide receiver for example—where one can anticipate the moves of the other. Skiers tell about their sensing a comrade's danger or distress on the slopes. Ocean divers and skydivers have told me the same kind of stories.
15. Synaesthesia.	Freedom from the ordinary perceptual constancies, an unfettered mind.	This crossing of the senses sometimes occurs in golf. (I have described the state in Golf in the Kingdom, in a chapter entitled "The Pleasures of Practice," pp 171-72.)
16. Psychokinesis; moving objects at a distance through psychic power.	Mastery of the mind and emotions, will power.	Brodie described this power in the same Intellectual Digest article: "I would have to say that such things seem to exist—or emerge when your state of mind is right. It has happened to me dozens of times. An intention carries a force, a thought is connected with an energy that can stretch itself out in a pass play or a golf shot or a thirty foot jump shot in basketball. I've seen it happen too many times to deny it." It is a legendary power among certain pool and billiard players, among golfers, and in archery and target shooting.
17. Feats of extraordinary strength and endurance as with the Lung Gom walkers who, it is claimed, can walk for weeks without stopping through the mountains of Tibet.	Psychic strength and endurance.	A 26 mile marathon run at close to a five minute mile pace. Extraordinary moments of strength in weight lifting competition.

SEMINAR FOR YOUNG THEOLOGIANS

The increasingly international flavor at Esalen/Big Sur was heightened in June by Jean and Sidney Lanier's seminar for young theologians.

Funded by a foundation, the seminar included priests and deacons from South Africa, Germany, Spain and the United States who were at a point in their lives where they could make a contribution to others' lives. Many of them will be teaching in seminaries; one is a woman who hopes to become a priest. The seminar was designed to familiarize them with our experiential work in gestalt, neo-Reichian techniques, encounter, meditation, massage and movement.

This seminar was the latest of the many and varied things instigated by Sidney Lanier. As an actor he founded New York's American Place Theatre. Subsequently he was an Anglican priest. Now he is director of the growth center which he founded in Spain. Jean Lanier is a Visiting Scholar in gestalt at the Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Theologians have taken an interest in the work of Esalen from the beginning. In 1969 we received a grant from the United Council of Churches to fund a seminar in Theological Reflections. Paul Tillich, Jerry Needleman, Harvey Cox and Bob Crowley are among the theologians who have given workshops at Esalen.

Many of the European growth centers benefited from the visits of Michael Murphy and other Esalen leaders.

The increasingly international flavor of Esalen reflected in the Laniers' seminar is the result of many years of cross-fertilization.

CONFERENCE FACILITIES AT BIG SUR

From October through May, the meeting rooms, housing accommodations and unique facilities of Esalen/Big Sur, are available to those seeking a conference site. In the past, organizations as diverse as a college faculty-student group, an architectural firm, an association of physicians and a U. S. Army drug abuse program have made use of Big Sur in this way.

For further information and available dates, contact Joan Fiore, Esalen/Big Sur, Big Sur, Ca. 93920.

For Reservation Information, see page 54

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 30

October 3-31
Massage / Bill Glover
Five Thursday evenings $35

A class to experience and learn massage and related methods of caring for the body. Esalen style massage will be taught—emphasizing a caring relationship between partners and how to identify tensions and work to release them. Body awareness and movement experiments will be included in the sessions. 7:30-10:30 p m, October 3, 10, 17, 24 & 31.

October 4-6
The Breath & the Dream / Magda Proskauer
Residential weekend workshop $90

A workshop to explore the relationship between body and psyche in the process of consciousness. The dream will be looked at as a living part of the psychological, spiritual and emotional life and as a tool for discovering new directions and self-understanding. Fee includes room and board.

October 4-6: See Psychosynthesis, p 19

October 5
The Profound Simplicities / William Schutz
One-day workshop $25

An exploration of the common principles underlying the various approaches to the human potential—including encounter, body work, energy awareness and the transpersonal. Recommended reading: The Elements of Encounter. Of special interest to professionals and those in the helping professions.

October 5: See Energetic Studies, p 18

October 6-November 1: See Energetic Studies, p 18

PROGRAMS IN SAN FRANCISCO

WEEK OF OCTOBER 7

Monday evenings
Alexander Technique / Frank Ottiwell
Continuing program $35 per month

An intensive, developmental, ongoing program limited to 6 persons; new persons may join the classes as spaces become available; 6-7:30 p m.

October 7-December 11: See Long Term & Special, p 20

Tuesday, October 8
Introduction to Interpersonal Methods
Arthur & Janica Fox
Single evening event $3

Working in small and large group sessions, participants will be introduced to many methods for personal growth being explored at Esalen. 8-10:30 p m; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

October 8-December 10: See Long Term & Special, p 20

October 8-December 10
Introductory Body Course / Bill Glover
Ten Tuesday afternoons $50

The body is the focus of much of the work offered at Esalen. This course will serve as an introduction and background to this work, seeking to provide a basic knowledge of the body and the different approaches with consideration for the corresponding theoretical and philosophical bases. It is designed for students in the Esalen College Program and is open to others interested in an ongoing class. The course will combine experiential and didactic work, developing the relationship between subjective, personal knowing and more formal cognitive learning. Sessions will include: experiential work in body awareness, movement and massage; work with basic concepts—energy, centering, grounding, contact, touching . . . ; readings in and discussion of theory and "somatic" thinking; study of basic anatomy and physiology. The weekly meetings will provide students a forum for sharing experiences, give continuity to their learning process and aid integration of intense workshop experiences. 2-5 p m.

Thursday, October 10
Rollo May & Sam Keen: A Conversation
Single evening event $3.50

A conversation about the necessity of myths, classical myths and myths of our culture. 8-10:30 pm. First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

October 10-December 5
The Psychology of Dreams / Sanford Rosenberg
Eight Thursday afternoons $50

The Talmud says, "A dream left not understood is like a letter left unopened." Man for thousands of years has looked to his dreams for some kind of guidance. This ability has mostly been lost to us in modern Western culture. Freud and Jung (among others) recognized this lack in modern man and attempted in their ways to enable us to regain contact with our inner reality as it expresses itself to us nightly (and daily!). This course will look at various methods of dream interpretation, both ancient and modern and explore the approaches of Freud, Jung, Perls and others, as well as the most recent research into dreaming and sleeping. All this work will incorporate an experiential, as well as theoretical inquiry into dreams. There will be group dream sharing to explore these various approaches. 3-5:30 p m; October 10, 17, 24, 31, November 7, 14, 21 and December 5. Recommended reading: Dream Power, Ann Farraday; The Individual & His Dreams, Calvin Hall; The New Psychology of Dreaming, R. Jones; Dreams & the Growth of Personality, E. Rossi.

October 11-26: See Energetic Studies, p 18

October 12-13
Lomi School Workshop with Robert Hall
Weekend workshop $50

This is a weekend to explore some of the techniques used in the Lomi School that enhance meditation and encourage people interested in meditation.

The Lomi School is a collective of artists, therapists and healers who teach a program of health consciousness. The methods include stretching postures, centering and concentration exercises, Lomi body work and gestalt awareness training.

October 12-13
Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino
Weekend workshop $45

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. The workshop is designed for beginners as well as advanced students of the game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

October 13
The Feldenkrais Method / Ruth Alon
One-day workshop $25

The Feldenkrais method is an emerging major system of body movement which focuses on the re-directing of the brain's habitual responses to movement in the gravitational field in ways which make possible more natural and efficient paths for the mobilization and expression of body energy. The theoretical basis of the work of Moshe Feldenkrais is described in his book Body & Mature Behavior: A Study of Anxiety, Sex, Gravitation and Learning. Some selected relatively simple exercises are described in his latest book, Awareness Through Movement. Dr. Feldenkrais holds a doctorate in physics and was an associate of Joliet-Curiet. He is also an authority on judo and was an associate of Kano, the developer of Judo. His system has been developed from his study of physics, physiology, judo and anatomy and represents one of the most profound approaches to the body.

Individual sessions with Ruth Alon are available, by appointment through October. Contact the Esalen/San Francisco office for information.

For Reservation Information, see page 54

WEEK OF OCTOBER 14

October 14-December 2
Evolution of Consciousness / Michael Murphy
Eight Monday evenings $65

The emphasis will be on personal transformation with an exploration of the strengths and shortcomings of various models of the world and the soul (e.g., Buddhism, Tantra, Vedanta, Christian mysticism, psychosynthesis, Aurobindo, etc.) and various ways of growth. Some suggested readings: Sri Aurobindo–Future Evolution of Man; Satprem, Sri Aurobindo–The Adventure of Consciousness; Suzuki Roshi–Zen Mind, Beginners Mind; Spiritual Teachings of Raman Maharshi (a Shambala book). 8-10:30 p m each evening.

Tuesday, October 15
Introduction to Energy Awareness / Robert Nadeau
Single evening event $3

This evening will be an introduction to the application of life energy to relaxation, concentration, healing and daily activities. 8-10:30 p m; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

October 15-28
Esalen Sports Center / Oceanic Society: A Voyage into Self-Discovery / David Schiffman
Two-week cruise down the Baja Coast $650

This workshop co-sponsored with the Oceanic Society will leave Ensenada October 15 and cruise down the Baja Coast to La Paz. It will offer the opportunity to experience the richness and cleansing effect of life aboard ship combined with the exploration and personal clarity available through the techniques pioneered at Esalen. En route such places as Todos Antos, Magdalena Bay, Cabo San Lucas will be explored. The Marabell is a 136 foot motor vessel run by a French Canadian crew. For further information contact the Esalen Sports Center. Enrollment limited.

PROGRAMS IN SAN FRANCISCO

October 16-December 11
Language & Reality in an Age of Transformation George Leonard & Leo Litwak
Three-evening seminar $35

Two investigators who have faced the challenge will discuss the joys and difficulties of articulating a new vision. Suggested reading: The Transformation by George Leonard. Especially for college students. Wednesday, October 16, November 13 and December 11; 8 p m.

October 18-20
Absurdity for Growth / George & Judith Brown
Residential weekend workshop $90

A weekend exploration of personal absurdity in an absurd world through increased awareness of ourselves and how and where we live our lives. Focusing on appreciation and enjoyment of what is, including "misery" and "frustration". Experiential, using methods from gestalt and psychosynthesis. Also suitable for couples. Limited to 20 persons. Fee includes room and meals.

October 19
New Techniques of Jogging & Conditioning Mike Spino
One-day workshop $20

Orthodox jogging is an efficient means of overall body conditioning but it holds few keys to heightened physical awareness or short cuts to peak body functioning. This workshop will focus on the work of Percy Wells Cerutty and Mihaly Igloi who between them are responsible for more than forty world track and field records. We will blend their techniques of aerobic training, resistence conditioning, diet, philosophy and practical experience with advanced research being done in the field of sport here at Esalen. These techniques, which have been utilized by championship athletes are pertinent to people at all levels of fitness. Each participant will receive an individual training consultation, as well as insights into preventive and practical sports medicine.

October 19-20
Couples' Workshop / Arthur & Janica Fox
Weekend workshop $50

This weekend is an opportunity for couples to give priority and attention to their relationship focusing especially on the positive aspects of being together. Communication tools will be taught which couples can use after the workshop.

October 19-December 6: See Long Term & Special, p 20

October 20
Alexander Technique & the Voice Frank Ottiwell & Robert Chapline
One-day workshop $25

A workshop on vocal dynamics and the Alexander technique. We will employ techniques of training developed at the American Conservatory Theater and elsewhere; the objective is the changing of habitual responses through conscious release and direction of energy and extended kinesthetic awareness–techniques which in our experience lead to a use of the voice that is both artistic and healthful.

For Biographical Information, see pp 43-48

Egyptian Star-Goddess, Nut, leans across the vault of the heavens each night.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOONS FOR WOMEN

This series of afternoon programs is for women only—to look at the nature of the feminine, to explore with guided imagery and nonverbal consciousness and to acquire a few tools that can be used in daily life to deepen inner awareness.

Childcare provided; contact the Esalen office in advance to make arrangements.

$3.50 per session. 1:00-3:00 p m Wednesday afternoons, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

October 16: On Being a Mother: For Mothers of Young Children / Marilyn Harris Kriegel
Renewing possibilities for creativity and growth within the framework of being a mother.

October 23: The Feminine and Creativity Miriam T. Arguelles
Understanding the experience of the feminine perception of the world and female creativity.

October 30: Awakening Intuition / Frances Clark
Developing intuition as a source of wisdom, inspiration and guidance in everyday life.

November 6: Exploring Inner Imagery / Dorothy Fadiman
Using simple drawing techniques and other methods in active imagination.

November 13: The Art of Self-direction / Lenore Lefer
Exercises for the Will, and others.

November 30: Dance Therapy / Tamara Greenberg
Body awareness, movement and Proskauer breathing techniques.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 21

Thursday, October 24
Doubt, Choice & Certainty in Life
John Enright & George Pransky
Evening workshop-seminar $12.50

Painful as it is, the experience of doubt is in the universe of the doubter preferable to any of the other experiences that seem available. This workshop will provide theory and technique for the doubter to reexamine the alternatives more carefully and perhaps choose one that is better. 6-10:30 p m.

October 25-27
Human Potential Theory & Practice / John Heider
Weekend workshop $50

"The human potential" is the capacity to become increasingly conscious or aware of what is happening in the here and now. Human potential practice is awareness training. Body work teaches somatic awareness. Encounter and gestalt teach psychological awareness. Meditation teaches spiritual awareness.

This workshop will integrate body work, encounter/gestalt and systems of meditation. While the workshop will be primarily experiential, time will be allotted for discussion of human potential theory. Suitable for professionals and non-professionals alike. Limited to 14 persons.

October 26
Introduction to Aikido with Emphasis on Centering & Energy Awareness / Robert Nadeau
One-day workshop $15

Aikido is the Japanese art of self defense with the emphasis placed on centering, harmony and blending. It is presented as a physical manifestation of the energy and spiritual laws of the universe. We will start with centering practices in the physical dimension, move to centering as mental awareness and culminate in meditation with centering as a focus for spiritual unfolding. The workshop will emphasize the relationship between all three levels.

October 26-November 2
Esalen/Outward Bound—Blending the Inner & Outer Paths
Bob Kriegel & Dick Galland
Residential seven-day workshop $250

A program to experience the challenges of white water rafting, rock climbing, rapelling, short expeditions and "solo". The emphasis will be on transcending personal boundaries and expanding concepts of self and potential, exploring, both physically and emotionally, the nature of fear, aloneness, confidence, trust and sharing. Esalen techniques for individual and group awareness will be combined with Outward Bound wilderness and survival training towards achieving a blend of outer awareness and inner consciousness.

October 26-November 2
Esalen/Outward Bound—Inward & Outward Bound: For Women Only
Anne Galland, Maurica Anderson & Outward Bound Staff
Residential seven-day workshop $250

A seven day trip into the desert and mountains of Big Bend National Park in Southwest Texas including several days white water rafting through the Lower Canyons of the Rio Grande and the learning of some survival skills such as rock-climbing and rapelling on side canyon hikes. Using meditation, sensory awareness exercises and various interpersonal communication techniques the program will focus on exploring personal boundaries and making closer contact with the land, self and each other. Fee includes all food, equipment, and transportation from Midland/Odessa to the hike area.

For Reservation Information, see page 54

October 26-December 8: See Psychosynthesis, p 18

October 27
Adaptation, Addiction & Co-Evolution
Gregory Bateson & Stewart Brand

One-day workshop $25

We shall talk about the growth of biological relationships as if all such phenomena are out of the same box. The word not mentioned in our title is "dependency". "Adaptation" is one side of a sort of dependency which is given value in evolutionary terms. "Addiction" is a sort of dependency which is supposed to be a bad thing. "Co-Evolution" leads to mutual dependency.

October 27
Open Psychodrama Encounter / Walt Anderson

One-day workshop $25

A flexible day's work and play using a variety of encounter, gestalt and body-movement approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama—the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity and creativity and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice.

Tuesday, November 5
The Politics of Parenthood / Richard Farson

Single evening event $3

Revolutionary new changes in the ideas of childhood make possible, perhaps even demand, the re-invention of the concept of parenthood. This will be an evening to explore a new consciousness of children's rights and its meaning for those who live or work with children. 8-10:30 p m; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

PERSPECTIVE ON THE SELF

In this series of seminars, members of the C G Jung Institute of San Francisco will talk informally about what is of current interest to them, new directions in their thought and recent works-in-progress.

Cost is $5 per evening; enrollment is limited so register early. Wednesday evenings, 8-10 p m.

October 30: Wayne Detloff: Changing Notions of the Self

November 6: Howard Levene: Individuation and Madness

November 13: Crittenden Brookes: Walking the Narrow Ridge
Exploring the interface between the deeper self and daily life.

November 20: Magda Proskauer: An Approach to the Body
Based on experience with Jungian psychology

December 4: Jean Bolen: Synchronicity and Psychic Phenomena

WAYNE DETLOFF is a Jungian analyst in private practice in the San Francisco Bay Area and is active on the training staff of the C G Jung Institute. He has done research into Jung's psychological types and in non-verbal modes.

HOWARD LEVENE, M D, is co-director with John Perry of Diabasis. He is assistant professor of clinical psychiatry, U C Medical Center and a Jungian analyst in private practice in Kentfield.

CRITTENDEN BROOKES, a certified Jungian analyst, teaches psychiatric trainees as Assistant Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at U C Medical Center and as Supervisor, Department of Psychiatry, Mount Zion Hospital, San Francisco. He is engaged in the private practice of psychiatry and psychotherapy.

MAGDA PROSKAUER is a graduate of the University of Munich, Germany, and received a degree in Physiotherapy from the University of Munich Medical School. While working in European hospitals she studied with different movement schools. The strongest influence which has shaped her present work was her experience with the analytical psychology of C G Jung. She has a private practice in breathing therapy and body awareness in San Francisco.

JEAN SHINODA BOLEN, a medical doctor, is Assistant Clinical Professor, University of California School of Medicine and Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute and a Jungian psychiatrist in private practice in San Francisco.

November 8-10
Marriage Myths / Michael Kahn
Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will have a double focus; first, an opportunity to deepen the understanding of the covert "marriage myths" which confuse and impede relationships and to deepen the relationship through group techniques; and, second, to develop rituals to be taken home which will keep the group experience vital and growing. Limited to seven couples (married or not) who share an ongoing relationship.

November 9: See Energetic Studies, p 18

November 9-10
Biofeedback & Meditation: Mapping States of Consciousness / Kenneth Pelletier
Weekend workshop $50

This seminar will focus on exploring the interaction between the psyche and soma through biofeedback as a means of probing the neurophysiological basis of consciousness. Emphasis will be upon the similarities and differences between brain structures and functions of consciousness such as left and right hemisphere differences. Consideration will also be given to the use of imagery and active imagination in conjunction with biofeedback for the exploration of states of consciousness and the alleviation of psychosomatic disorders. The seminar will include films of recent experiments with Jack Schwartz and the unique meditative practices of a sect of Indian yogis.

November 10
Dance/Movement Therapy / Tamara Greenberg
One-day workshop $25

This workshop will present a movement-oriented approach to therapy using techniques and methods developed in psychiatric hospitals, centers and schools which are applicable to life, growth and personal relationships. It is a synthesis of body awareness, group interaction, movement exploration and Proskauer breathing techniques. Especially of interest to professionals.

November 12-December 3
Ski Conditioning / Ann & Kurt Wehbring
Four Tuesday evenings $35

The skiing experience can be both more exhilarating and safe for persons in condition. This workshop will use techniques of body awareness, breathing and yoga to develop strength, balance, rhythm and wind. The four evening meetings will be augmented by jogging. This workshop is for downhill and cross-country skiers and for those who want to learn to ski. These sessions will include the latest information on downhill and touring equipment. November 12, 19, 26 and December 3. 8-10:30 p m.

Thursday, November 14
Guilt as a Form of Irresponsibility
John Enright & George Pransky
Evening workshop-seminar $12.50

The experience of guilt when it first arises is simply information about the relationship of behavior to standards. When it becomes chronic it becomes a form of avoiding responsibility for life. This seminar will provide theory and technique to restore the guilty person to a position of choice about his guilt. 6-10:30 p m.

November 16
Consciousness-raising for Parents
Richard Farson & Elaine Simpson
One-day workshop with follow-up evening $35

Still reeling from the impact of the civil rights and women's liberation movements, America is about to undergo another assault on its ideas of the rights of a group of people heretofore taken for granted. This time it's children. Nothing short of a revolution in the concept of childhood is in the making. It will require us to radically alter our treatment of children and our notions about their place in the world. Along with the re-invention of childhood we will see the re-invention of parenthood, freeing both children and their parents from unnecessary burdens and limitations they now suffer. This seminar will provide an opportunity for parents to explore the consequences of these changes in their lives by means of role playing, future simulations, group discussion and social design techniques. Participants can experiment with new ways to deal with problems in the home and community which respect both the rights of children and parents. As a part of the workshop, there will be a follow-up evening Thursday, November 21, 8-10:30 p m.

November 16-17
Inspiration & the Power of the Body: New Tools for Psycho-Physical Development
Dyveke & Mike Spino
Weekend workshop $50

The inevitable dilemma of mind/body involvement is to develop techniques for both excellence and fun. We will present some revolutionary training tools for sport and games designed to enhance enjoyment and performance, integrating the work of athletic masters Mihaly Igloi and Percy Wells Cerutty with the spiritual aspect of sport being developed at Esalen. We will work both indoors and in Golden Gate Park and begin with over-all body conditioning, focusing on tennis and running. The aim of the workshop is for each person to be able to construct a personally satisfying training ritual. Limited to 10 persons.

November 17
Knowing & Moving the Body
Frank Ottiwell & Judith Stransky
One-day workshop $25

This workshop will draw on the work of F M Alexander and Moshe Feldenkrais in mobilizing and re-educating the body/self. Techniques to improve postural alignment and release blocked energy will be taught individually and applied to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking and bending. Group exercises, performed within each individual's range of ease and enjoyment, will be used to increase kinesthetic awareness and to show the use of awareness and movement as self-teacher.

November 22-24
Self Explorations Through Hypnosis / Lee Pulos
Weekend workshop $50

The emphasis in this workshop will be to teach the participants techniques and exercises which can be taken home and used daily after the weekend is over. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that the group members can focus in on themselves through hypnotically induced dreams, automatic writing and ideo-motor questioning. Each participant will have the opportunity to use hypnosis for their own personal programming, habit changes and exploring the self through hypnotically guided fantasies. A feature of the weekend will be to use hypnosis to extend consciousness into paranormal and psychic dimensions.

Embrace Tiger—Return to Mountain: A T'ai Chi Workshop with Al Huang

Weekend workshop $50

Al Chung-Liang is a t'ai chi master who is currently teaching Oriental Theatre and Asian Arts at the University of Illinois. "Huang teaches in a way that is unusual for an Asian master . . . He begins from the center and not from the fringe. He imparts an understanding of the basic principles of the art before going on to the meticulous details and he refuses to break down the t'ai chi movements into a one two three drill . . . With his skill in t'ai chi, as well as in dancing and flute playing, he woos and beguiles his students instead of forcing them. This is the mark of a truly superior and gifted teacher who works upon others as the sun and rain upon plants."—Alan Watts

November 24
Open Psychodrama Encounter Walt & Maurica Anderson

One-day workshop $25

A flexible day's work and play using a variety of encounter, gestalt and body-movement approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama—the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity and creativity and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice.

Western Sport as Yoga / Michael Murphy

Single evening event $3

Certain altered states reported by athletes and by ordinary participants in sport resemble the expended consciousness of yogis, shamans and followers of other spiritual disciplines. Michael Murphy is writing a book which explores the relationship between sport and expanded consciousness (see pp 4-7). This seminar will explore some aspects of the connection. 8-10:30 p m; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

December 6-8
Absurdity for Growth / George & Judith Brown

Residential weekend workshop $90

A weekend exploration of personal absurdity in an absurd world through increased awareness of ourselves and how and where we live our lives. Focusing on appreciation and enjoyment of what is, including "misery" and "frustration". Experiential, using methods from gestalt and psychosynthesis. Also suitable for couples. Limited to 20 persons. Fee includes room and meals.

December 7
Endarkenment / William Schutz

One-day workshop $25

Sometimes we learn best by experiencing opposites. In this workshop we will learn to be closed, deceptive and dishonest; to be in our heads and not our bodies; how to worry during meditation; methods of structural disintegration; techniques for being off-center; ways to avoid touching and closeness. There will be extensive practice in how to blame others for our troubles. The group will be aimed at starting high and joyful and ending anxious and suspicious. Groups will be slightly too large to be effective.

December 7-8
"The Posthumous Journey of the Soul": Myth & Science / Stan Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

Weekend workshop $50

In many cultures of the ancient as well as contemporary world one encounters a firm belief that consciousness continues beyond the point of physical demise. Elaborate maps have been developed in these cultures to guide the soul through the complex transition associated with death. In this seminar the Grofs, drawing from their background in anthropology and LSD research, will discuss the possibility of a scientific approach to this question. The issues they will cover range from the Egyptian and Tibetan Books of the Dead and cross-cultural analysis of death-rebirth mysteries and rituals to death-bed observations, accounts of survivors of near-fatal diseases and accidents as well as clinical and laboratory research of psychedelic drugs.

December 8
Biofeedback Training / Eleanor Criswell

One-day workshop $25

This workshop will focus on biofeedback as it relates to self-exploration, self-development and altering consciousness. An understanding of biofeedback, how to experience it and how to use your own body signals as feedback will be included. Participants will experience two kinds of biofeedback machines.

PROGRAMS IN SAN FRANCISCO

WEEK OF DECEMBER 9

Monday, December 9 & Monday, December 16
The Profound Simplicities / William Schutz
Two-evening seminar $40

An exploration of the common principles underlying the various approaches to the human potential—including encounter, body work, energy awareness and the transpersonal. Discussion and demonstrations. Especially for college students. Recommended reading: The Elements of Encounter. 4-10:30 p m each evening with a break for dinner.

Thursday, December 12
Introduction to Gestalt / John Enright
Single evening event $3

A discussion of what it means to be aware or awake as opposed to automatic or asleep, with gestalt exercises to help stay in the state of awareness for longer periods. 8-10:30 p m; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

Friday, December 13
The Trance Dance / Anna Halprin, Xavier Nash, Benito Santiago & Dancers' Workshop
Single evening event $3

The Trance Dance will focus on developing techniques that enable us to experience the journey from the self to the many and back to the self again. We will try to flow with the collective energies and discover where "it" will take us . . . not knowing before it happens. This Trance Dance allows each of us to experience a deep centering and integration of the inner world of experience with the outer world of our universal environment. 8-10:30 p m; First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

December 13-15
Cross-Country Skiing / Ann & Kurt Wehbring
Residential weekend workshop $75

Staying in a mountain lodge, the group will spend the days combining ski touring instruction with sensory awakening, yoga and breathing exercises. Evenings will be devoted to rest, massage and general conviviality. This workshop is intended for those without skiing experience and for downhill skiers who wish to try the Nordic (and ancestral) version of the sport.

December 14
Body—Mind—Spirit / Michael Butler
One-day workshop $25

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune in to and develop that seed center of self through encounter, gestalt and quieting and meditation practices. Emphasis throughout will be on translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life.

December 15: See Psychosynthesis, p 19

WEEK OF DECEMBER 16

December 20-22
Human Potential Theory & Practice / John Heider
Residential weekend workshop $90

"The human potential" is the capacity to become increasingly conscious or aware of what is happening in the here and now. Human potential practice is awareness training. Body work teaches somatic awareness. Encounter and gestalt teach psychological awareness. Meditation teaches spiritual awareness.

This workshop will integrate body work, encounter/gestalt and systems of meditation. While the workshop will be primarily experiential, time will be allotted for discussion of human potential theory. Suitable for professionals and non-professionals alike. Limited to 14 persons. Fee includes room and meals.

December 21-22
Integrating Alexander Technique, Gestalt Awareness and Feldenkrais / Ilana Rubenfeld
Weekend workshop $60

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion—so mind and body are one!

Emotions and memories are often stored in the body, resulting in tensions and imbalance. A unique blend of Alexander technique, gestalt exercises and feldenkrais method will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing and working through deep feelings. Participants will explore changes in postural alignment through kinesthetic experiences. There will be time set aside for group experiments and individual work, including demonstrations of Alexander technique on participants. The group will spend an intensive Saturday and Sunday together with short breaks for lunch and dinner, so bring food to share. Saturday, 10-1, 3-6 & 7-10 p m; Sunday, 10 a m-1 p m.

esalen college program

Arthur Fox, Director

Board of Advisors:

Moon Eng	Leo Litwak
Richard Farson	Norma Lyman
Janica Fox	Michael Murphy
Sam Keen	William Schutz
George Leonard	Martha Weinstein

For the past two years students enrolled at twenty colleges were also accepted by Esalen to study here and receive credit from their respective colleges. The Esalen College Program involves those students currently enrolled in any college or university in the U S or abroad who would like to spend a semester or longer at Esalen. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of academic credit at their schools for the program of study done at Esalen. The program includes: an advisor who coordinates the student's overall program, which is constructed from the workshop and seminar offerings regularly scheduled in the Esalen catalog; weekly group community meetings of the Esalen students and their advisor; and some courses or workshops specifically for students in the program. The wealth of people available within the Esalen orbit to teach courses and tutorials is enormous and provides a unique opportunity for the college and general population. We expect that most students will proceed from a broad exposure to concentrated study in one area.

Self-directed students interested in either more information and/or an application for admission, write to: Arthur Fox, College Program, Esalen, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

The following is a partial list of undergraduate and graduate schools which offer credit for work done in the Esalen College Program:

extended learning center

Esalen has expanded its present College Program into a center for longterm learning, involving people from all areas of the community. Many people who have attended workshops have expressed the need for some on-going sense; to see people again, to share experiences, to get advice on what programs to take, to get help to integrate the work into their lives and generally to be a part of a community of fellow seekers. The new Center is designed as a means through which people with a wide variety of occupations, ages, experiences and orientations can come together to learn, complementing and enriching each others' explorations and thereby forming a community of learners. Highly individualized programs are possible within this model. The Extended Learning Center has the same features as the College Program including discounts on workshops and courses in the Esalen catalog. The fee is $550 per three month period. For further information and application, contact Arthur Fox, Extended Learning Center, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

energetic studies

The Center for Energetic Studies, under the direction of Stanley Keleman, is a program of teaching, workshops and publishing concerned with the development of biological form as the basis for identity, experience and expression—how individuals form both themselves and their worlds. Programs are led by Keleman and invited leaders who explore the human condition from the perspective of how we inhabit our bodies and embody our emotions. Workshops and seminars form a curriculum for developing deepening understanding of the biological roots of experience and its implications for personal and cultural expression. There is no training program at the center; life experience as seen from the energetic perspective is applicable to all fields, and is neither substituted for nor accomplished by training in techniques. Programs are offered which encourage contact with the work through contact with oneself, and assist in integrating experience with special areas of interest.

October 5
Paths / George Downing
One-day workshop $25

Using an approach combining gestalt and energetic techniques, we will try to experience the messages our bodies are sending us about where we have been, our contact in the now, and what wishes to emerge in us. 10 a m to 5 p m.

October 6-November 1
Becoming / Ian Grand
Three one-day workshops & one five-day workshop $175

An extended workshop to celebrate the mystery of our forming ourselves and our worlds. We will concern ourselves with the patterns and qualities, rhythms and spaces of our embodied histories, and the ways in which the new is revealed and formed in us. Energetic approaches, dance and song will be used. Three day-long workshops October 6, 13 & 20, 10 a m to 6 p m, followed by a five-day workshop, Monday-Friday, October 28-November 1, 10 a m to 5 p m each day. Deposit of $50 required.

October 11, 12 & 25
The Integrated Body / Nancy K Jungerman
Evening & two one-day workshops $55

Our bodies are our bridge to the development of intuition, imagination and creativity. Using fantasy, dreams and energetic approaches, the group will explore the interrelationship of body processes, dream experiences, imagery and intuition as expressions of life experience. Friday, October 11, 7-10 p m; Saturday, October 12, 10 a m to 5 p m; and Saturday, October 25, 10 a m to 5 p m.

November 2-3
The Human Voice / Stanley Keleman & Robert Parks
Weekend workshop $65

The human voice expresses the full range of human emotions and reveals the qualities of the person. There is no voice without a body. This experiential workshop deals with how we handle excitation with our bodies and with our voices. We will deal with how the excitatory process finds expression in the voice. 10 a m to 6 p m each day.

November 8-22
Tutorial with Stanley Keleman
Three Friday afternoons $30

Suggested reading: Sexuality, Self & Survival; The Human Ground; Living Your Dying. Especially for college students. 2-5:30 p m, November 8, 15 and 22.

November 9
Grounding / George Downing
One-day workshop $25

How we relate to the ground beneath determines what kind of world we let emerge around us; its rhythm and space, its possibilities for contact with others, its wonder. We will use a gestalt and energetic approach to explore in what ways we may be keeping ourselves from a more complete personal grounding. 10 a m to 5 p m.

psychosynthesis

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal-keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced actualization of one's life.

Esalen Institute Psychosynthesis Programs are offered in cooperation with the Psychosynthesis Institute, and are coordinated by its directors, Jim and Susan Vargiu.

October 26-December 8
Psychosynthesis Professional Training Series
John & Heidi Firman, Steven Kull & Jim Vargiu
Weekend, six Wed. eves, one day & individual sessions. $280

A program designed for psychotherapists, educators, counselors and others involved in the helping professions. The group will explore the fundamentals of psychosynthesis, theoretically and experientially, in a coordinated program designed to give each participant both the understanding and the personal experience needed to begin to utilize and apply psychosynthesis within his own field.

The program includes: identification and harmonization of subpersonalities—integration of body, feelings, and mind—guided daydream principles and practice—release and utilization of psychological energies—a model of personality in terms of energy fields—creativity and imagination—Height Psychology, and Transpersonal Self, and the superconscious—symbols and the development of intuition—the inner dialogue—meditation principles and practice—optimum utilization of current major approaches to growth. We will work together so that each can recognize the process of psychosynthesis at work both in himself and in the others. There will be assignments and exercises to complete between meetings. In addition, each participant will have one private psychosynthesis session, and will have the opportunity to observe two sessions of other members of the group. Further individual work during the six week period can

Family Sculpture / Sylvia Schmidt

One-day workshop $25

A workshop based on the unique method of family sculpture developed by the Boston Family Institute. We will explore our original formation in the interpersonal ground of our family system in relation to our identities in our present life space. Working together, we will construct in space, movement and time silent movies of our family systems. Family attendance is welcome but not required for full participation in the workshop. 10 a m to 6 p m.

November 30-December 1

Experience, Literature & the Life of the Body
Peter Marin

Weekend workshop $50

The life of the body takes us always toward the world of experience, and in that world our most passionate and intelligent guides are artists and seers as often as they are therapists. This weekend is an investigation of the wisdom of experience and bodily life to be found in literature, an attempt to discover there the knowledge which must be alive at the heart of any decent therapy. Tolstoy, Lawrence, Blake, Rilke, Yeats, Camus—these writers and others all have something to teach us about experience and the voice in which it must be spoken.

December 8 Paths / George Downing. See description, Oct 5, p 18.

December 14-15, 17 & 19

The Imaginative Life & the Bodily Life
Stanley Keleman & Peter Marin

Weekend & two evening workshops $95

This workshop will deal with the body and the imagination as expressions of an excitatory process. Experience of the body deepens imagination, which nourishes and enriches the feelings with which we create our world. Without the body, there is no imagination and the imagination is necessary to a full experience and deepening of bodily life. 10 a m to 6 p m, December 14-15; Tuesday, December 17 and Thursday, December 19, 7-10 p m.

December 2-6

The Body & Myth: An Experiential Seminar with Joseph Campbell, Sam Keen & Stanley Keleman

Five-day program $175

The human animal gives birth to myths and symbols which shape bodily life. We are myth-making animals. We live the myths we create, and the myths create our humanity. They touch every aspect of our lives: religion, sexuality, politics, economics.

The relation of myth and the body will be approached from three perspectives: a. The pivotal myth of East and West about the body; the way Kundalini power, chakras and reincarnation have shaped Eastern society and psyche; and soul and body, mind and matter, and resurrection have shaped Western culture. b. The personal myths emerging out of our life process that are expressed as our biographies and body form. c. The possibility emerging from contemporary philosophy and psychology that biological and symbolic experience are interdependent expressions of a common process.

The seminar will center on the theme of how one participates in the personal and cultural world of mythology as both symbol-maker and body simultaneously.

Deposit of $50 required, partial tuition scholarships available. Room and board will be available at the program facility at an additional fee of $100. Please send a brief letter of application telling about your interest in the program to Body & Myth, Center for Energetic Studies, c/o Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

be arranged. Advanced training following this program is also available.

October 4-6

The Process of Psychosynthesis
Tom & Anne Yeomans

Weekend workshop $50

Rooted within each of us is a deep tending toward wholeness and an inherent urge to make more sense and meaning of our lives. However, much of our experience as we grow slows this purpose within us and we often become painfully distracted and blocked in attempts to realize our true selves. Psychosynthesis enables a person to recognize these difficulties on whatever level they exist (physical, emotional, mental or spiritual) and to learn gradually how to release him or herself to the natural processes of growth and inner integration. To do this, it draws on a wide range of psychological and spiritual approaches. In this workshop we will focus on 1) recognition and acceptance of the psychosynthetic process and the blocks within each of us; 2) inner work aimed at beginning to remove these blocks and releasing and redirecting the newly available energies; 3) exploration of the nature and dynamics of transpersonal and spiritual experience and a search for ways in which its quality and energies can increasingly infuse and transform our daily lives. It is designed for those with no previous experience with psychosynthesis as well as for those who, having had some, would like to continue their work.

The Use of Mental Imagery in Psychosynthesis
Mark Horowitz

Single evening event $3

The mind is like a garden. Not only can we learn to plant the seeds that we want to grow, but we can also learn to inhibit the growth of weeds. In this evening presentation we will explore mental imagery as an organic method for working on our "mind garden." 8-10:30 p m; 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

December 15

The Tailor Re-tailored / John & Heidi Firman

One-day workshop $25

"Happy he who can look through the Clothes of a Man . . . into the Man himself; and discern . . . an inscrutable venerable Mystery." (Thomas Carlyle, Sartor Resartus). We all have been spending our lives sewing ourselves clothes to appear in different inner and outer situations. We will have the opportunity in this workshop to rediscover the tailor in us, who frequently gets lost in the clothing. Growth can be seen as a process of changing clothes, and the tailor's viewpoint can alter the process from compulsive drudgery into playful, purposeful art. 10 a m-9 p m.

October 7-December 11

Massage Training / Brenda Sales & Jane Walter

Ten week–100 hour course $310

Initially we will be concerned with developing ease and sensitivity with our hands and allowing ourselves to become quiet. Then a variety of massage techniques will be taught with an emphasis on the development of a personal style and a responsiveness to another as an individual, unique in needs and pleasures. The ten week course will consist of 100 hours of class work–two four-hour classes per week in massage instruction with carefully supervised practice. These classes will include a one hour movement session per week. There are also ten classes in human anatomy and physiology taught by William Brostoff, MD. The anatomy course is limited to 25 participants and is also open to the general public. We invite participants who would like to be trained as professional masseurs and masseuses, or who would like to use more touching in their work–all who want to use massage to enrich their lives.

Massage Class: 7 to 11 p m: Ten Monday and Wednesday evenings, October 7-December 11. Limited to 18 participants.

Anatomy Class: 7:30 to 9:30 p m: Ten Tuesday evenings, October 8-December 10.

$150 non-refundable deposit required. For more information, contact the instructors through Esalen. (Course to be offered again in Spring, 1975.)

October 8-December 10

Bio-Anatomy / William Brostoff

Ten Tuesday evenings $90

This is a basic course in human anatomy, particularly for students of massage and other healing arts. Emphasis will be placed on the neuromuscular system, the nature and function of various tissues, and the generation of energy in the body. Students will be encouraged to develop both objective and intuitive ways of perception. Material for study will include our own bodies, anatomy charts and models, as well as clinical and laboratory items of interest. Limited to 25. 7:30-9:30 p m. $50 non-refundable deposit required.

October 19-December 6

Bridging the Gap: A Workshop in Self-Observation Training / Bob Kriegel & Jeffrey Landau

Extended growth program $115

Many of us have developed reliable patterns for experiencing situations in our lives whether they are at home, work or in a group. Often these patterns, although once useful, are now outdated and actually detrimental to leading fulfilling lives. The purpose of this workshop is to develop the calm centered place within ourselves from which we can observe our actions and expand the number of choices that we have available in any given situation, thus allowing for the possibility of change and growth. Themes that are applicable to our everyday lives will be used in conjunction with encounter, gestalt and psychosynthesis techniques as well as massage, play and creative exercises.

The program will begin with an intensive weekend during which the skills of self-observation will be taught and practiced. During the next two months there will be two one-day workshops, each followed by an extended evening session devoted to the integration of these skills into our daily lives. To facilitate the self-observation process, participants will be expected to keep diaries which will be reviewed monthly. Limited to 12. October 19-20, Nov 10, Dec 1 and two evening meetings to be determined by the group.

November 2-May 4

Extended Growth Program / George Downing

Six month program $550

The Extended Growth Program is an in-depth, continuing six-month program in the San Francisco Bay Area; it combines a selected schedule of workshops with ongoing small group work under the direction of the program coordinator, George Downing. As a non-resident program in an urban area, it provides a way for persons to experience directed and focused work in several disciplines while living and working in their own environment.

George Downing writes: "This year's program will provide an opportunity to explore and to integrate a number of different pathways toward personal growth. Our focus will be on the body as the source and center of our being; and on our individual styles of making contact, both with ourselves and with other persons. We will make extensive use of gestalt, meditation and dream journals, and a variety of methods of working intensively with the body, including breath awareness, Feldenkrais techniques, movement, Esalen massage, polarity therapy and others. An intellectual as well as an emotional understanding of our shared experience will be encouraged."

The program will consist of the following, all in the San Francisco area: continuous group work with George Downing during the six-month period, specifically one evening meeting per week; two weekend workshops with George Downing (November 2-3 and May 3-4); one special workshop for program members only with Stanley Keleman; and three weekend programs to be selected by participants according to individual interest from regularly scheduled Esalen/San Francisco workshops during the November through April period. A month will be taken off for Christmas vacation from mid-December to mid-January.

Interested persons, please apply early; write briefly about yourself to: Esalen Longterm Programs, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. Limited to 16. George Downing will interview between October 1 and November 1.

November 2-December 8

Demystifying the Group Process / David Schiffman

Extended growth program $150

This program will provide an opportunity to explore the basic elements underlying group process and individual growth. We will examine techniques, strategies and theoretical components inherent in all forms of personal interaction and the use of specific themes in facilitating focus and flow in group sessions. Some of the themes to be covered include: Growth Through Risk Taking; The Creative Use of Passion and Struggle; the Transmutation of Sexually Embodied Roles; Integrating Transcendent Energy with Personal Forms and Behavior; Witnessing Pain Without Becoming It; and The Healing Aspects of Humor. We will work within an experiential and didactic framework with each participant having the opportunity to utilize newly synthesized skills and information by acting in the capacity of group leader. This workshop is particularly useful for people in the helping professions. However, it is open to anyone who would like to clarify and refine his/her understanding of a process which has normally been considered too intuitive to be grasped cognitively.

The program consists of two weekend workshops: November 2-3 and December 7-8 and five evening meetings November 7, 14, 21, 25 and December 5.

Limited to 16 persons, early application is recommended to avoid disappointment. Selection will be made by David Schiffman between October 1-28. If you are interested in applying, send a letter telling us briefly about yourself to Program Coordinator, Esalen/San Francisco, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123.

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this process.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement – to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness – to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility – to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to techniques. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS: see definition on page 18

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION (ROLFING)

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi Chuan is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese philosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

friends of esalen MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

☐ I wish to become a Friend of Esalen and I enclose my check for the category I have circled.

☐ I wish to renew my membership in Friends of Esalen.

The Human Experience: Transitions & Transformations

Coordinated by

Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

A six-week, interdisciplinary institute for professionals and graduate students in the fields of medicine, behavioral sciences, psychotherapy, education, anthropology, and philosophy.

Under the direction of Stan and Joan Grof, Esalen/Big Sur is gathering some 25 faculty members to offer over 200 curriculum hours of theoretical and experiential sessions covering developments in three major areas: I—individual and group psychotherapy and self-exploration practice; II—healing; III—altered states of consciousness.

TRACK I: Psychotherapy and Self-Exploration Practice
The major emphasis of this track will be on: gestalt awareness training, a theory and approach to personality integration developed by Fritz Perls; exploration of interpersonal relations by various encounter techniques; psychosynthesis; a psychological/educational approach developed by Roberto Assagioli which facilitiates recognition and harmonization of inner conflicts. Leaders who have pioneered in each of these approaches will provide theoretical background and conduct experiential workshops with participants.

TRACK II: Healing.
This track will consist of a historic overview and cross-cultural survey of healing; analysis of shamanism; mythological/religious parallels to re-emerging models of mind/body/spirit; comparison of indigenous and ancient healing practices with modern therapies; the relevance of anthropology to the delivery of health care; practical application of innovative therapies. Participants will be introduced to such healing techniques as acupuncture, polarity massage, structural integration, and psychic healing.

TRACK III: States of Consciousness.
This track will focus on unusual states induced by psychedelic drugs and various non-drug techniques. Individual units will cover: historical and cross-cultural perspectives of psychedelic drug use; laboratory research of consciousness and psychedelics; psychophysiological comparison of the LSD-induced state and schizophrenia; the use of psychedelic drugs in psychotherapy, including work with dying individuals; maps of consciousness emerging from LSD research; metaphysical issues arising in psychedelic sessions. Special emphasis will be on the application of this knowledge to the areas of drug abuse, crisis intervention, and various forms of psychotherapy. Non-drug technology (such as the sensory isolation tank) for inducing altered states of consciousness will be available for supervised use by participants.

Regular Esalen weekend workshops, scheduled in the catalog, will be open to participants for an additional $23.00 per weekend workshop.

Faculty:

Gregory Bateson	Peggy Morrison
Helen Bonny	Kenneth Pelletier

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 29 OCTOBER 4

The Psychotic Opportunity*
Howard Levene, Stanley Mayerson, Richard Price & Paul Rebillot

This workshop is designed for professionals who wish to explore alternatives to the strictly medical model of understanding and treating madness. The workshop will approach psychosis as a potentially growth promoting experience. Emphasis will be given to: 1) the meaningfulness of the psychotic experience when it is viewed as a reorganizational process, rather than as an "illness," 2) the potential positive outcomes of the psychotic episode for the "patient" when emphasis is placed on "growth" rather than on "remission," 3) the process of establishing a creative relationship with the psychotic individual and his family, and 4) the process of establishing residential communities which offer asylum rather than control, either chemically or otherwise, for individuals who find themselves in this particular reality.

The workshop is designed to have experiential and didactic components. Experientially, we will attempt to connect with our own "madness" through gestalt, bioenergetics, active imagination, and improvisational exercises. Didactically we will describe our work as well as explore the works of Laing, Lidz, Haley, Perls, Perry, and Jung. $270

 for professionals and students in the mental health field.*
(Note change from previous catalog.)*

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $270

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

WEEKEND OF OCTOBER 4-6

Human Potential, Theory & Practice
John Heider

"The human potential" is the capacity to become increasingly conscious or aware of what is happening in the here and now.

Human potential practice is awareness training. Body work teaches somatic awareness. Encounter and gestalt teach psychological awareness. Meditation teaches spiritual awareness.

This workshop will integrate body work, encounter, gestalt and systems of meditation. While the workshop will be primarily experiential, time will be allotted for discussion of human potential theory.

Suitable for professionals and non-professionals alike. $110

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

Many of us are operating as tape recorders. We switch on in the morning at "high" or "low" speed and play our stock of tapes in response to the buttons being pushed by people or events. We are vaguely aware that life seems repetitive, or dull, that time is often something to be gotten through instead of savored, but this awareness is lost in the "noise" and business of day to day living.

This weekend will be devoted to bringing our attention to what we are doing—how we are really acting and thinking. Once we are aware of our tapes, we can go off automatic and begin to enjoy our interactions with one another. We will be using gestalt process, encounter, sensory awareness and other techniques to tune in to ourselves and each other. $100

Massage Workshop for Couples
Peggy Morrison & Richard Horan

Limited to 16. $110

Our perception of three cylinders of identical size reveals that the brain has an eye of its own.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 6-11

Gestalt Workshop / Esalen Staff

$240

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

For Reservation Information, see page 54

October 6-November 1

Health Month:
for those interested in their own health and for those in the health professions.
Coordinator: John McCamy

This four-week workshop has three objects: 1) to provide the environment and the time for participants to accomplish a significant improvement in their health and well-being; 2) to offer Dr. McCamy's preventive medicine program—a simple, workable presentation of health information and practice—so that participants will be able to continue their own program after the workshop and also have a useful, professional tool to help others; 3) to extend the preventive medicine practice into approaches to physical/emotional/spiritual balance practiced at Esalen.

During the four 5-day periods, the general format (subject to priorities arising in the group) will be:

MORNING SESSIONS (roughly 10-12 a m) with Dr. McCamy: lectures and discussion on such material as preventive medicine theory and practice; Dr. McCamy's four-point program of nutrition, exercise, stress reduction and ecological awareness; personal prevention models; prediction techniques; role of alternative therapies and the body/mind continuum; social, government, business application of preventive models, etc.

AFTERNOON SESSIONS (roughly 3-5:30 p m) will emphasize body work, including massage sessions at the baths, movement; introductions to such "alternative therapies" as acupuncture, rolfing (structural integration), bio-energetics, yoga, flower-healing, etc.

EVENING SESSIONS (roughly 8:30-10:30 p m) will focus on individual and group process in gestalt and encounter modes to explore emotional patterns which may be constricting vitality and health.

WEEKENDS—two weekends are set aside for free time. The 3rd weekend, Oct. 25-27 is "Living in Your Body," a workshop with Emmett Miller, M D (see p).

DAILY—before-breakfast meetings at the baths for chanting and meditation; aerobics and stretching exercises at noon and 5:30 p m.

There will be free afternoons and evenings at periodic intervals. Participants should bring comfortable clothes for exercise and outdoors. Suggested reading: Human Life Styling by John McCamy, M D, to be published in September by Harper & Row. (If not available prior to workshop time, it will be in the Esalen Big Sur bookstore.) Participating leaders: Barbara Braunstein, Al Drucker, Joan Fiore, Deborah Medow, Peggy Morrison, Hector Prestera, Christine S Price, Richard Price, Gabrielle Roth, Beverly Silverman, Julian Silverman, Ellen Stevens, Janet Zuckerman. Cost: $1150 (See scholarship information, p 54.)

WEEKEND OF OCTOBER 11-13

Myth & Identity
Rollo May & Sam Keen

We are all living in myth. This weekend is an exploration of classical myths, personal myths and the myths of our culture. $110

Pattern & Purpose / Gregory Bateson

People are in some ways more complex than plants and animals; but if you want to gather tools for thinking about people, it is worthwhile to take a good look at order and pathology among plants and animals. This workshop will include field observation and discussion of how what can be seen in a Big Sur canyon (or beach) relates to other aspects of the human experience. $110

STUDENT GROUPS

To enable a wider range of young people to attend Esalen, we are offering a weekend "sleeping bag" rate to groups of students during the September to May period. These weekends are designed to allow the students the experience of a variety of Esalen activities such as gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis, movement, massage, meditation . . .
The rate is $55 per student with a minimum of 10 students required. This includes meals from Friday dinner through Sunday lunch. Please write for information and available dates to: Christine Price, Student Groups, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

WEEK OF OCTOBER 13-18

Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman
$270

Inspiration & the Power of the Body: New Tools for Psycho-Physical Development
Dyveke & Mike Spino

The inevitable dilemma of mind/body involvement is to develop techniques for both excellence and fun. This workshop offers keys to enhance enjoyment and performance by presenting some revolutionary training tools for sports and games. Beginning with over-all body conditioning and focusing on tennis and running, we will integrate the work of athletic masters such as Mihaly Igloi and Percy Wells Cerutty with the spiritual aspect of sport being developed at Esalen. This experience brings you to the peak of mind/body integration, matching literature, books, manuscripts and poems with a psycho-physical program, allowing each person to construct a personally satisfying training ritual. This week can change your entire notion of physical exercise. $270

Bridging the Gap— A Workshop in Self-Observation Training / Bob Kriegel & Jeffrey Landau

Many of us have developed reliable patterns for experiencing situations in our lives whether they are at home, work or in a group. Often these patterns, although once useful, are now outdated and actually detrimental to leading fulfilling lives.

The purpose of this workshop is to develop the calm centered place within ourselves from which we can observe our actions and expand the number of choices that we have available in any given situation, thus allowing for the possibility of change and growth. Themes that are applicable to our everyday lives will be used in conjunction with encounter, gestalt and psychosynthesis techniques as well as massage, play and creative exercises. $270

Simulations of God & Indeterminancy
John & Antoinette Lilly

Each of us tends to value certain beliefs/disbeliefs above all others. The current belief systems can be voluntarily modified through our thinking and our feeling. Those particular beliefs which we consider to be most important are called, for purposes of discussion, simulations of God. Typical simulations are God as Sex, God as Wisdom, God as War, God as Power, God as Beauty, etc. Beliefs and disbeliefs generate certainty in an essentially indeterminate universe. Experiential and experimental. $175 plus $2 video fee

Feldenkrais Weekend / Ruth Alon

The Feldenkrais method of functional coordination is learned through a widely varied series of gently graduated exercises. The practice emphasizes heightened awareness of ways of moving and results in increased capacity and ease of movement. As physical patterns change, mental and emotional stresses can be decreased, allowing a more open flow of creativity. Individual regimens will be taught in cases of special problems. $100

The Einstein solar telescope in Potsdam.

MEDIA CENTER

"Oh, would some Power the giftie gi'e us
To see ourselves as others see us."

The Esalen Media Center has video recording services available for individuals interested in working privately, or in twos and threes. If you wish to explore every aspect of your visual self—how you use your body, how your self-image compares with your real image—the video camera offers you instant feedback.

Studio and operator: $15 per hour, including playback time. If you wish to purchase the videotape, there is an additional charge.

(Leaders wishing to retain the use of video for groups must arrange this with the program coordinator at the time the group is scheduled.)

WEEK OF OCTOBER 20-25

Experiencing Esalen
The Experiencing Esalen Staff

For description, see p 33. $240

The Greater Gestalt / Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

Improvising together, we will create and explore our laughter, sadness and rage. Our synthesis of Perlsian gestalt, Esalen encounter and massage, joined with Arica consciousness-expanding exercises works to dissolve your blocks to expression. $300

WEEKEND OF OCTOBER 25-27

The Greater Gestalt / Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

See October 20-25, above. $110

Come as You Are / Paul Rebillot

The focus is your uniqueness. Using gestalt, dance, improvisation and ritual magic, we will delve into the mysteries of your mythology and bring your fantasies and visions' to life through creative self expression. We will use video as one way to express ourselves to ourselves. $100 plus $2 video fee

WEEK OF OCTOBER 27 NOVEMBER 1

Opening the Feelings: A Radix Neo-Reichian Workshop
Laura Dillon & Eleanor Southers

For description, see p 35 $270

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The South Coast Center, located a mile and a half north of Esalen, is a living center for people who would like to be in contact with Esalen and its facilities but who are not interested in an intensive workshop program. Studios (room, balcony and bath) are available for $350 per month, including linens and weekly cleaning. Meals may be purchased at Esalen either singly or by the month. A monthly meal ticket is $180. Many South Coast residents have set up their own light-cooking facilities, taking occasional meals at Esalen. Laundryroom privileges for a nominal monthly charge. Heated pool and sauna. South Coast studios may be reserved through the Esalen Big Sur office.

WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 1-3

Experiencing Esalen
The Experiencing Esalen Staff

For description, see p 33. $100

A No-title Workshop / Grace Stern

This is a workshop of substance and about form, given by you, me and the universe. Its substance will be in the being; its form will be in the doing. Together you and I will explore our universe through all ways to one way and one way to all ways.

We will seriously play in: being comfortable, exploring our extraordinary states in consciousness, meditation, Feldenkrais body movements, breath movement, chanting in the baths, centering our energy fields, cosmic spontaneity.

In our doing we will discover ways in which we describe creation while in our being we will experience that which cannot be described. $100

Seeing/Finding a Workable Inner Model
Helen Palmer

Focusing, breathing and visualization techniques useful in developing psychic perception.

Since the forms of inner perception vary from person to person, emphasis will be placed on developing a workable personal model. The techniques are drawn from traditional meditative trainings, with parallel application to everyday situations. $100

Encounter & Massage / Harry Sloan

We will explore how we touch each other verbally and non-verbally, how to communicate what we are feeling and how to ask for what we want. $110

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

WEEK OF NOVEMBER 3-8

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Massage Intensive
The Esalen Massage Crew

The Esalen massage crew, with its unique variety of approaches and styles, will teach basic techniques for giving and receiving massage, both for immediate relaxation of tension and as a way of caring. Emphasis here is on deepening the quality of touch-communication and heightening awareness of the energy flow between the body in motion and the body at rest.

The group will meet daily at the mineral baths. Limited to 16. $240

Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

$270

Mountaineering Aesthetics Along the Big Sur Coast
Michael Tobias & Carol Macgee

This workshop will combine new ways of exploring and experiencing the mountains and coastal shoreline in Big Sur. Technical alpinism, the art of bouldering, meditation, centering, hiking disciplines and mountain lore will be ways which can provide unique insights into ourselves, the group and the environment. $245

November 3-22
Leadership Training / Will Schutz

For those experienced in leading groups or who, through their personal experience, are now ready to lead groups.

The workshop will include: 1) being a member of a group led by the workshop leader, 2) leading the group and receiving a critique, 3) demonstrations and discussions of various techniques and theory.

FIRST WEEK: Emphasis on interpersonal

SECOND WEEK: Emphasis on individual

THIRD WEEK: Emphasis on psychic and transpersonal

Weekends free. Daily body work (Feldenkrais, etc.) Bring clothes suitable for jogging. Purification and weight-stabilization diet (5-15 days, voluntary and recommended).

Guest experts will participate in some group meetings.

Applicants must provide biographical data to: Schutz Leadership Training Program, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA, 93920 by October 15.

Limited to 15 participants. $900. (Video feedback sessions available to workshop members at an additional $10 per person video fee.)

Direct Psychoanalysis / John N. Rosen

This seminar incorporates lecture, discussion, and a demonstration of Dr. Rosen's methods of treating psychosis through Direct Psychoanalysis. $110

Aikido / Bob Nadeau

Through the physical art of aikaido we will work with a psychological and philosophical approach to movement. We will learn how to observe attitudes in motion and how to make corrections and improvements on those attitudes leading to a more complete mind/body unity. $110

Selective Awareness & Self Hypnosis
Emmett Miller

The present-day student of health recognizes that the vast majority of physical disease patterns and essentially all psychological problems are merely the result of faulty programming of the "Human Biocomputer." Yet seldom can either physician or patient make use of this well demonstrated fact. The reason for the paradox is simple; you must know the language in order to talk to a computer (Garbage in; Garbage out). Selective Awareness is self-applied, using your conscious mind, in a state of deep relaxation and concentration, to systematically explore and experience your world of experience and memory within. We will investigate selective consciousness through autosuggestion; the elimination of unwanted symptoms, habits and emotional response patterns; effective learning, listening, communication; and body awareness. $110

WEEK OF NOVEMBER 10-15

Movement & Metaphysics
Anne Armstrong & Gabrielle Roth

We are all psychic. The purpose of this group is to demonstrate your psychic potential to you. Working as a group, we will ground our consciousness with movement and open our beings with chanting and sound. We will explore the realms of ESP, clairvoyance and precognition vicariously through the activities of psychic Anne Armstrong and directly through exercises and adventures in the group. Readings will come spontaneously as we tune into ourselves and each other. $300

Trans-parent Growing / Janet Lederman

Our natural process of unfolding into adulthood is constantly interfered with in the automated, technological, mass-produced culture into which we have been born. In this workshop, we shall re-parent our child selves, exploring a more organic approach to finding our own personal rhythm of contact, coping, and withdrawal. Minimum age: 14 yrs, maximum age 125 yrs. $270

How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World?
Arthur & Janica Fox

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques, including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies. $270

The Inner Road to Health
Al Drucker & Barbara Braunstein

This is a workshop for staying well. Health results when there is harmony between the body-mind and the soul. This comes from observing good habits of living and taking in good food, both material and spiritual. As we clear out the thick underbrush of our worldly attachments we discover a path that leads from the everchanging external world, experienced through the mind and senses, to the calm unchanging, joyfilled, inner world of the soul, experienced through the heart. We will travel this path, developing a daily practice that will cleanse body, mind and spirit and take us step by step inside.

November is usually warm and sunny in Big Sur so, God willing, much of the time will be spent outside—at the baths, by the sea, in the canyon and on the lawn. $270

WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 15-17

Finding Your Own Way / Lenore Lefer

The way we choose to be and live our lives is limited by our perceptions and attitudes about ourselves. To broaden and illuminate these perceptions, we will explore our untapped energy resources. With richer alternatives and choices available, finding our own way will be a nourishing experience.

Gestalt awareness, encounter, guided daydreams and psychosynthesis techniques will be among the tools used on our search. $110

Deepening the Experience of the Self with Movement, Music, Meditation & Massage
Barbara Clemans

You are already more beautiful, more loving, more gentle and more perfect than you think you are. Establish your connection with this self, using: music to relax and sensitize the body, allowing the unconscious to emerge; Feldenkrais directed awareness movement to alter uncomfortable fixed patterns; creative movement to establish individual uniqueness; meditation to quiet inner voices and massage to establish group contact and support. $110

Psychosynthesis: Who Are You?
Heidi Firman & Diana Becchetti

What kinds of answers do you have for this most basic question? Who is it in you that questions? Who is it that answers? Are any of the responses in conflict? As we begin to observe and listen to the various parts within us, we can discover a center distinct from the questions, the answers, and the conflicts. This workshop will provide an opportunity for you to connect with the energy and guidance of this center in order to explore these inner voices and create harmony among them. Together we will seek solutions which move us toward actualizing the very best within each of us, our most essential Self. $110

Experiencing Biocentric Therapy with Nathaniel Branden

This is a personal growth, experiential seminar, devoted to the themes of self-awareness, self-acceptance, self-responsibility and self-assertiveness. This work rests on the premise that self-esteem is a person's primary psychological need, that a deficiency of self-esteem underlies all psychological problems and that the essence of effective therapy consists of aiding the individual to develop or enhance self-esteem. In this workshop, I invite participants to explore some of the techniques and procedures I have found helpful in building self-esteem. $110

EXPERIENCING ESALEN

The Experiencing Esalen Staff

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on finding those approaches to self-liberation that work most effectively for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt awareness training, encounter, theater games, guided fantasy, meditation, bioenergetics, massage. There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

Schedule:	Oct. 20-25 ($240)	Dec. 22-27 ($240)
	Nov. 1-3 ($100)	Jan. 17-19 ($100)

The Experiencing Esalen Staff

For description, see p 33. $240

You & Universal Motion / Bob Nadeau

The physical conscious system operates in direct relationship to a larger energy activity or universal motion. It is important to recognize this activity as a "friend" and to learn to work in harmony with it. We will explore energy and our "marriage" with it through meditation, centering and body movement. $270

Parapsychology, Consciousness & Creativity
Stanley Krippner & Robert Craig

This experiential seminar will attempt to develop each person's creative ability through the utilization of paranormal abilities that manifest themselves during altered states of consciousness. Dream recall will be utilized as will guided imagery, massage, group hypnosis, sensory bombardment, body movement, and fantasy. In these states of consciousness, participants will be trained to gain access to the personal and universal symbols, archetypes, and thematic concepts which encourage creative development. In addition, the basic approaches to psychic healing will be discussed and experienced. Kirlian photography, a technique which demonstrates how altered consciousness also changes the bodily energies, will be discussed. Workshop participants will be given the opportunity to participate in telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition experiments during several different states of consciousness.

Suggested reading: Dream Telepathy, Ullman, Krippner & Vaughan; The Kirlian Aura, ed. Krippner & Rubin; The Secret Life of Plants, Tompkins & Bird; We Are All Healers, Hammond; Passages, A Guide for Pilgrims of the Mind, Anderson & Savary. $270

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. There will be a session with video for "taking a look" at ourselves. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $270 plus $2.00 video fee.

Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain: The Essence of T'ai Chi / Al Chung-liang Huang

Tao-like wind, like water. Learn to be in your element like fish in water and bird in flight. Centering with Al Huang is t'ai chi, brush calligraphy, discussions of the classics and the meditative arts. Play-music, theater and joyous dancing. Bring musical instruments, brush, ink set and papers. Bring yourself and leave your dictating mind behind. $270

Body Dynamics: "the body never lies"
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

Color, Reichian energetics, physical character analysis, techniques for vitalizing body energy centers, acupuncture principles, as well as concepts from rolfing and polarity therapy will be utilized to assist participants in freeing their body blocks. $110

Experiencing "Non-Ordinary" Communication
Chris Feldmann & Community for Conscious Evolution Staff

Experience the potential for non-verbal (non-body) communication. Too often communication becomes simply one person's set of ideas or beliefs interacting with another's. Communication of direct experience—your emotions, working energy, spirituality and intuitions—is often lost in an abundance of words and thoughts. We will begin by helping you contact these experiences and learn how to communicate from them, both verbally and nonverbally. And we will learn how to "see" others with fewer preconceptions and projections.

The elimination of needless and inaccurate chatter leads to a more dimensional, more honest communication. Honesty is the beginning of love. $100

Letting Go / Marilyn, Bob & Otis Kriegel

In this workshop we will practice being weightless, letting go of old burdens, troubles, and woes that tend to bog us down. A focus on joy and creative living will be our guide to "letting go."

Encounter, gestalt, and psychosynthesis will be used in addition to massage, meditation, play and an appreciation of the Big Sur Country. $110

Thanksgiving Celebration
Betty Fuller & Dub Leigh

A five-day workshop to experience that what is, is and what is not, is not. That being what's so, we'll discover what works and gets results, and learn to celebrate *every*thing life has to offer. Encounter-based, the group will also utilize gestalt process and awareness training, psychosynthesis, the body work of Moshe Feldenkrais and Ida Rolf, dynamic meditation and massage. Methods for living joyfully and effectively here/now will be explored in the whole group, small groups, two-and-three person encounters and in personal inner space for the essential encounter with self. Video feedback will be included.

Come give thanks and "celebrate the doing right and the being right of your heart." (Rilke) $300 plus $4 video fee.

Being "Together" / Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together," both with ourselves and with others. $270

November 24-December 20

Gestalt, Physical & Spiritual Practice
Richard Price & Esalen Staff

A 4-week residential program centered in daily gestalt sessions which are based in awareness of body and breath.

Gestalt is viewed not as a "therapy" but as a practice with strong affinities to a number of spiritual practices, especially those emerging from Taoism and Buddhism. Some of these will be experienced and discussed. Physical practice centers on forms coming out of spiritual traditions and on exercises developed by the students of Wilhelm Reich. Key concepts (which gain meaning only in practice) are awareness, responsibility, organic self-regulation.

Recommended reading: Tao Te Ching by Lao Tzu, translated by Gia-Fu Feng and Jane English; Gestalt Therapy Verbatim by F S Perls; The Anatomy of Mental Illness by Arthur Janov; Cutting Through Spiritual Materialism by Chogyam Trungpa; Selected Writings by Wilhelm Reich. $1150 (For scholarship information see p 54.)

Bioenergetics: Energy Release & Integration
Alan Schwartz

There is a tnedency for us to block the free flow of energy which allows us to live a life of freedom—freedom to express the range of emotions which make up the human being. Through bioenergetic techniques we will focus on opening the channels to free expression and the flow of energy. Integration of energy within the gestalt structure will enable us to deal with here-and-now issues which emerge. A video session will enable us to focus visually on our movement. $240 + $2 video fee

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 29 DECEMBER 1

Rites of Initiation / Paul Rebillot
with Pennell Rock

There seems to be a certain pattern accompanying each change of consciousness. Many cultures celebrate these changes with initiation rites that mark the transformation. The purpose of this weekend will be to explore the changes in our personal mythological dramas and create a rite of initiation that facilitates them. Techniques will be drawn from gestalt, encounter, bioenergetics and Arica training, and will include improvisation, incantation, movement and song. $110 plus $2 video fee

Present-Centered Bioenergetics / Michael Conant

This is a time for uniting and centering in our physical self. This is a time for working and being together as a group, using materials from bioenergetics, gestalt therapy, and the psychology of Wilhelm Reich; we'll also draw on experiments from other sources, Eastern and Western. This is a time for those who wish to find themselves within rather than search for a God without. Those for whom this distinction has become a bit blurred anyway are most welcome. $110

Psychic Readings
November 24-27

Doctor Georgiana Sagee, psychic and psychometrist, will be in residence at Esalen Big Sur from Sunday evening through Wednesday morning and will be available for private readings. Doctor Sagee, who had a Hollywood practice in psychic readings and consultations for 35 years (including 8 years at the well known Fairmont Hotel) currently lives in Fairfax, California. At Esalen she will be assisted by Marion Moore, Ms. B. Sandiago and Lileagh McCaffery who specialize in the areas of palmistry, healing and numerology. Appointments may be made in advance or after arrival, through the Esalen Big Sur office. Individual readings are $30 (roughly one hour.)

Something for Every Body
Barbara Clemans & Janet Zuckerman
Today it is generally recognized that what we call "body" and "psyche" are not separate entities, but rather two vehicles through which contemporary humans, with their rational divided vision, preceive themselves and others. They are also the vehicles through which individuals can realize and express their personal unity.

In this workshop we will approach unification of body and psyche. With the variety of techniques at our disposal—gestalt awareness, massage, Feldenkrais, encounter, psychosynthesis and creative movement with group interaction—we will work in whatever mode is appropriate to the group energy. Feelings and perceptions which emerge through direct body expression will be dealt with immediately in an atmosphere of group support and contact. $270

Radix Neo-Reichian Workshops

To grow in the capacity to experience and express deep feeling, to connect up with oneself and to contact others is the aim of this series of workshops which employ neo-Reichian techniques of emotional release. The Interscience Intensive, a period of individual work within a small group setting, is practised by Charles and Erica Kelley and their staff at the Interscience Work Shop. The Intensive, like other neo-Reichian techniques used in these workshops, grew from the discovery by Charles Kelley's teacher, Wilhelm Reich, of the way in which feeling is rooted in the flow of energy in the body, and is blocked by chronic muscular contractions which Reich called the muscular armor. Freeing the armor enables the student to open feeling that is buried and to soften and free feeling that is too strong and has been held in for fear of explosion.

In these workshops armor is softened by simultaneous work on the character and body, using techniques not only from Reich, but also from bioenergetics, sensory awareness and other body-oriented approaches. Groups will be kept small—never more than eight per leader, so that significant individual help can be given. Grief or pain, fear and rage that have been held in since childhood emerge in these workshops. As the participant accepts and works through these negative feelings, he discovers a new capacity for pleasure, trust and love. In time the sexual experience changes profoundly as tender and sexual feelings for the mate intensify and merge.

Participants will receive ten two-and-a-half to three hour sessions in a week, or four sessions in a weekend. They will receive two and sometimes three individual Intensives during a week, or one during a weekend. Neo-Reichian work will be done in groups and pairs in those sessions that do not include the intensive. This will add up to all of the deep emotional release work that a person can ordinarily take on a day-after-day basis.

Taking these workshops as a series will provide participants who are unable to get neo-Reichian work in their locality with a continuing program equivalent both in price and "power" to weekly classes. For those regularly enrolled, the special environment and facilities of Esalen Big Sur will help to speed their progress toward deep-seated change.

Schedule:

Oct 27-Nov 1:	Laura Dillon & Eleanor Southers
Dec 20-22:	Elaine Warburton & Roger Andes
Jan 12-17:	Laura Dillon, David Howard & Lara Amber

Continuum / Emilie Conrad with Continuum Staff
Participants in this experiential workshop will be learning a series of body meditations, which will take them back to the inner cellular movements of their bodies. Concentration will be on deep breathing exercises, and penetrating movements of the belly, solar plexus and spine. This life energy when properly channeled stimulates and expands the brain. Everything pulsates with powerful life force. Everything dances. Everyone dances. Human movement becomes a dialogue with one's own inner life. $270
(Please bring comfortable apparel, preferably tights and leotards.)

Getting Going in the Greater Gestalt
Jake Downing & Lyn Davis
Guided personal development, moving from the basic work of getting unstuck toward the place where you actually create yourself and your universe. We will be using Perlsian gestalt, encounter, massage and body work, Arica consciousness-expanding exercises. $300

Self Exploration Through Hypnosis
Lee Pulos & Irv g Katz

The emphasis in this workshop will be to teach the participants techniques and exercises which can be taken home and used daily after the weekend is over. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that the group members can focus in on themselves through hypnotically-induced dreams, automatic writing and ideo-motor questioning. Each participant will have the opportunity to use hypnosis for their own personal programming, habit changes and exploring the self through hypnotically guided fantasies. A feature of the weekend will be the use of hypnosis to extend our consciousness into paranormal and psychic dimensions. $110

Exploring Theology Experientially
George Sallaway & Bill Ross

A weekend drawing on the riches of the Old and New Testaments, seeking awareness of and integration of the present, personal meaning of revelation, incarnation, mercy and metanoia–re-surrection, re-membering and re-union. Double accent on getting our practice into theory and vice-versa. $110

WEEK OF DECEMBER 8-13

Human Potential, Theory & Practice
John Heider

"The human potential" is the capacity to become increasingly conscious or aware of what is happening in the here and now.

Human potential practice is awareness training. Body work teaches somatic awareness. Encounter and gestalt teach psychological awareness. Meditation teaches spiritual awareness.

This workshop will integrate body work, encounter, gestalt and systems of meditation. Though the workshop will be primarily experiential, time will be allotted for discussion of human potential theory.

Suitable for professionals and non-professionals alike. $270

A Massage Workshop
Peggy Morrison & Richard Horan

Limited to 16. $270

The Art of Self-direction / Lenore Lefer

In this workshop we will explore and examine the nature of self-direction and the ways in which we can increase it in our lives. The degree to which we can discover, direct and regulate our energies affects how productive, creative and joyful we will be. In an atmosphere that is supportive and nourishing we will use gestalt awareness, encounter, massage, and psychosynthesis techniques to learn and enhance the art of self direction. $270

You & Universal Motion / Bob Nadeau

The physical conscious system operates in direct relationship to a larger energy activity or universal motion. It is important to recognize this activity as a "friend" and learn to work in harmony with it. We will explore energy and our "marriage" with it through meditation, centering and body movement. $270

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

Many of us are operating as tape recorders. We switch on in the morning at "high" or "low" speed and play our stock of tapes in response to the buttons being pushed by people or events. We are vaguely aware that life seems repetitive, or dull, that time is often something to be gotten through instead or savored, but this awareness is lost in the "noise" and business of day to day living.

This weekend will be devoted to bringing our attention to what we are doing—how we are really acting and thinking. Once we are aware of our tapes, we can go off automatic and begin to enjoy our interactions with one another. We will be using gestalt process, encounter, sensory awareness and other techniques to tune in to ourselves and each other. $100

A Body Workshop for Professionals
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler

This workshop will present an overview of various energetic/body therapy approaches. Particular emphasis will be on body character analysis. Material will be drawn from Rolf, Reich and acupuncture principles. (Offered to those in the health professions.) $110

Living in your Body / Emmett Miller

The western health sciences, dedicated as they are to the medical and surgical treatment of existing disease processes, have provided few guidelines by which an individual can maintain his health before it fails. On the other hand, such approaches as those of the Chinese and the Indians seem much more productive of mental and physical health and longevity, though based on much weaker scientific grounds.

In this workshop we will explore the use of Selective Awareness, relaxation, dynamic tension (as opposed to the static tension of disease states) and body movement. Our approach will be based on the anatomical, neurological and psychological "reality" of the western health scientist as seen through the introspective self-awareness techniques of meditation and self hypnosis. Bring a sweatsuit or warmup clothes, as physical exercise and dancing will be an integral part of the experience. $110

Raising Energy / Bernard Gunther

We are all fields of energy living in an energy field. Our potential is limitless, yet we frequently find ourselves operating in fatigue and limitation. This damming of the Self is caused by excessive tension, shallow breathing, toxic relationships and non-focused thought which robs the organism of vitality and pleasure. How to tap this infinite supply of energy, how to rechannel and raise sexual energy, and how to apply this knowledge in everyday activity will be the task of this seminar. In this work we will explore aspects of yoga, gestalt, psychosynthesis and meditation to experience more fully our flow of vital and psychic energy. $110

Touching the Energy Body / Bernard Gunther

Within/beyond the physical-emotional-mental body is the invisible etheric body. Here in this subtle center of you is being, feeling, inspiration, energy, healing, pleasure beyond intensity—a finer reality beyond the transitory duality of thoughts, emotions and senses, the flowing harmonious spirit that is: I AM.

In this workshop we will focus on the seven etheric energy centers (chakras) as well as breathing, psychosynthesis, hypnosis, relaxation, meditation and thought to make contact with and rejuvenate your source self. $270

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques and video feedback, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $270 plus $2 video fee.

weekend of december 20-22

Bodymind / Will Schutz

The workshop will integrate the Feldenkrais exercises with fantasy and encounter. Everyone will be given an opportunity to experience several exercises followed by a fantasy, then in an encounter group to deal with the material generated. The aim is for a more complete integration of each person's organism. $110

A Weekend Workshop in Self Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The objective of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her/himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of gestalt, meditation, encounter and video will be used. $110

An Integrative Approach to Self Actualization
Ilana Rubenfeld

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion—so mind and body are one!

The focus in this workshop will be on experiencing one's own body and emotions as a total organism. Emotions and memories are often stored in our bodies, resulting in tension and imbalance. A unique blend of gestalt, Alexander technique, Feldenkrais exercises and deep muscle work will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing and working through deep feelings.

We have the choice to contact ourselves and each other with joy, sadness, compassion, humor, ideas and with the body—the whole person.

Video feedback will be available and massage staff will be on hand to assist the workshop. $270 plus $2 video fee

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

Pathways to Sensuality / Sylvia Kars

The aim of this workshop is to open participants to a variety of ways to communicate with a partner, both verbally and through touch, so that each partner's pleasure and spontaneity is heightened. Workshop members will do a graduated series of sensuality enhancement exercises and will learn how to combine their own knowledge and experience with new sensory awareness and communication principles. The goal is to create a balance of active and passive situations for each partner so that each can benefit from the experience of the other. A safe, non-threatening environment is carefully established; no one has to do anything he or she does not want to do. Feedback sessions after each exercise provide the opportunity for increasing awareness and sensitivity between partners.

Workshop begins clothed and clothing then becomes optional. Couples will be given preference, but it is not necessary to bring a partner to attend. Explicit sexual behavior is not permitted within the context of this workshop; this is a workshop to enhance the experience of sensuality. $100

Being "Together" / Bob, Marilyn & Otis Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together," both with ourselves and with others. $110

Renewing the Experience of the Self: Movement-Music-Meditation-Massage / Barbara Clemans

The holiday season with its expectations from the exterior world often leaves us confused and exhausted. Let us renew the experience of the self that is connected, deeply calm, awake and truly full of joy. We will use music to relax and sensitize the body, allowing the unconscious to emerge; Feldenkrais directed-awareness movement to alter uncomfortable fixed patterns; creative movement to establish individual uniqueness,; meditation to quiet inner voices and massage to establish group contact and support. $110

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $110

Don't Just Stand There / George & Judith Brown

A workshop focusing on the gestlat "goal" of learning to stand on your own two feet; in addition, what then to do as you become more able to support yourself. How to make choices, enjoy ambiguity, and synthesize polarities are some of the processes to be explored. Nontoxic gestalt, psychosynthesis, and other appropriate approaches will be used. $270

Psychosynthesis: Discovery & Transformation Tom Allen

In this workshop we will use methods for recognizing the conflicts we all have within our personalities—the psychological roadblocks or detours, so to speak—and we will work towards transforming energies locked in these conflicts into new, more harmonious qualities. Emphasis will be placed on processes which will encourage the co-ordination of body, feelings, thought, imagination and intuition and their integration around a unifying center of being and awareness, the Transpersonal Self. Some of the methods used will be guided imagery, spontaneous drawing and movement, inner dialogue, relaxation, centering and meditation. $260

Rest & Renewal for the New Year / Deborah Medow

In these changing times of stress growth, let us pause to renew our energy and regain our balance of body/mind/spirit. We will start the new year by exploring different ways of touching our own center—of feeling at one with ourselves and the universe.

The group will meet at Esalen's "Big House" where we will prepare most of our own meals for a cleansing diet. We will have morning meditations at the mineral baths and will do sessions in massage and movement, hatha yoga and chanting, as well as an introduction to the principles of polarity therapy. There will be time to enjoy the Esalen grounds and the Big Sur coast. $105

An Awakening of Consciousness / Chris Feldmann & Community for Conscious Evolution Staff

We will explore the personal consciousness of Christ, Lao-Tzu, Buddha and others, and discover how aspects of these consciousnesses are already within our own being. By peeling away and discarding our beliefs of who we are, we can see how these different consciousnesses manifest in ourselves. We will work to get in touch with our own inspirations and let these inspirations guide us to experience directly and utilize our expanded consciousness. $100

Human Energy for Human Learning / Alan Schwartz

A workshop for educators and professionals seeking to extend the dimensions of their work in human teaching and learning.

Much has been written about blending rational and non-rational elements of personality in the learning process. the focus of this weekend will be on dealing with self as a total organism, rather than splitting mind and body. The energy concepts of grounding, release and integration will be explored and processed to provide humanistic understandings. The relationship between human growth/education and the therapeutic practices of energy work and gestalt will be investigated experientially. $100

Madness & Individuation / Howard I Levene

In this workshop we will define the relationship of madness to the Jungian concept of Individuation. Experientially, we will structure an environment in which we will attempt to connect with our own madness, and integrate our discoveries and experiences of this madness with our own personal journeys towards self-awareness. This workshop is limited to 15 people. $110

The Art & Practice of Self-Observation: A Gestalt Workshop / Stella Resnick

Self-observation is a crucial talent to develop in order to recognize when behavior, fantasy and environment is nourishing and self-enhancing or toxic and self-depleting. Using the gestalt approach supplemented by a variety of other techniques including video feedback, participants will focus on learning how to observe themselves more clearly and to recognize and maintain themselves in nourishing environments. $270 plus $2 video fee.

Energy & the Whole Person / Alan Schwartz

An intensive workshop in experiencing the energy flow which makes up the whole person. We'll work with progressive realizations of how blocks to the free flow of emotion inhibit us from realizing pleasure. A central theme will be risk-taking on both the psychic and somatic levels, using bioenergetic and gestalt techniques to provide growth-realizing integration. A video session will enable us to experience the visible expression of our personalities. $240 plus $2 video fee

Movement Rituals as Dance Anna Halprin, Xavier Nash & Benito Santiago

In our workshops, we use dance as a way to help us believe in what we already possess. When we experience dance in a truly universal sense, we are experiencing the essence of self and life. In this workshop, we will explore the many ways that we all are dancers! $270

Selective Awareness & Self Hypnosis Emmett Miller

The present-day student of health recognizes that the vast majority of physical disease patterns and essentially all psychological problems are merely the result of faulty programming of the "Human Biocomputer". Yet seldom can either physician or patient make use of this well-demonstrated fact. The reason for the paradox is simple; you must know the language in order to talk to a computer (Garbage in; Garbage out). Selective Awareness is self-applied, using your conscious mind, in a state of deep relaxation and concentration, to systematically explore and experience your world or experience and memory within. We will investigate selective consciousness through auto-suggestion; the elimination of unwanted symptoms, habits and emotional response patterns; effective learning, listening, communication; and body awareness. $110

Selective Awareness & Advanced Gestalt
Emmett Miller & Richard Price

For those who have had some previous experience in gestalt and/or selective awareness.

Selective awareness provides means for identifying and unlearning undesirable characteristics of body/mind and rapidly learning desirable patterns. This takes place in a state of mind related to those of meditation and hypnosis. Like gestalt, selective awareness aims at the development of internal guidance free of externally imposed conditioning. A video feedback session will enable us to examine some of our own patterns. $300 + $2 video fee.

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

The Blessing of Obstacles
Lenore Lefer & Matthew Haar

We all encounter obstacles, frustrations and crises in our lives. We react to them in different ways; sometimes we avoid, reject, confront or rationalize away obstacles, because they usually cause us pain. If we can view our obstacles and frustrations as signals and can understand their message, we can learn from them and grow. In this workshop we will use gestalt awareness, encounter and psychosynthesis techniques to recognize the creative potential ("blessing") of obstacles as they provide us with opportunities for understanding and growth. $110

week of January 19-24

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

Healing Your Being
Gabrielle Roth & Shirley Scott

A week of experiencing ourselves and changing.
A week of taking responsibility for ourselves and growing.
A week of accepting ourselves and healing.
A week of knowing ourselves and moving . . . on and on and on.
A week of BEING. $270

A Gestalt Workshop for Professionals
Stella Resnick $270 + $2 video fee

Realms of the Human Unconscious:
Psychedelic and Anthropological Perspectives
Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

This workshop will focus on the expanded image of the human mind that is emerging from LSD research and anthropological studies. The participants will become acquainted with such issues as: new maps of the human unconscious; transpersonal aspects of birth, sex and death; LSD psychotherapy with neurotics, alcoholics, heroin addicts, psychotic patients and individuals dying of cancer; the nature of the schizophrenic process; mystical, religious and metaphysical experiences in psychedelic sessions and indigenous healing systems and rites of passage in non-western cultures.

We will utilize didactic sessions, discussions, experiential exercises, selected films and videotapes, mandala work and non-drug technology for inducing unusual states of consciousness. $270

Individual use of the sensory isolation tank will be available to participants for an additional fee of $10.

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

WEEKEND OF JANUARY 24-26

Sensory Awareness & Drawing
Connie & Leon Siegel

Sensory awareness is meditation on the process of everyday life. Through simple experiments involving activities such as sitting, moving, breathing, touching another, we may begin to explore our nature, in its fullness, coming more to quiet and clarity of body/mind. Periods of sensing will be alternated with periods of drawing in which we work out of the awareness of our inner rhythms, of movement and of our environment perceived through touching and seeing. Emphasis will be on the discovery of each person's unique way of experiencing and how this is expressed in line, shape and color. $110

A Workshop for Gay People / Sally Smith

A chance for gay men and women, singly or in couples, to come together at Esalen, explore life styles, problems, joys, directions; share massage, music and plain talk. $100

What's Available / George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. Limited to 20 persons. $110

Gestalt Improvisations
Paul Rebillot & Shirley Leitch

Sing the glory of your life to the world,
Dance the story of your life to the world,
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world,
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
—Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bio-energetic methods of liberating breath, movement and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. $110 plus $2 video fee

Special Workshop Announcements

Workshops of more than one week require special planning for participants. Whenever possible, we will announce long-term workshops well in advance. Further descriptions—and any changes will appear in the catalog covering the period in which the workshop is actually scheduled.

February 2-28 – A Monthlong Workshop with John Heider
$1150 (for scholarship information, see p 54)

February 2-28
Renascence: A Monthlong Workshop with Michael Butler & Simone Surpin

Withineach of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy which we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to devlop that seed center of self. This is not accomplished by pushing; in our experience, the discovery of one's center happens through a process of unfolding that is unique to every individual. An atmosphere will be created wherein the unfolding process can take place at a pace appropriate to each individual, whether an experienced professional leader or first-time workshop participant.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. The individual work will be gestalt oriented. Emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practice at the Esalen baths.Our approach to body energy and awareness will be drawnfrom such disciplines as aikido, bio-energetics, rolfing and sensory awareness. Weekends will be held free for rest and enjoyment of the Esalen grounds and Big Sur countryside. Imphasis throughout will be on means of incorporating growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 16 people. $1100
(For sholarship information, see p 54)

March 2-28

A mothlong workshop with Harry Sloan, Further description will appear in the Jan.-March catalog.

WEEK OF JANUARY 26-31

Experiencing Esalen
The Experiencing Esalen Staff

For description, see p 33. $240

You & Universal Motion / Bob Nadeau

The physical conscious system operates in direct relationship to a larger energy activity or universal motion. It is important to recognize this activity as a "friend" and learn to work in harmony with it. We will explore energy and our "marriage" with it through meditation, centering and body movement. $170

Psychosynthesis: Nurturing the Child Within
John Firman & Matthew Haar

This workhop will focus on the psychosynthesis technique of Bear Therapy, a approach to self-acceptance and self-nurturing. Many of us have lerned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirmourselves, we usually swing from being rigid and critical to being collapsed or being dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we aim to center and to nourish ourselves from that center. $260

Gestalt: the Body / Richard Price & Esalen Staff

Includes introduction to a variety of body practices: acupuncture, rolfing, bioenergetics, massage, polarity massage and their relation to gestalt awareness practice. $270

For Reservation Information, see page 54

BOOKS

SENSORY AWARENESS
Rediscovery of Living as Experience
Charles V. W. Brooks

8.95; (September)

The term "sensory awareness" was first coined by Charlotte Selver as a name for the work she has been actively developing in the United States since 1938. In the forties, Frederick Perls began studying intensively with Selver and integrated what he had learned into his Gestalt Therapy. In 1956 Alan Watts described Selver's work as "the living Zen"; and in 1963 she gave her first experiential workshop at the infant Esalen Institute. Charles Brooks' book is a presentation of Selver's lifework, which is not a technique but a practice based on discovering what is natural in our life processes and what is conditioned. The workshops evolve around the close study of the simplest aspects of our functioning – sitting, standing, lying, breathing – and are concerned with the possibility of recognizing the barriers that have arisen between our consciousness and the world around us and within us, so that these barriers have a chance of dissolving, thus opening the way for clearer perception and more authentic experience. "When the radio in the mind is stilled," writes Charles Brooks, "everything else can come to life."

An Esalen Book. We at Esalen are very proud to announce the publication of this long-awaited volume.

THE LIVE CLASSROOM
Innovation through Confluent Education and Gestalt
Edited by George Isaac Brown, with Thomas Yeomans and Liles Grizzard

8.95 cloth. (publication date: January)

Are all classrooms dead?

No, not all. But too damned many are. And, if nothing else, this is a pervasive, stupid waste of our most important resource, our children.

This is a challenging new book by George Brown, author of Human Teaching for Human Learning, and his colleagues in an ongoing research project in confluent education – the concept that puts feeling and thinking together in the learning process. Here offred are concrete, practical suggestions for bringing more life and better learning into the classroom to benefit both student and teacher. A variety of up-front confluent teaching and learning practices, some adapted from Fritz Perl's concept of Gestalt Therapy and others that go beyond the structure of the open classroom, focuses attention on the whole child, mind and body, and on the direct involvement of the teacher in this prosess to complete the Gestalt. The Live Classroom is aimed at teachers, parents, and all readers interested in the quality and meaning of education and is concerned with breaking a set of conventional wisdom about learning and teaching without sacrificing the stated goals of an eductional system serving a democracy. An Esalen Book.

REALMS OF THE HUMAN UNCONSCIOUS
Observations from LSD Research
Stanislav Grof, M.D.

10.00 cloth (February publication)

After eighteen years – and well over twelve thousand clinical hours – of study of the effects of LSD, Dr. Grof now summarizes and condenses his observations and experiences in a fascinating and seminal document that proposes the basis of a radical new psychology. The exploration of the potential of LSD and other psychedelic drugs for the study of schizophrenia, for didactic purposes, for a deeper understanding of art and religion, for personality diagnosis and the therapy of emotional disorders, as well as for altering the experience of dying – all these are recorded here in detailed case histories as well as comprehensive reports of Dr. Grof's research studies. The implications are obvious – and immense: through the experience of the "unspecified amplifier" we are on the threshold of startling and profound insights dealing with human birth, the capacity of altering consciousness, the power to transcend the ego, even our potential for precognition, clairvoyance, and encounters with consciousness of the Universal Mind. Perhaps no substance yet discovered promises the elucidation of such a wide range of hitherto mysterious but fundamental human potentialities, and Dr. Grof brings to the beginning of this unfolding one of the broadest and most distinguished recorded work in this new field. An Esalen Book.

BOOKS

LIVING YOUR DYING
Stanley Keleman

6.95, cloth

"Keleman shows how our styles of dying are linked to our styles of living. The book will do much to strip away the superfluous terror and helplessness we feel in the presence of death. And that makes it a book I like to have within easy reach."
Sam Keen, Psychology Today

"You have the courage to say some very necessary things about the way we in this society deny the process of dying and, by extension, the process of living. Most people are obsessed with death and afraid of dying. This fear inhibits their belief in living their lives freely and fully. I will recommend your book to all my patients."
Alexander Lowen, M.D., The Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis, N.Y., author of Betrayal of the Body, etc.

"Living Your Dying was a healing experience for me. As much (or more) than any book I've read, it opens up the subtle attraction death holds for us, shows the beauty it has beneath the terror and grief, and tells about ways to integrate our journey forth with life here and now."
Michael Murphy, Chairman, Esalen Institute, author of Golf in the Kingdom

"Dr. Keleman sees the body as an organic living process and dying one's own death as a creative part of this process. In this simple and profound book Stanley Keleman has achieved the unimaginable: he has given us back dying as an integral part of our personal experience and he has made it an exciting and meaningful challenge."
Maurice Friedman, Professor of Religious Studies, Philosophy & Comparative Literature, San Diego State University, Core Faculty, CSPP

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION The Re-Creation of the Balanced Human Body
Ida P. Rolf
including drawings, diagrams and photography
25.00: (March publication)

"Rolfing" – as Structural Integration is popularly called, the system being named for the woman who developed it – is the most radical of the new theories that integrate bodily and psychological awareness. The technique involves manipulation by a certified practitioner – of the connective tissue of all the major muscle groups in the body, and is based on the principle that human bodies function best when in balance and in alignment with gravity. To achieve this, a program of ten hours of rolf processing includes the manipulation of the entire myofascial system. This allows the re-creation of a supple and balanced body, a body organized so that its major weight blocks – head, thorax, pelvis, and legs – will be subject to a minimum of stress and will move in the most economical way. Thus, Structural Integration results in free emotional and physical flow throughout the whole dynamic system of the human being. An Esalen Book.

Dr. Ida P. Rolf studied biochemistry and physiology at Columbia University, was for twelve years an associate in biochemistry at the Rockefeller Institute, and has for the last forty years worked in applied physiology, perfecting the practice of Structural Integration.

PSYCHIC DEVELOPMENT
Jean Porter
illustrated by Anne Kent Rush

1.75 paper; 4.95 cloth

". . . I have given you many techniques for beginning to explore a variety of areas within the psychic realm. My hope with this book is that you will try them, become aware of your own experiences and see that psychic development really is a door which opens into the inner realms of your own being. The journey is one which will return you to your Self, where it began, with the guide and sanctuary experience. To become aware of the world and the people within it is to become more aware of yourself, and to become more aware of yourself is to become aware of others, and finally sense the unity and oneness of all beings which is reality."

". . . When you begin to take responsibility for yourself, your thoughts and actions, and really look at the truth of what life is, you become a spiral upward, expanding and rising. Your psychic development is a prelude to this growing Self-realization."

BE WELL
Mike Samuels M.D.
and Hal Z. Bennett

6.95, cloth

". . . We believe that self-alienation is quite probable for people who continue to resist the changes signaled by dis-ease, since ease and dis-ease are basic mechanisms by which we are led to self-knowledge. The greater the alienation the greater is the disharmony between individual and universal selves, and the greater is the potential for manifesting dis-ease."

". . . (Be Well) is about recognizing your inborn healing abilities and learning what you can do to free them to work at their best. It is about learning to be well."

Be Well is illustrated with mandalas of natural energy phenomena (an example of which you see here), exemplifying the natural order of the universe, and supporting (in a strikingly beautiful way) the creative building of harmony necessary to be well.

Esalen Institute is a center to explore those trends in education, religion, philosophy and the physical and behavioral sciences which emphasize the potentialities and values of human existence. Our activities consist of seminars and workshops, residential programs, consulting and research.

We exist to sponsor, encourage, synthesize and attempt evaluation of work in these areas, both inside and outside our own organizational framework. Since we are a center for experimental education, we ask that persons come to our programs out of an educational interest. We ask that no one come whose interest is "cure." We point out here, as we have in workshops and seminars, that some persons, particularly those with a history of psychiatric problems, may find some programs difficult, trying or potentially risky. We recommend that in case of any doubt, a physician or trusted counselor be consulted.

special information

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2. Those attending Esalen workshops and conferences are automatically added to the mailing list. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office. Do not direct subscription inquiries to Big Sur.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE: Esalen is devoted to making life more human at all levels. Our work has reached thousands of individuals and hundreds of institutions. Until recently most of this work was being done at our own facilities, either in Big Sur or San Francisco. There is now, however, an ever-expanding part of Esalen's universe that is moving toward helping to effect changes in the world outside the workshop. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U S Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp, Model Cities, O E O, inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Esalen courses are now being given at the University of California and at New York University. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions are providing expenses for participants for some seminars and workshops. Please see Friends of Esalen membership program page 26.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given some sort of accreditation for leading programs involving encounter groups, gestalt therapy, etc. We have told everyone who has done this to stop using our name in such a manner. Esalen does not offer any kind of formal accreditation. Individuals and groups, of course, may use the insights and techniques they bring from our programs. Our Associates in Residence are working under Esalen auspices. But we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

TAPE RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: Recordings of many past programs are available through a service which maintains archive copies for Esalen. Requests for tapes now come from educational and service institutions, libraries, religious and professional groups, business groups and individuals concerned with the human potential movement. Commercial use of these tapes is prohibited; all rights reserved. For a complete tape catalog, write Big Sur Recordings, 2015 Bridgeway, Sausalito, CA 94965. The cost of recordings is $10 per tape-hour (prepaid) and $12.50 per tape-hour (with purchase orders), stereo or mono, with choice of 5" reel or cassette.

San Francisco Information

For reservations, literature, tickets and information, write or call: Esalen Institute

Phone: (415) 771-1710; 9-5:30 Monday-Saturday, 9:30-3:30 Sunday

RESERVATIONS:

Reservations close 5 days prior to the program, in order to facilitate planning and for the convenience of participants' time plans. A non-refundable deposit must accompany registration as follows: $10 per person for programs costing under $35; $20 for programs costing under $100; $50 for those over $100, inless otherwise noted. Mail reservation form with check to Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Balance is payable at the first session of the program. Do not send San Francisco reservations to Big Sur. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express.

INFORMATION, LITERATURE AND TICKETS for lectures may be obtained Monday through Saturday 9:30-5:30 p m, Sunday 9:30-3:30 p m at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Tickets obtained by mail will indicate the exact location and time of events; when not sold out in advance, tickets may be purchased at the door.

WORKSHOP SCHEDULES: One day workshops generally meet from 10 am to 6 pm. Saturday and Sunday weekend workshops meet from 10 am to 6 pm each day. Friday through Sunday weekend workshops meet approximately from 8 to 11 pm on Friday, from 10 am through the afternoon and/or evening on Saturday, and from 10 am to early afternoon on Sunday. Schedules are not rigid, however, and exact meeting times are discussed at the first session.

ACCOMMODATIONS: Most San Francisco programs are non-residential. Participants in these programs must reserve their own accommodations at local hotels or motels. Unless stated otherwise, meals are not provided at such workshops.

RESIDENTIAL PROGRAMS are indicated in individual workshop descriptions. Program cost of residential programs includes tuition, food and lodging. Shared occupancy only, no private accommodations available. Weekend residential programs, unless otherwise indicated, begin at 8 pm Friday (no supper served) and conclude following Sunday lunch. Programs are held at a conference center in Marin County or in Sonoma County; exact location will be included with reservation confirmation.

LOCATION: Participants will be informed of workshop location prior to the workshop date. Esalen uses several facilities in the Bay Area for its programs including its own building at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Call the San Francisco office for advance information on program location.

WORK SCHOLARSHIPS are available for many programs in San Francisco. Contact the San Francisco office for information and forms.

WAITING LISTS: Names are placed on waiting lists in cases of oversubscription or when demanded by workshop requirements. Registrants placed on such a list will be informed immediately and deposit checks held. Checks will be refunded if reservation cannot be confirmed or upon request by persons not wanting to be on a waiting list.

RECOMMENDED DRESS: Workshops are informal. Slacks and flat shoes are recommended for women; sport clothes for men.

BOOKSTORE: Esalen's Bookshop provides a comprehensive selection of books ranging from general psychology, body work and education to the Eastern philosophies, Jung and the mystics. It is open Monday through Saturday, 9:00-5:30 p m, Sunday, 9:30-3:30.

Big Sur Information

For reservations and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920
Phone: (408) 667-2335, 10 to 4 every day; 10 to 8 Sunday & Friday

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific with the Santa Lucia Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute—By Reservation Only.

Deposit Information. Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups and $400 dollars for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen / Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen / San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. U.S. currency only, please.

Scholarship Information. Rising costs are pushing our workshop prices higher. We have redoubled our efforts to raise funds for tuition aid so that our longterm programs (3-6 weeks) can remain within the financial reach of as many people as possible. All proceeds from Friends of Esalen memberships (see p 26) are going toward tuition aid. If you need scholarship assistance for a long term Esalen/Big Sur program write for a scholarship application form before making a reservation (please allow at least 3 weeks for processing as we have many applications). If your application is approved, please make a reservation as soon as possible after receiving notice. No scholarship assistance is available for June 15-August 31 programs or for weekend programs.

Program costs cover tuition, food and lodging on the Esalen grounds. Our rooms are designed to be shared by two to three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 pm; however, guests are welcome to arrive earlier in the afternoon.

Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur. Pickups are made at the Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5-5:30 pm each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person one way; please notify us in advance.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. Our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also discourage participants from having guests. Alas, no pets.

Seminarians as Staff (Karma Yoga). Seminarians residing for a week or longer at Esalen are asked to contribute one or two hours a week to the kitchen or garden staff. These hours do not interfere in any way with scheduled groups or meals. Your help enables us to meet the pressures of peak working times and enables you to experience Esalen from the inside out. A staff member will appear at your first workshop meeting to schedule volunteer help.

Esalen Institute RESERVATIONS & TICKET ORDER

This form is for your convenience in preparing attendance at Esalen workshops and lectures. You may use it for Big Sur and San Francisco programs, although it is suggested that you make reservations independently at each location rather than place a "mixed" order. You will receive a new order form with your tickets or confirmation of reservations. In completing the form, please include the name, address and telephone number of each person registering, and clearly indicate the title of the workshop for which each person is reserving a place. Please make reservations early; some workshops are booked to capacity weeks in advance.

news from esalen

CHANGES IN PROGRAMMING AT ESALEN/SAN FRANCISCO

After much soul searching, the decision was reached last August to discontinue the San Francisco weekend programming which Esalen has been offering since 1967. We feel that Esalen's urban center has accomplished its objectives and that the time has come to utilize Institute resources and energies in new initiatives. These will focus on developing a Center for Theoretical Studies with Mike Murphy and George Leonard as co-directors, on continuing our attempt to combine Esalen experience with sports training, on providing new long term integrated programs for college students and others and on offering major symposia to the general public in San Francisco. The highly successful university conferences will be continued with three currently planned for 1975. In addition, the book store and the book order service will also be continued. These plans for Esalen/San Francisco will open new paths and make possible new explorations. They clear the decks in order to facilitate Esalen's continued pioneering. There will be news about them in the next brochure.

Roberto Assagioli, MD, died of pneumonia at his summer home in Capolona, Italy, this past August. Dr Assagioli was eighty-six years old and was best known for his formulation of a personality psychology he called "psychosynthesis." As a young psychiatrist he saw, as early as 1910, that psychoanalysis did not give sufficient attention to a counterpart of the Freudian unconscious that Assagioli called the "higher unconscious." He proclaimed the need for a comprehensive psychology that would do full justice to man's higher nature as well as his instincts, drives and complexes.

Stressing the natural tendency of people to actualize themselves fully at increasingly "higher" levels of humanness, Dr Assagioli sought to build an overarching understanding of human development that would guide a person in using such diverse techniques as psychoanalysis, free drawing, catharsis, inner dialogue and guided imagery to cultivate personal growth. He stressed the importance of the will and will training. His view of the will ran counter to the Victorian notion of "will power"—Assagioli saw the will as the source of human freedom and elaborated the concept of the "skillful will."

His writings, which are reaching an ever-widening audience, include his books: Psychosynthesis, A Manual of Principles and Techniques and The Act of Will plus some three hundred published papers. When he died, he was working on what he often said would be his final book and the summation of his career, "Height Psychology and the Self." In this work, Dr Assagioli was elaborating the relation of the personality with what he called the "Transpersonal Self." In his discussion of the Transpersonal Self, he attempts to find a precise scientific understanding for the traditional idea of the soul.

Dr Assagioli was President of the Istituto di Psicosintesi, Florence, Italy, and Chairman of the Board of the Psychosynthesis Research Foundation in New York. Independent institutes of psychosynthesis inspired by his work exist in California, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, London, Montreal, Athens, Paris, Buenos Aires, India and throughout Italy. The rapid spread of his work is a tangible indication of the strength and helpfulness of his concepts. Those of us who met and worked with him were impressed with his beauty, humanness and intelligence. His own life was a fine creation. In psychosynthesis he has left an ongoing creative force in the world.

esalen college program

The Esalen College Program accepts students currently enrolled in any college or university in the U S or abroad who would like to spend a quarter term or longer at Esalen. Students are encouraged to investigate the possibility of academic credit at their schools for the program of study offered by Esalen. To date, some twenty colleges have given credit to their students for the Esalen program.

During the winter and spring, Esalen will offer a new and experimental program in San Francisco, which will serve as a prototype for year-long programs beginning in the fall of 1975.

The Master Seminar given by Michael Murphy and George Leonard will provide the core of the work. Students will augment seminar material with individual reading and discussion with a tutor. Separate evening lectures will round out the theoretical studies. Additionally, students will be involved in a continuing group experience under the leadership of Arthur Fox and in a physical training program under the supervision of Dyveke and Mike Spino. In the physical training, students will be introduced to approaches of health and well-being derived from such oriental disciplines as yoga, Tai Chi Chuan and Aikido as well as meditation and experimental work being done at the Esalen Sports Center.

The involvement of Esalen/Big Sur in the College Program is still in the planning stages. Presently, students can apply to the Big Sur Student Work Scholarship program as described on page 20.

Students interested in more information and/or application for admission should write to: Director, College Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

The following is a partial list of undergraduate and graduate schools which offer credit for work done in the Esalen College Program:

Undergraduate Schools

Antioch College/West
Goddard College
Johnston College
Prescott College
Raymond College
Sonoma State College
University Without Walls, Berkeley

Graduate Schools

Goddard External MA Degree
Lone Mountain External MA Degree
Sonoma State External MA Degree
Humanistic Psychology Institute, PhD Degree
California Institute of Asian Studies, MA and PhD Degrees
Union Graduate School (Antioch College), PhD

Transformational Studies
Michael Murphy & George Leonard

Eight Wednesday Evenings

This seminar will form the core of studies for the Esalen College Program's winter quarter. It will explore the thesis that a transformation of human consciousness as momentous as the emergence of civilization is underway. This Transformation involves our vision of human nature and destiny, our perception of past and future, our science, art, psychology, education and religion, our institutions and relationships to the physical world. This thesis will be explored from various perspectives. The subjects for each evening's discussion may be changed as the seminar develops, but they are tentatively scheduled as follows:

1. Cosmic and evolutionary perspectives on the world's unfoldment, including a discussion of the way various models of existence mediate our perception, attitude and behavior.

2. Anthropological perspectives: the paleolithic, neolithic and civilized eras which culminate in a fourth climactic transformation to a radically new life upon earth.

3. The structure of human personality in this era of transition: neurosis, disease and discontent as ways to enforce civilization's work; how the ordinary ego-structure works for and against the transformation of mind and body.

4. Disciplines of transformation, ancient and modern. Ways beyond neurosis, disease and discontent.

5. Education for being. Sports and the arts of yoga.

6. Energy and consciousness: a discussion of our dwindling sources of physical energy and the change in life style and consciousness that are now required for human survival.

7 & 8. Transformational changes in human institutions: prisons, schools, business, politics, and the family.

extended learning

The Esalen College Program is also open to those who do not seek college credit but wish to be involved in an extended learning program at Esalen. Interested persons of all ages who wish further information should write to: Director, College Program, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

SACRED TRADITION AND PSYCHOTHERAPY

Coordinated by Jacob Needleman

A SAN FRANCISCO SERIES

A series of lectures co-sponsored by Esalen Institute and U.C.S.F. Millberry Union Program Department, to be held during the months of December through March.

"In search of psychiatry for normal man, more and more therapists are reaching out to absorb methods and concepts of the ancient religious traditions of the Orient. And as a result more and more troubled people no longer know whether they need spiritual or psychiatric help. In the personal crisis of my life, how far can psychotherapy take me? How far do I wish to be taken? What is the line that separates the spiritual path from therapeutic progress?"

As put by Jacob Needleman, these questions will form the core of a major lecture series to be held at the University of California Medical School this winter. Sponsored by Esalen Institute and U.C.S.F. Millberry Union Program Department and under the direction of Professor Needleman, the series will feature outstanding authorities in the areas of psychotherapy and Asian religion, and will confront the current effort of American psychiatrists and psychologists to make use of the teachings of the East – Buddhism, Hinduism and Sufism. Can these efforts bring an expanded understanding of our human predicament or will they only result in a reduction of the spiritual to the conventionally therapeutic? What actually does take place in psychotherapy when seen against the background of the vision of human nature offered by sacred tradition?

These questions will be stated in full in the opening lecture, "Psychiatry and the Sacred," to be given by Needleman December 15th, at 8 pm in Cole Hall, Parnassus Ave and Third Ave, San Francisco. Subsequent speakers during the four month series include Robert Ornstein, Viktor Frankl, James Hillman, Tarthang Tulku and others to be announced.

Jacob Needleman is author of The New Religions and was director of last year's outstanding series, entitled "Sacred Tradition and Present Need."

Admission: $3.50 per lecture.
Tickets may be purchased at the door, or advance tickets may be purchased at the Central desk,

SPORTS CENTER PROGRAMS

The Esalen Sports Center is devoted to furthering new concepts, practices and teaching methods in lifetime sports and emphasizes activities in which participation is not limited by age, sex or athletic ability. The focus is on the joy of participation and the thrill of excelling. Workshops are designed to make sport richer and more rewarding—a vehicle for eliciting the potential that lies within us all.

January 18-19

New Techniques of Jogging & Conditioning
Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $50

Orthodox jogging is an efficient means of overall body conditioning, but it holds few keys to heightened physical awareness or short cuts to peak body functioning. This workshop will focus on the work of Percy Wells Cerutty and Mihaly Igoli who between them are responsible for more than forty world track and field records. We will blend their techniques of aerobic training, resistance conditioning, diet, philosophy and practical experience with advanced research being done in the field of sport here at Esalen. These techniques which have been utilized by championship athletes are pertinent to people at all levels of fitness. Each participant will receive an individual training consultation, as well as insights into preventive and practical sports medicine.

February 15-17

Cross-Country Skiing / Ann & Kurt Wehbring

Residential three-day workshop $110

The group will stay at a mountain lodge and spend the days combining ski touring instruction with sensory awakening, yoga and breathing exercises. Evenings will be devoted to rest, massage and general conviviality. This workshop is intended for those without skiing experience and for downhill skiers who wish to try the Nordic (and ancestral) version of the sport. Meals are included from Saturday morning through Monday at noon. Payment should be made in full five days prior to the start of the workshop.

February 22-23

Inspiration & the Power of the Body: New Tools for Psycho-Physical Development
Dyveke & Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $50

The purpose of this week-end will be to reawaken the body's natural athletic spirit, as well as experience a holistic training approach for competitive athletes. Utilizing the conditioning methods of Western athletic masters, such as Hungarian Mihaly Igloi and Australian Percy Cerruty, the workshop will enable each participant to become more fit as well as more aware. Integrating the four basic elements of mind/body development: endurance, strength, flexibility, and inner-space disciplines, each person's individualized program will allow the body to become fit, strong and flexible, while clearing the mind in the act of the sporting experience. The combination of these practices is an advancement in work being done in sport, athletics, recreation and leisure time activities.

March 22-23

Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will integrate principles of body awareness, movement, dance, music and meditation with traditional methods of tennis instruction and practice. The workshop is designed for beginners as well as advanced students of the game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

January 11-18

Esalen/Outward Bound
Blending the Inner and Outer Journey
Bob Kriegel & Dick Galland

Residential seven-day workshop $280

The emphasis in this seven day backpacking and climbing workshop into the desert and mountains of Big Bend National Park in South West Texas will be on expanding the motion and the experience of ourselves and our potential. We will explore both physically and emotionally the nature of trust, responsibility, cooperation, sharing, fear and aloneness. In addition to the challenges of repelling, bouldering and solo expedition, as taught by the Outward Bound School, participants will experience many Esalen techniques relating to human potential, individual awareness and interaction.

March 15-29

Esalen/Outward Bound
Exploring Personal Frontiers
Dick Galland & David Schiffman

Residential two-week workshop $475

Beginning on the desert, west of the small fishing village of San Felipe on the Gulf of California, we will backpack up one of the many magnificent granite canyons onto the 6500 foot plateau of the Sierra San Pedro Martir. Here we will continue our expedition among pine forests and broad meadows, learning basic skills and preparing to climb 10,000 foot Diablo Peak. From the top of Diablo, the highest peak in Baja, the vast panorama of this peninsula spreads out on all sides. Our expedition then continues into another canyon and there next to rushing streams each person will spend two days and nights completely alone on solo. The skills taught will include camp craft, rock climbing and repelling, wilderness medicine and map and compass travel. This workshop will be a synthesis of Outward Bound and Esalen approaches with the emphasis on the harmonious balance between the physical, mental, emotional and spiritual realms of experience. It is designed to be within the abilities of adult men and women. Since this workshop will be strenuous, you should be in good physical condition. A medical examination is required.

SPORTS CENTER RESERVATIONS

Reservations close 5 days prior to the program, in order to facilitate planning and for the convenience of participants' time plans. A non-refundable deposit must accompany registration as follows: $20 for programs costing under $100; $50 for those over $100, unless otherwise noted. Mail reservation form (page 39) with check to Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Balance is payable at the first session of the program. Do not send San Francisco reservations to Big Sur. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express.

All reservations and information for Esalen/Outward Bound programs should be handled through the Outward Bound School, 4603 W. Lovers Lane, Dallas, Texas 74209. Telephone (214) 352-3931.

sport as yoga

The Continuation of an Article by Michael Murphy

In the last Esalen catalogue, I described the extraordinary range of altered states that appear in sport. For many people, it seems, athletic endeavor resembles a yoga or sadhana, even though there is no guiding philosophy or psychology of transcendence in the West to support this view. What is there in sport, then, that gives it this quality, this genius for evoking so many elements of "big mind"?

First, there is the demand which every game or athletic pursuit makes upon its participants: one must submit to its particular rules, ordeals and requirements, and to do this one must relinquish old patterns. If you play wholeheartedly you are stretched; you extend yourself; and this leads to a sense of grace with power. Many athletes say they feel reborn, even though the old self may return when the game is over. In this, sport is like any liberating discipline. To perfect your skill, you have to give up responses and habits that impede your performance; to some extent you must acquire (or open to) another nature.

The demands our games make upon us take many forms, for each sport has its particular archetype. Running and swimming each require their own set of expanded capacities. Each of them stretches us in a special way. And so sport proliferates, I think, out of the human urge for transformation: humankind would reown all its powers and archetypes as it wends its way back into God. Certainly, as records fall every day, we must ask "How far will it go?"

What parts are stretched? Our senses, to begin with.

The hitter in baseball must watch a ball coming at almost one hundred miles an hour from ninety feet away. An offhand marksman can hit a dime thrown high in the air. An expert in Aikido must learn to "see" an attacker behind him. In moments such as these, success depends upon extraordinary perception.

Our endurance. In the marathon now, the best runners average a five minute mile for all 26 miles. For a 3:50 mile, you must run on your toes all the way. But more than physical endurance is required: the demons that rise in consciousness during such ordeals often resemble the ones described in the Tibetan Book of the Dead in their power to divert the runner.

Our flexibility. Have you ever watched Olga Korbut?

Our strength. Or someone lift four hundred pounds?

To participate like this in sport one must have a powerful will and yet be capable of surrender to the whole-body sense and glimmers of inspiration; one must be one-pointed and aware of the inner and outer fields at once. In this, the Yoga Aphorisms of Patanjali provide a model with their emphasis upon concentration (dharana) and the ultimate letting go (samadhi).

The energy that sustains all this has many dimensions. As excellence increases in sport, wider and finer grades of it come into play. Talk of "auras" apears now in tennis and football and golf. There is mention of the "psychic streamers" a ball or a surfboard may ride on. The influence of Eastern martial arts, with their emphasis on ki or chi, is increasing. How long will it be before courses in physical education include Patanjali's lessons on prana or the Upanishad's guidance through the interior worlds?

Success in sport elicits inner harmony. Will, awareness, imagination, emotion, the senses, the intellect and motor control are often joined in surpassing performance. Yoga means joining. To join the soul with God requires that we join our many parts.

ENERGETIC STUDIES

The Center for Energetic Studies, under the direction of Stanley Keleman, is a program of teaching, workshops and publishing concerning the development of biological process as the basis for self-identity and expression—how individuals form both themselves and their worlds.

Programs are led by Keleman and other leaders whose perspective is that the way we inhabit our bodies and embody our emotions determines the human condition.

In current workshops and seminars, attention is being given to biological process and its relation to symbol formation, imaginative life and religious vision.

For information and reservations, write to the Center for Energetic Studies at 1645 Virginia St, Berkeley CA 94703

January 13, February 8, March 1

A Series of One-day Tutorials with Stanley Keleman

Three one-day programs $40 day, $120 series

The general orientation of this series will be toward the application of energetic principles in professional situations. Clinical material will be presented to demonstrate the use of the biological perspective in therapeutic settings. Recommended readings: Living Your Dying; The Human Ground; Sexuality, Self and Survival.

Enrollment may be in individual days or the series. Saturdays, 10 a m to 5 p m.

January 26

Forming / Ian Grand

One-day workshop $25

A workshop to explore the kinds of attitudes, feelings, postures and movements we form in our interactions with each other and our worlds. Energetic approaches, song and dance will be used. Sunday, 10 a m to 6 p m.

February 1-2

The Life of the Body & Family Life
Sylvia Schmidt

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is about the connections between family life and bodily experience and expression. Through participating in simulated families (developed through role playing), group members will have the opportunity to explore the nature of their movements in the world and in intimate relationships. Saturday and Sunday, 10 a m to 5 p m.

The Body Is Spiritual / Stanley Keleman

Lecture, Tuesday, 8 p m.

University Y House, 2600 Bancroft Way, Berkeley
$3 general, $2 student

February 8

Tutorial with Stanley Keleman

See description above.

February 17-21

Personal Energies / Ian Grand

Five day workshop $125

A workshop to explore the kinds of persons we are becoming, how we use ourselves emotionally, physically and energetically, and the qualities of feeling and movement that are expressed in the ways we form ourselves.

Monday through Friday, 10 a m to 5 p m each day. Limited to 15. Deposit of $50 required.

February 22

Grounding / George Downing

One day workshop $25

How we relate to the ground beneath determines what kind of world we let emerge around us; its rhythm and space, its possibilities for contact with others, its wonder. We will use a gestalt and energetic approach to explore in what ways we may be keeping ourselves from a more complete personal grounding. Saturday, 10 a m to 5 p m.

March 9

Forming / Ian Grand

See description above.

March 15-June 14

Individuality and Community
Stanley Keleman & Sylvia Schmidt, George Downing, Ian Grand, Tamara Greenberg, Peter Marin

This on-going program under the direction of Stanley Keleman is about the creation of individuality and uniqueness in the matrix of community, through the processes of self-formation and self-expression. Using participation in the family as a model for how we each participate in the human community, the group will work with the ways in which excitation is developed and expressed as contact, feeling, movement, dreaming and imagination. The underlying theme of the program will be the connection between bodily life, social interaction and spiritual development.

The program is designed as an integrated learning situation in relationship to everyday life, and will consist of the following programs, all in the San Francisco area:

A series of three workshops with Stanley Keleman: a weekend workshop at the start of the program (March 15 16), a one-day mid-point program (April 26) and a concluding one-day workshop (June 14);

An on-going workshop with Sylvia Schmidt, beginning with a one-day program (March 22), and meeting Monday evening every other week for twelve weeks (March 31, April 14, 28, May 12, 26, June 9);

Two weekend workshops (or the equivalent) selected from Center programs led by Peter Marin, Ian Grand, George Downing and Tamara Greenberg during April-June.

Tuition for the program is $335. A non-refundable deposit of $150 will be payable on acceptance, with the balance due at the start of the program. Limited to 20.

To apply, please write briefly about who you are, what you do and why you're interested in participating. Send your letter of application to: Three-Month Program, Center for Energetic Studies, 1645 Virginia St., Berkeley, CA 94703.

The Annual Summer Institute of the Center will be a two-week program, July 7-18, 1975. For information on this and other programs, please write the Center at 1645 Virginia Street, Berkeley, CA 94703.

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

Week of December 29 January 3

Your Personal Resurrection
Paul Rebillot with Richard Price

"To suffer one's death and be reborn is not easy."—Fritz Perls.

The Time: The end of 1974; The beginning of 1975
The Place: Big Sur
The Theme: Death and dying; Life and living
The Script: Gestalt, magic, improvisation, meditation, movement and song
The Cast: You and me
$270 + $2 video fee

Don't Just Stand There / George & Judith Brown

A workshop focusing on the gestalt "goal" of learning to stand on your own two feet; in addition, what then to do as you become more able to support yourself. How to make choices, enjoy ambiguity, and synthesize polarities are some of the processes to be explored. Non-toxic gestalt, psychosynthesis, and other appropriate approaches will be used. $270

Psychosynthesis: Discovery & Transformation
Tom Allen

In this workshop we will use methods for recognizing the conflicts we all have within our personalities—the psychological roadblocks or detours, so to speak—and we will work towards transforming energies locked in these conflicts into new, more harmonious qualities. Emphasis will be placed on processes which will encourage the co-ordination of body, feelings, thought, imagination and intuition and their integration around a unifying center of being and awareness, the Transpersonal Self. Some of the methods used will be guided imagery, spontaneous drawing and movement, inner dialogue, relaxation, centering and meditation. $240

Being "Together" / Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together," both with ourselves and with others. $270

Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain: A New Year Celebration with the Tao
Al Chung-liang Huang

T'ai Chi, dance, Peking Theatre chanting-movement-face paintings, and I Ching, Zen Ox-herding-pictures happenings.

Begin from the center, not from the fringe. Learn to understand the principles before the one-two-three drill. Learn to move like the wind and the water, to be joyous, healthy and alive. Learn to be rid of burdensome anticipations and expectations. Learn to be a true beginner, and from yourself. Learn to unlearn. $270

Recommended Readings: Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain; The Essence of T'ai Chi by Al C Huang; Theatre, East and West by L Pronko; The Portable Dragon by R G H Siu.

Experiencing Esalen

Coordinated by Janet Zuckerman

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on finding those approaches to self-liberation that work most effectively for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt awareness training, encounter, theater games, guided fantasy, meditation, bioenergetics, massage. There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

	Jan 17-19	$100
Schedule:	Jan 26-31	$240	Mar 9-14	$240
	Feb 2-7	$240	Apr 13-18	$240
	Feb 23-28	$240	Apr 25-27	$100

weekend of January 3-5

Rest & Renewal for the New Year / Deborah Medow

In these changing times of stress and growth, let us pause to renew our energy and regain our balance of body/mind/spirit. We will start the new year by exploring different ways of touching our own centers—of feeling at one with ourselves and the universe.

The group will meet at Esalen's "Big House" where we will prepare most of our own meals for a cleansing diet. We will have morning meditations at the mineral baths and will do sessions in massage and movement, hatha yoga and chanting, as well as an introduction to the principles of polarity therapy. There will be time to enjoy the Esalen grounds and the Big Sur coast. $105

An Awakening of Consciousness / Chris Feldmann & Community for Conscious Evolution Staff

We will explore the personal consciousness of Christ, Lao-Tzu, Buddha and others, and discover how aspects of these consciousnesses are already within our own being. By peeling away and discarding our beliefs of who we are, we can see how these different consciousnesses manifest in ourselves. We will work to get in touch with our own inspirations and let these inspirations guide us to experience directly and utilize our expanded consciousness. $100

Human Energy for Human Learning / Alan Schwartz

A workshop for educators and professionals seeking to extend the dimensions of their work in human teaching and learning.

Much has been written about blending rational and non-rational elements of personality in the learning process. the focus of this weekend will be on dealing with self as a total organism, rather than splitting mind and body. The energy concepts of grounding, release and integration will be explored and processed to provide humanistic understandings. The relationship between human growth/education and the therapeutic practices of energy work and gestalt will be investigated experientially. $100

Madness & Individuation / Howard I Levene

In this workshop we will define the relationship of madness to the Jungian concept of Individuation. Experientially, we will structure an environment in which we will attempt to connect with our own madness, and integrate our discoveries and experiences of this madness with our own personal journeys towards self-awareness. This workshop is limited to 15 people. $110

Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain: A New Year Celebration with the Tao
Al Chung-liang Huang

See Dec. 29-Jan. 3, above. $110

week of January 5-10

The Art & Practice of Self-Observation: A Gestalt Workshop / Stella Resnick

Self-observation is a crucial talent to develop in order to recognize when behavior, fantasy and environment is nourishing and self-enhancing or toxic and self-depleting. Using the gestalt approach supplemented by a variety of other techniques including video feedback, participants will focus on learning how to observe themselves more clearly and to recognize and maintain themselves in nourishing environments. $270 plus $2 video fee.

Energy & the Whole Person / Alan Schwartz

An intensive workshop in experiencing the energy flow which makes up the whole person. We'll work with progressive realizations of how blocks to the free flow of emotion inhibit us from realizing pleasure. A central theme will be risk-taking on both the psychic and somatic levels, using bioenergetic and gestalt techniques to provide growth-realizing integration. A video session will enable us to experience the visible expression of our personalities. $240 plus $2 video fee

Movement Rituals as Dance
Anna Halprin, Xavier Nash & Benito Santiago

In our workshops, we use dance as a way to help us believe in what we already possess. When we experience dance in a truly universal sense, we are experiencing the essence of self and life. In this workshop, we will explore the many ways that we all are dancers! $270

Skills Workshop for Group Leaders
Jacqueline Larcombe Doyle

The focus of this workshop will be on providing an intensive group experience, introducing group techniques and enhancing the transfer of these skills for persons already leading groups in various settings. Techniques will be drawn from psychodrama, encounter, gestalt, bioenergetics, psychomotor and fantasy. $270

January 5-31
Dis-covery and Growth

Coordinated by Julian Silverman with: Barbara Clemans, Anna Halprin, Janet Lederman, Carol MacGee, Peggy Morrison, Robert Nadeau, Xavier Nash, Benito Santiago, Beverly Silverman, Michael Tobias

The aim of these annual January workshops is to synthesize, in an intensive program, a variety of experiences—in body work, in group and individual process, in meditation and centering practice, in interaction with the environment. Our conception is that no one person, no one method provides the key to discovering how we limit ourselves and how we can transcend these limits. The workshop is designed to present to individuals the opportunity of experiencing various approaches to self-discovery, of testing their own limits and finding new possiblities for growth. $1150

WEEK ONE:	Julian & Beverly Silverman: gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis.
WEEKEND:	Anna Halprin with Xavier Nash and Benito Santiago—"We will explore the ways that we all are dancers."
WEEK TWO:	Janet Lederman: experiential learning.
WEEKEND:	Robert Nadeau: centering and energy awareness.
WEEK THREE:	Movement-massage-mountains: sessions of movement with Barbara Clemans, massage at the baths with Peggy Morrison, a two-day mountain experience with Michael Tobias and Carol MacGee.
WEEKEND:	Relax and enjoy Big Sur.
WEEK FOUR:	Julian and Beverly Silverman: Back into your world.

weekend of january 10-12

Meditation Weekend / Robert Nadeau
$110

Selective Awareness & Self Hypnosis
Emmett Miller
The present-day student of health recognizes that the vast majority of physical disease patterns and essentially all psychological problems are merely the result of faulty programming of the "Human Biocomputer". Yet seldom can either physician or patient make use of this well-demonstrated fact. The reason for the paradox is simple; you must know the language in order to talk to a computer (Garbage in; Garbage out). Selective Awareness is self-applied, using your conscious mind, in a state of deep relaxation and concentration, to systematically explore and experience your world of experience and memory within. We will investigate selective consciousness through autosuggestion; the elimination of unwanted symptoms, habits and emotional response patterns; effective learning, listening, communication; and body awareness. $110

Energy Here & Now Through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz
A workshop for those who sense the power and vitality which can be self. Participants will be encouraged to risk mobilizing their feelings and energy to help them become aware of how they block self-expression. The gestalt process will be used to provide an environment for integration and growth. $100

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman
See January 12-17, below. (The weekend will not include video.) $110

week of january 12-17

Selective Awareness & Advanced Gestalt
Emmett Miller & Richard Price
For those who have had some previous experience in gestalt and/or selective awareness.

Selective awareness provides means for identifying and unlearning undesirable characteristics of body/mind and rapidly learning desirable patterns. This takes place in a state of mind related to those of meditation and hypnosis. Like gestalt, selective awareness aims at the development of internal guidance free of externally imposed conditioning. A video feedback session will enable us to examine some of our own patterns. $300 + $2 video fee.

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman
The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. There will be a session with video for "taking a look" at ourselves. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $270 plus $2 video fee.

Steps to an Ecology of Mind / Gregory Bateson
$110

Experiencing Esalen / Experiencing Esalen Staff
See workshop description p 10. $100

Body Dynamics: "the body never lies"
Hector Prestera & Sharon Wheeler
Color, Reichian energetics, physical character analysis, techniques for vitalizing body energy centers, acupuncture principles, as well as concepts from Rolfing and polarity therapy will be utilized to assist participants in freeing their body blocks. $110

The Blessing of Obstacles
Lenore Lefer & Matthew Haar
We all encounter obstacles, frustrations and crises in our lives. We react to them in different ways; sometimes we avoid, reject, confront or rationalize away obstacles, because they usually cause us pain. If we can view our obstacles and frustrations as signals and can understand their message, we can learn from them and grow. In this workshop we will use gestalt awareness, encounter and psychosynthesis techniques to recognize the creative potential ("blessing") of obstacles as they provide us with opportunities for understanding and growth. $110

Healing Your Being
Gabrielle Roth & Shirley Scott
A week of experiencing ourselves and changing.
A week of taking responsibility for ourselves and growing.
A week of accepting ourselves and healing.
A week of knowing ourselves and moving . . . on and on and on.
A week of BEING. $270 + $2 video fee

A Gestalt Workshop for Professionals
Stella Resnick
This workshop is designed for people who are working as group leaders, therapists and in related fields. We will review basic principles of gestalt awareness through discussion and practice. There will be work with video for feedback. Some time will be set aside for revolving leadership under supervision. $270 + $2 video fee

Realms of the Human Unconscious: Psychedelic and Anthropological Perspectives
Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

This workshop will focus on the expanded image of the human mind that is emerging from LSD research and anthropological studies. The participants will become acquainted with such issues as: new maps of the human unconscious; transpersonal aspects of birth, sex and death; LSD psychotherapy with neurotics, alcoholics, heroin addicts, psychotic patients and individuals dying of cancer; the nature of the schizophrenic process; mystical, religious and metaphysical experiences in psychedelic sessions and indigenous healing systems and rites of passage in non-western cultures.

We will utilize didactic sessions, discussions, experiential exercises, selected films and videotapes, mandala work and non-drug technology for inducing unusual states of consciousness. $270

Individual use of the sensory isolation tank will be available to participants for an additional fee of $10.

weekend of january 24-26

Sensory Awareness & Drawing
Connie & Leon Siegel

Sensory awareness is meditation on the process of everyday life. Through simple experiments involving activities such as sitting, moving, breathing, touching another, we may begin to explore our nature in its fullness, coming more to quiet and clarity of body/mind. Periods of sensing will be alternated with periods of drawing in which we work out of the awareness of our inner rhythms, of movement and of our environment perceived through touching and seeing. Emphasis will be on the discovery of each person's unique way of experiencing and how this is expressed in line, shape and color. $110

A Workshop for Gay People / Sally Smith

A chance for gay men and women, singly or in couples, to come together at Esalen, explore life styles, problems, joys, directions; share massage, music and plain talk. $100

What's Available / George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. $110

Gestalt Improvisations
Paul Rebillot & Shirley Leitch

Sing the glory of your life to the world,
Dance the story of your life to the world.
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world,
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
—Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bio-energetic methods of liberating breath, movement and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. $110 plus $2 video fee

You & Universal Motion / Bob Nadeau

The physical conscious system operates in direct relationship to a larger energy activity or universal motion. It is important to recognize this activity as a "friend" and learn to work in harmony with it. We will explore energy and our "marriage" with it through meditation, centering and body movement. $270

Psychosynthesis: Nurturing the Child Within
John Firman & Matthew Haar

This workshop will focus on the psychosynthesis technique of Bear Therapy, an approach to self-acceptance and self-nurturing. Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing from being rigid and critical to being collapsed or being dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we learn to center and to nourish ourselves from that center. $240

Gestalt & the Body / Richard Price & Esalen Staff

Includes an introduction to a variety of body practices: acupuncture, rolfing, bioenergetics, massage, polarity massage and their relation to gestalt awareness practice. $270

Weekend of January 31 - February 2

Yoga for Modern Living / Joel Kramer

A workshop on the physical, psychological and spiritual aspects of yoga geared to make yoga meaningful as a tool for adventure of self-exploration in day to day living.

The approach here is to teach you to be in touch with yourself as a living process and to tune into the energy systems of your mind and body so that you rapidly become your own teacher.

The workshop combines Hatha Yoga (the physical) and Jnana Yoga (the mental-psychological) in an approach that involves exploring the "edge" or frontiers of the Self both mentally and physically.

Friday night - introductory lecture-demonstration
Saturday - two sessions of Hatha Yoga, three sessions Jnana Yoga
Sunday - two sessions Hatha Yoga, one session Jnana Yoga

$110

Spiritual Cleaning & Daily Practice / Al Drucker

The focus of our weekend together will be to purify our body-mind and heart. In the process we hope to develop a practice that we can take home with us (to use alone or share with those we live with). This will include a cleansing bath, a cleansing diet, morning meditation, some yoga, t'ai chi and Arica exercises, self-massage, karma cleaning and chanting . . . lots of chanting (down by the sea if the weather's good). If there's time we'll also demonstrate rolfing, acupuncture and other healing/purification practices. $110

Dissolving Blocks to Creative Expression: A Key to Developing Intellectual Self-Confidence
Lee Gibson

There is a creative child and a creative adult in all of us. Important aspects of the creative adult are often not discovered because they are blocked off. For the same reason, much of the creative child often goes unremembered. Until creative child and adult are reunited, a person will not fully realize nor utilize his creative potentials. This workshop will explore differences between creative expression and manufacturing; similarities between creative child and creative adult. Until such differences and similarities are understood, a fear-to-function can keep a person from being creatively expressive. Explorations will be made through reading, writing, painting, drawing; dialogues with self, others and objects; body movement; verbal and silent expression; sense awareness; focusing awareness on here-and-now and the relevance of there-and-then; plus various counseling techniques. $110

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $110

Body Awareness and Massage / Barbara Clemans

If we could but experience ourselves as free and flowing as we really are, we would then know our own perfection.

Through a series of specific, directed movements with awareness we can begin to alter the patterns of habitual movement in the body. By doing so, the psyche is then altered in its habitual manner of responding to the world. In addition, we will aid each other in enhancing our organic sense of well-being and integration with massage. $110

Renascence: Integration of Mind, Body and Spirit / Michael Butler

Michael Butler writes: "My interest is in mind, body and spirit working together. I want to develop the spirit because it can make the work of becoming a whole person easier - in fact, it can make it a joy. At the same time, I believe that spirituality must be human which means it is grounded solidly in love of oneself and love of other people.

As an approach, I choose to focus on undiscovered strengths rather than on flaws; on essence more than on personality, on transmuting the energy within blocks rather than attempting to do away with the blocks. On win/win rather than win/lose exchanges between people. I choose this way of working because it is true and because we are all equals in the process of becoming. Our flow will guide the flow of the work. Still, a general description of the month might be:

First week:	Work with emotions: a positive kind of encounter, establishment of group trust matrix, introduction to Esalen.
Second week:	Emphasis on body work: rolfing, massage, gestalt practices.
Third week:	Focus on the spiritual: meditation, centering and grounding practices. This week will probably be co-led.
Fourth week:	Integration of emotional, physical and spiritual work, theoretical underpinnings of the work, application to everyday life.

The program will be limited to sixteen participants, approximately equal numbers of men and women. Our center will be in the "Big House" on the Esalen grounds. There will be cross-pollination with a month-long workshop led by John Heider.

Throughout the month, emphasis will be on those growth practices which can be translated directly to everyday life." $1150

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques and video feedback, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $270 plus $2 video fee.

Human Potential Theory and Practice
John Heider

The "human potential" is the capacity to become increasingly conscious or aware of what is happening in the here and now. Human potential practice is awareness training. Body work teaches somatic awareness. Encounter and gestalt teach psychological awareness. Meditation teaches spiritual awareness.

This workshop will integrate body work, encounter/gestalt and systems of meditation. While the workshop will be primarily experiential, time will be allotted for discussion of human potential theory.

Subject to revision at the time of the workshop, the schedule will be:

First week:	Introduction, a synthesis, emphasizing encounter and gestalt and introducing body work and meditation (a Heider five-day workshop).
Second week:	Emphasis on body work, including massage, bioenergetics, rolfing and polarity therapy, depending upon availability of practitioners having specialized skills; cleansing.
Third week:	Systems of meditation, including sitting meditation, moving meditation, sensing and chanting.
Fourth week:	Transpersonal work: an emphasis on the relationship between self and other in that state of being in which the more pronounced autisms have been cleansed and cleared by the work of the first three weeks.

While this workshop is designed and directed by John Heider, outside consultants, including members of the Esalen staff, will make a major contribution to the richness of the program.

Suitable for professionals and non-professionals alike. $1150

Group Mind / Michaeleen Kimmey

In the here-and-now there exist configurations of circuiting energy within the chakras of our selves and between each other. These are the pathways of emotion and intuition, our inner teachers, our navigators.

Group mind is the process of becoming energetically present and aware in our individual moments together. We plug each other in to form a group connection, then channel and focus that powerful energy compassionately to heal, know and love ourselves and each other.

Workshop sessions will include intuitive massage, Feldenkrais exercises of movement to awareness, body numerology, learning to see energy flows, techniques for experiencing "Higher Self" consciousness. $110

Organic Process – Primal Experience Weekend
Daniel Miller

The body contains, simultaneously, all the real and symbolic events and personnae with their emotional connections to fear, hunger, love or pain experienced in one's lifetime. Organic process peels these layers of personality defense through intensive encountering of one's inner world. In this workshop we will explore the vivid colors of emotional response, the ways you resist and defend against being yourself and the physical potentials for sensory and emotional experience. $100

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

Perfect light Great Space
the Way has nothing lacking, nothing in excess.
Truly because of our accepting and rejecting
We have not the suchness of things.
–Sengtsan
(3rd Patriarch of Ch'an [Zen] Buddhism)

"What is, is" – Fritz Perls (1st Patriarch of gestalt therapy).

Gestalt practice is a form evolving out of the work of Fritz Perls, relating that work to physical/spiritual ways, both ancient and modern.

Persons are explicitly not "patients," but persons consenting actively to work in awareness. The group "leader" functions primarily to reflect, clarify, and to flow with that which emerges in this process. The aim is personal unfoldment, growth, wholeness, rather than "adjustment," "accomplishment" or "cure." $270

Touching the Energy Body
Bernard Gunther & Peter Pick

Within/beyond the physical-emotional-mental body is the invisible etheric body. Here in this subtle center of you is being, feeling, inspiration, energy, healing, pleasure beyond intensity – a finer reality beyond the transitory duality of thoughts, emotions and senses, the flowing harmonious spirit that is: I AM.

In this workshop we will learn to use polarity therapy, relaxation, thought control, psychosynthesis and meditation to experience and rejuvenate your subtler self. $280

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience–love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

opening the feelings

RADIX NEO-REICHIAN WORKSHOPS
(formerly Interscience Workshops)

To grow in the capacity to experience and express deep feeling, to connect up with oneself and to contact others is the aim of this series of workshops which employ neo-Reichian techniques of emotional release. The Radix Intensive, a period of individual work within a small group setting, is practised by Charles and Erica Kelley and their staff at the Radix Work Shop. The Intensive, like other neo-Reichian techniques used in these workshops, grew from the discovery by Charles Kelley's teacher, Wilhelm Reich, of the way in which feeling is rooted in the flow of energy in the body, and is blocked by chronic muscular contractions which Reich called the muscular armor. Freeing the armor enables the student to open feeling that is buried and to soften and free feeling that is too strong and has been held in for fear of explosion.

In these workshops armor is softened by simultaneous work on the character and body, using techniques not only from Reich, but also from bioenergetics, sensory awareness and other body-oriented approaches. Groups will be kept small–never more than eight per leader, so that significant individual help can be given. Grief or pain, fear and rage that have been held in since childhood emerge in these workshops. As the participant accepts and works through these negative feelings, he discovers a new capacity for pleasure, trust and love. In time the sexual experience changes profoundly as tender and sexual feelings for the mate intensify and merge.

Schedule: Jan 12-17 Laura Dillon, David Howard & Lara Amber $270

student weekend groups

To enable a wider range of young people to attend Esalen, we are offering a weekend "sleeping bag" rate to groups of students during the September to May period. These weekends are designed to allow the students the experience of a variety of Esalen activities such as gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis, movement, massage, meditation . . .
The rate is $55 per student with a minimum of 10 students required. This includes meals from Friday dinner through Sunday lunch. Please write for information and available dates to: Janet Zuckerman, Student Groups, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

Energy / Bernard Gunther

We are all fields of energy living in an energy field. Our potential is limitless, yet we frequently find ourselves operating in fatigue and limitation. This damming of the Self is caused by excessive tension, shallow breathing, toxic relationships and non-focused thought which rob the organism of vitality and pleasure. How to tap this infinite supply of energy, how to rechannel and raise sexual energy, and how to apply this knowledge in everyday activity will be the task of this seminar. In this work we will explore aspects of yoga, gestalt, psychosynthesis and meditation to experience more fully our flow of vital and psychic energy. $110

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

Many of us are operating as tape recorders. We switch on in the morning at "high" or "low" speed and play our stock of tapes in response to the buttons being pushed by people or events. We are vaguely aware that life seems repetitive, or dull, that time is often something to be gotten through instead of savored, but this awareness is lost in the "noise" and business of day to day living.

This weekend will be devoted to bringing our attention to what we are doing–how we are really acting and thinking. Once we are aware of our tapes, we can go off automatic and begin to enjoy our interactions with one another. We will be using gestalt process, encounter, sensory awareness and other techniques to tune in to ourselves and each other. $100

Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $110

week of february 16-21

People's Liberation
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

In this workshop we will explore who we are beyond the traditional roles, expectations and assumptions that we have accumlated and learned to experience as ourselves. We will then find ways of integrating this new sense of self with our personal and professional lives.

Gestalt, psychosynthesis, encounter, guided daydreams and meditation will be used as well as massage, play, drawing and centering techniques. $270

Four Pillars of Health: A Workshop in Preventive Medicine
John McCamy & Esalen Staff

A workshop to improve your health. John McCamy, a physician in the field of preventive medicine, works with the four "pillars" of: nutrition (detoxification), exercise/movement, stress reduction and ecological awareness.

Sessions in alternative health techniques will be offered by Dr. McCamy & Esalen Staff. Participants will become acquainted with approaches to physical-mental-spiritual balance such as: structural integration (Rolfing), acpuncture, Feldenkrais movement and various meditation practices.

Participants are asked to bring a record of their last week's diet and physical exercise: what was eaten (meals and snacks) and how much exercise taken (work, play, stairs, carrying, etc.) Workshop sessions will include: lecture and discussion; daily aerobic and movement exercises, personally tailored; stress-reduction techniques similar to meditation and alpha-state induction; meal-time awareness exercises. People in the helping professions—psychologists, teachers, nurses, doctors, ministers—can acquire a basic and simple illness-prevention approach which can be passed on to those seeking improved health and well-being. $270

Letting Go / Marilyn & Bob Kriegel

In this workshop we will practice being weightless, letting go of old burdens, troubles, and woes that tend to bog us down. A focus on joy and creative living will be our guide to "letting go."

Encounter, gestalt, and psychosynthesis will be used in addition to massage, meditation, play and an appreciation of the Big Sur Country. $110

The Feldenkrais Method: Extending our Possibilities
Judith Stransky

This is an experience in the Feldenkrais method. Moshe Feldenkrais is the originator of a subtle and powerful new body technique. He has devised a series of simple, ingenious exercises which involve integration of the physical and the mental, expand boundaries of human possibility and lead to release from fixed habits that restrict us. Awareness of our self-image is developed, and the range of our movements is greatly extended. The work teaches integration, differentiation, relaxation and balance, improvement in alignment and greater ease in movement, and is a unique means of bringing us closer to the fulfillment of our human potential. $110

Centering & Energy Awareness for Couples
Robert Nadeau & Betsy Hill

He says: "Practices to enable couples to be aware of their effect on each other, to see clearly the sources of discord and to learn to harmonize with each other so as to function as a team in an ongoing relationship."

She says: "A workshop designed to illuminate the interactions of a close relationship. Exercises modeled for more depth in couple's awareness and experience of one another. In dealing not only with the energy 'highs' but also the energy 'lows,' we will work toward a deeper experience of what being a 'couple' is." $110

week of february 23-28

Beyond the Battle / Janet Lederman

The focus of this workshop will be the relationship between men and women. We will attempt to go beyond anger, assertion and accusation (without disregarding their validity) to more constructive ways of relating. By exploring new and perhaps unfamiliar behaviors and responses we may begin to experience greater flexibility and harmony in being with ourselves and each other as women and men. $270

The Sense of Whole Being
Betty Fuller & Dub Leigh

A gestalt/encounter group making use of group process, personal growth, awareness training and body work to discover and experience the blanks in our self-images and the blocks and barriers to realization of whole being. Methods to enhance and expand whole being awareness will include Feldenkrais movement work, psychosynthesis, massage, art, music and dance. Rolfing will also be available to participants at $35 per individual session. $300

The Energy Body in Action / George Leonard

Many ancient and modern disciplines of personal health, growth and change depend upon concepts of "energy flows" in and around the bodies of living things. Western science has not yet identified all of these biofields, but some significant work is under way, as in acupuncture, for example. Using techniques derived from aikido and breathing, Mr. Leonard will present his approach to the human biofield. He will discuss the application of biofield work to other growth disciplines and to certain currents in Western thought. Through bodily movement and exercises in perception, consciousness and being, participants will experience their energy bodies in interaction with nature and other people, and will practice centering and heightened awareness. $110

Psychosynthesis: Nurturing the Child Within
Betsie Carter & Lenore Lefer

This workshop will focus on the psychosynthesis technique of "bear therapy," an approach of self-acceptance and self- nurturing. Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing between being rigid and critical to being collapsed or dependent upon another person or a group. Western Roundup—a Pioneer Project
Coordinator: Margaret Conway, Montana Learning Unlimited

Montana Learning Unlimited is a new growth center in Helena, Montana, which is assembling a group of people from Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and nearby Northwest states to participate in a month-long workshop at Esalen. If you are from that area, we invite you to join us.

The Human Potential Movement has been, for a long time, centered on the east and west coasts. We've met many individuals who sought experience at these centers and returned home to wonder, "Am I alone? Is there anyone else who is involved in the same things?" "How can I bring this work into my life here at home?" In response to this, we have designed a program to explore together the developing disciplines—physical, mental, emotional and spiritual—in the study of human growth and consciousness. Our aim is to adapt the work to the particular needs of our own geographical area and to form a seed group to help one another and to further the development of human potential practice in our home areas.

Limited to 15 persons, our group will spend 26 days together at Esalen. There will be two sessions daily with Esalen leaders and evening meetings with Margaret Conway and Ed Hahn of Montana Learning Unlimited to integrate the experience and maintain a flow of communication. Weekends will be free to enjoy the seashore and mountains of Big Sur, visit San Francisco or attend weekend workshops listed in the Esalen catalog (at a reduced rate.)

The 26-day program will include sessions in: bioenergetics, encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis, massage, movements, meditation and new trends in health and healing. Participating leaders from Esalen will include: Barbara Clemans, Al Drucker, Bernie Gunther, Janet Lederman, Robert Nadeau, Dick and Chris Price, Paul Rebillot, Julian and Beverly Silverman and many others.

All inquiries and reservations will be handled by Montana Learning Unlimited, 58 North Last Chance Gulch, Helena, Montana, 59601. Tel. (406) 442-7402. Reservations must be accompanied by a deposit of $400 and should be made by Feb. 3rd. Fee: $960

THE WEEK OF MARCH 2-7 (continued)

Expansion / Ken Dychtwald & Deborah Medow

Most of use are at least 90% asleep. In order to maintain this state of unawareness successfully, we have crowded our minds, jammed our bodies and stifled our inter-personal inter-actions. We have allowed ourselves to become trapped by the pressures of our own self-limiting images and processes.

By focusing on our mental, physical and interpersonal dimensions, we will give ourselves the opportunity to try out new and more expansive ways of feeling, knowing, moving, seeing, being. In addition to group-process work drawn from encounter, gestalt and psychodrama, we will experience various body/mind awareness exercises. There will be daily meditation practice as well as daily sessions at the baths with both Esalen-style and polarity massage. $270

Take A Second Look at Yourself
Janet Zuckerman

We will focus on taking a good look at what is going on behind the masks we wear and what is underneath the expressions we put on our faces to confront the world. "Who are you?" and "Who do you pretend to be?" are the polarities we will be working with. Every one of us has a great deal of unused potential, and I see the group experience as a safe place to begin to tap into this energy. This week will be entirely experiential using mirrors, gestalt, soft-encounter and sensory awareness. Two video sessions will be included. $240 + $4 video fee.

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $270

A Workshop with the Four of Us / Betsie Carter, Matthew Haar, Joel Latner & Laurie Latner.

We have training and experience in massage, gestalt, psychosynthesis, encounter, dreamwork, rolfing and psychotherapy. Each of us has an individual style of work and we enjoy working together. We want to share this week with you, exploring the ways we can each be individuals, discovering our own styles, and ways we can be together, enjoying one another. $270

The Inner Road to Health—Approaches to Healing and Self—Healing
Al Drucker, Esalen Staff, and Guest Leaders

This is a workshop for staying well and learning to help others stay well. There will be two 4-week workshops of this type scheduled for this year, one in March, the other in September, 1975. They will provide a synthesis of various health techniques practiced or taught at Esalen. From these month-long workshops it is anticipated that 6 to 8 individuals will be selected for a 6-month to one-year apprenticeship-training program in the healing arts, commencing in the Spring of 1976. Interest in apprenticeship is not, however, necessary for participation.

The basic premise of these programs is that as we immerse ourselves in a nourishing environment, observe good habits of living, and take in good food, both physical and spiritual, our body-mind comes into harmony and health. In these workshops we will use a number of different tools for clearing out the thick underbrush of our attachments to the various roles, identities, relationships, worldly objects, plans, and desires that clog up our lives. When we do, we will discover a path that leads us through the everbusy, everchanging external world experienced through the mind and senses to the calm, joyfilled, inner world of the soul, experienced through the heart. We will travel this path, developing a daily practice that will cleanse body, mind and spirit and take us step-by-step inside. It is from these deep inner wellsprings of our being that we will discover the healing current that permits us to guide others to health and to heal ourselves.

The schedule and the list of possible topics that follows will serve as a basis for group selection of the actual program to be used during the month. These 4-week workshops will be limited to 14 participants each. Please apply early giving a short statement of your background, general state of health, and any special interests related to healing. Attach a photograph, if available, and mail to Barbara Braunstein, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, Ca. 93920. Some partial scholarships will be available. We plan to provide a special healthful diet to participants in this program; for this we will do some of our own meal preparation and harvesting of food.

Changing: Inner and Outer Movement
Barbara Clemans

"For the poets have seen the truth that life, change, movement and insecurity are so many names for the same thing . . . for movement and rhythm are the essence of all things lovable." . . . Alan Watts

We will use the tools of guided imagery and meditation to recognize our resistances to change; movement to give expression to our inner impulses; and massage and awareness exercises for group contact and support. Expecially recommended for women in transition. $110

Massage Meditation & Yoga
Peggy Morrison & Dick Horan

Limited to 16. $110

Come as You Are / Paul Rebillot

The focus is your uniqueness. Using gestalt, dance, improvisation and ritual magic, we will delve into the mysteries of your mythology and bring your fantasies and visions' to life through creative self expression. We will use video as one way to express ourselves to ourselves. $110 + $2 video fee

ongoing residential program

Offered from September through May, the Ongoing Residential Program is designed for those who would like to have time and space in the Esalen environment for an intensive workshop program over a long term. A minimum stay: 26 days (or four "weeks" and three weekends).
Participants may select any of the five-day workshops offered during their stay. Some programs are cancelled, so second choices are advised. Some special staff programs will also be open to residents. Cost: $960 per 26-day period.

student work-scholarship program

We have a limited number of spaces available during the September to May period at reduced rates for college students who would like to find out more about the approaches to human growth and spiritual practice that are being developed within the human potential movement. Students will be provided with shared accommodation and will contribute some hours of work each week to the Esalen community. A minimum residence of four weeks is required. Extensions in the program are by invitation only. Write for further details and cost to: Joan Fiore, Student Work-Scholarship Program, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

Silva Mind Control / Bob Hutchins

Through the ages man has sought the keys to bringing awareness under conscious direction. He has sought ways of developing a relaxed and balanced center from which to process information in his environment ("problem solving"). Silva Mind Control pursues these directions in a concentrated training system which draws upon the wisdom of the past and the findings of modern scientific inquiry.

Along the research path, Jose Silva and others have discovered and explored mental states in which an individual can move toward tranquility, anxiety-free natural health and many other positive mental-physical manifestations of improved life functioning. They have discovered that the mental states in which these achievements can occur are the same states or levels in which an individual can experience his innate ability to perceive information using other than the five biological senses (ESP). In Mind Control method, ESP receives our direct attention and we undertake the awakening and development of this faculty of human intelligence which many feel is a doorway to the next phase of human evolution.

During a concentrated five days, we'll experience and learn more of "what's possible" with mind/awareness training. $270

Experiencing Esalen / Experiencing Esalen Staff

See workshop description p 10 $240

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. There will be a session with video for "taking a look" at ourselves. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $270 plus $2 video fee.

Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

$270

weekend of march 14-16

Massage & Creativity / Myrtle Ratcliffe

Massage as well as music, painting and other art forms are ways to step into the energy flow of creativity/receptivity. When we uncover our own rhythms through breathing, energy awareness, concentration and meditation, our personal ways of expression and appreciation will be revealed.

Focusing on massage, with short side trips into music, drawing and poetry, we will create our own styles of expression near the seashore and in the woods of Big Sur. $100

Renascence / Michael Butler

For description see March 23, below. $110

Finding Your Own Way / Lenore Lefer

The way we choose to be and live our lives is limited by our perceptions and attitudes about ourselves. To broaden and illuminate these perceptions, we will explore our untapped energy resources. With richer alternatives and choices available, finding our own way will be a nourishing experience.

Gestalt awareness, encounter, guided daydreams and psychosynthesis techniques will be among the tools used on our search. $110

Present-Centered Bioenergetics / Michael Conant

This is a time for uniting and centering in our physical self. This is a time for working and being together as a group, using materials from bioenergetics, gestalt therapy, and the psychology of Wilhelm Reich; we'll also draw on experiments from other sources, Eastern and Western. This is a time for those who wish to find themselves within rather than search for a God without. Those for whom this distinction has become a bit blurred anyway are most welcome. $110

Flowing Movement Energy Consciousness
Bernard Gunther & Gabrielle Roth

A quiet exciting joyous peaceful week of integration: movement breathing visualization body awareness energy communication centering consciousness relaxation in an inner-outer massage of active and passive practical playful deep continuous meditation.
$280 + $2 video fee

Letting Go / Marilyn & Bob Kriegel

In this workshop we will practice being weightless, letting go of old burdens, troubles, and woes that tend to bog us down. A focus on joy and creative living will be our guide to "letting go."

Encounter, gestalt, and psychosynthesis will be used in addition to massage, meditation, play and an appreciation of the Big Sur Country. $270

week of march 16-21

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

For workshop description see page 15. $270

Self-Image vs Self-Actualization
Paul Rebillot & Janet Zuckerman

What are our social images? our family images? our professional images? How does the image of what we ought to be compare with what we see in the mirror? Does this comparison limit or nurture our enjoyment of ourselves? What price do we pay for our facades? How much of our true selves must be killed off and how much can be allowed to live? In this workshop we transform all these questions into statements and learn how we might integrate the statements into our lives. $270 + $6 video fee

Air: kiss my hand
Fire: light my seeing
Water: meet my level
Earth: grasp my skull

weekend of march 21-23

Being "Together" / Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

Being "together" or having it all "together" usually refers to coming to terms with seemingly disparate and conflicting elements of our personality and blending them to arrive at a state of inner peace and harmony. In this workshop we will use encounter, gestalt, psychosynthesis and bioenergetic techniques as well as massage and play to help us develop new awareness and insights and to explore the process of being "together," both with ourselves and with others. $270

Interpersonal Sensing / Simone Surpin

Within each of us is a place where we can receive and give caring and love much as a child can. Most of us have given up on this as a real, possible way of being in the world out of fear or habit or simple disbelief. The focus this weekend is to explore how we can re-open our channels to this way of being: how we can nourish and stay alive to our own experiences and feelings, and share them with others. Toward this end our group process will include the practice of listening to the vibrational statements, exchanges and energy flows we are constantly partaking in. We will also make use of body work, massage, gentle bio-energetics and various forms of energy awareness practices. (Limited to 12 participants.) $110

Meltingintwone / Bernard Gunther

Often we have sex when what we are really seeking is an open closeness caring energy sharing to quiet our intense sense of anxiety and separateness; intimate relationships are most rewarding when they are not only pleasurable but uplifting continuously new and renewing. In this workshop for couples, we will explore subtle delicate ways to exchange energy that can raise the relationship from the mundane into a higher plane of consciousness, intimacy and awareness. In these experimental experiences, we will explore various aspects of mutual meditation, motionless continuous energy transformation, polarity therapy and non-verbal communication. $110

Changing Courses in Midstream / Jack Gaines

The change from what you are doing to what you want to do is not easy for most people—at any age. Many of us talk of changing life styles, getting out of the rat race, no longer willing to look for our identity in an endless string of shiny new possessions. Some of us do. Few among those who do are prepared for the impact of change and/or idleness. This is an exploratory seminar for people who are interested in the development of new attitudes preparatory to changing career and family responsibilities. $100

week of march 23-28

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

You & Universal Motion / Bob Nadeau

The physical conscious system operates in direct relationship to a larger energy activity or universal motion. It is important to recognize this activity as a "friend" and learn to work in harmony with it. We will explore energy and our "marriage" with it through meditation, centering and body movement. $270

Deepening the Experience of the Self with Movement, Music, Meditation & Massage
Barbara Clemans

You are already more beautiful, more loving, more gentle and more perfect than you think you are. Establish your connection with this self, using: music to relax and sensitize the body, allowing the unconscious to emerge; Feldenkrais directed awareness movement to alter uncomfortable fixed patterns; creative movement to establish individual uniqueness; meditation to quiet inner voices and massage to establish group contact and support. $270

An Introductory Workshop in Confluent Education
Stephen Marcus

For "educators" and other interested bystanders.

This workshop will introduce the basic theories and practices of Confluent Education, the attitudes and strategies which help integrate thinking and feeling in the classroom—at all levels and with all subject matters. (Science teachers especially are invited.)

Come prepared to think about your feelings and to feel about your thinkings. Come prepared to teach yourself even as you give up your need to teach others. A prerequisite for the workshop is a sense of humor about what you do.

University credit in Education is available for this workshop through the Extension Division of the University of California, Santa Barbara. Fees for credit are in addition to the regular workshop fee. University credit arrangements will be made during the workshop. $240

week of march 30 - april 4

Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and discard the techniques and defenses we have come to rely on—when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this workshop, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents. $270

Gestalt Training Workshop / Frank Rubenfeld

Hot-seat work, gestalt exercises and mini-raps will be part of this experential-didactic workshop. Participants will also have the opportunity to work with each other under the direct supervision of Dr Rubenfeld. Limited to those in the helping professions. $270

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

For workshop description see page 15. $270

A Workshop in Energy Responsibility / Alan Schwartz

A natural and organic energy flow makes up the whole person. This week we will work toward progressive realization of how blocks to the free flow of emotion inhibit us from experiencing a mature sense of self. The dynamics will involve risk-taking on both the psychic and somatic levels, using energy and gestalt techniques to form the structure of energy responsibility. A central theme will be that "knowledge is a head-trip and wisdom emanates from the entire organism." A video session will enable us to focus visually on our movement. $270 + $2 video fee

Take A Second Look at Yourself
Janet Zuckerman

We will focus on taking a good look at what is going on behind the masks we wear and what is underneath the expressions we put on our faces to confront the world. "Who are you?" and "Who do you pretend to be?" are the polarities we will be working with. Every one of us has a great deal of unused potential, and I see the group experience as a safe place to begin to tap into this energy. This week will be entirely experiential using mirrors, gestalt, soft-encounter and sensory awareness. Two video sessions will be included. $240 + $4 video fee.

weekend of april 4-6

Women and Change
Janet Lederman & the Esalen Women

Exploring superficial roles; what we imagine to be "natural" and our relationship to one another. $110

Workshop in Energy Responsibility / Alan Schwartz

For description see March 30-April 4 above. $110

The New Communication—An Alternative to Powerlessness / John Zeigler

"I've had the peak experience. Now what?" The New Communication, an integrative problem-solving process, attempts to answer this through helping you develop more effective interpersonal communication techniques. We will also demonstrate how these methods can be applied on an ongoing basis toward gaining more personal freedom in an institutionalized and oppressive society. We will dramatize how we avoid taking communication risks and how we block open communication. Our aim during this experiential weekend will be to achieve a warm and close group environment through the interchange of thoughts, fantasies, ideas, feelings and energy. The leader will draw upon his own experience and intuition as well as major contributions from fantasy and self-communication, gestalt, sensory awareness, psychosynthesis, bioenergetics and psychodrama. $100

Experiencing the Biocentric Approach with Nathaniel Branden

This is a personal growth, experiential seminar, devoted to the themes of self-awareness, self-acceptance, self-responsibility and self-assertiveness. This work rests on the premise that self-esteem is a person's primary psychological need, that a deficiency of self-esteem underlies all psychological problems and that the essence of effective therapy consists of aiding the individual to develop or enhance self-esteem. In this workshop, I invite participants to explore some of the techniques and procedures I have found helpful in building self-esteem. $110

How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World?
Arthur & Janica Fox

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques, including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies. $110

Conference Facilities at Big Sur

From October through May, the meeting rooms, housing accommodations and facilities of Esalen/Big Sur, are available to those seeking a conference site. In the past, organizations as diverse as a college faculty-student group, an architectural firm, an association of physicians and a U S Army drug abuse program have made use of Big Sur in this way. Scheduling must be done at least 6 months in advance.

For further information and available dates, contact Joan Fiore, Esalen/Big Sur, Big Sur, CA 93920.

Gestalt Improvisations
Paul Rebillot

Sing the glory of your life to the world.
Dance the story of your life to the world.
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world.
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
—Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bio-energetic methods of liberating breath, movement and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. $270 + $2 video fee

Opening the Feelings: A Radix Neo-Reichian Workshop / Charles & Erica Kelley

For description, see p 16. $300

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $270

Gestalt, Encounter, Psychosynthesis
Julian & Beverly Silverman

$270

Psychosynthesis: Nurturing the Child Within
Betsie Carter & Matthew Haar

This workshop will focus on the psychosynthesis technique of "bear therapy," an approach of self-acceptance and self-nurturing. Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing between being rigid and critical to being collapsed or dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we learn to center and to nourish ourselves from center. $270

weekend of april 11-13

Yoga for Modern Living / Joel Kramer

A workshop on the physical, psychological and spiritual aspects of yoga geared to make yoga meaningful as a tool for the adventure of self-exploration in day to day living.

The approach here is to teach you to be in touch with yourself as a living process and to tune into the energy systems of your mind and body so that you rapidly become your own teacher.

The workshop combines Hatha Yoga (the physical) and Jnana Yoga (the mental-psychological) in an approach that involves exploring the "edge" or frontiers of the Self both mentally and physically.

Friday night - introductory lecture-demonstration
Saturday - two sessions of Hatha Yoga, three sessions Jnana Yoga
Sunday - two sessions Hatha Yoga, one session Jnana Yoga
$110

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $110

The Art of Self-direction / Lenore Lefer

In this workshop we will explore and examine the nature of self-direction and the ways in which we can increase it in our lives. The degree to which we can discover, direct and regulate our energies affects how productive, creative and joyful we will be. In an atmosphere that is supportive and nourishing we will use gestalt awareness, encounter, massage, and psychosynthesis techniques to learn and enhance the art of self direction. $110

Basic T'Ai Chi Massage / Judy Unell

Bringing two ancient arts together, I have developed an innovative, caring, massage method combining pressure points, muscle and sensory strokes with T'ai Chi movement (which transmits a special rhythm and energy flow, relaxing but energizing the giver as well as the receiver). Whether a beginner or a professional, this method can give you a basic understanding of the easy uses of body weight and elimination of strain through rhythmic movement. $100

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good
Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $110

week of april 13-18

Leadership Training
Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock Schutz

For experienced group leaders. Each will get a chance to lead under supervision and to explore self in relation to leading. There will be demonstrations of several techniques and discussions of theory. Limited to 12. $300

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

For workshop description see page 15. $270

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

Movement as Therapy: A Workshop for Professionals
Gabrielle Roth

This workshop is specifically designed for persons who serve as guides in the helping professions. Our purpose will be to explore movement as a tool to be integrated into your practice and adapted to your professional needs. We will experience movement exercises to increase awareness of self—of self in relation to another—of self in relation to the group.

Please send a letter communicating briefly about yourself and your professional involvement so that your personal needs may be considered. $270 + $2 video fee

Moving / Gabrielle Roth

"Consciousness is, among other things, a spontaneous exercise in creativity." —Seth

Accepting self is letting go of judgment.
Letting go of judgment is allowing
space for experience.
Allowing space for experience is being . . .
the ability to move in-the-flow,
conscious
creative spontaneous.

Self-Realization Meditation / David Milton Lees

Each of us has a calm, centered self that experiences life directly and is in harmony with what is. We often lose this direct experience of life when we become caught up in our thoughts. We come to believe that the stories we tell ourselves are the only true reality. Self-Realization Meditation, which will be taught in this workshop, is a simple practice that can be used in everyday life to deepen our contact with the self that directly experiences life as it is. $110

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

Many of us are operating as tape recorders. We switch on in the morning at "high" or "low" speed and play our stock of tapes in response to the buttons being pushed by people or events. We are vaguely aware that life seems repetitive, or dull, that time is often something to be gotten through instead or savored, but this awareness is lost in the "noise" and business of day to day living.

This weekend will be devoted to bringing our attention to what we are doing—how we are really acting and thinking. Once we are aware of our tapes, we can go off automatic and begin to enjoy our interactions with one another. We will be using gestalt process, encounter, sensory awareness and other techniques to tune in to ourselves and each other. $100

David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The objective of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her/himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of gestalt, meditation and encounter will be used. $110

Arica Body Work / Roland Hall, Irene Love, Melanie Smith

An experimental weekend exploring methods for realizing a body that is energized, flexible and free of tension. The weekend will include dance, psychocalisthenics, kath generation, walking japa, massage, eurythmics, bio-rleaxation, color as a vehicle to touch and energize organs and parts of our bodies. $110 + $2 video fee

Massage Workshop / Peggy Morrison & Dick Horan
Limited to 16. $270

Integration: The Recovery of Wholeness
Neil Lamper
"Gestalt is a way of life more than a form of therapy. Participants in this workshop can expect to experience their here-and-now and discuss their what-and-how. I am interested in people learning how to use their what—at work, play, in families, couples and as singles. At times our entire group will be active and at times one person will wrestle with the impasse. I cannot force, will not coerce and have no neat package of salvation. People maintain their own momentum, work in their own way. I will share my eyes and ears. I invite people to this workshop who want to experience Esalen and themselves anew and expect to express this in their broader lives." $270

Silva Mind Control / Bob Hutchins

Inspiration & the Power of the Body: New Tools for Psycho-Physical Development
Dyveke & Mike Spino
The inevitable dilemma of mind/body involvement is to develop techniques for both excellence and fun. This workshop offers keys to enhance enjoyment and performance by presenting some revolutionary training tools for sports and games. Beginning with over-all body conditioning and focusing on tennis and running, we will integrate the work of athletic masters such as Mihaly Igloi and Percy Wells Cerutty with the spiritual aspect of sport being developed at Esalen. This experience brings you to the peak of mind/body integration, matching literature, books, manuscripts and poems with a psycho-physical program, allowing each person to construct a personally satisfying training ritual. This week can change your entire notion of physical exercise. $270

The Roots of Intuition: Integrating Transpersonal Energy with Personal Form / David Schiffman
The central theme and focus of the traditional esoteric-mystic disciplines of the East has been access to states of consciousness that go beyond everyday form and content into the realms of pure energy and formlessness. In the rational-material tradition of the West, the focus of the behavioral sciences has been the systematic examination of form (linguistically, behaviorally, biologically) and its evolution and function. The work of Assagioli, Gurdjieff and Jung has established clearly the interdependence of these points of view—the inseparable connection between the transpersonal source of our energy and the forms we choose to manifest it.

This workshop will focus on the nature of personal process and the forms that emerge with the deliberate focussing and fine tuning of awareness on the energetic substructure we all embody. The emphasis will be on the achievement of a harmonious balance energetically between the mental, physical, emotional and transcendent realms of experience.

Some of the themes that will be touched on include: "The creative use of passion and struggle" . . . "Transmutation of sexually embodied roles" . . . "The witnessing of pain without becoming it" . . . "The healing aspects of humor" . . . "Archetypal imagery as a source of personal nourishment" . . . "Enlisting cosmic support for wordly risks" . . . $270 + $2 video fee

T'ai Chi, Studies of Tao Te Ching, Chuang Tzu, Han Shan (Cold Mountain Poems), Chinese calligraphy-painting as meditation, Tao, Here and Now.

Begin from center, not from the fringe. Learn to understand the principles before the one-two-three drill. Learn to move like the wind and the water, to be joyous, healthy and alive. Learn to be rid of burdensome anticipations and expectations. Learn to be a true beginner, and from yourself. Learn to unlearn. $270

Recommended Readings: Embrace Tiger by Al Huang; Tao: The Watercourse Way by Alan Watts; Tao Te Ching, Chuang Tzu translated by Feng-English; Cold Mountain Poems translated by G. Snyder.

Parapsychology, Consciousness & Creativity
Stanley Krippner with Robert Craig

This experiential seminar will attempt to develop each person's creative ability through the utilization of paranormal abilities that manifest themselves during altered states of consciousness. Dream recall will be utilized, as will guided imagery, massage, group hypnosis, sensory bombardment, body movement, and fantasy. In these states of consciousness, participants will be trained to gain access to the personal and universal symbols, archetypes, and thematic concepts which encourage creative development. In addition, the basic approaches to psychic healing will be discussed and experienced. Kirlian photography, a technique which demonstrates how altered consciousness also changes the bodily energies, will be discussed. Workshop participants will be given the opportunity to participate in telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition experiments during several different states of consciousness.

Suggested reading: Dream Telepathy, Ullman, Krippner & Vaughan; The Kirlian Aura, ed. Krippner & Rubin; The Secret Life of Plants, Tompkins & Bird; We Are All Healers, Hammond; Passages, A Guide for Pilgrims of the Mind, Anderson & Savary. $270

Deepening the Experience of the Self with Movement, Music, Meditation & Massage
Barbara Clemans

You are already more beautiful, more loving, more gentle and more perfect than you think you are. Establish your connection with this self, using: music to relax and sensitize the body, allowing the unconscious to emerge; Feldenkrais directed awareness movement to alter uncomfortable fixed patterns; creative movement to establish individual uniqueness; meditation to quiet inner voices and massage to establish group contact and support. $270

FUTURE WORKSHOP ANNOUNCEMENTS

Workshops of more than one week require special planning for participants. Whenever possible we will announce such workshops well in advance. More detailed descriptions—and any changes—will appear in the catalog covering the period in which the workshop is scheduled.

May 4 – June 13

The Human Experience: Consciousness & Culture
Coordinated by Joan Halifax-Grof & Stanislav Grof

A six week interdisciplinary institute for professionals and graduate students in the fields of medicine, behavioral sciences, psychotherapy, anthropology, religion and philosophy. Under the direction of Joan Halifax-Grof and Stanislav Grof, Esalen Big Sur is gathering some 20 faculty members to offer over 150 curriculum hours of theoretical and experiential sessions in the areas of anthropology, experimental psychiatry, self-exploration and consciousness.

The aim of this institute is to explore the relationship between human consciousness and culture. The three learning tracks are: 1) the human psyche and maps of consciousness; 2) human culture and psychedelic anthropology; 3) the interface between cultural context, ritual and consciousness. The institute faculty will include anthropologists, psychiatrists, artists and healers. The focus will be on unusual states of consciousness and their role in healing, religion and art. Experiential sessions, didactic seminars, selected film material, arts and laboratory techniques will be combined to convey the richness and complexity of human consciousness and culture. Non-drug technology for exploring consciousness will be available for use by participants.

This program is limited to 30 participants, selected from applicants. Fee: $1150, including room and board. Some working scholarships are available to students on the basis of need. Write for a scholarship application form. Those wishing to enroll in this institute, please send a letter containing biographical information and a photograph to: Joan Halifax-Grof, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920.

June 15 – July 13

Theological Month
Coordinated by Jean & Sidney Lanier

This month-long workshop is designed as an introduction to the experiential processes of gestalt, encounter, bioenergetics, etc., for the purpose of exploring their implications for renewing certain basic insights of our Judaic-Christian tradition. Participation is open to theologians, ministers, rabbis, seminarians, on written application. Please state something of your background and personal reasons for wishing to attend such a program. Some scholarship assistance is available according to need. Contact: Theological Month, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, California, 93920.

Limited to 14. $960

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this process.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement – to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness – to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility – to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to techniques. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal-keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced actualization of one's life.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION (ROLFING)

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi Chuan is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese philosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

TOM ALLEN, a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, leads workshops at growth centers and educational institutions throughout the country and abroad. He has taught courses in psychosynthesis at the college and university level. He is an artist and has worked to integrate art into the psychosynthesis process as a means of self-realization. (p 10)

LARA AMBER co-leads classes and workshops at The Radix Institute (formerly Interscience Workshop) and gives individual instruction in neo-Reichian emotional release. Lara has instructed classes at the Denver Free University and the Denver Learning Center, and for the past three years has worked with emotionally disturbed children. She joined the Radix training program a year ago. (p 12, 16)

GREGORY BATESON is a world-famous ecologist and ethnologist. He originated the "double bind" theory which explains some of the causes of schizophrenia. His most recent interests join the workings of the human mind and emotions to the problem of ecology. (p 12)

NATHANIEL BRANDEN is the author of The Psychology of Self-Esteem, Breaking Free and The Disowned Self. He is in private practice in Los Angeles. He is Adjunct Clinical Professor of Psychology at Rutgers University and Adjunct Professor of Psychology at Antioch College/West at Deer Creek. (p 23)

BARBARA BRAUNSTEIN recently returned from Sai Baba's ashram in India. Her history has taken her through the backwoods and bayous of Louisiana where she grew up in a doctor's and artist's family, to work in museums as art historian and to graduate work in architecture. Barbara has lived at Esalen for the past three years contributing as cook, gardner, dishwasher and waitress. She is presently involved in color and flower systems of healing as well as experimenting with different approaches to organic gardening. (p 15)

GEORGE BROWN, an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, is one of the first to combine gestalt and psychosynthesis in workshop and educational contexts. He is Professor and Director of the program in Confluent Education at the University of California at Santa Barbara and is the author of Human Teaching for Human Learning and The Live Classroom (due to be released in January, 1975). (pp 10, 13, 18)

JUDITH BROWN has an international reputation as a gestalt awareness trainer and has been interested in the use of symbols as an expression of the creative unconscious. In addition to her own groups, she has co-led numerous groups with her husband. (pp 10, 13 18)

MICHAEL BUTLER is a group leader and rolfer who is interested in ways to integrate the body, mind, and spirit. A former Esalen resident fellow, he was trained in group process by John Heider and subsequently as a rolfer by Dr Ida Rolf. Currently he is a member of a meditation training group led by Robert Nadeau. Primary emphasis in his work is on ways to translate growth practices into everyday life. (pp 12, 14, 20, 22)

JOSEPH CAMPBELL is Professor Emeritus at Sarah Lawrence College. He is a mythologist, lecturer and author of The Hero with a Thousand Faces and The Masks of God. (p 22)

BETSIE CARTER is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, California, and editor of the new journal SYNTHESIS, The Realization of the Self. She lived and worked at Esalen Big Sur from 1968-70 and was an Esalen resident fellow. She was trained in psychosynthesis by Jim and Susan Vargiu, and underwent didactic training in Italy with Roberto Assagioli, with whom she has worked over the past five years. (pp 18, 19, 24)

BARBARA CLEMANS is a teacher, dancer and practitioner of massage in San Francisco. Her approach has been synthesized from nine years of experience with various techniques, including: graduate work in creative movement, gestalt, yoga, Reichian therapy, belly dancing and EST. She has been influenced by her training with Moshe Feldenkrais in individual and group work and with George Simon in psychic development. She is an Arica trainer and her work is featured in Getting Clear: Body Work for Women. (pp 11, 14, 20, 22)

MICHAEL CONANT is a psychologist in private practice in Berkeley who works in gestalt and bioenergetic reeducation. He directs training for the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis in Northern California and is a member of the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco. He holds degrees from Columbia and Stanford Universities and is a former Director of Bridge Mountain Foundation. His current practice centers around group work and his particular interest is in teaching people to become more expressive, more themselves. (p 21)

ROBERT CRAIG is a graduate of Antioch West College and has done considerable work in heroin treatment centers. (p 27)

LAURA DILLON joined The Radix Institute (formerly Interscience Work Shop) more than three years ago. She has led workshops at growth centers across the country, has run experimental groups in conjunction with Nathaniel Branden, and, in trips to the mid-west, she and well-known leaders in Transactional Analysis have offered workshops combining Laura's neo-Reichian work with Transactional Analysis techniques. In April 1974, she opened a branch of The Radix Institute in Sonoma County. She is a qualified masseuse and a graduate of Boston University, where she studied philosophy and political science. (pp 12, 16)

GEORGE DOWNING combines gestalt with intensive methods of working with the body. He is a member of the teaching staff of the Family Therapy Institute of Marin and is the author of The Massage Book and Massage and Meditation. (p 8)

JACQUELINE LARCOMBE DOYLE is a psychologist and former Esalen resident fellow, trained by William Schutz. Her background includes teaching and clinical work. She has done encounter work here and abroad. For the past year she has served as a director of group training and member of the board of Greenhouse, a new Boston growth center. (p 11)

AL DRUCKER spent 15 years as a space scientist before coming to Esalen 8 years ago as a resident fellow. Initially he studied with Fritz Perls and Virginia Satir and led groups and marathon sessions at Peace Corps training centers, black-white community centers and the Topanga Center for Human Development, which he helped found. Five years ago he returned to Esalen to study with Ida Rolf and became an advanced practitioner of structural integration (rolfing). More recently he trained with J R Worseley in England, becoming a licensed acupuncturist in the U K. He also became a trainer in the Arica Institute, studied with Bernard Jensen in nutrition and iridology, and studied with the late psychic George Simon. As he found himself absorbing more and more disciplines, he was drawn towards the spiritual path and a teacher who would guide him to his inner source. Al journeyed to India last year and spent four months at Sai Baba's ashram near Bangalore, an experience that influenced him deeply. He presently lives and works at Esalen/Big Sur. (p 14, 15, 19)

KEN DYCHTWALD is working towards his doctorate focused around the relationship between the mind/body and states of consciousness. During the past five years he has trained and collaborated with some of the leaders in the human potential movement, including Will Schutz, Jean Huston, Hector Prestera, Gay Luce, Swami Vishnudevenanda and Alexander Lowen. Ken is serving on a special task force for the "Change in Liberal Education Project" as well as co-directing SAGE project, an ongoing consciousness-raising workshop for senior citizens in Berkeley. In addition, he continuess to lecture and lead workshops at growth centers and universities throughout the United States. (p 19)

CHRIS FELDMANN has been a researcher and explorer in consciousness for several years. She is interested in developing a new language for different states and processes of consciousness and in teaching people how they can tune into their own inspirations and awarenesses. She teaches classes in consciousness in San Francisco, New York and Boston, and has a private counselling practice under the auspices of the Community for Conscious Evolution. She studied with George Simon for two years and became his partner. She has also completed the EST training. (p 11)

ROB FINCH is a psychologist in private practice whose main interest is in opening the minds of all people to the fact that the work "homosexual" is nothing but a meaningless label. (p 18)

JOAN FIORE is a documentary film maker and television producer whose focus on humans relating to each other and society led her to the Esalen Gestalt Residency program in January, 1973. Since then she has remained at Esalen and continued studying gestalt awareness practice with Richard Price and other Esalen leaders. Despite the apparently contradictory nature of the roles, she is a feminist, an Esalen staff member and the mother of three. (pp 20,22)

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

JOHN FIRMAN is a senior associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, and a member of the Institute's training staff. He has completed advanced training with Jim and Susan Vargiu and has had didactic training with Roberto Assagioli. He is a former staff member of the Sonoma County Rehabilitation Program for Alcoholism, has worked at the Neuropsychiatric Institute at UCLA and has taught at the college level. Currently, he works with groups, individuals, and couples in psychosynthesis. (p 13)

ARTHUR FOX, a 1969 Esalen resident fellow trained by William Schutz, has been leading groups at Esalen, around the United States and Europe. He has implemented humanistic education into a Swiss school and at colleges in the US both as a teacher and consultant. He is a director of the Esalen College Program, the Extended Learning Center and is a student of Stanley Keleman. (pp 14, 19, 23, 24)

JANICA FOX has a background of research in groups at Harvard and was a 1969 Esalen Resident Fellow. For the past six years, she has been leading groups at Esalen, around the country and in Europe. She is the assistant to the director of the Esalen College Program and works privately with individuals and couples in the Bay Area. (pp 14, 19, 23, 24)

BETTY FULLER, a Humanist Counselor, is co-director of the Experiential Learning Center in San Francisco where she leads encounter, psychosynthesis, gestalt and couples' groups and teaches Feldenkrais movement classes. Betty was an Esalen resident fellow and currently is active in EST where she leads seminars. (p 18)

JACK GAINES used to be a corporation president, was founder and president of Fathers-at-Large, Inc, has been a consultant and a mini-philanthropist. Now he presides over a little place on the beach and is writing a book on Fritz Perls. (p 21)

DICK GALLAND is a husband and father, a mountaineer, kayaker and trout fisherman. He is the founding director of the Texas Outward Bound School and has led groups with Sam Keen and David Schiffman. He is presently developing an extended experiential program which integrates wilderness activities with various humanistic disciplines. (p 6)

LEE GIBSON works as a learning therapist in the Los Angeles area. For twelve years he taught in public schools, where he carefully observed and studied learning processes and problems in both children and adults. Through his observations and studies, Lee discovered numerous ways in which the development of intellectual self-confidence is stifled and creative expression blocked. (p 14)

IAN GRAND studied at the Center for Energetic Studies with Stanley Keleman and has an individual and group practice in Berkeley. He has served as coordinator of the Experimental College and director of the Center for Educational Alternatives at California State University, San Francisco. (p 8)

TAMARA GREENBERG utilizes dance/movement therapy as a body oriented approach to further emotional and physical integration in the individual. She conducts ongoing movement groups in Berkeley and Sacramento and is a staff member of the Shawl-Anderson Modern Dance Center. She was dance specialist for the City of Oakland Recreation Department and dance therapist at Hall-Brooke Hospital (a therapeutic community) in Westport, Connecticut. (p 8)

STANISLAV GROF is a psychiatrist who has done clinical research with LSD and other psychedelic drugs for the last seventeen years and has published over 50 articles in professional journals and books. He is presently on leave of absence from Maryland and Johns Hopkins and is a resident scholar at Esalen/Big Sur. (pp 13, 27)

BERNARD GUNTHER is one of the pioneers in the use of touch, awareness, relaxation, meditation and non-verbal communication in the total growth process. For seven years he was a staff member of the Esalen Institute in Big Sur where he originated the Esalen massage. In recent years he has been involved in the study of psychosynthesis, mind dynamics, breathing, energy and hypnosis as they relate to transpersonal consciousness. He is the author of Sense Relaxation, Love View, What to do till the Messiah Comes and How the West Is One. His newest work High Cards was just published by Harper and Row. (pp 16, 21)

MATTHEW HAAR, an associate of the Psychosynthesis Institute, California, is in advanced training with its director Jim Vargiu. He is a former business executive and data processing consultant who is interested in alternative organizational structures and the psychosynthesis of groups and organizations. (pp 12, 13, 19, 24)

JOAN HALIFAX-GROF is a medical anthropologist specializing in psychiatry and religion. In 1972-73, she was a research associate at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Institute, working primarily as a therapist and anthropological consultant in LSD psychotherapy with terminal cancer patients. She is currently a scholar in residence at Esalen/Big Sur. (pp 13, 27)

ROLAND HALL, artist, founder and co-director of the D'Angulo Retreat, artist-in-residence at Esalen Big Sur 1964-1968, has worked the last 4 years with Arica Institute, teaching and experimenting with color, movement and theater. (p 25)

ANNA HALPRIN is founder of the San Francisco Dancers' Workshop where she has developed her own unique approach to the movement art, for which she was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1971. She has worked intensively with Ida Rolf and Bob Hall in structural integration and with Fritz Perls in gestalt. She has co-authored Exit to Enter and When a School Comes Home. (p 11)

JOHN HEIDER has been an Esalen leader since 1967. From 1967-1971, he was a Resident or Associate in Residence at Big Sur. Dr Heider holds a PhD in psychology from Duke University and most recently has been Visiting Professor at Menninger Foundation's School of Psychiatry in Topeka, Kansas. John now lives with his wife Anne and daughter Dove in Mendocino, California, where they plan to direct a 3-month human potential training program in the Fall of 1975. (p 15)

BETSY HILL has been a student of Robert Nadeau for six years doing work in meditation, energy awareness, centering, and aikido. (p 17)

DICK HORAN is an artist potter masseur resident in Big Sur for the past eight years. (pp 20, 26)

DAVID HOWARD joined The Radix Institute (formerly Interscience Workshop) this year and now co-leads classes and gives individual instruction in Education in Feeling. An educator for 15 years, Dave has held positions as a teacher, principal and instructor at the University of Santa Cruz. In Europe, he was Guest Lecturer at the University of Heidelberg and the University of Luneberg. Presently, besides his work at Radix, he is an educational consultant. (pp 12, 16)

AL CHUNG-LIANG HUANG was born in Shanghai, China and was trained in classical Chinese arts and theatre techniques before coming to the U S to become an architect and concert dancer. He has taught and performed at major universities and festivals throughout North America and the Far East. He lectures and conducts seminars in Taoism, Ch'an (Zen) Buddhism and related Asian arts, and meditation techniques. He is the author of Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain (Real People Press) and co-author with Alan Watts of Tao: The Watercourse Way (Pantheon). (pp 10, 11, 26, 27)

BOB HUTCHINS trained as an instructor of Silva Mind Control with founder Jose Silva. He has functioned within the Mind Control organization as a director and, in the New England area, as instructor, instructor-training director, and state director of Vermont. (pp 20, 26)

STANLEY KELEMAN heads the Center for Energetic Studies, runs professional training groups for psychotherapists and maintains a private and group practice. He is interested in the energetic expressions of the body, their relationship to the feeling life, and the proper functioning of the organism. He is author of Sexuality, Self and Survival, The Human Ground, Todtmoos, the forthcoming The Body is Alive and More and Living Your Dying. (p 8)

CHARLES R KELLEY, Director of the Radix Work Shop in Santa Monica, is an applied experimental psychologist and vision specialist. He was a student of Wilhelm Reich and for five years edited America's only journal devoted to exploring and developing Reich's concepts. He and the staff he has trained are noted for their adaptation of Reichian techniques in the small-group process Kelley terms the "Radix Intensive." (pp 16, 24)

ERICA KELLEY has been with Radix since its inception, assisted in the development of Radix and from the outset instructed classes and workshops. A qualified masseuse and former student in Reichian-oriented analysis, she specializes in deepening emotional release by combining the principles of body learning derived from Alexander, Feldenkrais, Rolf, massage and bio-engineering with those of Reich and bioenergetics. (pp 16, 24)

Biographical Information

MICHAELEEN KIMMEY has received training in psychology and in nursing, has run an experimental nursing home and has apprenticed in various alternative approaches to the medical model. These include chiropractic, shiat-su, magnetic healing, gestalt study with Fritz Perls, and a year's work with Moshe Feldenkrais in Israel. She is now serving as a consultant and teacher at the Haight-Ashbury Drug Rehabilitation Center Experimental Training Program. She has evolved a system of intuitive energy reading that links numerology, astrology and palmistry with the various centers of the body. She works privately and at Esalen with individuals and groups doing massage and intuitive readings. (p 15)

JOEL KRAMER is an adept of Hatha Yoga and a master of Jnana Yoga. He was in residence at Esalen 1968-70 and has taught and lectured internationally. Mr Kramer has done extensive postgraduate work in philosophy and psychology and combines eastern and western perspectives. He is the author of The Passionate Mind, a manual for living creatively with oneself. (pp 14, 24)

BOB KRIEGEL was the director of the Esalen Sports Center and the Esalen Consulting Service. Prior to that he was the founder and director of Anthos a growth center in New York city. He has conducted special programs for universities, social change agencies, and business corporations around the country. He is currently working towards the development of a humanistic physical education teacher training model and curriculum. (pp 6, 10, 17, 21, 26, 27)

MARILYN HARRIS KRIEGEL is a teacher. She also is currently the director of teacher training for a federal grant applying confluent education to the teaching of reading. She is a member of the faculty of Dominican College, San Rafael, a mother, and is in advanced training at the Psychosynthesis Institute in Redwood City. (pp 10, 17, 21, 26, 27)

STANLEY KRIPPNER is Program Coordinator for the Humanistic Psychology Institute, Director of Research for the New York Institute for Child Development and Senior Research Associate, Division of Parapsychology and Psychophysics, at Maimonides. In 1971 he spoke at the Institute of Psychology of the Academy of Pedagogical Sciences in Moscow, describing a 10 year project, now in its final stages, involving the study of telepathy, clairvoyance and precognition in dreams, hypnosis and other altered states of consciousness. He has authored and co-authored over 200 articles in various professional journals, many of them describing his work in the field of parapsychology. He is currently President of the Association for Humanistic Psychology. (p 27)

NEIL LAMPER is straight to the far out and far out to the straight. He is far out at Western Michigan University and straight in his rejection of "magic" in his work in private practice. He is the author of The Village Idiot, and Growing Pains. He says, "The temptation of imitation and expertise is always there but I prefer the uncertainty and often fear of doing my own thing. I value the feel of my work on the fringes in New York, Philadelphia, Toronto, at Esalen and Tuwaqachi." He is a founder of Tuwaqachi, the new Gestalt Learning Center, a 140-acre farm in Michigan. He says his work is organic: observation of the wholeness in everyone and working to bring it to awareness. (p 26)

JEAN LANIER has an extensive background in psychological and theological studies which came to focus through her gestalt experiences at Esalen Institute. She has been doing workshops in London and Spain and the U S. She is author of The Evolution of Eve, The Awakening of Adam and a book of poems called Diagnosis. She is Visiting Scholar and Instructor of experiential theology at Union Seminary in New York City, and she teaches at Wilfred Laurier University in Canada. (p 27)

SIDNEY LANIER has had a varied background as actor, producer, co-founder of the successful American Place Theater in New York City, priest and gestaltist. He has spent many months at Esalen Institute in recent years. His chief interest is helping to create a stimulating community in Spain. He will be doing some gestalt and creating an awareness program for those in the "middle years" crisis. He is also a consultant for several American foundations on support for the arts and new religious developments. (p 27)

JOEL LATNER wrote The Gestalt Therapy Book. He is on the faculty at the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco and the Clinical Psychology Program at Lone Mountain College. (p 19)

LAURIE LATNER is a rolfer and a licensed masseuse. She has also trained with Magda Proskauer. (p 19)

JANET LEDERMAN is an artist, teacher and author of Anger and the Rocking Chair, a poetic account of the use of the gestalt learning process of which she is the originator. She is currently co-director of Esalen/Big Sur. (pp 11, 18, 23)

DAVID MILTON LEES has been a resident and group leader at Esalen, Big Sur from 1970 to 1974. A former mathematician and teacher, he is trained in gestalt, encounter, massage, meditation, and the consciousness expension techniques of George Simon. Currently he is on a tour of growth and spiritual centers around the United States. (p (p 25)

LENORE LEFER is a former executive director of the Bridgeport, Conn. Mental Health Association, research scientist, psychological examiner, teacher, Esalen resident fellow and organizational consultant. She is presently in advanced training at the Psychosynthesis Institute in Redwood City. She currently leads groups and is in private practice in San Francisco. (pp 12, 18, 21, 24)

DUB LEIGH, a Humanist Counselor, is co-director of the Experiential Learning Center in San Francisco where he is a senior practitioner of Structural Integration (rolfing) and teaches Feldenkrais movement classes. A former Esalen resident fellow, Dub is active in EST in San Francisco. (p 18)

SHIRLEY LEITCH studied astrology with Kelly, Carlin and Burton Morse. She has been a professional for the past 4 years, during which time she has taught classes in astrology as well as preparing individual horoscope readings. (p 13)

GEORGE LEONARD is the author of Education and Ecstasy, The Man and Woman Thing and The Transformation. He has been studying aikido and energy awareness with Robert Nadeau and Frank Doran for the past three years. He is co-director of Esalen's Center for Theoretical Studies and is currently working on a new book, The Ultimate Athlete. (p 18)

HOWARD I LEVENE is a practicing Jungian analyst in Kentfield, California. He is co-founder (with John Perry) of Diabasis, a non-hospital residence for the therapy of acute schizophrenia. He views the acute psychosis as a potentially growth-promoting experience, and is presently exploring the madness in so-called "normals" as a pathway towards the individuation process. (p 11)

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

IRENE LOVE, painter, designer, student of nutrition, one of the founding Chile group of the Arica Institute. Has worked in New York and San Francisco, teaching Arica methods and experimenting in theater and video. (p 25)

He was a staff member of the Development and Research in Confluent Education (DRICE) project, working with elementary, secondary, and junior college teachers. He has worked with and taught students from elementary to graduate school level. His most useful publication to date is his monograph: "UNNATURAL PRACTICES/UNSPEAKABLE ACTS: Teacher Training Workshops in Confluent Education." (p 22)

PETER MARIN is the former director of Pacific High School, a radically experimental high school, and has been a visiting fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. He has worked as a counselor and has taught literature at various colleges. He is author of The Free People and (with Alan Cohen) Understanding Drug Use. (p 8)

JOHN COSTON McCAMY is a physician who has studied with some of the pioneers in the preventive medicine field and applied the work of such recent researchers as Linus Pauling, Roger Williams, Kenneth Cooper (aerobics), and particularly Emmanuel Cheraskin (predictive Medicine). During the past seven years he has developed a program of personal preventive medicine to help patients stay well and happy. This program culminated in Human Life Styling, the four pillar approach to improving diet, exercise, stress response and ecological awareness for maximum reduction in symptoms and improvement in health. His book Human Life Styling is due to be released by Harper & Row. (p 17)

DEBORAH MEDOW is a student and teacher of yoga, diet and nutrition, movement, zone therapy, and massage. A member of the 1971 Esalen residence program, she has supplemented her studies with workshops in polarity therapy with both Dr Randolph Stone and Pierre Pannetier, and in iridology with Bernard Jenson. For the past five years, Esalen's "resident yogini" has also been teaching and leading groups in Big Sur and the San Francisco Bay area; in addition Deborah is a member of the massage crew at Esalen/Big Sur where she gives both Esalen-style and polarity massage. (pp 11, 19)

DANIEL MILLER is a psychologist and coordinator for the Organic Center in New York City, a community of therapists and patients seeking satisfying ways to support expansion and enhancement of their own lives. His plays and poetry have been presented off-Broadway and at AHP Conventions. (p 15)

EMMETT MILLER, presently practicing medicine and hypnotherapy in Carmel, California, has also had extensive training in physics, mathematics and computer science. These, along with his studies in music, art, poetry, body movement and various religious and meditative approaches have led to the development of Selective Awareness, an attempt to wed the subjective awareness and internal resonance characteristic of meditation and Eastern philosophy with the scientific objectivity and predictability of results in Western research. (p 12)

PEGGY MORRISON has been happily living in Big Sur, teaching and doing massage for five years. (pp 11, 20, 26)

ROBERT NADEAU is a spiritual teacher. He utilizes Universal Law to aid his students in self-realization. (pp 11, 12, 13, 17, 22, 24)

XAVIER NASH is a black member of the multi-racial community of artists at the San Francisco Dancers' Workshop. He is a performing artist in movement and theater and has toured with the company throughout the states. Currently on the teaching staff at the Dancers' Workshop, he formerly conducted a dance workshop at Studio Watts. He has worked with Robert Hall in gestalt therapy and body work and with Lawrence Halprin in the creative process in human environment. He studied massage at Esalen. (p 11)

PETER W PICK has been trained in yoga, Karate, Oriental art history and massage. He studied polarity therapy with Dr Randolph Stone and Pierre Pannetier and is the founder of the Marin Polarity Health Center in which he utilizes Dr Stone's theories in the context of transpersonal psychology. (p 16)

HECTOR PRESTERA, a doctor of internal medicine and cardiology, is licensed in acupuncture in England. His prior training includes gestalt, Reichian energetics and structural integration. He has studied and led workshops with Richard Price, John Heider, John Lilly, Will Schutz, Ida Rolf and Jack Worsley. He is currently interested in fusing the above teachings to develop a new humanistic model for healing the whole person (body-mind-spirit). (p 12)

CHRISTINE PRICE is a student of polarity massage and other body approaches to awareness. (pp 15, 18, 21, 23, 25, 27)

RICHARD PRICE, a student of Fritz Perls, is a founder and director of Esalen Institute. (pp 10, 12, 13, 15, 18, 21, 23, 25, 27)

MYRTLE RATCLIFFE . . . masseuse, cook and musical dilettante, is a Big Sur resident, an Esalen staff member and a living collage of her experiences in India, in music and art and in the woods and coastlands of the Pacific. (p 20)

PAUL REBILLOT, teacher, theatre director, actor, magician and fool has taught at San Francisco State College and Stanford University. He is the founder of the Gestalt Fool Theatre family of San Francisco. He has trained in gestalt with Richard Price and in encounter with Will Schutz. He was staff gestaltist for the Emmanuel Hospital psychiatric ward and is a resident Esalen leader. (pp 10, 13, 20, 21, 22, 24, 26)

STELLA RESNICK is a clinical psychologist and gestalt therapist in private practice in San Francisco. Her approach to the teaching and practice of gestalt has been influenced by her academic work in behavior modification and learning theory, her background in theater and dance and her training with Fritz Perls, particularly at the Gestalt Institute at Lake Cowichan in Canada. She produced and led Gestalt Theater at "The Committee" in San Francisco and has led groups and given lecture-demonstrations in gestalt awareness training throughout the country. For the past two years, she has been one of the directors of the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco. (pp 11, 12)

GABRIELLE ROTH has been developing movement as a tool for becoming conscious for several life-times. She has worked as a dance and movement specialist in the fields of education and recreation and as a dance therapist and consultant for psychiatric institutions. She ran the Esalen massage program for three years during which time she innovated the combination of massage and movement as a special body program. Her background includes training in Arica, transcendental meditation, EST and gestalt awareness. She has co-led workshops with gestaltists, psychics, rabbis and musicians. Presently she is guiding large movement groups for EST, doing workshops and private sessions in Big Sur and producing a new age musical concert. (pp 12, 18, 21, 25)

FRANK RUBENFELD, a clinical psychologist, trained in gestalt therapy with Fritz Perls at Esalen. He has been training therapists in gestalt for the past few years, as well as leading workshops on both coasts and at Big Sur. He is a director of the Gestalt Institute of San Francisco and has a private and group practice in Berkeley. (p 23)

She has led three lives . . . first as a wife and mother . . . second as a New York Advertising Executive and now as a resident leader at Esalen, Big Sur. She has studied and led workshops with Julian Silverman, Betty Fuller, Janet Lederman and Will Schutz. She sees groupleading as creating a "safe place" where group members allow themselves to experience change and receive support. (pp 16, 19, 21, 23, 25)

BOOKS

SENSORY AWARENESS
Rediscovery of Living as Experience
Charles V. W. Brooks

8.95; (September)

The term "sensory awareness" was first coined by Charlotte Selver as a name for the work she has been actively developing in the United States since 1938. In the forties, Frederick Perls began studying intensively with Selver and integrated what he had learned into his Gestalt Therapy. In 1956 Alan Watts described Selver's work as "the living Zen"; and in 1963 she gave her first experiential workshop at the infant Esalen Institute. Charles Brooks' book is a presentation of Selver's lifework, which is not a technique but a practice based on discovering what is natural in our life processes and what is conditioned. The workshops evolve around the close study of the simplest aspects of our functioning – sitting, standing, lying, breathing – and are concerned with the possibility of recognizing the barriers that have arisen between our consciousness and the world around us and within us, so that these barriers have a chance of dissolving, thus opening the way for clearer perception and more authentic experience. "When the radio in the mind is stilled," writes Charles Brooks, "everything else can come to life."

An Esalen Book. We at Esalen are very proud to announce the publication of this long-awaited volume.

THE LIVE CLASSROOM
Innovation through Confluent Education and Gestalt
Edited by George Isaac Brown, with Thomas Yeomans and Liles Grizzard

8.95 cloth. (publication date: January)

Are all classrooms dead?

No, not all. But too damned many are. And, if nothing else, this is a pervasive, stupid waste of our most important resource, our children.

This is a challenging new book by George Brown, author of Human Teaching for Human Learning, and his colleagues in an ongoing research project in confluent education – the concept that puts feeling and thinking together in the learning process. Here offered are concrete, practical suggestions for bringing more life and better learning into the classroom to benefit both student and teacher. A variety of up-front confluent teaching and learning practices, some adapted from Fritz Perl's concept of Gestalt Therapy and others that go beyond the structure of the open classroom, focuses attention on the whole child, mind and body, and on the direct involvement of the teacher in this prosess to complete the Gestalt. The Live Classroom is aimed at teachers, parents, and all readers interested in the quality and meaning of education and is concerned with breaking a set of conventional wisdom about learning and teaching without sacrificing the stated goals of an educational system serving a democracy. An Esalen Book.

REALMS OF THE HUMAN UNCONSCIOUS
Observations from LSD Research
Stanislav Grof, M.D.

10.00 cloth (February publication)

After eighteen years – and well over twelve thousand clinical hours – of study of the effects of LSD, Dr. Grof now summarizes and condenses his observations and experiences in a fascinating and seminal document that proposes the basis of a radical new psychology. The exploration of the potential of LSD and other psychedelic drugs for the study of schizophrenia, for didactic purposes, for a deeper understanding of art and religion, for personality diagnostics and the therapy of emotional disorders, as well as for altering the experience of dying – all these are recorded here in detailed case histories as well as comprehensive reports of Dr. Grof's research studies. The implications are obvious – and immense: through the experience of the "unspecified amplifier" we are on the threshold of startling and profound insights dealing with human birth, the capacity of altering consciousness, the power to transcend the ego, even our potential for precognition, clairvoyance, and encounters with consciousness of the Universal Mind. Perhaps no substance yet discovered promises the elucidation of such a wide range of hitherto mysterious but fundamental human potentialities, and Dr. Grof brings to the beginning of this unfolding one of the broadest and most distinguished records of work in this new field. An Esalen Book.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION

The Re-Creation of the Balanced Human Body

Ida P. Rolf

including drawings, diagrams and photography

$25.00: (March publication)

"Rolfing" – as Structural Integration is popularly called, the system being named for the woman who developed it – is the most radical of the new theories that integrate bodily and psychological awareness. The technique involves manipulation by a certified practitioner – of the connective tissue of all the major muscle groups in the body, and is based on the principle that human bodies function best when in balance and in alignment with gravity. To achieve this, a program of ten hours of rolf processing includes the manipulation of the entire myofascial system. This allows the re-creation of a supple and balanced body, a body organized so that its major weight blocks – head, thorax, pelvis, and legs – will be subject to a minimum of stress and will move in the most economical way. Thus, Structural Integration results in free emotional and physical flow throughout the whole dynamic system of the human being. An Esalen Book.

Dr. Ida P. Rolf studied biochemistry and physiology at Columbia University, was for twelve years an associate in biochemistry at the Rockefeller Institute, and has for the last forty years worked in applied physiology, perfecting the practice of Structural Integration.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2. Those attending Esalen workshops and conferences are automatically added to the mailing list. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office.

ESALEN CONSULTING SERVICE. Through the Esalen Consulting Service, Esalen staff and leaders have designed and participated in projects for the U S Army, Ford Foundation, the Lockheed Corp, Model Cities, O E O, inservice training programs for hospitals, drug treatment centers, social agencies, colleges, universities and public school districts. Many organizations have also used Esalen personnel as communications and human relations facilitators. If you are interested in learning more about the Consulting Service contact the Esalen/San Francisco office.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions have provided expenses for participants in some workshops and seminars in the form of donations to scholarship funds. See Friends of Esalen membership below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given some sort of accreditation to their activities. We have told everyone to stop using our name in such a manner. Of course people use insights and techniques they bring from our programs but we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

TAPE RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: Recordings of many past programs are available through Big Sur Recordings, 2015 Bridgeway, Sausalito, CA 94965. The cost of recordings is $10 per tape-hour (prepaid) and $12.50 per tape-hour with purchase order, choice of 5" reel or cassette. Tape catalog available on request. Commercial use of these tapes is prohibited; all rights reserved.

FRIENDS OF ESALEN MEMBERSHIP PROGRAM

We at Esalen have increasingly felt the need to involve more people in our community, and have established Friends of Esalen as a means of doing this: all contributions to our membership organization are used for tuition-aid funds. It is our belief that if Esalen is to serve our society to its full potential, we should be able to admit applicants without regard to their ability to pay. As a Friend of Esalen you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have helped someone else experience Esalen.

☐ I wish to become a Friend of Esalen and I enclose my check for the category I have circled.

BIG SUR INFORMATION

For reservations and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920
Phone: (408) 667-2335, 10 to 4 every day; 10 to 8 Sunday & Friday

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific with the Santa Lucia Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute—By Reservation Only.

Deposit Information. Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups and $400 dollars for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. U.S. currency only, please.

Scholarship Information. If you need scholarship assistance for a long term Esalen/Big Sur program write for a scholarship application form before making a reservation (allow at least 3 weeks for processing as we have many applications). If your application is approved, please make a reservation as soon as possible after receiving notice. No scholarship assistance is available for June 15-August 31 programs or for weekend programs.

General information. Workshop fees cover tuition, food and lodging. Rooms are shared by two or three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 pm; however, guests are welcome to arrive anytime after lunch.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also ask workshop participants not to have guests. Alas, no pets.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. Our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Limousine service. Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur by notifying the Big Sur office of time of arrival. Pickups are made at the Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5-5:30 pm each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person one way, payable on arrival at Esalen.

Seminarians as staff (Karma Yoga). Seminarians in residence for a week or longer at Esalen are asked to contribute one or two hours a week to the kitchen staff. These hours do not interfere with scheduled groups or meals. Your help enables us to meet the pressures of peak working times and enables you to experience Esalen from the inside out. A staff member will appear at your first workshop meeting to schedule volunteer help.

events at esalen

human consciousness institute

Esalen will sponsor its fifth summer Human Consciousness Institute in Berkeley, California, July 3 through July 27, 1975. In two sessions, leading researchers and practitioners will report on their exploration and mapping of consciousness processes and states, including demonstrations and experiential exercises for institute participants.

SESSION I
PHYSICAL ASPECTS OF CONSCIOUSNESS, July 3–July 13.

Brain research, right and left hemisphere thinking, biofeedback and its implications, physical measurements of consciousness states, quantum theory and consciousness, and psychosomatic and healing processes.

Leaders for the session will include Barbara Brown, PhD, leading researcher in biofeedback, author of NEW MIND, NEW BODY; and Kenneth Pelletier, PhD, clinical psychologist, currently studying the neurophysiology of consciousness states in adept individuals.

SESSION II
FRONTIERS OF THE PSYCHIC, July 17–July 27.

The ranges of human potential in parapsychology and beyond, including ESP, out of the body experiences, healing, psychic individuals, training psychic abilities, and the role of these potentials in human consciousness and society.

Session leaders will include Charles Tart, PhD, leading parapsychologist, researcher and theoretician on consciousness, and editor of ALTERED STATES OF CONSCIOUSNESS; Anne Armstrong, personal counselor who uses psychic abilities; and Arthur Hastings, PhD, communication specialist and parapsychologist, who has developed methods for facilitating personal ESP abilities.

Participants can enroll for one or both sessions. Tuition is $215 for each session ($400 for both), with enrollment limited to 50 persons. Institute sessions are held in facilities of the University of California in Berkeley. Living accommodations (shared occupancy) are in university residence halls for $50 per session, breakfast included.

Other leaders and further details of the program will be announced in the next Esalen catalog, and in a brochure that will be available in March. For a copy of the brochure, write to Human Consciousness Institute, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

westerbeke ranch workshops

Starting in late July, Esalen Institute will present seven weeks of programing at the Westerbeke Ranch in Sonoma County. This intimate setting includes rustic cabins, home cooked meals, sauna and Japanese tub, swimming pool and beautiful scenery. There will be only one workshop at a time, limited to 25 participants. Five day and weekend workshops will be offered.

July 7-18

esalen sports center summer institute

Program Coordinators: Bob Kriegel and Kurt Wehbring
Seminar Leaders: Bob Nadeau, Al Huang, Betty Fuller, Dyveke Spino, Mike Spino, Michael Murphy

Twelve-day residential workshop $385

There is increasing evidence indicating the value of play as a creative learning tool and as an important element contributing to a harmonious balance in an individual's life. In this twelve-day course we will use various forms of play, active games, sports, mind/body disciplines, and the wilderness as a means for realizing more of our potential. Inherent in the sporting experience are many factors that are deliberately cultivated in humanistic group therapies, e.g. being in the here and now, mind/body harmony, individual responsibility, risk taking, stress, and spontaneity.

The workshop will be divided into two parts of six days each. The first will take place on the campus of the Dominican College in San Rafael, twelve miles north of San Francisco. In this segment we will play and invent new games with humanistic themes, participate in new approaches to traditional sports such as: tennis, jogging, swimming, volleyball, basketball, and softball. We will also be introduced to, and practice such mind/body disciplines as t'ai chi, aikido, Feldenkrais exercises, sensory awareness, hatha yoga, meditation, energy awareness and centering. At the end of each day there will be a group meeting using gestalt, encounter, role playing and psychosynthesis techniques to help clarify some of the awareness gained during the day.

The second week will be spent in a secluded base camp in the Sierras. There we will try to use the insights and awarenesses gained during the first week, in activities such as backpacking, rock climbing and nature walks, while living and working together as a community.

For more complete information write or phone the Esalen Sports Center, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. Telephone: (415) 771-1710.

Inservice credit will be available through Dominican College.

Esalen College Program

A NEW FOCUS

A new and expanded college program is being offered. Instead of relying upon short term workshops and seminars, as in the past, an integrated curriculum has been introduced.

Three master seminars will provide a focus for students in the area of philosophy and the evolution of human consciousness, therapeutic systems, and body awareness and fitness. A group experience utilizing techniques drawn from gestalt, encounter, and psychosynthesis will be provided as a fourth integral part of the program. Each seminar will be directed by a master teacher who will be provided with a budget for enriching his program. In addition to the seminars, a lecture series will be provided, consisting of 10 presentations by influential speakers and writers in the field.

The Esalen College Program provides an alternative education which integrates experiential and cognitive studies. These have been organized so that students may participate in a quarterly program or extend their study to a full year.

MASTER SEMINARS

Philosophy and the Evolution of Consciousness
George Leonard, Michael Murphy

This seminar will explore the thesis that a transformation of human consciousness as momentous as the emergence of civilization is underway. This transformation involves our vision of human nature and destiny, our perception of past and future, our science, art, psychology, education and religion, our institutions and relationships to the physical world. This thesis will be explored from various perspectives. The subjects for discussion may be changed as the seminar develops, but they are tentatively scheduled as follows:

1. Cosmic and evolutionary perspectives on the world's unfoldment, including a discussion of the way various models of existence mediate our perception, attitude and behavior.

2. Anthropological perspectives: the paleolithic, neolithic and civilized eras which culminate in a fourth climactic transformation to a radically new life upon earth.

3. The structure of human personality in this era of transition: neurosis, disease and discontent as ways to enforce civilization's work; how the ordinary ego-structure works for and against the transformation of mind and body.

4. Disciplines of transformation, ancient and modern. Ways beyond neurosis, disease and discontent.

5. Education for being. Sports and the arts as yoga.

6. Energy and consciousness: a discussion of our dwindling sources of physical energy and the change in life style and consciousness that are now required for human survival.

7. Transformational changes in human institutions: prisons, schools, business, politics, and the family.

Concepts of Psychotherapy / Arthur Deikman, MD

Participants will discuss selections from the works of Freud, Jung, Reich, Skinner, Rogers, Perls, Janov, Laing, Le Shan, Frank, Erickson, and Trungpa. Analysis of the material will be guided by the questions:

1. How is health defined?
2. What is the goal of the therapy?
3. How is the therapy believed to work?
4. What is the author's explicit and implicit definition of man?
5. Why does the author believe what he does?
6. What do you agree with? Disagree? Why?

Each participant will be expected to do the reading prior to the meeting and be prepared to document his or her analysis by reference to the text. The emphasis will be on each person making their own informed judgment of the relevance of the different authors' concepts and arriving at a sufficiently sophisticated personal perspective from which to evaluate new therapeutic philosophies as they come along. No lectures will be given. This will be a working seminar requiring considerable reading, careful thinking and active participation in discussion.

The Human Body / William Brostoff, MD

In this course we will examine the nature and structure of our bodies and how they work. First, we will look at the body from a scientific, anatomical and physiological standpoint. Special attention will be given to general principles of physiology as reflected in levels of biological organization, from the organism as a whole to submicroscopic and biochemical organization. Then, we will consider structure and function from viewpoints other than those of Western science—alternative viewpoints based on other world views, especially that of traditional Chinese thought and medicine. Finally, we will work experientially using various centering, breathing and movement awareness techniques to make contact with our bodies. Throughout the course, participants will be encouraged to compare, contrast and integrate these various viewpoints of what the body is made of and how it works. There will be suggested readings, and each participant will be expected to articulate his or her own viewpoint of the body's nature, based on readings, class discussions and experience.

ADDITIONAL STUDIES

In addition to the master seminars and group processes, courses in massage, aerobic training, T'ai Chi Chuan and Neo-Reichian therapeutic techniques will be offered.

ADVISING

A staff member will conduct a weekly forum, designed to disseminate curriculum information, to advise on personal needs, to work through group concerns and other student-related problems.

As students become more involved with the major tracks of study, it is hoped that they will focus on a primary area of interest and begin to develop a closer relationship with the master teacher or others working in their primary area of study. Such relationships may provide tutorial study, directed readings and personal counseling.

SCHEDULE

The Esalen College Program is organized on a quarter system with beginning dates in October, January, April and July. Exact dates will be provided upon admission to the program. Registration and an orientation meeting will take place the first day of each quarter. Course offerings begin soon after registration. A student may enter at the beginning of any quarter.

QUALIFICATIONS

All interested students are encouraged to apply. Preference is given to those who have demonstrated their ability to work independently as a contributing member of a learning community.

ACCREDITATION

It is preferred that students make arrangements with their present university for accreditation of work done at Esalen.

If this cannot be arranged or if a student needs to enroll in a university, Esalen will supply a list of schools that accredit work done at the Institute.

COST

Cost of the program is $650 per quarter.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Application for admission to the Esalen College Program is separate from admission to the college from which you will receive credit. Applications are available upon written request from: Ron Wurtsbaugh, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123, (415) 771-1710.

THE SUMMER PROGRAM

During the summer quarter wilderness outing experiences will be an integral part of the Esalen College Program. These experiences will integrate ecological studies with meditation, sensory awareness exercises, and various interpersonal communication techniques focusing on exploring personal boundaries and making closer contact with the land, self and others.

programs in san francisco

April 5

Inner Reaches of Man & Woman / Judith Osgood

One-day workshop $25

The focus will be to bring our beliefs and subtle assumptions into conscious awareness particularly those related to man-woman relationships. Special attention will be given to the ways needs are met, fears, fantasies and beliefs about companionship, emotions, sexual behavior and creative abilities. Tools: our own present concerns, meditation, writing and imagery.

April 6

Knowing & Moving the Body
Frank Ottiwell & Judith Stransky

One-day workshop $25

This workshop will draw on the work of F M Alexander and Moshe Feldenkrais in mobilizing and re-educating the body/self. Techniques to improve postural alignment and release blocked energy will be taught individually and applied to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking and bending. Group exercises, performed within each individual's range of ease and enjoyment, will be used to increase kinesthetic awareness and to show the use of awareness and movement as self-teacher.

April 13

Introduction to Structural Patterning / Cast of Seven Patterners (Judith Aston, Marya Byron, Hallie Hardenstine, Faith Hornbacher, Gael Karlan, Anne-Liese Malter, Susan Salveson)

One-day workshop $25

Structural patterning is a system of learning to move efficiently and to interact harmoniously with gravity. Ideal alignment occurs when the centers of gravity of each body part are balanced one above the other. A student is taught balanced ways of moving in an overall pattern followed by applications to his individual needs and interests.

The morning will begin with an explanation and development of structural patterning concepts after which participants will break into small groups for individual patterning and movement experiments. Limited to 50 persons. Proceeds to be donated to the Structural Patterning Institute.

April 19-20

Self-Affirmation: A Workshop for Those Who Put Themselves Down / Pennell Rock

Weekend workshop $50

The world is a place where we are constantly undermined and made aware of our shortcomings: so much so that we develop fixed patterns of self-negation which prevent a fuller realization of ourselves. The workshop will demonstrate the arbitrariness of such negativity and will show how the creative flow of living is enhanced when these patterns are reversed. The work will include experiences in personal creativity, validation techniques from Re-evaluation Counselling and Arica exercises in consciousness expansion.

April 25-27

Self Explorations Through Hypnosis / Lee Pulos

Weekend workshop $50

The emphasis in this workshop will be to teach the participants techniques and exercises which can be taken home and used daily after the weekend is over. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that the group members can focus in on themselves through hypnotically induced dreams, automatic writing and ideo-motor questioning. Each participant will have the opportunity to use hypnosis for their own personal programming, habit changes and exploring the self through hypnotically guided fantasies. A feature of the weekend will be to use hypnosis to extend consciousness into paranormal and psychic dimensions.

May 3-4

Massage Training / Eve Ilsen

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop teaches basic techniques of full body massage with attention also to proper use of the body in giving massage and to sharpening perception of body structure. Limited to 20 persons.

For Biographical Information see pages 36—41

May 10

Introduction to Aikido with Emphasis on Centering & Energy Awareness / Robert Nadeau

One-day workshop $15

Aikido is the Japanese art of self defense with the emphasis placed on centering, harmony and blending. It is presented as a physical manifestation of the energy and spiritual laws of the universe. We will start with the centering practices in the physical dimension, move to centering as mental awareness and culminate in meditation with centering as a focus for spiritual unfolding. The workshop will emphasize the relationship between all three levels.

May 11

Structural Patterning for Daily Activities

One-day workshop $25

Bring your special daily activity (cooking, jogging, tennis, musical instrument, painting, reading, typing, dancing, yoga, meditation, construction work, etc.) and learn about you and it as viewed through the application of structural patterning concepts. To be led by patterners associated with the Structural Patterning Institute. See also April 13 description above.

May 17

Rediscovering Your Vision / Raymond Gottlieb

One-day workshop $25

Dr. Gottlieb will discuss the basic principles behind the Bates' system of "Better Sight Without Glasses" and other approaches related to the improvement of vision. He will teach specific exercises within an integrated whole body approach to removing the stress that hinders vision. Limited to 25 people.

May 18

Feminine, Masculine and the Sacred Marriage José & Miriam Argüelles

One-day workshop $15

Feminine and masculine are inherently rich and open-ended principles which allow and demand a great diversity of forms of expression. The sacred marriage is not only a symbol of union in the life of myth but can be an enduring condition experienced from day to day. This is not a couples' workshop and is open to all. The day's activities will include exercises, drawing and meditation.

May 31

Ways of Healing: Holistic Approaches in Medicine David Sobel

One-day workshop $25

A new form of medicine is emerging—concerned more with the prevention of disease and promotion of health of the whole person. This trend is the result in part of the synthesis of ancient and traditional systems of healing (e.g., American Indian medicine, Chinese medicine and acupuncture, Hippocratic medicine and yogic therapy) with the scientific methodology of contemporary Western medicine (e.g., biofeedback and the voluntary control of internal states). In addition, such unconventional therapies as the "laying on of hands", homeopathy and structural integration will be discussed.

June 14

Centering to Energy Awareness to Meditation Robert Nadeau

One-day workshop $25

Awareness begins with the self. Centering is the doorway to the energy activity of the universe. Energy is the common denominator of the universe and energy awareness is the basis for meditation. A day long session emphasizing a natural practice pattern for awareness.

June 15

Reflexology / Anna Kaye

One-day workshop $25

Reflexology or "zone therapy" is based on the theory that energy travels in the body in "zones" or patterns which connect reflexes in the feet to organs in the body. In this theoretical and experiential workshop Anna Kaye will demonstrate methods of stimulating these reflexes by specialized massage work on the feet.

June 21-22

Biofeedback & Meditation: Mapping Inner Space Kenneth R. Pelletier

Weekend workshop $50

This seminar explores the interaction between psyche and soma through biofeedback as a means of probing the neurophysiological basis of consciousness. Emphasis is upon the similarities and differences between brain structures and functions of consciousness such as the left and right hemispheres. Consideration is given also to the use of imagery and active imagination in conjunction with biofeedback for the exploration of states of consciousness and the alleviation of psychosomatic disorders. Included are films of recent experiments with Jack Schwarz and the meditative practices of a sect of Indian yogis.

June 28-29

Dreams and "Awakening" Consciousness Sanford Rosenberg

Weekend workshop $50

The Talmud says, "A dream left not understood is like a letter left unopened." Dreaming gives entry into a mode of experiencing which on awakening often seems nonsensical. Various systems have attempted to understand dreams and to translate them into a language comprehensible to the waking self. This workshop will explore some of these methods of dream interpretation, both ancient and modern, (Freud, Jung, Perls, Don Juan) and will look at dreams as a tool for the growth of consciousness. Participants will work with their own dreams and other symbolic experiences, as individuals and as a group. Bring dream journals, art work, films, fantasies, etc., to share and use in the group.

For Biographical Information see pages 36—41

WOMEN'S PROGRAMS

A Daytime Series

These morning and afternoon sessions are for women only—to focus on the nature of feminine perception and experience, to develop personal creativity through experiments in guided imagery and nonverbal awareness and to acquire some tools for use in daily life in the process of self-formation and discovery.

Programs include from four to six weekly sessions and are available as a series or as individual program meetings at the cost of $4 per session. Preference is given to series registrations.

Childcare is provided; contact the Esalen office in advance to make arrangements. Cost is $1 per meeting.

All programs (and childcare) take place at 1793 Union St., San Francisco.

March 31, April 7, 14, 21, 28

Monday afternoons, 1—3 pm $20

Intuition is known to everyone by experience, yet frequently remains a repressed or undeveloped function. We will work with dreams, meditation and guided imagery for facilitating intuitive perception, with particular emphasis on intuition for creativity, problem solving and psychic development. We will consider ways of learning to distinguish intuition from imagination and projection, and various methods for continuing the development of intuition as a source of wisdom and guidance in everyday life.

Inner Voice of Woman / Judith Osgood

April 2, 9, 23, 30, May 7, 14

Wednesday afternoons, 1—3 pm $24

In the time and space provided each group member will listen to her own voice and hear in others her voice speaking back. The focus is self-knowledge—seeing clearly our beliefs, self-definitions, interests, emotional reactions and ways our creativity manifests. Tools: writing, imagery, meditation and specific experiences designed to clarify those areas each person is seeking to illuminate.

Exploring Family Space / Sylvia Schmidt

April 7, 14, 21, 28, May 5

Monday mornings, 11 am—1 pm $20

Through family simulation games and family sculpting, these sessions will look at the nature of family experience and role playing. There will also be discussion of guidelines for energizing family relationships.

Movement / Dance for Women / Tamara Greenberg

April 10, 17, 24, May 1, 8

Thursday afternoons, 1—3 pm $20

A series of workshops using movement to heighten the experience of ourselves as women and to follow and explore the process of formation through a synthesis of expressive movement, energetic work and Proskauer breathing techniques.

The Feminine & Creativity / Miriam T Argüelles

April 15, 22, 29, May 6, 13

Tuesday afternoons, 1—3 pm $20

This series will center on understanding the experience of the feminine perception of the world and the nature of female creativity. Emphasis will be on understanding how these principles operate in everyday relations and activities.

For Mothers of Young Children / Anne Yeomans

April 24, May 1, 8, 15, 22

Thursday mornings, 11 am—1 pm $20

A time to share our lives as mothers, women and human beings. Art, guided fantasy, journal writing and meditation will be tools to explore the experience of this unique period in life and to find new ways of being which nourish self and family.

Movement / Dance for Mother & Child Tamara Greenberg

May 15

Thursday afternoon, 1—2 pm $4

A happening of dance and fun to expand and deepen the mother/child experience. Limited to women who have participated in one or more of the movement sessions described above. For children who are walking, up to age 15.

The Art of Self-Direction / Lenore Lefer

May 22, 29, June 5, 12

Thursday afternoons, 1—3 pm $16

These meetings will explore and examine the nature of self-direction and ways to increase it in daily life. The degree to which we can discover, direct and regulate our energies affects how productive, creative and joyful we will be, as women and as persons.

DREAMS: THE MAGIC THEATER

Throughout history and in differing cultures, few other human phenomena have been treated so variously as the dream. Opinions range from the ancients who considered dreams and their interpretations as the work of the divine to our more recent natural scientists and rational positivists who view dream images as the sole result of external or internal somatic stimuli. This series offers some of the main dream theories currently operating in our culture, as contributed by the field of psychology, as well as some less well-known perspectives.

All lectures take place at the First Unitarian Church, Franklin and Geary Streets, San Francisco, beginning at 8 pm. Tickets are $3 and are available through the Esalen/San Francisco office or at the door as space permits.

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good

Harry Sloan

Frequently participants come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earthshaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. This evening will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen.

$5 admission; 8—10:30 pm.

Close Yet Free In Marriage & Other Significant Relationships: Communication Experience For Couples / Gerald Smith

Being free to grow yet close to be intimate is the main dilemma of every important relationship. This talk will include specific "experiences" for creatively coping with this dilemma of keeping a relationship alive. The two evenings will supplement and reinforce each other, but each is organized to be meaningful and complete by itself.

$5 admission; 8—10:30 pm.

sports

The Esalen Sports Center is devoted to furthering new concepts, practices and teaching methods in lifetime sports and emphasizes activities in which participation is not limited by age, sex or athletic ability. The focus is on the joy of participation and the thrill of excelling. Workshops are designed to make sport richer and more rewarding—a vehicle for eliciting the potential that lies within us all.

THE ULTIMATE ATHLETE by George Leonard

In this book, to be published this summer, George Leonard presents a rich overview and theoretical framework for the kind of work the Esalen Sports Center is attempting. As you can see from the excerpts below, he points the way to many hidden or neglected dimensions of games and the body and explores various possibilities for the transformation of physical education and athletics.

"In every fat man, the saying goes, there is a thin man struggling to get out. If this is so, then every skinny man must at times find himself surrounded by the ghostly outlines of muscles and heft. And there must somehow exist an ideal physique for every one of us, man, woman and child. Every body that moves about on this planet, if you look at it that way, may well be inhabited by a strong and graceful athlete, capable of Olympian feats.

"Fanciful statements, but true. The athlete that dwells in each of us is more than an abstract ideal. It is a living presence that can change the way we feel and live. Searching for our inner athlete may lead us into sports and regular exercise and thus to the health promised by physical fitness organizations—and that might be justification enough. But what I have in mind goes beyond fitness. It involves entering the realm of music and poetry, of the turning of the planets, of the understanding of death."

These words begin THE ULTIMATE ATHLETE, the first part of which contains specific information—about hidden dimensions in the sports we watch on television, about New Games (with instructions on how to play several of them), about the push for a reformed physical education from both inside and outside the educational establishment. Principles derived from aikido—centering, blending, energy awareness—provide a foundation for analysis and speculation. There is, in fact, a detailed description of an energy awareness workshop based on aikido principles, introducing techniques for becoming more relaxed and centered, for dealing with everyday situations involving tension and expectation, and for handling hostile energy. This section takes some of the mystification out of Carlos Castaneda's don Juan by showing how "powers" similar to those of the sorcerer may be transfered, in a more balanced, non-coercive way, from the Mexican desert to the school, the job, the home and perhaps the playing field.

The second part of the book moves through the realm of metaphor and myth to the game of embodiment that the individual human spirit plays on the magic playground of this planet. In this game, the body, joined to spirit and mind, may be viewed as opening us to transformational possibilities. Some excerpts follow:

ON RUNNING AND SEX: "When we are running hard, the act of sex is already begun in heart and lungs and muscles and mind. Just as the runner must learn to surrender, to 'die,' so must the lover. The two acts are separated by only a word, a touch."

ON SKINDIVING: "We enter the sea as did our distant ancestors, aided now by simple technology that frees us as human beings have never before been free . . . The surface shines above us, a crinkled mirror defining death and life. Best not look at it too long, for it might seduce us with its definitions and call us back to the world of light and air. We have crossed a boundary and now accept our transformation. We turn from the shining surface and fly as dreamers fly, softly descending, drifting past wonders, reliving our most beautiful nightmares."

ON RISKING DEATH IN SPORTS: "We need no roundabout theories to explain the fascination of death and the salutary effects of calculated risk. We simply must remember that, from the vantage point of embodied consciousness, death provides us our clearest connection with the eternal."

ON FLYING: "To leave the surface of the earth and enter the domain of the sky, to cross the boundary between two dimensions and three, is an act of no small significance. Perhaps it symbolizes the transformations through which life, matter and mind already have passed, through which we yet must pass. When we fly, we add one dimension to our life; we add it all at once; there is no delay. We approach this moment with apprehension and once the line is crossed we are filled with a sensation of strangeness. Yet, often, there is also a sense of recognition. It is as if we have entered a familiar place. The exhilaration of flight is not just sensory. It is also the exhilaration of return, of coming home to the freedom we have always longed for and once known."

ON THE BODY: "The answer has been here with us all along, too close, too much a part of us to notice: not 'mere flesh' but central metaphor of human existence, my body and yours [body of the Ultimate Athlete], holding the ocean, encompassing the stars, offering direct access to the cosmos itself. For we have seen that body is spirit, that its every cell reenacts the dance of love and death, that in the relationship of these cells we may trace the anatomy of all relationship."

ON THE DANCE WITHIN THE GAME: "We are all joined in that larger dance, the dance of the body, the dance of the world. We may have been led to forget that we are dancers, and to believe instead that we are plodding our way through life. But there are moments when the veil of forgetfulness is ripped away and we can hear the music, feel the rhythm, see the other dancers. In those rare moments we are secure within an uninterpreted world, dancing our life, while customary definitions fall away, without regret."

Self Awareness and the Spirit of Play / Bob Kriegel

One-day workshop $25

There is increasing evidence indicating the value of play as a creative learning tool and an important element in contributing to a harmonious balance in an individual's life. This workshop is designed for the participants to gain a greater understanding of their intra and inter personal processes through the vehicle of active games.

Many of the conditions designed into humanistic group therapies (being in the here and now, mind/body harmony, individual responsibility, risk taking, stress and spontaneity) are inherent in active games, play and the sporting experience. As in groups, individuals' behavior patterns in these activities are reflected within their everyday life situations.

Participants will focus on their behavior patterns in these activities, making connections to their everyday lives. We will also use the vehicle of games to experiment in changing some of these patterns. Specific awareness and self observation exercises as well as gestalt, role playing, and psychosynthesis techniques will be used.

April 18-20

Spring Ski Touring & Camping / Ann & Kurt Wehbring

Weekend workshop $65

Participants of this workshop will meet Friday evening at the Markleeville Hot Springs in the Sierras to begin a weekend of ski touring. Taking advantage of the warm spring days you will ski into a mountain lake and establish a base camp. For those who are interested, the Wehbrings will teach igloo building for your second night in the wilderness. On Sunday, a climb up a near by mountain for skiers with experience and a practice and instruction session will be held for beginners. Yoga, sensory awareness and positive group experiences will be integrated with the touring instruction. Exact location and complete equipment list available on request.

April 19-20

New Techniques of Jogging & Conditioning Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $50

Orthodox jogging is an efficient means of overall body conditioning, but it holds few keys to heightened physical awareness or short cuts to peak body functioning. This workshop will focus on the work of Percy Wells Cerruty and Mihaly Igoli who between them are responsible for more than forty world track and field records. We will blend their techniques of aerobic training, resistance conditioning, diet, philosophy and practical experience with advanced research being done in the field of sport here at Esalen. These techniques which have been utilized by championship athletes are pertinent to people at all levels of fitness. Each participant will receive an individual training consultation, as well as insights into preventive and practical sports medicine.

April 26-27

Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop incorporates principles of physical fitness training, body awareness and movement techniques, and imagery along with traditional tennis methods. It is an integration of Mrs Spino's five-point formula in her holistic approach to the sport, consisting of: a) strength training, b) flexibility, c) endurance, d) sensing, e) inner-space. The overall effect is a more pleasureful, effective and personally significant tennis game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

April 26-27

Trail Running & the Archetypes of Sport Mike Murphy & Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $50

Participants will experience some of the most beautiful and dramatic running trails in San Francisco and the Mount Tamalpais area of Marin County and be introduced to some of the lore of trail running for enjoyment and physical conditioning. This workshop is open to the novice as well as the experienced jogger or runner. There will also be discussions of the psychological, mystical and archetypal aspects of the sport. Bring picnic lunches—and wear good running shoes!

Off the Beaten Track / Ann & Kurt Wehbring

Residential three-day workshop $90

A weekend of backpacking off established trails—instruction in the use of map and compass, backpacking and camping. For those who would like to learn how to backpack and camp, or hikers with experience who would like to expand their abilities, this workshop will attempt to blend outer awareness with inner consciousness and to facilitate greater awareness of the outdoors. Location and equipment list available on request.

May 30-June 1

Energy Awareness, Centering, Learning to Blend
Lillie & George Leonard

Weekend workshop $50

Using techniques derived from the Oriental martial art of Aikido, George and Lillie Leonard will share with you their vivid approach to energy awareness. Through simple mental and physical exercises, participants will practice alternative ways of dealing with everyday life situations—especially those involving tension and high expectations. There will also be discussion of these experiences as they relate to education, sports and social transformation.

May 31-June 1

Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend Workshop $50 See description above.

June 15-19

Rafting on the Rogue River / James Katz & David Van Nuys

Residential five-day workshop $245

This five-day rafting workshop on the Rogue River in Oregon is open to the novice or the experienced. An exciting adventure, where the wilderness and the river can be used for altering consciousness, and gaining perspective on one's part in the flow of life. Yoga, psychosynthesis, sensory awareness, dream sharing and other tools will aid the gentle process of unfolding. Excellent meals are provided from noon the first day through noon on the fifth day. Further information on request.

ENERGETIC STUDIES

A CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF THE LIFE OF THE BODY

The Center for Energetic Studies, under the direction of Stanley Keleman, is a program of teaching, workshops and publishing concerning the development of biological process as the basis for self-identity and expression—how individuals form both themselves and their worlds.
Programs are led by Keleman and other leaders whose perspective is that the way we inhabit our bodies and embody our emotions determines the human condition. In current workshops and seminars, attention is being given to biological process and its relation to symbol formation, imaginative life and religious vision.

For information and registration concerning these programs, write: Center for Energetic Studies
1645 Virginia Street
Berkeley, California 94703

PROGRAMS WITH STANLEY KELEMAN

April 11 - 12

Of Cells and Souls

An evening and one-day seminar with Stanley Keleman and Shelly Hendler of the Salk Institute on

Excitement – What It Is, How It Works

Those of us who work with the body are working with the processes of excitement. In this major conceptual meeting, Stanley Keleman and molecular biologist Shelly Hendler will work toward creating a unified perspective based on this fundamental process of life – the development of cellular excitation into perception, imagination, feelings and behavior.

Friday evening, 8 - 10 p.m., Saturday, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. $30

May 30-June 1

The Human Image / Stanley Keleman & Maurice Friedman

Three-day workshop: residential, $160; non-residential, $125

Stanley Keleman and Maurice Friedman will explore human images historically, emotionally and physically: the images acquired from the culture and the family, and the images presented by our bodies.

Begins Friday, 10 am, ends with lunch Sunday. Residential fee includes room and meals. Non-residential fee includes lunches. $50 deposit required.

July 7 - 18, 1975

Annual "Life of the Body"
Summer Institute with Stanley Keleman:
Character and Myth

A two-week program on the form of the body and its relation to the images organized around myths: how we create character and live out our myths, known and unknown. This is an experiential and didactic program in which we will work with our bodies and our myths.

Early registration is recommended. Write for complete details to: Center for Energetic Studies, 1645 Virginia Street, Berkeley, CA 94703.
$400 tuition, $140 room and board (optional)

April 6

Movement / Dance
Tamara Greenberg

One-day workshop $25

This is a workshop in which movement will be used to intensify our experience of ourselves. Through expressive movement, we will attempt to follow our process of self-formation—how we are present in the world, how we approach and withdraw from contact.

Sunday, 10am—5 pm.

April 13, May 18, June 15

The Social Body / Ian Grand

Three one-day workshops $25 each day / $65 for the series

As we involve ourselves in the social world, each of us forms individual ways of making, maintaining and refusing contact and involvement with others. This series of workshops will focus on the characteristic stances, movements, gestures, and feelings we allow and express in the presence of other persons.

Three Sundays, April 13, May 18, June 15, 10 am—6 pm.

May be taken as individual days or a series.

April 21-May 5

Psychotherapy and Embodiment: Tradition and New Perspectives / George Downing

Three evening seminars $25

This series of seminars will cover concepts of the body as set forth by Freud, Reich and Lowen, and historical considerations about the mind-body relationship with special reference to the development of energetic perspectives.

Monday evenings, 8-10 pm.

See next page for more workshops in Bioenergetic Studies.

ENERGETIC STUDIES

April 26
Paths / George Downing
One-day workshop $25
Using an approach combining energetic and gestalt techniques, we will try to experience the messages our bodies are sending us about where we have been, our contact in the here and now, and what wishes to emerge in us.
Saturday, 10 am–5 pm.

May 4
Movement / Dance
Tamara Greenberg
See description of April 6 program.

May 6-15
The Everyday Life / Ian Grand
Four-evening workshop $50
Every day, in all our activities, we create our reality by the qualities of feeling, movement and excitation we experience and express. In this workshop we will focus on the ways we think about and enact our work and our loving, our interaction and our eating, all the fields of our daily activity.
Tuesday and Thursday evenings, May 6, 8, 13 and 15, 7–10 pm.

May 10-11
The Forms of Eros / Peter Marin
Weekend seminar $50
This seminar will explore the ways in which Eros manifests itself throughout our lives. The expression of Eros, and our need for it, is not limited to sexuality or coupled live, but is also present in shared work, or the life of the polis: the cooperative self-determining ways we live together. We will consider the full range of ways in which we express Eros, and which are necessary to the life of the body.
Saturday and Sunday, 10 am–5 pm.

May 17-18
The Integrated Body / Paul Aikin & Nancy Jungerman
Weekend workshop in Davis, California $50
Our bodies are our bridge to the development of intuition, imagination and creativity. Using energetic approaches, physical relaxation methods and dreams, we will explore the interrelationship of body process, dream experiences, imagery and intuition as expressions of life experience.
Saturday and Sunday, 10 am–5 pm. This workshop will be held in Davis, California.

May 18
The Social Body / Ian Grand
See description of April 13 program.

May 24
Grounding / George Downing
One-day workshop $25
How we relate to the ground beneath determines what kind of world we let emerge around us; its rhythm and space, its possibilities for contact with others, its wonder. We will use an energetic and gestalt approach to explore in what ways we may be keeping ourselves from a more complete personal grounding.
Saturday, 10 am–5 pm.

June 15
The Social Body / Ian Grand
See description of April 13 program.

June 28-29
Movement / Dance
Tamara Greenberg
Weekend workshop $50
This is a workshop in which movement will be used to intensify our experience of ourselves. Through expressive movement, we will attempt to follow our process of self-formation—how we are present in the world, how we approach and withdraw from contact.
Saturday and Sunday, 10 am–5 pm.

COMING PROGRAMS WITH STANLEY KELEMAN

Program of Supervised Studies
October, 1975 to May, 1976
An intensive program of supervised studies (not training) at the Center for Energetic Studies, to learn how to learn from our biological processes. The program will concentrate on emotional and symbolic expression as it is reflected in our biological and psychological biographies. A group of ten participants will meet regularly with Stanley Keleman and Richard Wiseman, professor of world and comparative literature, over eight months to create an environment in which one's bodily experience is the basis for learning. Applicable to expression in psychology, the arts and sciences. Tuition is approximately $1200. Interested persons are invited to write to the Center for more information.

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

A FORM OF ESALEN

A Form is 'right' when it re-presents—in a moment of time—a process of natural development.

Natural is that which structures and de-structures according to the dominant energies in the 'field of action' (however circumscribed).

'Right action' in the buddhist sense of the term, is knowing-and-doing in relationship to the dominant energies in the field. Right action is an appreciation of these energies. Right action is the harmonious formulation of these energies.

A form is more or less efficient, or viable or workable only in relation to a given objective.
State your objective and you begin to create a form.
When a number of individuals share a similar objective(s), their form is a basis for group action(s).

Here at Esalen the energies of a number of individuals—our staff/community—have been forming gradually in relation to two principal objectives:
Maintaining and enhancing a very beautiful place where people, who stay a while, may learn to care for them selves.
Evolving a form of community organization which is based on attitudes of co-operation, self-regulation, and self-responsibility.

Our work and our form of social structure are integrally related.

In the ways we regulate ourselves and co-operate with our environment and with each other we ex-press our form—Esalen/Big Sur.

We are what we do.

We move within a constantly changing environment.

A WORKING community
a living community

WE LIVE EXPOSED

—Janet Lederman
—Julian Silverman

week of march 30 - april 4

Towards a More Sensitive Relating
Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

In an increasingly alienated world, where mechanical ease often makes communication shallower, many of us are eager to find more meaningful contact both with ourselves and with others, and with our activities whatever they may be. We would like really to get in touch. But the conventional approaches we have learned, our social and intellectual conditioning, lie like callouses over our living nerve ends and, though occasionally useful, act as effective barriers between the perceiver and the perceived. The reality both of ourselves and of those we meet can only be discovered and explored when we begin to sense and discard the techniques and defenses we have come to rely on—when we become again consciously living organisms, open, as we were in childhood, to the unedited messages of our senses.

In this workshop, which will be devoted to practice rather than theory, a beginning will be made in exploring anew our natural capacities for clearly perceiving and relating to those around us and to the life within us, and to the many tasks which life presents. $270

Take a Second Look at Yourself / Janet Zuckerman

We will focus on taking a good look at what is going on behind the masks we wear and what is underneath the expressions we put on our faces to confront the world. "Who are you?" and "Who do you pretend to be?" are the polarities we will be working with. Every one of us has a great deal of unused potential, and I see the group experience as a safe place to begin to tap into this energy. This week will be entirely experiential using mirrors, gestalt, soft-encounter and sensory awareness. Two video sessions will be included. $240 + $4 video fee

A Workshop in Energy Responsibility / Alan Schwartz

A natural and organic energy flow makes up the whole person. This week we will work toward progressive realization of how blocks to the free flow of emotion inhibit us from experiencing a mature sense of self. The dynamics will involve risk-taking on both the psychic and somatic levels, using energy and gestalt techniques to form the structure of energy responsibility. A central theme will be that "knowledge is a head-trip and wisdom emanates from the entire organism." A video session will enable us to focus visually on our movement. $270 + $2 video fee

Gestalt Training Workshop / Frank Rubenfeld

Hot-seat work, gestalt exercises and mini-raps will be part of this experiential-didactic workshop. Participants will also have the opportunity to work with each other under the direct supervision of Dr Rubenfeld. Limited to those in the helping professions. $270

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

Perfect like Great Space
the Way has nothing lacking, nothing in excess.
Truly because of our accepting and rejecting
We have not the suchness of things.
-- Sengtsan (3rd Zen Patriarch)

"What is, is." -- Fritz Perls (1st Gestalt Patriarch)

Gestalt practice is a form evolving out of the work of Fritz Perls, relating that work to physical/spiritual ways, both ancient and modern. Participants are explicitly not "patients," but persons consenting actively to work in awareness. The group "leader" functions primarily to reflect, clarify and to flow with that which emerges in this process. The aim is personal unfoldment, growth, wholeness, rather than "adjustment," "accomplishment" or "cure." $270

Suggested reading: GESTALT THERAPY VERBATIM (Perls); TAO TE CHING (Lao Tzu); CUTTING THROUGH SPIRITUAL MATERIALISM (Chogyam Trungpa); THE POWER OF MINDFULNESS (Nyanaponika Thera).

How Do You Want to Be Alive in This World?
Arthur & Janica Fox

Aliveness is thinking, sensing, feeling and acting. Come and take a look at yourself, learn techniques to increase your awareness, free up more of your feelings and energy and learn what part your body plays in regulating these things. Learn to listen to and trust your body, your organism as your best source of knowledge, guidance and inner strength; then learn ways to act on this knowledge, to move from this centered, intuitive place, to make it a living, working part of the process that can help you to be the person you want to be. As leaders we will utilize our own intuitions, and various techniques, including bioenergetics, sensory awareness, gestalt, encounter, fantasy and goal-fulfilling strategies. $110

Experiencing the Biocentric Approach with Nathaniel Branden

This is a personal growth, experiential seminar, devoted to the themes of self-awareness, self-acceptance, self-responsibility and self-assertiveness. This work rests on the premise that self-esteem is a person's primary psychological need, that a deficiency of self-esteem underlies all psychological problems and that the essence of effective therapy consists of aiding the individual to develop or enhance self-esteem. In this workshop, I invite participants to explore some of the techniques and procedures I have found helpful in building self-esteem. $110

Workshop in Energy Responsibility / Alan Schwartz

For description see March 30 - April 4 above. $110

The New Communication—An Alternative To Powerlessness / John Zeigler

"I've had the peak experience. Now what?" The New Communication, an integrative problem-solving process, attempts to answer this through helping you develop more effective interpersonal communication techniques. We will also demonstrate how these methods can be applied on an ongoing basis toward gaining more personal freedom in an institutionalized and oppressive society. We will dramatize how we avoid taking communication risks and how we block open communication. Our aim during this experiential weekend will be to achieve a warm and close group environment through the interchange of thoughts, fantasies, ideas, feelings and energy. The leader will draw upon his own experience and intuition as well as major contributions from fantasy and self-communication, gestalt, sensory awareness, psychosynthesis, bioenergetics and psychodrama. $100

Women and Change
Janet Lederman & the Esalen Women

Exploring superficial roles; what we imagine to be "natural" and our relationship to one another. $110

week of april 6-11

Gestalt Improvisations
Paul Rebillot
Gestalt Improvisations / Paul Rebillot

Sing the glory of your life to the world,
Dance the story of your life to the world.
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world,
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
—Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bioenergetic methods of liberating breath, movement and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. $270 + $2 video fee

Contact & Communication
Julian & Beverly Silverman

$270

Opening the Feelings: A Neo-Reichian Radix Workshop
Charles & Erica Kelley & Laura DeNuccio

A direct body approach to deep emotional release, rooted in the work of Wilhelm Reich and his students. Powerful non-verbal techniques open deep involuntary expressions of pain, fear, rage and grief that have been locked in since childhood. As participants work through these, they can discover a new capacity for pleasure, for trust, love and joy. $300

Exploration & Integration / Arthur & Janica Fox

Come and use a combination of the richness of encounter, gestalt, sensory awareness and massage surrounded by the richness of Big Sur and the Esalen grounds. Use these to explore more of you, your potential, your awareness and your capacity for openness. We will also explore ways of retaining and integrating this richness so that you have access to it not just at Esalen, but also when you return home. $270

Psychosynthesis: Nurturing the Child Within
Betsie Carter & Matthew Haar

This workshop will focus on the psychosynthesis technique of "bear therapy," an approach of self-acceptance and self-nurturing. Many of us have learned how to open ourselves emotionally and contact other people at a deep and satisfactory level. But when we need to nourish and affirm ourselves, we usually swing between being rigid and critical to being collapsed or dependent upon another person or a group. Bear therapy presents an alternative to these extremes within each of us, as we learn to center and to nourish ourselves from center. $270

weekend of april 11-13

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good
Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $110

Basic T'ai Chi Massage / Judy Unell

Bringing two ancient arts together, I have developed an innovative, caring, massage method combining pressure points, muscle and sensory strokes with T'ai Chi movement (which transmits a special rhythm and energy flow, relaxing but energizing the giver as well as the receiver). Whether a beginner or a professional, this method can give you a basic understanding of the easy uses of body weight and elimination of strain through rhythmic movement. $100

The Art of Self-direction / Lenore Lefer

In this workshop we will explore and examine the nature of self-direction and the ways in which we can increase it in our lives. The degree to which we can discover, direct and regulate our energies affects how productive, creative and joyful we will be. In an atmosphere that is supportive and nourishing we will use gestalt awareness, encounter, massage, and psychosynthesis techniques to learn and enhance the art of self-direction. $110

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $110

Yoga for Modern Living / Joel Kramer

A workshop on the physical, psychological and spiritual aspects of yoga geared to make yoga meaningful as a tool for the adventure of self-exploration in day to day living.

The approach here is to teach you to be in touch with yourself as a living process and to tune into the energy systems of your mind and body so that you rapidly become your own teacher.

The workshop combines Hatha Yoga (the physical) and Jnana Yoga (the mental-psychological) in an approach that involves exploring the "edge" or frontiers of the Self both mentally and physically.

Friday night - introductory lecture-demonstration
Saturday - two sessions of Hatha Yoga, three sessions Jnana Yoga
Sunday - two sessions Hatha Yoga, one session Jnana Yoga
$110

week of april 13-18

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

See description for March 30 - April 4, above. $270

Leadership Training
Will Schutz & Valerie Blalock Schutz

For experienced group leaders. Each will get a chance to lead under supervision and to explore self in relation to leading. There will be demonstrations of several techniques and discussions of theory. Limited to 12. $300

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $270

Movement as Therapy: A Workshop for Professionals
Gabrielle Roth

This workshop is specifically designed for persons who serve as guides in the helping professions. Our purpose will be to explore movement as a tool to be integrated into your practice and adapted to your professional needs. We will experience movement exercises to increase awareness of self—of self in relation to another—of self in relation to the group.

Please send a letter communicating briefly about yourself and your professional involvement so that your personal needs may be considered. $270 + $2 video fee

Experiencing Esalen / Experiencing Esalen Staff

For workshop description see p 24. $240

ongoing residential program

Offered from September through May, the Ongoing Residential Program is designed for those who would like to have time and space in the Esalen environment for an intensive workshop program over a long term. A minimum stay: 26 days (or four "weeks" and three weekends).

Participants may select any of the five-day workshops offered during their stay. Weekend workshops are available at tuition prices. Some programs are cancelled, so second choices are advised. Some special staff programs will also be open to residents. Cost: $960 per 26-day period.

Moving / Gabrielle Roth

"Consciousness is, among other things, a spontaneous exercise in creativity." —Seth

Accepting self is letting go of judgment.
Letting go of judgment is allowing
space for experience.
Allowing space for experience is being...
the ability to move in-the-flow,
conscious
creative spontaneous.

Arica Body Work
Roland Hall, Irene Love & Melanie Smith

An experimental weekend exploring methods for realizing a body that is energized, flexible and free of tension. The weekend will include dance, psychocalisthenics, kath generation, walking japa, massage, eurythmics, bio-relaxation, color as a vehicle to touch and energize organs and parts of our bodies. $110 + $2 video fee

A Weekend Workshop in Self Awareness
David Schiffman

This workshop is based on the awareness that personal growth is often blocked because we don't see ourselves clearly, as others see us, or act as we really feel. The objective of this seminar is to create a supportive atmosphere wherein the participant can experience her/himself at a deeper, more meaningful level than daily life provides. Techniques of gestalt, meditation and encounter will be used. $110

Self-Realization Meditation / David Milton Lees

Each of us has a calm, centered self that experiences life directly and is in harmony with what is. We often lose this direct experience of life when we become caught up in our thoughts. We come to believe that the stories we tell ourselves are the only true reality. Self-Realization Meditation, which will be taught in this workshop, is a simple practice that can be used in everyday life to deepen our contact with the self that directly experiences life as it is. $110

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

Many of us are operating as tape recorders. We switch on in the morning at "high" or "low" speed and play our stock of tapes in response to the buttons being pushed by people or events. We are vaguely aware that life seems repetitive, or dull, that time is often something to be gotten through instead of savored, but this awareness is lost in the "noise" and business of day to day living.

This weekend will be devoted to bringing our attention to what we are doing—how we are really acting and thinking. Once we are aware of our tapes, we can go off automatic and begin to enjoy our interactions with one another. We will be using gestalt process, encounter, sensory awareness and other techniques to tune in to ourselves and each other. $100

Experiencing Esalen Staff

These workshops are designed for people who have not previously been to Esalen/Big Sur. The emphasis is on finding those approaches to self-awareness that work most effectively for the individual participant. Some of the following experiences are available at each Experiencing Esalen workshop: sensory awareness, gestalt awareness training, encounter, theater games, psychosynthesis, meditation, bioenergetics, massage. There is time to experience and explore the natural magnificence of the Big Sur coast.

SCHEDULE:

April 13-18	$240
April 25-27	$100
May 11-16	$240
June 15-20	$260
June 27-29	$110
June 29-July 4	$260

student weekend groups

To enable a wider range of young people to attend Esalen, we are offering a weekend "sleeping bag" rate to groups of students during the September to May period. These weekends are designed to allow the students the experience of a variety of Esalen activities such as gestalt, encounter, psychosynthesis, movement, massage, meditation . . .

The rate is $55 per student with a minimum of 10 students required. This includes meals from Friday dinner through Sunday lunch. Please write for information and available dates to: Janet Zuckerman, Student Groups, Esalen, Big Sur, CA 93920.

Massage Workshop / Peggy Morrison & Dick Horan

Limited to 16. $270 per person.

Integration: The Recovery of Wholeness
Neil Lamper

"Gestalt is a way of life more than a form of therapy. Participants in this workshop can expect to experience their here-and-now and discuss their what-and-how. I am interested in people learning how to use their what—at work, play, in families, couples and as singles. At times our entire group will be active and at times one person will wrestle with the impasse. I cannot force, will not coerce and have no neat package of salvation. People maintain their own momentum, work in their own way. I will share my eyes and ears. I invite people to this workshop who want to experience Esalen and themselves anew and expect to express this in their broader lives." $270

Silva Mind Control / Bob Hutchins

Through the ages man has sought the keys to bringing awareness under conscious direction. He has sought ways of developing a relaxed and balanced center from which to process information in his environment ("problem solving"). Silva Mind Control pursues these directions in a concentrated training system which draws upon the wisdom of the past and the findings of modern scientific inquiry.

Along the research path, Jose Silva and others have discovered and explored mental states in which an individual can move toward tranquility, anxiety-free natural health and many other positive mental-physical manifestations of improved life functioning. They have discovered that the mental states in which these achievements can occur are the same states or levels in which an individual can experience his innate ability to perceive information using other than the five biological senses (ESP). In Mind Control method, ESP receives our direct attention and we undertake the awakening and development of this faculty of human intelligence which many feel is a doorway to the next phase of human evolution.

During a concentrated five days, we'll experience and learn more of "what's possible" with mind/awareness training. $270

Inspiration & the Power of the Body: New Tools for Psycho-Physical Development
Dyveke & Mike Spino

The inevitable dilemma of mind/body involvement is to develop techniques for both excellence and fun. This workshop offers keys to enhance enjoyment and performance by presenting some revolutionary training tools for sports and games. Beginning with over-all body conditioning and focusing on tennis and running, we will integrate the work of athletic masters such as Mihaly Igloi and Percy Wells Cerutty with the spiritual aspect of sport being developed at Esalen. This experience brings you to the peak of mind/body integration, matching literature, books, manuscripts and poems with a psycho-physical program, allowing each person to construct a personally satisfying training ritual. This week can change your entire notion of physical exercise. $270

student work-scholarship program

A special residence program at Esalen/Big Sur is available for those unable to afford the ongoing residential program. Room and board is $300 per four week period, based on shared accomodation of 3 students to a room at our South Coast Living Center. Participants are given a reduced fee for workshops offered in the catalog during their stay. In exchange for the special rate participants pay in this program, 16 hours of work per week is required. Members of the Esalen staff are available to help integrate student residents' activities with ongoing Esalen programs and to provide general direction and consultation. There are also opportunities for interested participants to work in gestalt, encounter, etc., with one another and with staff. The program is 28 days beginning on a Sunday. Acceptance into the program is contingent upon approval of a scholarship application. No person is admitted for longer than 28 days at a time. To apply, write: Esalen Student Work Scholarship Program, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920.

The Roots of Intuition: Integrating Transpersonal Energy with Personal Form / David Schiffman

The central theme and focus of the traditional esoteric-mystic disciplines of the East has been access to states of consciousness that go beyond everyday form and content into the realms of pure energy and formlessness. In the rational-material tradition of the West, the focus of the behavioral sciences has been the systematic examination of form (linguistically, behaviorally, biologically) and its evolution and function. The work of Assagioli, Gurdjieff and Jung has established clearly the interdependence of these points of view—the inseparable connection between the transpersonal source of our energy and the forms we choose to manifest it.

This workshop will focus on the nature of personal process and the forms that emerge with the deliberate focussing and fine tuning of awareness on the energetic substructure we all embody. The emphasis will be on the achievement of a harmonious balance energetically between the mental, physical, emotional and transcendent realms of experience.

Some of the themes that will be touched on include: "The creative use of passion and struggle"..."Transmutation of sexually embodied roles"... "The witnessing of pain without becoming it"..."The healing aspects of humor"... "Archetypal imagery as a source of personal nourishment"... "Enlisting cosmic support for worldly risks"... $270 + $2 video fee

Tao: The Watercourse Way / Al Chung-liang Huang

For description see April 27, below. $110

Body/Mind / Will Schutz

The workshop will integrate the Feldenkrais exercises with fantasy and encounter. Everyone will be given an opportunity to experience several exercises followed by a fantasy, then in an encounter group to deal with the material generated. The aim is for a more complete integration of each person's organism. $110

Letting Go / Marilyn & Bob Kriegel

In this workshop we will practice being weightless, letting go of old burdens, troubles, and woes that tend to bog us down. A focus on joy and creative living will be our guide to "letting go." Encounter, gestalt, and psychosynthesis will be used in addition to massage, meditation, play and an appreciation of the Big Sur Country. $110

Tao: The Watercourse Way / Al Chung-liang Huang

T'ai Chi Studies of Tao Te Ching, Chuang Tzu, Han Shan (Cold Mountain Poems), Chinese calligraphy-painting as meditation, Tao, Here and Now.

Begin from center, not from the fringe. Learn to understand the principles before the one-two-three drill. Learn to move like the wind and the water, to be joyous, healthy and alive. Learn to be rid of burdensome anticipations and expectations. Learn to be a true beginner, and from yourself. Learn to unlearn. $270

Recommended Readings: EMBRACE TIGER by Al Huang; TAO: THE WATERCOURSE WAY by Alan Watts; TAO TE CHING, CHUANG TZU translated by Feng-English; COLD MOUNTAIN POEMS translated by G. Snyder.

People's Liberation / Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

In this workshop we will explore who we are beyond the traditional roles, expectations and assumptions that we have accumulated and learned to experience as ourselves. We will then find ways of integrating this new sense of self with our personal and professional lives.

Gestalt, psychosynthesis, encounter, guided daydreams and meditation will be used as well as massage, play, drawing and centering techniques. $270

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

Parapsychology, Consciousness & Creativity Stanley Krippner with Larry Scharf

This experiential seminar will attempt to develop each person's creative ability through the utilization of paranormal abilities that manifest themselves during altered states of consciousness. Dream recall will be utilized, as will guided imagery, massage, group hypnosis, sensory bombardment, body movement, and fantasy. In these states of consciousness, participants will be trained to gain access to the personal and universal symbols, archetypes, and thematic concepts which encourage creative development. In addition, the basic approaches to psychic healing will be discussed and experienced. Kirlian photography, a technique which demonstrates how altered consciousness also changes the bodily energies, will be discussed. Workshop participants will be given the opportunity to participate in telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition experiments during several different states of consciousness. $270

Suggested reading: DREAM TELEPATHY, Ullman, Krippner & Vaughan; THE KIRLIAN AURA, ed. Krippner & Rubin; THE SECRET LIFE OF PLANTS, Tompkins & Bird; WE ARE ALL HEALERS, Hammond; PASSAGES, A GUIDE FOR PILGRIMS OF THE MIND, Anderson & Savary.

Deepening the Experience of the Self with Movement, Music, Meditation & Massage Barbara Clemans

You are already more beautiful, more loving, more gentle and more perfect than you think you are. Establish your connection with this self, using: music to relax and sensitize the body, allowing the unconscious to emerge; Feldenkrais directed awareness movement to alter uncomfortable fixed patterns; creative movement to establish individual uniqueness; meditation to quiet inner voices and massage to establish group contact and support. $270

The Human Experience; Culture & Consciousness

Coordinated by Joan Halifax-Grof & Stanislav Grof

A six week, interdisciplinary institute for professionals and graduate students in the fields of anthropology, medicine, behavioral sciences, psychotherapy, religion, and philosophy. Under the direction of Joan Halifax-Grof and Stanislav Grof, Esalen Institute is gathering over twenty-five faculty members at Big Sur to offer over 200 curriculum hours of didactic, experiential sessions exploring the relationship between human culture and consciousness. The material presented during this institute will be divided into three major thematic groups.

Track 1: Psychedelic Anthropology, Ethnobotany, Mythology
This track will be introduced by an historical overview and cross-cultural survey of the use of psychedelic substances. Hallucinogenic plants will be discussed from the point of view of their botanical characteristics, geographical distribution, indigenous technologies associated with them and the chemical structure and pharmacological properties of their psychoactive alkaloids. Anthropologists and psychiatrists who have done extensive field work in cultures using psychedelic drugs will discuss their experiences and findings. Healers of such cultures will share their knowledge of the mythologies, rituals and specific procedures associated with religious use of psychedelic plants by their peoples.

Track 2: Experimental Psychiatry and Psychology: Study of Altered States of Consciousness
This track will focus on clinical and laboratory research of altered states of consciousness produced by psychedelic substances and by various non-drug techniques. Individual units will cover: effects of psychedelic drugs on the human body and mind; psychophysiological comparison of the LSD-induced state and schizophrenia; use of psychedelic drugs in psychotherapy, including work with dying individuals; new maps of the human unconscious emerging from LSD research; Jungian perspectives on the use of the visionary experience; metaphysical implications of psychedelic experience; application of this knowledge to the areas of drug abuse, crisis intervention and various forms of psychotherapy.

Track 3: Self Exploration and Group Process
This track will study the relationship between self-awareness and group dynamics. The spectrum of exploratory approaches will range from experiential techniques of individual self-exploration and group practice to shamanic practices, mandala work, use of music and movement meditation. Leaders who have pioneered in these approaches will provide theoretical background and conduct experiential sessions with participants.

Format: To explore the richness and complexity of human consciousness and culture, the format of the institute will combine experiential sessions, experimental laboratory techniques, music, didactic seminars, selected film material, and visual art. Non-drug technology for inducing altered states of consciousness (sensory isolation tank, lotus cradle, photic driver, biofeedback) will be available for supervised use by participants.

Registration Information: This program is limited to 28 participants selected from the applicants. The fee is $1500 including room and board. Some working scholarships are available to students on the basis of need. Scholarship forms can be obtained from Esalen Institute. If you wish to enroll in this program, please send a letter containing biographical information and a recent photograph to Joan Halifax-Grof, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920.

Charlotte Selver & Charles Brooks

See March 30 - April 4 above. $120

What's Available / George & Judith Brown

An experiential weekend workshop to help participants get more in touch with what's inside (the self, personal and transpersonal) and outside (one's living and working environment, including others). Focus will be on individual growth in a group setting. Suitable for couples as well. $110

The Sitar & Body Tuning / Alim Khan

Experientially and with informal discussion, using methods of meditation, Hatha and Raja Yoga, we will explore the spiritual aspects of sound and find ways to appreciate Indian music. A sitar concert will be scheduled for one of the sessions and one session will be devoted to massage. $100

How to Drive People Sane / Alice Ginott

I am a psychotherapist. In my world there are realities that remain constant: to decrease misery and increase joy. How? Through intentionally acquired communication skills. This workshop, which is didactic and experiential, can change your life when you learn the language of caring; a skill that will help you diminish dissension, rage, frustration and hurt with those you love. $110

Music & the Healing Arts
Georgia Kelly, Alim Khan, Charles Lloyd, Deborah Medow, Myrtle Ratcliffe & Zitro

The vibrational patterns of sound can have a healing effect on the body similar to massage, yoga and meditation. During the week, a group of musicians and teachers of massage and yoga will meet with the participants to present their individual methods of self awareness, consciousness expansion, physical exercise, diet and other body-tuning exercises, so that music can be experienced as a way of realizing health.

The conference of dissimilar musicians whose common bond is an interest in applying their art to healing will include: Georgia Kelly, classical harpist; Alim Khan, Indian sitarist; Charles Lloyd, contemporary jazz musician, primarily flute and saxaphone; Zitro, percussionist and composer. Deborah Medow and Myrtle Ratcliffe will teach yoga and various massage methods. $270 weekend of may 9-11

Self Hypnosis, Selective Awareness & Movement
Emmett & Nitza Miller

Movement requires the use of muscular activity in varying degrees of intensity. So too, thought processes and interpersonal communication proceed through stages of higher and lower energy. Most of our personal and social difficulties (symptoms, unwanted emotions, maladaptive habit patterns) can be eased when we learn to react in accordance with and in response to our internal and external environment.

In this workshop we will learn and apply the principles of self hypnosis and Selective Awareness, as well as those of dance and movement therapy, to expand our self awareness and the ability to adjust our minds and bodies to changing experiences. $110

Shamanism Workshop / Michael Harner

The writings of Carlos Castaneda will be the point of departure for an intensive exploration of ancient shamanic knowledge. Participants will be taught the basic techniques of shamanic power used by North and South American Indian shamans as reinterpreted by the workshop leader for application within our own lives. The accumulation and utilization of shamanic power will be related to such subjects as altered consciousness, sexual energy and body awareness. Exercises will be conducted in the methods used by shamans to affect natural phenomena and to cure illness in primitive cultures. $110

Steps to an Ecology of Mind / Gregory Bateson

In the last twenty years, the theoretical advances in cybernetics and advances in the study of personal interaction have led to a new way of looking at the living world, including in this everything from biology to poetry and politics. The workshop will explore these ways of perceiving and thinking. $110

Human Life Styling: A Workshop in Preventive Medicine John McCamy & Esalen Staff

A workshop to improve your health. John McCamy, a physician in the field of preventive medicine, works in the four areas of: nutrition (detoxification), exercise / movement, stress reduction and ecological awareness.

Participants are asked to bring a record of their last weeks's diet and physical exercise: what was eaten (meals and snacks) and how much exercise was taken (work, play, stairs, carrying, etc.) Workshop sessions will include: lecture and discussion, daily aerobic and movement exercises, stress-reduction techniques similar to meditation and alpha-state induction, meal-time awareness exercises. There will also be sessions in alternative health techniques such as structural integration (rolfing), acupuncture, Feldenkrais movement and various meditation practices.

People in the helping professions—psychologists, teachers, nurses, doctors, ministers—can acquire a basic and simple illness-prevention approach which can be passed on to those seeking improved health and wellbeing. People attending this workshop will be offered the opportunity to meet in August to form the core teaching group of Human Life Stylers. $270

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. The emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $270

media center

The Esalen Media Center has video recording services available for individuals interested in working privately, or in twos and threes. If you wish to explore every aspect of your visual self—how you use your body, how your self-image compares with your real image—the video camera offers you instant feedback.

Studio and operator: $25 per hour, including playback time. If you wish to purchase the videotape, there is an additional charge.

(Leaders wishing to retain the use of video for groups must arrange this with the program coordinator at the time the group is scheduled.)

Archetypes of the Unconscious / Joseph Campbell

A review, illustrated by slides, of Jung's theory of psychological archetypes and the relation of these to the symbolism of mandala. Time permitting, the symbolism of the Marseilles Tarot pack will also be considered, with discussions (if desired) of whatever personal experiences, in dream or in life, may seem relevant to the topics of the session. $110

Self Regulation: Reich's Expressive Language Peter Levine & Ed Jackson

Our capacity to adapt in the world is rooted in biological processes. These processes regulate the flow of a full range of human expression. To the degree that this flow is unobstructed and balanced, we feel, and are, at home in the world.

This seminar will focus on releasing resistance to that flow by individual work centered around the breathing process. While the work can be rather intense, it is not directed toward explosive discharge or group encounter, but toward a fundamental and gradual expansion of capacity and shift in perspective (as much toward containment as release.) Sessions will be didactic as well as experiential and some knowledge of anatomy and physiology will be helpful. Limited to 14. $110

Gestalt Workshop / Esalen Gestalt Staff Coordinated by Joan Fiore

The Esalen Gestalt Staff is made up of skilled gestalt practitioners, each of whom works in his or her own individual style. While their common foundation lies in the teachings of Fritz Perls, much of their work has evolved to incorporate other disciplines as well. The workshop will explore some of the following aspects of gestalt practice: awareness exercises, gestalt Tarot, individual dream work, language awareness, gestalt improvisations, contact-withdrawal awareness. This workshop is suitable both for beginners and for those with previous experience in gestalt awareness practice. $240

A Weekend With Will Schutz

$120

Autogenic Training & Biofeedback
Bart Bödy & Gita Elguin-Bödy

With Autogenic Training, a person learns to relax at will, to stay calm yet alert and able to act in the face of physical or mental stress. Over a period of time it leads to a considerable degree of control over the autonomic nervous system: the ability to deeply relax and to induce warmth in any specific body part, to regulate breathing and heart action, etc. Behavioral changes can be effected, such as the ability to go to sleep or wake up at will (at pre-set times), to stop smoking or stuttering, etc. The underlying principle is that the healing or change is self-generated – autogenic. It is self-directed, self-willed, allowing expression to the inner wisdom of the organism.

This will be an experimental introduction, combined with other techniques of self-exploration, such as guided daydreams and biofeedback. $120

Massage Intensive / The Esalen Massage Crew

The Esalen massage crew, with its unique variety of approaches and styles, will teach basic techniques for giving and receiving massage, both for immediate relaxation of tension and as a way of caring. Emphasis here is on deepening the quality of touch-communication and heightening awareness of the energy flow between the body in motion and the body at rest.

The group will meet daily at the mineral baths. Limited to 16. $260

Silva Mind Control / Bob Hutchins

For workshop description see April 20-25 above. $290

The Experience of Union / Ben & Victoria Weaver

This couples' workshop will focus on union—spiritual and physical—as a deep, internal, archetypal truth which each of us can experience. Many spiritual traditions ignore or seem embarrassed by our sexual energies. This workshop will follow the tantric approach of dealing directly with sexual energy, of finding, at the very core of the mystery of union, the creator and source of all.

The experiential sessions may explore such topics as: sex and spirituality...sensual massage...intimacy—the safest place to be... sensate focusing—deepening your turn on...the fine art of hanging out together.

Note: This workshop is not intended as first aid to ailing relationships. Rather, we hope to provide space and time for growing and for deepening intimacy. $290 per person weekend of june 6-8

Working on Open Marriage / Walt & Maurica Anderson

Marriage is whatever you make it, and can be a great resource for personal growth. In the workshop we will share experiences, work on individual problems, and consider some humanistic guidelines for changing relationships to meet the needs of changing people. Attendance by both partners is recommended but not required. $120 per person.

A Workshop on Death & Dying
B.J. Chick & Charlie Garfield

Every human being moves through life with a mortal body as a vehicle for the immortal spirit. The person who is aware that his days are numbered has the increased advantage and motivation to move his greatest awareness into the realm of the spiritual body.

This workshop is designed for persons who either have a terminal illness, an intimate involvement with the dying process, or who experience themselves as death-sensitive.

We will spend time sharing feelings about attachments to physical existence, consciously learning how to relax, to allow our bodies to rest, and experientially to explore the possibilities and peace that come with living primarily in the spiritual body. $120

Opening the Feelings: A Neo-Reichian Radix Workshop
Elaine Warburton & Joel Bross

For workshop description see April 6-11 above. $120

Energy: Transmutation & Synthesis / Bernard Gunther

We are all almost unlimited sources of joyous energy. We squander these resources. Blocked by fear, habit and limitation we dam ourselves with destructive expression: various forms of mental/physical illness. In this workshop we will learn to release, redirect and reintegrate behavior patterns through focusing on energy centers. The week will be a synthesis of gestalt, yoga, body awareness, psychosynthesis, hypnosis and movement, with special emphasis on meditation and self-healing. $290

Bridging the Gap— A Workshop in Self-Observation Training
Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

Many of us have developed reliable patterns for experiencing situations in our lives whether they are at home, work or in a group. Often these patterns, although once useful, are now outdated and actually detrimental to leading fulfilling lives.

The purpose of this workshop is to develop the calm centered place within ourselves from which we can observe our actions and expand the number of choices that we have available in any given situation, thus allowing for the possibility of change and growth. Themes that are applicable to our everyday lives will be used in conjunction with encounter, gestalt and psychosynthesis techniques as well as massage, play and creative exercises. $290

A Weekend for Tired Housewives
Beverly Silverman

Many times when we feel tired it is not because our bodies are tired but because we are suppressing our energy. This weekend we will explore ways of contacting this energy and using it constructively. $120

Don't Just Stand There / George & Judith Brown

A workshop focusing on the gestalt "goal" of learning to stand on your own two feet; in addition, what then to do as you become more able to support yourself. How to make choices, enjoy ambiguity, and synthesize polarities are some of the processes to be explored. Non-toxic gestalt, psychosynthesis, and other appropriate approaches will be used. $120

Energy Centers / Bernard Gunther

Behind the spine there is a key, seven centers of electromagnetic energy. These chakras (energy wheels) are related to the endocrine glands, the master regulatory system of the organism. When these centers are cleansed, harmonized and fully functioning, integration and balance on all levels of consciousness begins to take place. A weekend of "chakra therapy" consisting of meditation, breathing, relaxation, visualization, color and sound. $120

Psychosis & Individuation / John Perry & Howard I Levene

In this workshop we will define the relationship of madness to the Jungian concept of Individuation. Experientially, we will structure an environment in which we will attempt to connect with our own madness, and integrate our discoveries and experiences of this madness with our own personal journeys towards self-awareness. This workshop is limited to 15 people. $120

Intimacy and Independence -- A Workshop for Couples
Bob & Margaret Blood

The focus of the workshop will be on interaction between the partners, facilitated by the support of the group. Each couple will choose those aspects of their relationship on which they wish to work.

Much of the weekend will be devoted to the development of communication skills to enable us to work through problems in our relationships -- skills in self-expression, listening, negotiating, achieving consensus, etc. Non-verbal activities will include "sculpturing" the relationship, moving together expressively, and massage. Through these activities, each couple may acquire a deeper understanding of their relationship and of new potentials for enriching it. The workshop will be limited to eight couple . $120 per person.

The Whole Thing / Betty Fuller

A Confluent Approach to Learning & Living
Gloria A. Castillo & Keven R. Van Camp

Confluence -- "getting it all together" -- a flowing of the energies of the mind, soul and body. Through a variety of experiential techniques, including gestalt awareness, sensory awakening, meditation and massage, we will discover new ways of being wholly alive while thinking, sensing, feeling and being. We will also explore confluent models of approaches to learning, systems development and change which have been developed by the leaders for use after the group experience is over. $120

Communication / Emmett & Nitza Miller

We will begin with an introduction to self-hypnosis and Selective Awareness, deprogramming unwanted images and habit patterns (limits), and then moving on to explore the experience of our body movement. Remaining centered, we will then explore interpersonal and group spaces, emphasizing awareness of verbal and nonverbal communication and the continuum of stillness-movement. $290

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop is designed to provide the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques and video feedback, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Particular emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $290 plus $2 video fee.

Gestalt & the Bible / Richard Price & Jean Lanier

Using the gestalt approach we will explore parallels between certain biblical themes and the basic assumptions of gestalt practice. We will work with Old Testament stories, the parables of Jesus, and our own dreams, fantasies and histories. $290

Advanced Gestalt / Donald Barenfeld

It is possible to increase awareness and thereby discover how we block our excitement, nourishment, contact, creativity, etc. From this awareness might flow suggestions of new ways to experiment with being in the world, and hopefully an awakening of appreciation for how we are. This focus will allow participants to re-identify with their energy lost to disowned parts and should provide a nourishing context for their reclamation. We will incorporate a session with the video camera as an awareness tool.
This workshop is open only to those with prior gestalt experience. $290 + $2 video fee.

Finding Your Own Way / Lenore Lefer

The way we choose to be and live our lives is limited by our perceptions and attitudes about ourselves. To broaden and illuminate these perceptions, we will explore our untapped energy resources. With richer alternatives and choices available, finding our own way will be a nourishing experience.

Gestalt awareness, encounter, guided daydreams and psychosynthesis techniques will be among the tools used on our search. $290

Changing: Inner & Outer Movement / Barbara Clemans

Sometimes unbidden, sometimes sought after, change is the essence of life itself.
The body lives as a complex of motions: circulation, respiration, digestion, elimination. To stop the flow of movement at one point is like holding the breath, to persist is to die. How to allow change, to accept it as renewal rather than catastrophe, to transcend our expectations of fulfillment from outside rather than inside? We will explore these questions using: guided imagry and intense self observation to recognize our resistances to change; Feldenkrais movement; breath awareness and group sharing to explore new possibilities within ourselves; and massage and meditation to facilitate group support and self-affirmation. $290

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good
Harry Sloan

For workshop description see April 11-13 above. $120

Body Awareness & Massage / Barbara Clemans

If we could but experience ourselves as free and flowing as we really are, we would then know our own perfection.

Through a series of specific, directed movements with awareness we can begin to alter the patterns of habitual movement in the body. By doing so, the psyche is then altered in its habitual manner of responding to the world. In addition, we will aid each other in enhancing our organic sense of well-being and integration with massage. $120

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

For workshop description see April 18-20 above. $110

Pathways to Sensuality / Sylvia Kars & Jeanne Newman

The aim of this workshop is to open participants to a variety of ways to communicate with a partner, both verbally and through touch, so that each partner's pleasure and spontaneity is heightened. Workshop members will do a graduated series of sensuality enhancement exercises and will learn how to combine their own knowledge and experience with new sensory awareness and communication principles. The goal is to create a balance of active and passive situations for each partner so that each can benefit from the experience of the other. A safe, non-threatening environment is carefully established; no one has to do anything he or she does not want to do. Feedback sessions after each exercise provide the opportunity for increasing awareness and sensitivity between partners. Partners will rotate throughout the weekend.

Workshop begins clothed and clothing then becomes optional. Couples will be given preference, but it is not necessary to bring a partner to attend. Explicitly sexual behavior is not permitted within the context of this workshop; this is a workshop to enhance the experience of sensuality. $120

week of july 13-18

Tools of Consciousness / Walt Anderson

We will experience the whole range of "art therapies" – psychodrama, painting, poetry, dance, music – and explore the idea that the arts are powerful tools for liberation and growth, available to us all. Talent has nothing to do with it. Bring one human life; other equipment will be provided. $290

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

For workshop description see March 30-April 4 above. $290

Gestalt Improvisations / Paul Rebillot

For workshop description see April 6-11 above. $290

Take a Second Look at Yourself / Janet Zuckerman

FUTURE WORKSHOP ANNOUNCEMENTS

Workshops of more than one week require special planning for participants. Whenever possible we will announce such workshops well in advance. More detailed descriptions —and any changes—will appear in the catalog covering the period in which the workshop is scheduled.

SEPTEMBER 7—OCTOBER 3, 1975

The Inner Road to Health / Al Drucker

OCTOBER 12—NOVEMBER 21, 1975

The Human Experience: Buddhism
Coordinated by Joan Halifax-Grof, Stanislav Grof & Jack Kornfield

NOVEMBER 2-28, 1975

The Roots of Self-Reliance
A Curriculum for Personal Courage
David Schiffman & Dick Galland

This month long workshop will systematically combine the complementary practices of gestalt awareness, sensing, encounter and psychosynthesis, with the rigorous physical preparation and focus of the Outward Bound wilderness experience—the participants in this workshop will have the opportunity to explore the nature and purpose of personal boundaries whether as illusions to be transcended or as tools for self-survival. The emphasis will be on the achievement of a harmonious balance between the mental, physical and emotional realms of experience working towards greater personal expansion and openness with others.

The program will provide time as well to explore the basic elements underlying group process and individual growth. We will examine techniques, strategies and theoretical components inherent in all forms of personal interactions and the use of specific themes in facilitation, focus and flow in group sessions. During the final week of the workshop, each participant will have the opportunity to use newly synthesized skills and information by acting in the capacity of group leader.

some definitions

Of Approaches to Human Growth Used in this Catalog

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this process.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement — to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness — to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility — to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to techniques. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal-keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced actualization of one's life.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION (ROLFING)

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

SHIATSU MASSAGE

The oriental healing art in which the hands are used to apply pressure to acupuncture points over the entire body, allowing the springs of life to flow.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi Chuan is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese philosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

WHEN I SAY NO, I FEEL GUILTY

How to Cope Using the Skills of Systematic Assertive Therapy

Manuel J. Smith, PhD

$8.95

However healthy you are, whatever your style of life, you have to deal with other people in: the commercial world (where garage mechanics may take advantage of you); authority relationships (where employees—or bosses—may manipulate you); and, most important of all, close relationships of equality (where lovers may have different sexual agendas).

While you can fight or run away from problems, you may—like most people—lack those skills by which you can achieve what you want without losing temper or self-respect. It isn't necessary—no matter what your personality—to be one-down with the next person.

Actual learner dialogues throughout enable everyone to learn genuine assertiveness—whether you are shy, or apparently aggressive, whether you are looking for relief from emotional pain or simply for further personal growth.

SENSORY AWARENESS

Rediscovery of Living as Experience

Charles V. W. Brooks

$12.95

The term "sensory awareness" was first coined by Charlotte Selver as a name for the work she has been actively developing in the United States since 1938. In the forties, Frederick Perls began studying intensively with Selver and integrated what he had learned in to his Gestalt Therapy. In 1956, Alan Watts described Selver's work as "the living Zen"; and in 1963 she gave her first experiential workshop at the infant Esalen Institute.

Charles Brooks' book is a presentation of Selver's lifework, which is not a technique but a practice based on discovering what is natural in our life processes and what is conditioned. The workshops evolve around the close study of the simplest aspects of our functioning—sitting, standing, lying, breathing—and are concerned with the possibility of recognizing the barriers that have arisen between our consciousness and the world around us and within us, so that these barriers have a chance of dissolving, thus opening the way for clearer perception and more authentic experience.

EXPLORING THE CRACK IN THE COSMIC EGG

Split Minds & Meta-Realities

Joseph Chilton Pearce

$8.95

"Pearce's EXPLORING THE CRACK IN THE COSMIC EGG is a brilliant analysis of the human condition, one of the very best I have ever seen. He has elucidated the mechanisms of enculturation which alienate us from our natural wholeness, starting from our hidden fears of death and working up to the ways in which revolt and protest actually support the system . . . must reading for those who realize the necessity of confronting the full horror of the prison we have made for ourselves as the necessary first step toward escape.'" — Charles T. Tart, PhD

"One of the most important books of our time . . . takes up where Castaneda leaves off." — Lawrence LeShan

THE DYNAMIC FAMILY
Shirley Luthman with Martin Kirschenbaum
$7.95

THE DYNAMIC FAMILY is a basic, practical, and definitive text on family therapy. Mrs Luthman and Dr Kirschenbaum draw not only on former teacher Virginia Satir's teachings, but also on their own experiences and findings as co-therapists.

Always stressing the positive approach, and never falling into jargon, the authors first discuss their theories on growth, both individually and within the family context. They also deal with treatment concepts, various techniques, the basis of change, the practical training of family therapists, and, finally, the on-going development and nurturance of the family therapist himself. What makes the book even more special are the chapters which concern their unique contribution to the field—their experiences as male-female family therapists.

We CHOOSE to use our authority as directors of ESALEN INSTITUTE, BIG SUR, to create an environment that has as a FOCUS . . .

The expanded PARTICIPATION of our managerial staff,
COUPLED with a
RESPONSIBILITY for decision making,
REFLECTING,
EVALUATING,
and
CHANGING.

Our work, our style of life, and our form of managerial social structure are integrally related . . . creating a unique environment context for a business community.

From our two dimensional seminars and workshops . . . expanded to a three dimensional "living out" of a way of being in RELATIONSHIP to our physical surroundings and to each other in a non violative APPROACH appreciating skills and differences.

We move through the reordering of our high structures destructuring restructuring finding ways of giving and taking support from systems foreign to our own.

The energy of our movement creating new forms of living and working in an environment still containing the primitive elements of yesterday.

We wrestle with . . .

COMMITMENT
RESPONSIBILITY TIME
VITALITY and a

NEW FORM OF "SUCCESSFUL" business organization.

special information

THE ESALEN CATALOG is published quarterly. Subscription cost for one year is $2 for the United States, $4 for Canada and Mexico and $12 for all other countries. Those attending Esalen workshops and conferences are automatically added to the mailing list for one year. A single inspection copy of the current issue is available free upon request from the San Francisco office. Do not direct subscription inquiries to Big Sur.

CONTRIBUTIONS to Esalen Institute are tax deductible. Various medical, educational and other institutions have provided expenses for participants in some workshops and seminars in the form of donations to scholarship funds. See Friends of Esalen membership below.

ACCREDITATION and the USE OF ESALEN'S NAME: Some individuals and groups have involved Esalen's name to imply that we have given some sort of accreditation to their activities. We have told everyone to stop using our name in such a manner. Of course people use insights and techniques they bring from our programs but we confer no certificates, diplomas or other symbols of formal status such as those conferred by professional associations and schools.

RECORDINGS OF ESALEN PROGRAMS: For a catalog of recordings of Esalen programs conducted prior to 1973, contact Big Sur Recordings, 2015 Bridgeway, Sausalito, CA 94965.

For information on buying or renting video or audio tapes of more recent programs contact the Media Center, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920. When writing specify the subject matter or leaders in which you are interested. Commercial use of Esalen program tapes is prohibited; all rights are reserved.

RECORDING OF WORKSHOP IN GESTALT THERAPY BY FRITZ PERLS

One hour audio cassette in which Fritz talks about gestalt therapy and demonstrates hot seat work. To order, send $6.00 to the Media Center, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920.

BIG SUR INFORMATION

For reservations and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, Big Sur, CA 93920
Phone: (408) 667-2335, 10 to 4 every day;
10 to 8 Sunday & Friday

Esalen/Big Sur lies 300 miles north of Los Angeles and 175 miles south of San Francisco. It is directly over the shoreline of the Pacific with the Santa Lucia Range rising sharply behind. The property, which has natural hot baths, was once the home of a North American Indian tribe known as Esalen.

We are a 45-mile drive south from Monterey, 11 miles south of Nepenthe, on California Coast Route 1. From the south, we are 50 miles north of San Simeon. A lighted sign on the ocean side of the highway reads: Esalen Institute—By Reservation Only.

Deposit Information. Big Sur programs require an advance deposit of $20 for weekend groups, $70 for five-day groups, $200 for two-week groups and $400 for month-long groups. Deposits are not refundable but, with five days notice, may be transferred to other Esalen programs. Please mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/Big Sur. Do not mail Big Sur reservations to Esalen/San Francisco. Balance of payment is due on arrival. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express. U.S. currency only, please.

Scholarship Information. If you need scholarship assistance for a long term Esalen/Big Sur program write for a scholarship application form before making a reservation (allow at least 3 weeks for processing as we have many applications). If your application is approved, please make a reservation as soon as possible after receiving notice. No scholarship assistance is available for June 15-August 31 programs or for weekend programs.

General Information. Workshop fees cover tuition, food and lodging. Rooms are shared by two or three workshop participants. Camping on the grounds is prohibited.

Weekend programs begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday. Five-day and longer programs begin with dinner on Sunday and end with lunch on Friday. Rooms become available at 5 pm; however, guests are welcome to arrive anytime after lunch.

Esalen/Big Sur has no child care facilities. Please do not plan to bring children. We also ask workshop participants not to have guests. Alas, no pets.

Esalen's flourishing organic garden provides the kitchen with many of its vegetables and herbs. Our breads and pastries are made by Esalen bakers.

Limousine Service. Those travelling by air or bus can obtain limousine service to Esalen/Big Sur by notifying the Big Sur office of time of arrival. Pickups are made at the Monterey Airport and the Greyhound terminal at 5-5:30 pm each Sunday and Friday. The cost is $10 per person one way, payable on arrival at Esalen.

Seminarians as Staff (Karma Yoga). Seminarians in residence for a week or longer at Esalen are asked to contribute one or two hours a week to the kitchen staff. These hours do not interfere with scheduled groups or meals. Your help enables us to meet the pressures of peak working times and enables you to experience Esalen from the inside out. A staff member will appear at your first workshop meeting to schedule volunteer help.

Esalen Institute is a center to explore those trends in education, religion, philosophy and the physical and behavioral sciences which emphasize the potentialities and values of human existence. Our activities consist of seminars and workshops, residential programs, consulting and research.

We exist to sponsor, encourage, synthesize and attempt evaluation of work in these areas, both inside and outside our own organizational framework. Since we are a center for experimental education, we ask that persons come to our programs out of an educational interest. We ask that no one come whose interest is "cure." We point out here, as we have in workshops and seminars, that some persons, particularly those with a history of psychiatric problems, may find some programs difficult, trying or potentially risky. We recommend that in case of any doubt, a physician or trusted counselor be consulted.

SAN FRANCISCO INFORMATION

For reservations, literature, tickets and information, write or call:
Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.
Phone: (415) 771-1710; 9—5:30 Monday—Saturday,
9:30—3:30 Sunday.

Reservations: Reservations close 5 days prior to the program, in order to facilitate planning and for the convenience of participants' time plans. A non-refundable deposit must accompany registration as follows: $10 per person for programs costing under $35; $20 for programs costing under $100; $50 for those over $100, unless otherwise noted. Mail reservation form with check to Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, 94123. Balance is payable at the first session of the program. Do not send San Francisco reservations to Big Sur. Esalen accepts Master Charge and American Express.

Information literature and tickets for lectures may be obtained Monday through Saturday 9—5 pm, Sunday 9:30—3:30 pm at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco 94123. Tickets obtained by mail will indicate the exact location and time of events; when not sold out in advance, tickets may be purchased at the door.

Workshop schedules: One day workshops generally meet from 10 am to 6 pm. Saturday and Sunday weekend workshops meet from 10 am to 6 pm each day. Friday through Sunday weekend workshops meet approximately from 8 to 11 pm on Friday, from 10 am through the afternoon and/or evening on Saturday, and from 10 am to early afternoon on Sunday. Schedules are not rigid, however, and exact meeting times are discussed at the first session.

Accommodations: Most San Francisco programs are non-residential. Participants in these programs must reserve their own accommodations at local hotels or motels. Unless stated otherwise, meals are not provided at such workshops.

Location: Participants will be informed of workshop location prior to the workshop date. Esalen uses several facilities in the Bay Area for its programs including its own building at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco. Call the San Francisco office for advance information on program location.

Recommended dress: Workshops are informal. Slacks and flat shoes are recommended for women; sport clothes for men.

Bookstore: Esalen's Bookshop provides a comprehensive selection of books ranging from general psychology, life sciences and education to the Eastern philosophies, Jung and the mystics. It is open Monday through Saturday, 9—5:30 pm, Sunday, 9:30—3:30 pm.

Coming Programs in Massage Training—Fall 1975

Jane Walters (massage); Marion Rosen (anatomy); Sioux von Baeyer (movement)

This 12-week program will consist of 12 four-hour massage and movement sessions, one per week, and 8 two-hour classes in muscle and joint action and interaction.

The first hour of each class will be a movement session which will focus on posture and alignment as a way of grounding, energy release, and movement work with partners to open channels for communicating and touching. Massage demonstrations will draw principally from Esalen and Shiatsu styles, followed by carefully supervised practice sessions. Emphasis will be on developing a personal approach to massage with special attention on learning how to receive, often an overlooked aspect of massage. Anatomy classes will deal principally with the function of the muscles and their actions and interactions, with additional focus on particular regions of the body, e.g., shoulder girdle, pelvis, etc. These classes are open to the general public. For further information contact Ms Walters through the Esalen office.

Esalen College Program / San Francisco

With many regrets, we are dropping the college program as it has been described in recent Esalen catalogs and program announcements. Students may still come to Esalen Institute in San Francisco, of course, and attend the programs that are available, receiving academic credit if their schools permit it. But students who do this must take their own responsibility for the design of their program, their housing and other personal matters. Esalen does not have the resources now to provide the kind of integrated program described in previous brochures.

The following is a partial list of undergraduate and graduate schools which offer credit for work done at Esalen.

Undergraduate Schools

Antioch College/West
Goddard College
Johnston College
Prescott College
Raymond College
Sonoma State College
University Without Walls, Berkeley

Graduate Schools

Goddard External MA Degree
Lone Mountain External MA Degree
Sonoma State External MA Degree
Humanistic Psychology Institute, PhD Degree
California Institute of Asian Studies, MA and PhD Degrees
Union Graduate School (Antioch College), PhD

If your college or student group is interested in arranging an Esalen workshop (day, weekend, or longer) to take place on your campus, contact Esalen, San Francisco.

human consciousness institute

Esalen will sponsor its fifth summer Human Consciousness Institute in Berkeley, California, July 3 through July 27, 1975. In two sessions, leading researchers and practitioners will report on their exploration and mapping of consciousness processes and states, including demonstrations and experiential exercises for institute participants.

SESSION I
PHYSICAL ASPECTS OF CONSCIOUSNESS, July 3-July 13.

Brain research, right and left hemisphere thinking, biofeedback and its implications, physical measurements of consciousness states, quantum theory and consciousness, and psychosomatic and healing processes.

Leaders for the session will include Barbara Brown, PhD, leading researcher in biofeedback, author of New Mind, New Body; and Kenneth Pelletier, PhD, clinical psychologist, currently studying the neurophysiology of consciousness states in adept individuals.

SESSION II
FRONTIERS OF THE PSYCHIC, July 17-July 27.

The ranges of human potential in parapsychology and beyond, including ESP, out of the body experiences, healing, psychic individuals, training psychic abilities, and the role of these potentials in human consciousness and society.

Session leaders will include Charles Tart, PhD, leading parapsychologist, researcher and theoretician on consciousness, and editor of Altered States of Consciousness; Anne Armstrong, personal counselor who uses psychic abilities; Arthur Hastings, PhD, communication specialist and parapsychologist, who has developed methods for facilitating personal ESP abilities; and Robert Monroe, author of Journeys Out of the Body.

Participants can enroll for one or both sessions. Tuition is $215 for each session ($400 for both), with enrollment limited to 50 persons. Institute sessions are held in facilities of the University of California in Berkeley. Living accommodations (shared occupancy) are in university residence halls for $50 per session, breakfast included.

Further details of the program are available in a brochure. For a copy of the brochure, write to Human Consciousness Institute, Esalen Institute, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

July 12
Introduction to Structural Patterning
Cast of Seven Patterners

One-day workshop $25

Structural patterning is a system of learning to move efficiently and to interact harmoniously with gravity. Ideal alignment occurs when the centers of gravity of each body part are balanced one above the other. A student is taught balanced ways of moving in an overall pattern followed by applications to his individual needs and interests.

The morning will begin with an explanation and development of structural patterning concepts, after which participants will break into small groups for individual patterning and movement experiments. Limited to 50 persons.

July 12-13
Bio-Energetics / Vivian Guze

Weekend workshop $50

Working with participants as a group and individually, Ms Guze, a training analyst from the Institute for Bioenergetic Analysis in New York, will give a weekend's introduction to the basic concepts of bioenergetic thinking and therapy.

For leader's biography, see p 13

July 13
Knowing & Moving the Body
Frank Ottiwell & Judith Stransky

One-day workshop $25

This workshop will draw on the work of F M Alexander and Moshe Feldenkrais in mobilizing and re-educating the body/self. Techniques to improve postural alignment and release blocked energy will be taught individually and applied to such everyday activities as sitting, standing, walking, and bending. Group exercises, performed within each individual's range of ease and enjoyment, will be used to increase kinesthetic awareness and to show the use of awareness and movement as self-teacher.

July 19
Self-Awareness Through Art / Douglas Gilbert

One-day workshop $25

Who we are, the struggles in which we are involved, conscious or not, are unavoidably expressed in the ways we go about our lives; and most particularly, the images we create. It is possible to learn to sense the personal meaning in our creations, to make more conscious the specific, vital issues which involve us. Approaching the self through art can not only lead to further self-awareness; it can open up and develop a new means of self-expression. Since everyone can draw, no art experience necessary.

July 19
Ride the Magic Carpet / Marion Saltman

One-day workshop $25

A creative play workshop for parents, teachers, and other adults.

"The idea of playfulness is therefore profound both as a philosophical and religious concept." —Lama Govinda

We will make use of improvisation, spontaneous play, and creative symbols of order.

July 19-20
Workshop in Bioenergetic Analysis Kaj Lohmann

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is for persons who have never experienced bioenergetics as well as those who have already done some explorations into this approach. Relationship of psyche and soma will be explored individually as well as in group.

For leader's biography, see p 13

July 26
The Feldenkrais Method / Ruth Alon

One-day workshop $25

The Feldenkrais method is a system of body movement which focuses on the re-directing of the brain's habitual responses to movement in the gravitational field in ways which make possible more natural and efficient paths for the mobilization and expression of body energy. This program is an introduction to the method.

July 26-27
Demythologizing at Mid-Life / Bob Cromey

Weekend workshop $50

This seminar is for persons, now at mid-life and beyond, who are grappling with issues of death and dying, sexuality, loneliness, vocational change, divorce, and aging. The purpose is to destroy many of the myths which frighten people at mid-life, including "declining" good looks, changes in sexual activities, difficulties in relating to younger people, death as horror, work as deadly, and relationships as sour. New ways will be presented to make friends, deepen intimacy, and to find joys in the maturing process.

July 27
Open Psychodrama Encounter / Walt & Maurica Anderson

One-day workshop $25

A flexible day's work and play using a variety of encounter, gestalt, and body-movement approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama—the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity and creativity, and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice.

July 29
My Body Is My Temple / Gabrielle Roth

Single evening event

This will be an evening created for you to explore your unique relationship to life in action. Live music will provide the inspiration for the choreography of the human soul to unfold in sound and movement. Movement is the principle expression of life—the process continues through pendulum swings of control and freedom until it becomes poised in the conscious discovery of the self as an endless flow of spontaneous creative action. Let us dance this discovery together.

$5 general admission; 8-10:30 pm. Location to be announced.

August 2-3
Gestalt & Hypnosis / Irving Katz & Marvin Lifschitz

Weekend workshop $50

Through hypnotically induced drawings, dreams, and automatic writing, participants will have the opportunity to bring unresolved material from the inner theatre of the unconscious to the surface. Gestalt methods will be used to integrate what emerges into the conscious life and complete unfinished business.

STRUCTURAL PATTERNING

These evening seminars will use the concepts of structural patterning in exploring the following dimensions:

August 7: Women and Women's Bodies: How our bodies define our roles.

August 14: "Fat" People: How our patterns keep us fat and keep us feeling fat.

August 21: Creative Imagery: How to find personal imagery through body images and balance.

August 28: Musicians and Singers: How to get more and better sound through balance.

Seminars meet 8-10 pm at 1793 Union Street, San Francisco with members of the Structural Patterning Institute as program leaders. Cost is $7 per evening.

August 2-3
Sensory Awareness: Meditation in Everyday Life Connie & Leon Siegel

Weekend workshop $50

Sensory awareness is a discipline of attention to what's real, moment by moment—breath, movement, light, sound—to the reality of experience beneath these names, beneath all words. It is a way of release from fixed concepts; a way of discovery, through the constrictions and flaccidities in our tissue, of what we have buried there of pain or fear or grief, allowing the delicate natural changes that can finally transform us. In this workshop, through meditative attention to our process in everyday activities, we will try to move a little deeper in awareness, coming a little more to our nature as whole, changing and energetic beings.

August 6
Movement/Dance for Women / Tamara Greenberg

See Women's Programs, page 14.

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

August 8

An Evening of Afro-Caribbean Music & Dance
Adele Chu Drummond

Single evening event

The evening will start by slowly discovering our heart beats and bodies and how they want to move to certain rhythms, building our dance with very simple movements and accents. There will be direction but also much room for improvising. Experience the Carribean way to rock out and stay loose. Children are welcome.

$3.50 per person; 8–10:30 pm. First Unitarian Church, Franklin & Geary Streets, San Francisco.

August 9–10

Awakening Intuition / Frances Clark

Weekend workshop $50

Intuition is known to everyone by experience, yet frequently remains a repressed or undeveloped function. Learning to distinguish various levels of intuitive awareness corresponding to the physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual levels of consciousness, can facilitate the development of intuition as a reliable mode of knowing. We will work with dreams, meditation, and guided imagery for facilitating intuitive perception with particular emphasis on intuition for creativity, problem solving, and psychic development.

August 9

Art from Within / Vijali Clark

See Women's Programs, page 14.

August 9–10

On Individuation / Pennell Rock

Weekend workshop $50

Mr Rock writes: "Since I was very young I have been guided by the inspiration of disciplined personal growth. I have been fascinated with the idea of individuation, of the union of psychological opposites, of the ultimate source and unity of all dualities. I was educated at Yale and Harvard, at Cambridge, Paris, Zurich, and Banaras, where I steeped myself in the thoughts of Nietzsche, Jung, Wittgenstein, Heidegger, and the Upanishads. Since migrating to California I have been exposed to many new forms of techniques and disciplines for development of the self—primarily the disciplines practiced at Esalen and the scientific mysticism of Oscar Ichazo and Arica. The weekend will include a consideration of various approaches to individuation guided by the common interest of the group."

August 16–17

Massage / Bill Glover

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop will explore the human significance of touch and teach basic skills of massage in the enjoyable environment of a house in the Berkeley Hills with a hot tub. Emphasis will be placed on developing sensitivity and individual style in the hope that participants will come away with a personal sense of how to include more touching in their lives.

August 20

Close Yet Free in Marriage & Other Significant Relationships: Communication Experience for Couples
Gerald Smith

Being free to grow yet close to be intimate is the main dilemma of every important relationship. This talk will include specific "experiences" for creatively coping with this dilemma of keeping a relationship alive. The two evenings will supplement and reinforce each other, but each is organized to be meaningful and complete by itself.

$5 admission; 8–10:30 pm.

August 21

Open Psychodrama Encounter / Walt Anderson

One-day workshop $25

A flexible day's work and play using a variety of encounter, gestalt, and body-movement approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama—the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing one's own openness, spontaneity and creativity, and having fun. The degree of active involvement is a matter of individual choice.

August 22–24

Self Explorations Through Hypnosis / Lee Pulos

Weekend workshop $50

The emphasis in this workshop will be to teach the participants techniques and exercises which can be taken home and used daily after the weekend is over. Hypnosis and self-hypnosis will be taught so that the group members can focus in on themselves through hypnotically induced dreams, automatic writing and ideo-motor questioning. Each participant will have the opportunity to use hypnosis for their own personal programming, habit changes and exploring the self through hypnotically guided fantasies. A feature of the weekend will be to use hypnosis to extend consciousness into paranormal and psychic dimensions.

August 23

The Feldenkrais Method
Ruth Alon

One-day workshop $25

See program description, page 5.

August 28

My Body Is My Temple / Gabrielle Roth

Single evening event $5 (See program description, page 5)

August 30–31

Beginning Again / Gerald Smith

Weekend workshop $50

This workshop is designed for people coming out of divorce or an important nonmarital relationship. Focus won't be on the pain of the past but on making the most of right now and the life ahead. There will be both large and small group experiences with some serious as well as pleasurable work.

August 30–September 1

Tuning Your Instrument: A Movement & Massage Experience / Gabrielle Roth

Three day workshop $70

This Labor Day weekend includes movement and massage experiences designed to ground consciousness in the body. The purpose is to develop the will to be present for ourselves and others in a spontaneous flow of action. As a result we can expect to discover a state of being which requires no effort. Live music will be the inspiration.

September 6

Self-Awareness Through Art / Douglas Gilbert

One-day workshop $25 (See workshop description, p 4)

September 6–7

A Workshop for Body Therapists Richard & Catherine Heckler

Weekend workshop $50

A workshop designed for persons currently working in the body therapies of massage, polarity, Lomi Body work, rolfing, shiatsu, acupuncture, reflexology.

September 10

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good / Harry Sloan

Single evening event

Frequently participants come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish, and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. This evening will tap into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to laugh at themselves and the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen.

$5 admission; 8–10:30 pm.

Location to be announced; check with Esalen office.

September 13

Developing Chutzpah: Assertiveness Training Zoe Snyder, Lorle Kranzler Kennedy & Roz Parenti

One-day workshop $30

Assertiveness is the ability to get what you want and make room for yourself in the world. Chutzpah, to us, means taking a risk with flair. We often limit ourselves by holding back from risks and remaining unaware of our potential. This workshop will focus on exploring and developing our strengths and finding the style of expression uniquely suited to each of us. Gestalt, psychodrama, and movement will be used to facilitate more direct communication with others, leading to better contact.

September 13–14

Intimacy & Integrity: A Couples Workshop Marsha Angus & George Lane

Weekend workshop $100 per couple

There is a popular myth that intimacy requires compromise, sometimes even of one's own integrity. Our task in this workshop is to confront and dispel this myth, through identification and practical application of the basic elements of intimate communication and the exercise of personal authority.

Friday, September 19

The Trance Dance / Anna Halprin & The Dancers Workshop

Single Evening Event

The "Trance Dance" will focus on developing techniques that enable us to experience the journey from the self to the many and back to the self again. We will try to flow with the collective energies and discover where "it" will take us . . . not knowing before it happens. This Trance Dance allows each of us to experience a deep centering and integration of the inner world of experience with the outer world of our universal environment.

$3.50 general admission; 8–10:30 pm.

Location to be announced; check with Esalen office.

September 20–21

Exploring Astrological Archetypes Jim Shere & Yanni Toussulis

Weekend workshop $50

Using specially prepared horoscopes, we will explore some of the archetypal patterns we have chosen and work to re-own them. The process used will be a uniquely structured guided fantasy employing gestalt, movement, and group interaction. One month's advance registration is required since we will be using your horoscopes in designing the activities. Please submit the following birth data: place of birth; time of day; day, month, and year.

September 20–21

Awakening Creativity Through Yoga / Fritz Faiss

Weekend workshop $50

A workshop designed to awaken creative abilities. All people have creative trends which can be put into expressive action. Meditation and specific yoga techniques with emphasis on actual work, particularly painting, will lead each participant to those images and forms that live within him and influence his daily life.

Wednesday, September 24

Introduction to Interpersonal Methods / Janica Fox

Single evening event

Working in small and large group sessions, participants will be introduced to many methods for personal growth being explored at Esalen.

$3 general admission; 8–10:30 pm, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco.

September 27–28

Sensory Awareness & Drawing / Connie & Leon Siegel

Weekend workshop $50

Sensory awareness is meditation on the process of everyday life. Through simple experiments involving activities such as sitting, moving, breathing, touching another, we may begin to explore our nature in its fullness, coming more to quiet and clarity of body/mind. Periods of sensing will be alternated with periods of drawing in which we work out of the awareness of our inner rhythms, of movement, and of our environment perceived through touching and seeing. Emphasis will be on the discovery of each person's unique way of experiencing and how this is expressed in line, shape, and color. No previous experience in drawing is needed.

summer programs at westerbeke ranch

This series of programs sponsored by Esalen San Francisco will be held at the Westerbeke Ranch in Sonoma County, which is about an hour's drive north of San Francisco. These residential workshops will be held in an intimate setting which includes rustic cabins, home cooked meals, a sauna and Japanese tub, a large swimming pool, and beautiful scenery. Weekend workshops begin on Friday evening and five day workshops on Sunday evening. A non-refundable deposit of $50 is required for weekend workshops and a $70 deposit is required for five day workshops. Full payment should be made to the Esalen San Francisco office five days prior to the workshop. All workshops are limited to 25 participants.

July 20-25

Gestalt & Meditation / Richard Price & Michael Murphy

Five-day workshop $270

Perfect like Great Space
the Way has nothing lacking, nothing in excess.
Truly because of our accepting and rejecting
We have not the suchness of things.
—Sengtsan (3rd Patriarch)

What is, is.
—Fritz Perls

Gestalt practice is a form—nonanalytic, noncoercive, nonjudgmental—evolving out of the work of Fritz Perls, relating that work to ways of personal clearing and development both ancient and modern. To the extent that awareness is made primary relative to action, gestalt practice has a strong relationship to some forms of meditation and visualization. In that emotional and energetic release and rebalancing are allowed and encouraged, the relation to some Reichian work is close. In this workshop there will be both active and passive forms of meditation—awareness practice while sitting, walking, and running.

Participants are explicitly not "patients" but persons consenting actively to work (or play) in awareness. The "leader" functions to reflect, clarify, and flow with whatever emerges in this process. The aim is unfoldment, wholeness, growth rather than "adjustment," "cure," or "accomplishment."

Suggested reading: Gestalt Therapy Verbatim (Perls); Tao Te Ching (Lao Tzu); Cutting Through Spiritual Materialism (Chogyam Trungpa); The Power of Mindfulness (Nyanponika Thera); Exploring the Crack in the Cosmic Egg (J C Pearce).

July 25-27

The Erotic Mind / Sam Keen

Weekend workshop $115

This playshop will stimulate the erogenous zones of the mind and explore the art of playing with those ideas that best express your unique experience of life. It is based upon the premise that you don't have to lose your mind to come to your senses or dissect butterflies to hold the fleeting moment within the embrace of understanding. Thought may dance and play and transform prosaic language into poetry. Bring a favorite theory to play with, a problem to solve, a hypothesis to test, an inarticulate experience for which you want to find words.

July 27-August 1

A Week with Will Schutz / Will Schutz

Five-day workshop $270

Within the format of an encounter group we shall explore many body methods, intrapsychic techniques, demonstrations, and theoretical discussions relevant to whatever happens in the group.

August 1-3

T'ai Chi: The Watercourse Way
Al Chung-liang Huang

Weekend workshop $115

An introduction to T'ai Chi and creative Taoist philosophy as explained and exemplified in the book, Tao: The Watercourse Way by the late Alan Watts and Al Chung-liang Huang, and in Huang's book, Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain. The meeting of East and West will be explored in terms of everyday living, of transforming intellectual understanding of the East into action, and of making useful applications to the way of life in the West.

"To work with Al Huang is to learn to move with wind and water, not only in the t'ai chi exercises, but also in the course of everyday life. In going with the watercourse way, he is as fresh as a mountain stream and as deep and powerful as the Yangtze River . . . . he woos and beguiles his students instead of forcing them. This is the mark of a truly superior and gifted teacher who works upon others as the sun and rain upon plants."

—Alan W Watts

August 3-8

Realms of the Human Unconscious: Psychedelic and Anthropological Perspectives
Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

Five-day workshop $270

This workshop will focus on the expanded image of the human mind that is emerging from LSD research and anthropological studies. The participants will become acquainted with such issues as: new maps of the human unconscious; transpersonal aspects of birth, sex, and death; LSD psychotherapy with neurotics, alcoholics, heroin addicts, psychotic patients, and individuals dying of cancer; the nature of the schizophrenic process; mystical, religious, and metaphysical experiences in psychedelic sessions; and indigenous healing systems and rites of passage in non-Western cultures.

We will utilize didactic sessions, discussions, experiential exercises, selected films, mandala work, and non-drug technology for inducing unusual states of consciousness. An isolation tank will be available for supervised use by the participants for an additional $10 fee.

August 8–10

Movement & Metaphysics
Anne Armstrong & Gabrielle Roth

Weekend workshop $115

We are all psychic. The purpose of this group is to demonstrate your psychic potential to you. Working as a group, we will ground our consciousness with movement and open our beings with chanting and sound. We will explore the realms of ESP, clairvoyance, and precognition vicariously through the activities of psychic Anne Armstrong and directly through exercises and adventures in the group. Readings will come spontaneously as we tune into ourselves and each other.

August 10–15

Your Most Precious Beliefs & Their Detection
John & Toni Lilly

Five-day workshop $270

Each of us has belief systems, some spoken, some unspoken, some known and some unknown. The personal hunt for these beliefs, the struggle to find them, to articulate them, can be a rewarding experience. Once found, once articulated, once written down, once mastered, these beliefs no longer cause one to be an unwilling nonvoluntary programmee of their dictates. One becomes a programmer of one's beliefs, through the new and novel meta-belief operator to be presented, and its use taught, in this workshop. An isolation tank will be available for supervised use by the participants for an additional $10 fee.

August 15–17

Approaches to the Feminine: A Workshop for Men and Women
José & Miriam Argüelles

Weekend workshop $115

A psychological, mythological and historical overview of the feminine will be supplemented by meditation, discussion and creative exercises emphasizing personal rediscovery of the feminine. Subjects to be explored include: the primacy of the feminine; feminine wisdom; feminine and inspiration; feminine and healing; feminine and creativity; and feminine and the unborn masculine.

August 17–22

The Energy Body in Action / Lillie & George Leonard

Five-day workshop $270

Many ancient and modern disciplines of personal health, growth and change depend upon concepts of energy flows in and around the bodies of living things. Using techniques derived from the Oriental martial art of aikido, Lillie and George Leonard will present their approach to the human biofield or "energy body." Through simple mental and physical exercises, participants will experience their energy bodies in interaction with nature and other people, and will practice centering and heightened awareness. They will be introduced to alternative ways of dealing with everyday life situations—especially those involving tension and expectation. There will also be discussion of these experiences as they relate to education, sports, and social transformation.

August 22–24

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

Weekend workshop $115

The focus of this workshop is on the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy, and encounter techniques, the participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities, and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning.

August 24–29

Transforming Catastrophe to Crisis / Gordon Tappan

Five-day workshop $270

Imminent catastrophes are being predicted by many who are investigating the troubles evident in our world today. With courage it is possible to confront the worst that could happen and penetrate to the core of each of the difficulties which besets humanity. Then the potential collapse of institutions represents a crisis in which the individual regains the power of choice in many crucial dimensions of living.

All the many skills of self knowledge are needed to reorient the individual to a world in transition. In this workshop, special attention will be given to creative play, activating imaginative processes, dreams, movement, and dialogue with self and others, to see how each person can come to terms with the disturbing features of the present world. In this effort to make deep connection with inner and outer, some prior experience at resolving inner-conflict is asked of participants. A list of background material will be sent to applicants prior to the workshop.

August 29–September 1

Three Day Weekend with Werner Erhard & Sam Keen With Guest Participant Michael Murphy

Three day weekend $200

Visions of the way. Exploring different paths toward: transformation, enlightenment, fulfillment, realization, the place of authority, experience, belief, discipline, trust, and knowledge.

sports center programs

The Esalen Sports Center is devoted to furthering new concepts, practices and teaching methods in lifetime sports and emphasizes activities in which participation is not limited by age, sex or athletic ability. The focus is on the joy of participation and the thrill of excelling. Workshops are designed to make sport richer and more rewarding—a vehicle for eliciting the potential that lies within us all.

JULY 7-18

esalen sports center summer institute

Program Coordinators: Bob Kriegel and Kurt Wehbring
Seminar Leaders: Bob Nadeau, Al Huang, Betty Fuller, Dyveke Spino, Mike Spino, Michael Murphy

Twelve-day residential workshop $385

In this twelve-day course we will use various forms of play, active games, sports, mind/body disciplines, and the wilderness as a means for realizing more of our potential. Inherent in the sporting experience are many factors that are deliberately cultivated in humanistic group therapies, e.g., being in the here and now, mind/body harmomy, individual responsibility, risk taking, stress, and spontaneity.

The workshop will be divided into two parts of six days each. The first will take place on the campus of the Dominican College in San Rafel, twelve miles north of San Francisco. In this segment we will play and invent new games with humanistic themes, and participate in new approaches to traditional sports such as: tennis, jogging, swimming, volleyball, basketball, and softball. We will also be introduced to, and practice, such mind/body disciplines as t'ai chi, aikido, Feldenkrais exercises, sensory awareness, hatha yoga, meditation, energy awareness, and centering. At the end of each day there will be a group meeting using gestalt, encounter, role playing, and psychosynthesis techniques to help clarify some of the awareness gained during the day.

The second week will be spent in a secluded base camp in the Sierras. There we will try to use the insights and awarenesses gained during the first week, in activities such as backpacking, rock climbing, and nature walks, while living and working together as a community.

For more complete information write or phone the Esalen Sports Center, 1793 Union Street, San Francisco, CA 94123. Telephone: (415) 771-1710.

Inservice credit will be available through Dominican College.

June 15-19

Rafting on the Rogue River
James Katz & David Van Nuys

Five-day residential workshop $245

This five-day rafting workshop on the Rogue River in Oregon is open to the novice or the experienced. Yoga, psychosynthesis, sensory awareness, and dream sharing will be included. Excellent meals are provided from noon the first day through noon on the fifth day. Further information on request.

June 21-22

New Techniques of Jogging & Conditioning / Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $50

Orthodox jogging is an efficient means of overall body conditioning, but it holds few keys to heightened physical awareness or short cuts to peak body functioning. This workshop will focus on the work of Percy Wells Cerruty and Mihaly Igoli, who between them are responsible for more than forty world track and field records. We will blend their techniques of aerobic training, resistance conditioning, and diet with advanced research being done in the field of sport here at Esalen. These techniques which have been utilized by championship athletes are pertinent to people at all levels of fitness. Each participant will receive an individual training consultation, as well as insights into preventive and practical sports medicine.

June 28-29

Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend workshop

This workshop incorporates principles of physical fitness training, body awareness and movement techniques, and imagery along with traditional tennis methods. It is an integration of Mrs Spino's five-point formula in her holistic approach to the sport, consisting of: a) strength training, b) flexibility, c) endurance, d) sensing, e) inner-space. The overall effect is a more pleasureful, effective, and personally significant tennis game. Bring your racquet and a can of tennis balls. Limited to 20 people.

July 12-13

New Techniques of Jogging & Conditioning / Mike Spino

Weekend workshop $50

See description above.

July 12-13

Golf in Balance / L V Brown & Gene Coghill

Weekend workshop $60

Human experience is recorded in three distinct centers or brains: the physical, the emotional, and the intellectual. The game of golf affords a mirror for the interaction of these three intelligences. Particular attention will be paid to balance, energy flow, illusions about the swing, and weight in relation to force.

This workshop will be held at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael, which has one of the finest driving ranges in California. There will be a round of golf at the conclusion of the weekend. Open to beginners or advanced players.

July 19-20
Tennis Flow / Dyveke Spino

Weekend workshop $50
See description above.

July 22 and July 24
Running on the Marina Green / Mike Spino

Tuesday and Thursday evening from 5:30–8:30 $20
This two-part workshop will present the running gaits and tempos and the physical conditioning methods that Mike Spino has developed from the work of Australian Percy Wells Cerutty, and Hungarian Mihaley Igoli, who between them are responsible for over 40 world records in track and field. The focus will be on striding, muscle/skeletal development, breathing, visualization, and meditation.
Sessions will be held at the Marina Green, and adjacent trails along the San Francisco Bay. Follow up individual running programs will be given to the participants. Information on sport medicine, nutrition, creativity, and conditioning principles will be stressed. A no-host dinner will follow each class. Participants must sign up for both sessions.

August 2-9
Beyond Outward Bound: The Inner and Outer Journey
Dick Galland & Bob Kriegel

Seven day workshop $300
This program is an outgrowth of the intensive wilderness expeditions pioneered at the Texas Outward Bound School. It is designed for those who wish to combine the simplicity of living and traveling as a small group in the wilderness with an emphasis upon expanding limits and extending the sense of ourselves as unique individuals. Using the physical challenges found in the mountains we will spend seven days exploring the Sierra wilderness on foot, rockclimbing and rappelling, learning basic outdoor skills, and each spending a day and a night completely alone on solo. All food and equipment is provided. A medical examination is required.

ENERGETIC STUDIES

A CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF THE LIFE OF THE BODY

The Center for Energetic Studies, under the direction of Stanley Keleman, is a program of teaching, workshops, and publishing concerning the development of biological process as the basis for life—how individuals form both themselves and their worlds.

Programs are led by Keleman and other leaders whose perspective is that the way we inhabit our bodies and embody our emotions determines the human condition. In current workshops and seminars, attention is being given to biological process and its relation to symbol formation, imaginative life, and religious vision.

PROGRAMS WITH STANLEY KELEMAN

July 7–18

Annual "Life of the Body" Summer Institute: Character and Myth
Stanley Keleman, Vivian Guze, & Gordon Tappan

Two-week workshop: $400 tuition, $140 room and board (optional)

Grounding is the process by which our myths and bodily form emerge. This will be a two-week program on the image of the body and its relationship to myth—how we create our character and live out our mythological themes, known and unknown. We will work with our bodies and our myths to develop the connection between character and myth.

The group will deal with the form and shape of the body as expressed in the formal approaches of bioenergetics, and with the mythological themes that have traditionally been used to describe the movement of the psyche. The sessions will be both didactic and experiential.

Vivian Guze of the Bioenergetic Institute of New York will present the characterological work. Gordon Tappan, professor of psychology at Sonoma State College and an innovator in the use of mythic themes in psychology, will work with participants to discover the myths that they are living. Stanley Keleman's work with the formative process will be directed toward developing the connection between these different aspects of the life of the body.

The workshop will meet six hours each day, Monday through Friday, for two weeks in Berkeley, California. To apply, send a letter to the Center describing yourself briefly. A non-refundable deposit of $150 will be payable on acceptance to the program.

August 19–21

Transition and Crisis
Elisabeth Kubler-Ross & Stanley Keleman

Three-day workshop $115

A workshop on the emotional and psychological response to living and dying—the life changes that are our transitions and crises. Life transitions, the process of change, seem always to be accompanied by feelings of dying; crisis brings with it the fear of death. We will work with the body, its history and future, as both survivors and diers.

Program begins Tuesday, 10 am and ends Thursday, 5 pm. $50 deposit. Recommended readings: Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, "Death, The Final Stage of Growth," and Stanley Keleman, "Living Your Dying."

October 1975 to May 1976

Extended Program of Supervised Studies
Stanley Keleman & Richard Wiseman

An eight-month tutorial program (not training) to study learning as a bodily process. The program will concentrate on how emotional and symbolic expression form our biological and psychological lives.

The program will begin with the premise that myths are the history of primordial process shaping itself, and that our lives are this same process in personal terms. The bodily approach, which speaks the language found in mythology and literature, will be used to develop the pragmatic and conceptual tools to participate knowingly in this process. Working directly with the body, the group will look at experience as learning without pre-conditions, and follow how it shapes our living.

A group of not more than ten participants will meet from October 1975 through May 1976 with Stanley Keleman, Richard Wiseman, professor of world and comparative literature, and discussant Joe Lyons, professor of psychology. Bodily work, emotional work, seminars, and readings will be combined to shape an environment in which one's bodily experience is the basis for learning and thinking.

Tuition is $1250 (accommodations not included in tuition). The program will consist of two one-day and two evening meetings per month for eight months (with holiday breaks), plus participation in an open seminar with Joseph Campbell, Sam Keen, and Stanley Keleman. There will be approximately 140 contact hours in the program.

Early application is recommended. The program is designed for people in the arts, the sciences, and the humanities. There are no educational or degree prerequisites or prejudices. Apply by letter to the Center, including educational or experiential background and a brief statement about yourself.

Energetic Studies—General Programs

July 12-13
Workshop in Bio-Energetic Analysis / Vivian Guze

See page 4 for description.

July 19-20
Workshop in Bio-Energetic Analysis / Kaj Lohmann

See page 5 for description.

July 26
Grounding / George Downing

One-day workshop $25

How we relate to the ground beneath determines what kind of world we let emerge around us; its rhythm and space, its possibilities for contact with others, its wonder. We will use an energetic and gestalt approach to explore in what ways we may be keeping ourselves from a more complete personal grounding.

Saturday, 10 am–5 pm.

August 3
The Social Body / Ian Grand

One-day workshop $25

As we involve ourselves in the social world, each of us forms individual ways of making, maintaining, and refusing contact and involvement with others. This workshop will focus on the characteristic stances, movements, gestures, and feelings we allow and express in the presence of other persons.

Sunday, 10 am–6 pm.

August 10
Movement/Dance / Tamara Greenberg

One-day workshop $25

This is a workshop in which movement will be used to intensify our experience of ourselves. Through expressive movement, we will attempt to follow our process of self-formation—how we are present in the world, how we approach and withdraw from contact.

Sunday, 10 am–5 pm.

September 20-21
Therapy, Energy, & Morality / Peter Marin

Weekend workshop $50

Eros and energy lead us not only toward sexual or interpersonal relations, but into the shared human realms of history, politics, and morality itself. But the moral element has been missing from many recent therapeutic concerns, and it is precisely this element called into question by the decade we are about to enter.

Much of the pain we presently feel is moral pain: either our apprehension or avoidance of the need to restore a moral world in which eros and energy can express themselves fully. This seminar is designed for therapists and teachers (but also lay persons) who are interested in how the ground of being defined by energetic and erotic experience can be used to reassess our relation to history and morality.

Saturday and Sunday, 10 am to 5 pm.

September 23–October 21
Personal Rhythms / Ian Grand

Five Tuesday evenings $85

The focus of this program will be each person's unique process of living the shifting rhythms, the ebbs and flows of the life of the body. We will explore the rhythms of our feeling and thought, our movement towards others and our solitude, our hungers and satisfactions.

Five Tuesdays, 6–10 pm.

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

GEORGE DOWNING combines gestalt with intensive methods of working with the body. He is a member of the teaching staff of the Family Therapy Institute of Marin and is the author of The Massage Book and Massage and Meditation.

IAN GRAND studied at the Center for Energetic Studies with Stanley Keleman and has an individual and group practice in Berkeley. He has served as coordinator of the Experimental College and director of the Center for Educational Alternatives at California State University, San Francisco.

TAMARA GREENBERG utilizes dance/movement therapy as a body oriented approach to further emotional and physical integration in the individual. She conducts ongoing movement groups in Berkeley and Sacramento and is a staff member of the Shawl-Anderson Modern Dance Center. She was dance specialist for the City of Oakland Recreation Department and dance therapist at Hall-Brooke Hospital (a therapeutic community) in Westport, Connecticut.

VIVIAN GUZE is chairperson of Trainers at the Bioenergetic Institute of New York, was for many years Director of the Psychology Department at Essex County Overbrook Hospital, and has taught both psychology and anthropology at the university level.

ELISABETH KUBLER-ROSS is a psychiatrist, and the author of "On Death and Dying," "Questions and Answers on Death and Dying," and "Death, The Final Stage of Growth."

STANLEY KELEMAN heads the Center for Energetic Studies, runs professional training groups for psychotherapists, and maintains a private and group practice. He is interested in the energetic expressions of the body, their relationship to the feeling life, and the proper functioning of the organism. He is author of Sexuality, Self and Survival, The Human Ground, Todtmoos, and the forthcoming The Body Is Alive and More and Living Your Dying.

KAJ LOHMANN is a bioenergetic analyst from Southern California, where he has a private and group practice. He has studied with Alexander Lowen and Stanley Keleman, and in addition has a strong background in Jungian thought and analysis.

PETER MARIN is the former director of Pacific High School, a radically experimental high school, and has been a visiting fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. He has worked as a counselor and has taught literature at various colleges. He is author of The Free People and (with Alan Cohen) Understanding Drug Use.

GORDON TAPPAN is professor of psychology and former department head at California State College, Sonoma, ahd one of the early innovators in humanistic psychology. His focus has been on tools for self-knowledge with which the individual can find his or her own way.

RICHARD WISEMAN is Professor of Foreign Languages and of World and Comparative Literature at San Francisco State University, where he has taught courses on myths of transformation, phenomenology, Hesse, Mann, Rilke, Goethe, Yeats, and Kafka.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS

This summer, for the first time, Esalen/San Francisco is offering programs especially for children. These programs attempt to bring to a child's experience the kinds of explorations Esalen and others have been doing over the years in the education of feelings and emotions and in experiments in self-image, knowledge, and understanding. These programs are an alternative to usual city and suburban summer programs in arts, crafts, etc. and hopefully will provide children with fun, enjoyment, and a new way of looking at themselves and their relationships to friends and family.

Play Experiences / Judy Auda & Gail O'Malley

A series of three one-day workshops desinged for children ages 7-12. The focus is on working together in order to create a greater awareness and appreciation of ourselves and our environment. Each session is from 10 am to 3 pm and the cost is $10. Please provide a sack lunch. Maps and details available through Esalen.

Wednesday, July 23: Shelter and Tactiles

We will meet at Baker's Beach in the Presidio to build forts and hiding places among the trees. From there we will hike to the Exploratorium where we will feel our way into, around, and out of the Tactile Dome.

Wednesday, August 6: Bodycrafts

This will be a day devoted to the awareness of body images through the use of sculptural techniques and materials. We will create life masks, body casts, and puppets, converting our fantasies into tangible art works.

Wednesday, August 20: Outdoors

We will hike across Golden Gate Bridge to Kirby's Cove—a beautifully sheltered cove on the Marin side of the Bay. On this outing we will enjoy eating, weaving, and exploring together.

Movement/Dance / Tamara Greenberg

An experience using movement for self-discovery, moving with others and for oneself, creating together and alone. Two mornings of dance, music, and fun.

Each session is $7; 10 am to 1 pm each morning.

Wednesday, July 23: Ages 13-16
Wednesday, July 30: Ages 9-12

Dance and Art Happening
Tamara Greenberg & Joy May

A dance and art experience using movement, music, paints, colors, materials, clay, language, dreams. Movement and art are used to express inner feelings and to open up imagination and just to have fun. Each session is $12; 10 am to 3 pm each day.

Wednesday, August 20: Ages 13-16
Wednesday, August 27: Ages 7-12

WOMEN'S PROGRAMS

Women's programs this summer focus on creative expression —in movement, art, and theatre—as a way to look more fully at the nature of female perception and to develop personal creativity through experiments in imagery and nonverbal awareness. Of course, no background is necessary in any of the fields represented; the purpose is deepening awareness of imagery and feeling which are already present in everyone.

August 6

Movement/Dance / Tamara Greenberg

One-day workshop $25

An experience in which women can discover their own dance. Movement from within is expressed outwardly as the public self. We will explore expanding the boundaries of spontaneous expression using dance, energetic work, and Proskauer breathing techniques.

August 7

Women and Women's Bodies
Structural Patterning Institute

Evening workshop $7

How our bodies define our roles. 8-10 pm, 1793 Union Street.
See also page

August 9

Art from Within / Vijali Clark

One-day workshop $25

A workshop to contact spiritual creative energy within and release it in an art form. Time is given for meditation and introspection to become aware of feelings and visualizations. These are brought out directly through contact with art materials. Dreams may be explored to provide a stimulus for meaningful symbols and direction. An art background is unnecessary. It is important to free ourselves from fear and anxiety connected with art as a finished product. Emphasis is given to the experience itself.

September 27

Woman as Heroine / Nancy Douglas

One-day workshop $25

What does it mean to be a heroine? Who are our heroines and what influence have they had on our lives? Does being a heroine imply finding a hero? Can we become the heroines of our own lives? Through writing, fantasy, and improvisation we will become more aware of the heroine-ics in ourselves.

ENCOUNTER

The ground rules of encounter are that participants be open and honest in a group setting, that they avoid mere theorizing and instead talk about their feelings and perceptions. There is often an emphasis on eliciting emotions which lead to positive or negative confrontations rather than away from them. The focus of encounter is to explore interpersonal relations. Over the past years encounter, as practiced at Esalen, has evolved into a broad approach incorporating several related disciplines to achieve its aims. Techniques and insights gained from gestalt, sensory awareness, bioenergetics, massage, movement and structural integration are all part of Esalen's encounter groups today.

GESTALT

Gestalt Awareness Training is a theory and approach to personality integration first developed by Fritz and Laura Perls, though new styles and methods are being developed by other leaders. The goal of the training is to assist the participants to utilize excitement and awareness and to develop responsibility. Excitement — to have life energy freely available and flowing, not blocked. Awareness — to be conscious of my energy as and where it flows; to have action accessible to consciousness, not happening mechanically. Responsibility — to know and act on the principle that I am the one who acts, thinks and feels whatever it may be that I act, think or feel. No one else or no event influences me except with my consent. At times, everyone in the workshop may work simultaneously with some awareness exercise, or in interaction with each other. More traditionally, a fair amount of time will be spent with participants working individually with the leader. The starting point for such individual work is whatever is here and now of most involving concern for the organism; a fantasy or dream, an interaction with another person, a memory, or a physical posture. "Problems" are welcome as starting points, if they are truly present and not merely verbally presented. In keeping with the gestalt emphasis on personal responsibility, the leader usually leaves the initiative for such work with the participant. The assumption is made that participants are not "patients" but are persons responsible for their own life decisions.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION (ROLFING)

By realigning the body structure, the Rolf method of structural integration attempts to release excessive tensions so that the person may experience greater physical and emotional freedom and balance. The assumption is that a person's body and set are a mirror of his emotional past as well as a result of physical trauma. Structural integration is a process of direct physical manipulation and deep massage. Working with a trained practitioner, the process is usually completed within ten individual sessions.

SHIATSU MASSAGE

The oriental healing art in which the hands are used to apply pressure to acupuncture points over the entire body, allowing the springs of life to flow.

BIOENERGETIC ANALYSIS

Bioenergetic analysis attempts to understand the life of the body through its expression of vitality, gesture, emotion, feeling and relationship. The body is viewed as an energetic process that participates as the world in the world of instinctual, social, imaginative and creative realms. Bioenergetics seeks to develop an individual's range of expression by working through this process.

PSYCHOSYNTHESIS

Psychosynthesis is a psychological and educational approach for recognizing and harmonizing the many, often conflicting, elements of our inner lives. It is a developmental process based on a positive conception of man/woman within an evolving universe. Starting with each person's existential situation as he or she perceives it, personal growth is organized into a process aiming at the integration of personality and the emergence of an effective unifying center of being and awareness, the Self. The practical work of psychosynthesis chooses in each situation the appropriate progressive activities among many techniques and methods available. Some of these are: guided imagery, movement, self-identification, creativity, gestalt, meditation, training of the will, symbolic art work, journal keeping, ideal models, and development of intuition. The emphasis is on fostering an ongoing process of growth that can gain momentum and bring about a more joyful, balanced actualization of one's life.

T'AI CHI CHUAN

T'ai Chi Chuan is an ancient Chinese exercise discipline practiced for health, meditation, energy flow and self-defense. The slow, flowing movements of this "shadow boxing" comprise the oldest and "softest" of the Asian martial arts. Developed from the Chinese practice of nei kung, or inner exercise, it is part of the system of Taoist yoga. The term t'ai chi can be translated as "grand ultimate" and is expressed by the familiar symbol of yang and yin. It is thus rooted in the Chinese philosophy of change as expressed in the I Ching.

MASSAGE

Massage at Esalen is seen and taught as a caring relationship between two people. Consideration is given first to the feelings and the sensory experience of both partners, and after that to techniques. Workshops are attended by both couples and singles.

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

WEEK OF JULY 6-11

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

You are invited to go beyond where you are through seeing how you keep yourself behind. Beyond is a rich, alive experience—love, anger, joy, sadness, and spirituality. Behind is a fear of seeing what is there. Participants will be offered a chance, a tender invitation, to see what is behind and go beyond. Traditional encounter, gestalt, bioenergetic and psychosynthesis techniques will be utilized, in addition to a new approach aimed at developing perspective, the ability to "see oneself beyond the impasse." $290

Renascence / Michael Butler

Within each of us is an untapped seed of emotional and spiritual energy that we can systematically learn to discover and nourish. The goal of this workshop is to teach the ability to tune into and develop that seed center of self.

The daily meetings will be an integration of emotional, spiritual and body work. The interpersonal will be explored through a new kind of positive encounter. Individual work will be gestalt oriented. Emotional work will be grounded in quieting and meditation practices at the Esalen baths. Emphasis throughout will be on means of translating Esalen growth practices into everyday life. This group is limited to 14 people. $290

Yoga: A Method of Integration
Vijayendra Pratap & Om Prakosh Tiwari

This workshop is designed to provide various simple preliminary yogic techniques recommended for understanding oneself. These techniques include meditative poses, pranayama-breathing technique, focusing and relaxation. This program is carefully designed to instruct both beginners and advanced students. Certain advanced techniques, such as cleansing processes, will also be taught to deeply interested hatha yoga students. Discussion and questions on various types of yoga will be encouraged. Dress in loose comfortable clothing and bring a mat of your size (beach towel, small rug). If weather permits, practices will be done outside. Registration preference to students who attended workshops of July 4-6 1974 or August 23-25 1973. $290

Changing: Inner & Outer Movement / Barbara Clemans

Sometimes unbidden, sometimes sought after, change is the essence of life itself.

The body lives as a complex of motions: circulation, respiration, digestion, elimination. To stop the flow of movement at one point is like holding the breath; to persist is to die. How to allow change, to accept it as renewal rather than catastrophe, to transcend our expectations of fulfillment from outside rather than inside? We will explore these questions using guided imagery and intense self-observation to recognize our resistances to change; Feldenkrais movement; breath awareness and group sharing to explore new possibilities within ourselves; and massage and meditation to facilitate group support and self-affirmation. $290

WEEKEND OF JULY 11-13

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good / Harry Sloan

Frequently people come to workshops believing the only way to get in touch with themselves is through pain, anguish, and earth-shaking breakthroughs. Growing becomes humorless and heavy and so does life. Though real experience will not be avoided, this workshop will zip into the absurdity of conflicts and problems, offering the participants an opportunity to develop perspective and laugh at the seemingly tragic fates they have chosen. $120

Body Awareness & Massage / Barbara Clemans

If we could but experience ourselves as free and flowing as we really are, we would then know our own perfection.

Through a series of specific, directed movements with awareness we can begin to alter the patterns of habitual movement in the body. By doing so, the psyche is then altered in its habitual manner of responding to the world. In addition, we will aid each other in enhancing our organic sense of well-being and integration with massage. $120

Tuning In / Janet Zuckerman

Many of us are operating as tape recorders. We switch on in the morning at "high" or "low" speed and play our stock of tapes in response to the buttons being pushed by people or events. We are vaguely aware that life seems repetitive, or dull, that time is often something to be gotten through instead of savored, but this awareness is lost in the "noise" and business of day to day living.

This weekend will be devoted to bringing our attention to what we are doing—how we are really acting and thinking. Once we are aware of our tapes, we can go off automatic and begin to enjoy our interactions with one another. We will be using gestalt process, encounter, sensory awareness, and other techniques to tune in to ourselves and each other. $110

Pathways to Sensuality / Sylvia Kars & Jeanne Newman

The aim of this workshop is to open participants to a variety of ways to communicate with a partner, both verbally and through touch, so that each partner's pleasure and spontaneity is heightened. Workshop members will do a graduated series of sensuality enhancement exercises and will learn how to combine their own knowledge and experience with new sensory awareness and communication principles. The goal is to create a balance of active and passive situations for each partner so that each can benefit from the experience of the other. A safe, non-threatening environment is carefully established; no one has to do anything he or she does not want to do. Feedback sessions after each exercise provide the opportunity for increasing awareness and sensitivity between partners. Partners will rotate throughout the weekend.

Workshop begins clothed and clothing then becomes optional. Couples will be given preference, but it is not necessary to bring a partner to attend. Explicitly sexual behavior is not permitted within the context of this workshop; this is a workshop to enhance the experience of sensuality. $120

Gestalt Practice / Richard & Christine Price

Perfect like Great Space
the Way has nothing lacking, nothing in excess.
Truly because of our accepting and rejecting
We have not the suchness of things.
—Sengtsan (3rd Zen Patriarch)

What is, is.
—Fritz Perls

Gestalt practice is a form—nonanalytic, noncoercive, nonjudgmental—evolving out of the work of Fritz Perls, relating that work to ways of personal clearing and development both ancient and modern. To the extent that awareness is made primary relative to action, gestalt practice has a strong relationship to some forms of meditation and visualization. In that emotional and energetic release and rebalancing are allowed and encouraged, the relation to some Reichian work is close.

The emphasis is *intra*personal rather than *inter*personal. Those who primarily wish interpersonal work are advised to attend an encounter rather than a gestalt group.

Participants are explicitly not "patients" but persons consenting actively to work (or play) in awareness. The "leader" functions to reflect, clarify, and flow with whatever emerges in this process. The aim is unfoldment, wholeness, growth rather than "adjustment," "cure," or "accomplishment."

Suggested reading: Gestalt Therapy Verbatim (Perls); Tao Te Ching (Lao Tzu); Cutting Through Spiritual Materialism (Chogyam Trungpa); The Power of Mindfulness (Nyanaponika Thera); Exploring the Crack in the Cosmic Egg (J. C. Pearce). $290

Tools of Consciousness / Walt Anderson

We will experience the whole range of "art therapies"—psychodrama, painting, poetry, dance, music—and explore the idea that the arts are powerful tools for liberation and growth, available to us all. Talent has nothing to do with it. Bring one human life; other equipment will be provided. $290

week of july 13-18

Gestalt Improvisations / Paul Rebillot

Sing the glory of your life to the world,
Dance the story of your life to the world,
Tell the tale of living flesh to the world,
'Til the pain that you feel goes away.
—Don Currie

Combining improvisation and dance with gestalt and bioenergetic methods of liberating breath, movement, and sound, we will explore possibilities of reclaiming disowned energy through creative self-expression. In a session with video tape, we will have the experience of being our own audience. $290 + $2 video fee.

Take a Second Look at Yourself / Janet Zuckerman

We will focus on taking a good look at what is going on behind the masks we wear and what is underneath the expressions we put on our faces to confront the world. "Who are you?" and "Who do you pretend to be?" are the polarities we will be working with. Every one of us has a great deal of unused potential and I see the group experience as a safe place to begin to tap into this energy. This week will be entirely experiential using mirrors, gestalt, soft-encounter, and sensory awareness. Two video sessions will be included. $260 + $4 video fee.

Contact & Communication / Julian & Beverly Silverman

The ways we contact and communicate with ourselves and with others determine the kind of world that we live in. When we change these ways we can actually change our world. This is what the workshop is about. $290

Communication with CLARITY

Over the years Esalen has reached many special audiences. Our most recent special audience was 112 computer equipment personnel representing a large corporation. Esalen provided a forum for the expressing of differing viewpoints within the company. With the assistance of Esalen leaders these viewpoints were heard, clarified, and synthesized. Members of the corporation participated in a sports program geared to improve employee cooperation and Aikido exercises to increase body awareness and use of body energy. After the experience was over, the vice-president wrote to us saying, ". . . (Our company) will remember Esalen for years to come and perhaps no one but myself will fully understand the positive impact that you made on both the company and its people."

Rain spills
the sun awaits its turn a day, a night, a season quickly disappear... let them go fold back the gate –
take a stranger's hand.

weekend of july 18-20

Energy Awareness, Centering, Learning to Blend
George Leonard

Using techniques derived from the Oriental martial art of aikido, George Leonard will share with you his approach to energy awareness. Through simple mental and physical exercises, participants will practice alternative ways of dealing with everyday life situations—especially those involving tension and expectation. There will also be discussion of these experiences as they relate to education, sports, and social transformation. $120

On Friendship / Edward Maupin

This workshop begins with the assumption that a relationship with a friend can be more intense and rewarding than with a lover. We frequently hold back from experiencing the full depth of friendship lest the energy we feel turn sexual. Conversely, we sometimes turn to sexual interplay when the actual nature of the attraction is more subtle, potentially more rewarding, and involves quite different body systems. During this week we will develop wider possibilities through systematic exploration of different body centers, body awareness techniques, examination of beliefs and fears and interpersonal experiments. $110

Experiencing Esalen / Janet Zuckerman & Esalen Staff

For workshop description see page 32. $110

Caterpillar or How to Experience Your Unity
Chris Feldman & Community for Conscious Evolution Staff

Exploration in consciousness states and processes can help you experience links between different life segments—relationships in yourself, outside, and with others. Learn to be and experience your totality behind words, thoughts, scrambles. $110

Workshop on Energy Consciousness and the Healing Arts
Simone Surpin

This weekend will focus on teaching how energy flows through our individual bodies and within the one body of our group. We will explore how we can nourish ourselves and stay alive to our own experiences and feelings and share them with others.

We will learn about sensing energy exchanges, both verbal and nonverbal, and do some experiential work with energy fields and psychic healing. There will also be an introduction to various forms of gentle body work and meditation.

No previous experience in groups is required; enrollment is limited to 14 people. $120

week of july 20-25

People's Liberation / Bob & Marilyn Kriegel

In this workshop we will explore who we are beyond the traditional roles, expectations and assumptions that we have accumulated and learned to experience as ourselves. We will then find ways of integrating this new sense of self with our personal and professional lives.

Gestalt, psychosynthesis, encounter, guided daydreams, and meditation will be used as well as massage, play, drawing, and centering techniques. $290

Gestalt Training Workshop / Frank Rubenfeld

Hot-seat work, gestalt exercises and mini-raps will be part of this experiential-didactic workshop. Participants will also have the opportunity to work with each other under the direct supervision of Dr Rubenfeld. Limited to those in the helping professions. $290

Centering / Robert Nadeau

Being centered is working in harmony with yourself. It is applicable in everything—movement, sports, working, teaching, meditation—all aspects of living. We'll learn to recognize and function from center in the midst of daily activities and pressures. $290

Experiencing Esalen / Janet Zuckerman & Esalen Staff

For workshop description see page 32. $260

The Rites of Passage:
A Five Day Pilgrimage Through the Big Sur Wilderness
David Schiffman & Dee Mundschenk

The workshop is intended to create an experience which will support and intensify the simplification and cleansing necessary for a greater sense of personal clarity and grace.

We will spend five days together leading a simple spartan existence, eating sparingly, carrying all our essentials on our backs, traveling together through the unspoiled back country of Ventana Wilderness.

We will pay attention to and take care of ourselves through a variety of disciplines and forms, including psycho-calisthenics, meditation, gestalt, intuitional sensing, as well as the more traditional wilderness skills. The emphasis will be on creating a richer, more harmonious balance between the mental, physical, and spiritual realms of existence.

Registration for the workshop should be at least two weeks in advance so that proper advance preparations and information can be sent regarding equipment and exercise. $190

July 20–August 1

The Inner Road to Health:
Approaches to Healing and Self-Healing

Coordinated by Al Drucker & Barbara Braunstein with Esalen Staff and Guest Leaders

For workshop description, see September 7–October 3 write-up. $650

weekend of July 25-27

Letting Go / Marilyn & Bob Kriegel

In this workshop we will practice being weightless, letting go of old burdens, troubles, and woes that tend to bog us down. A focus on joy and creative living will be our guide to "letting go."

Encounter, gestalt, and psychosynthesis will be used in addition to massage, meditation, play, and an appreciation of Big Sur Country. $120

Opening the Feelings: A Neo-Reichian Radix Workshop
Roger Andes & Lara Amber

For workshop description, see this page. $120

Interpersonal Sensing / Simone Surpin

Within each of us is a place where we can receive and give caring and love much as a child can. Most of us have given up on this as a real, possible way of being in the world out of fear or habit or simple disbelief. The focus this weekend is to explore how we can re-open our channels to this way of being: how we can nourish and stay alive to our own experiences and feelings, and share them with others. Toward this end our group process will include the practice of listening to the vibrational statements, exchanges, and energy flows we are constantly partaking in. We will also make use of body work, massage, gentle bioenergetics and various forms of energy awareness practices. (Limited to 12 participants.) $120

Human Lifestyling / John McCamy

This workshop, designed for health professionals, paraprofessionals, and laymen, is based on the assumption that health can be improved through changing one's consciousness. In didactic and experiential sessions, participants will learn how to take full responsibility for their destiny including their health.

Specific subjects which will be taught include morning energizing movement, stress reduction and meditation, sensory awareness, meal time awareness, focusing, nutrition awareness, running, and disease prevention in the office and home. Each participant will be encouraged to develop a full daily schedule which strikes a balance between functional discipline (not severe) and flowing tantra. $120

week of July 27- August 1

We Are All Dancers / Betty Fuller

A work/play shop for the dancer in every body—even those who hate to move! This synthesis of gestalt awareness training with Feldenkrais effortless exercise works on the body/mind to dissolve tensions, holdings, blocks, and barriers to mobilization of energy and full self-expression. Everyone can experience increased energy, vitality and flexibility, improved posture (physical and mental), expanded consciousness, and enhanced self-image. We will explore—experientially—the relatedness of gestalt, rolfing, psychosynthesis, Feldenkrais, and est and use before and after photographs and simple tests for fun. $270

Woman to Woman / Man to Man
Joan Fiore David Schiffman

"The woman that most needs liberating is the woman in every man, and the man that most needs liberating is the man in every woman."

—Rev. William Sloan Coffin

Taking advantage of the natural affinity and support that people of the same sex can afford one another, the men and women in this workshop will meet separately as well as together. We will create an ambience of tenderness and support to provide opportunities to clarify the nature of who we are as men in the absence of women and who we are as women in the absence of men and what happens when we come together. The themes we will explore are our sexuality, our friendships, our body images, our coupling, our creativity, our relationship to power, our expectations of each other. The workshop will be grounded in the techniques of gestalt, encounter, fantasy, massage, and bioenergetics. $290 + $2 video fee.

A Tender Invitation / Harry Sloan

For workshop description see July 6-11. $290

Opening the Feelings

RADIX NEO-REICHIAN WORKSHOPS
(formerly Interscience Workshops)

To grow in the capacity to experience and express deep feeling, to connect up with oneself and to contact others is the aim of this series of workshops which employ neo-Reichian techniques of emotional release. The Radix Intensive, a period of individual work within a small group setting, is practiced by Charles and Erica Kelley and their staff at the Radix Work Shop. The Intensive, like other neo-Reichian techniques used in these workshops, grew from the discovery by Charles Kelley's teacher, Wilhelm Reich, of the way in which feeling is rooted in the flow of energy in the body, and is blocked by chronic muscular contractions which Reich called the muscular armor. Freeing the armor enables the student to open feeling that is buried and to soften and free feeling that is too strong and has been held in for fear of explosion.

In these workshops armor is softened by simultaneous work on the character and body, using techniques not only from Reich, but also from bioenergetics, sensory awareness, and other body-oriented approaches. Groups will be kept small—never more than eight per leader—so that significant individual help can be given. Grief or pain, fear and rage that have been held in since childhood emerge in these workshops. As the participant accepts and works through these negative feelings, he discovers a new capacity for pleasure, trust, and love. In time the sexual experience changes profoundly as tender and sexual feelings for the mate intensify and merge.

Schedule:	July 25-27	Roger Andes & Lara Amber
	August:	Laura Dillon will be in residence at Esalen and will be available for private instruction.
	Aug 31-Sept 5	Charles Kelley, Sharon Wang, & Siri Mishler

weekend of august 1-3

Open Psychodrama Encounter / Walt & Maurica Anderson

A flexible weekend's work and play using a variety of encounter, gestalt, and body-movement approaches, with emphasis on psychodrama—the enactment of improvised life scenes as a way of expressing feelings, gaining insight, working through interpersonal conflicts, developing more openness and spontaneity, and having fun. The degree of active involvement is up to the individual. $120

Hypnosis and Biofeedback: Psychic Development
Buryl Payne

With the aid of biofeedback instruments people can train themselves to reach deeper levels of hypnosis. When hypnosis is used in conjunction with biofeedback instruments, people can learn to control their autonomic functions more rapidly.

In this workshop, participants will learn how to use biofeedback instruments which monitor physical, emotional, and visual activity. Participants will also learn and experience hypnosis techniques for improvement of health, expansion of consciousness, psychic development, and clairvoyant sight. $120

We Are All Dancers / Betty Fuller

For workshop description see July 27–August 1. $120

You Don't Have to Suffer to Feel Good / Harry Sloan

For workshop description see July 11–13. $120

The Agnews Project:
A Contribution to the Understanding of Psychotic Behavior
John Perry & Julian Silverman

The aim of this workshop is to explore various problems related to understanding and caring for individuals called schizophrenics. Problems of integrating "humanistic" and "scientific" points of view, for the benefit of individuals in the throes of psychotic experience, are of primary concern. Results and implications of the recently completed Agnews Experimental Ward/Schizophrenia Project will be reported in depth. These findings spotlight important differences between dis-eased individuals: they indicate the need for more selective care and a thorough reconsideration of the nature of the therapist-patient relationship. Our findings also have serious implications for proliferating community mental health programs. All is not as well in the community as the architects of community mental health programs envisioned only a few years ago. Workshop members are encouraged to share their experiences and points of view about schizophrenia in the light of the results of the Agnews Project and other recent studies. $120 week of august 3-8

Skills Workshop for Group Leaders
Jacqueline Larcombe Doyle

The focus of this workshop will be on providing an intensive group experience, introducing group techniques, and enhancing the transfer of these skills for persons already leading groups in various settings. Techniques will be drawn from psychodrama, encounter, gestalt, bioenergetics, psychomotor, and fantasy. We will also deal with communication skills in the area of sexuality. $290

Sex, Sensuality, & Sexism
Janet Lederman & the Esalen Women

Exploring what we imagine to be "NATURAL"

Oh, yes, I am wise
but it's wisdom born of pain.
Yes, I paid the price
but look how much I gained.
If I have to I can do anything.
I am strong. I am invincible. I am woman.
—Helen Reddy

$290

The Energy Body in Action / George Leonard

Many disciplines of personal health, growth and change depend upon concepts of energy flows in and around the bodies of living things. Using techniques derived from the Oriental martial art of aikido, George Leonard will present his approach to the human biofield or energy body. Through simple mental and physical exercises, participants will experience their energy bodies in interaction with nature and other people, and will practice centering and awareness. They will be introduced to alternative ways of dealing with everyday life situations—especially those involving tension and expectation. There will also be discussion of these experiences as they relate to education, sports, and social transformation. $290

weekend of august 8-10

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

The focus of this workshop is the creation of a more positive and open-ended self concept. Through the use of structured risk-taking situations, gestalt, role-playing, fantasy, and encounter techniques, participants can accept or transcend the self-imposed boundaries from which they approach the world. There will be a session with video for "taking a look" at ourselves. Emphasis is on searching out unique personality strengths, individual capacities, and latent powers as a means of achieving productive, creative functioning. $120 + $2 video fee.

Advanced Energy Workshop / Bernard Gunther

This workshop is not for beginners but for those of you who have work-played with me before or for people who have been into meditation and other forms of growth and want to move further on their own. The focus of this workshop will be energy, meditation, self regulation, and self direction. It will include methods for breathing, chakra meditations, dehypnosis and reprogramming, along with various forms of chanting and visualization. The emphasis will be on experiencing greater horizontal vertical depth and the putting together of an individual routine that can be of practical daily value. $120

Breath and Self / George Downing & Betsy Hand

Unlocking the breath can rapidly put us in touch with a deeper sense of who we are.

Combining a number of verbal and nonverbal approaches including bioenergetics, massage, and gestalt, we will explore, separately and together, our rhythms of feeling, expression, contact, and creativity. $120

Mantra Yoga: Learning to Live in One's Center
Katherine Da Silva & Muid

A mantra is a special word or group of words which creates a centering effect, liberates the mind, increases inner radiance, and ultimately leads to self knowledge or realization. Japa, or the repetition of mantra, is an effective technique for personal growth and therapy. Evolved from ancient origins, it has correlates in modern methods of altering consciousness and unstressing.

While background information will be given, it is primarily through the use of chanting, listening, and movement that participants become aware of the meanings of the mantras. One realizes that a mantra has levels of meaning ranging from the obvious to the esoteric. It most readily brings true peace and harmony in all aspects of life. $110

Workshop for Gay Women / Gay Men
Sally Smith & Paul Rebillot

A chance for gay women and gay men to meet at Esalen, share problems, joys, directions, massage, and life styles. The groups will meet separately and together when appropriate during the weekend. $120

Exploring Self-Acceptance / David Schiffman

For workshop description see August 8-10. $290

Energy Healing / Bernard Gunther

This workshop will explore the assumption that all physical-emotional-mental illness is the direct or indirect result of excessive chronic tension and with-holding: dis/ease. This holding back of energy, excitement, and self-expression creates a surface sense of security at the expense of aliveness and well being. Symptoms, deadness, and boredom are the direct result of this perpetual holding on.

In this workshop we will use various forms of active and passive meditations to begin the process of cleansing, strengthening, relaxing, energizing, harmonizing, balancing, centering, and healing your whole being. Special focus will be given to breathing, reprogramming thought and habit patterns, self-expression, the use of color and sound, visualization, massage, hydrotherapy, psychic cleansing, and the healing energy of the outer-inner sun. $290

An Integrative Approach to Self Actualization
Ilana Rubenfeld

The sea always has waves . . . waves are the sea . . . sea and waves are one. To speak of waves apart from the sea is a delusion—so mind and body are one!

The focus in this workshop will be on experiencing one's own body and emotions as a total organism. Emotions and memories are often stored in our bodies, resulting in tension and imbalance. A unique blend of gestalt, Alexander technique, and Feldenkrais exercises will be used as a gateway to contacting, expressing, and working through deep feelings.

We have the choice to contact ourselves and each other with joy, sadness, compassion, humor, ideas, and with the body—the whole person.

Video feedback will be available and massage staff will be on hand to assist the workshop. $290 + $2 video fee.

Rites of Initiation / Paul Rebillot

There seems to be a certain pattern accompanying each change of consciousness. Many cultures celebrate these changes with initiation rites that mark the transformation. The purpose of this weekend will be to explore the changes in our personal mythological dramas and create a rite of initiation that facilitates them. Techniques will be drawn from gestalt, encounter, and bioenergetics, and will include improvisation, incantation, movement, and song. $120 + $2 video fee.

Energy Release & Integration Through Bioenergetics
Alan Schwartz

Read the description of the weeklong workshop. This weekend will concentrate on releasing blocked energy and integrating resulting awarenesses on the emotional and mental levels. The weekend should be thought of as an introduction to the concept of energy flow and its relation to a stronger sense of self. $120

Meditation Weekend / Robert Nadeau

We will explore centering and energy awareness in relationship to meditation. $120

media center

Located at Esalen's South Coast Center in Big Sur, the Media Center is emerging as a multimedia experimental facility encompassing film, video, audio, typesetting, and design. The typesetting of Esalen catalogs and the design and typesetting of Esalen special flyers is now done by the Media Center.

Under the direction of Kai Mei de Fontenay, 16 mm films as well as video and audio tapes of Esalen programs are now being prepared and distributed. These include demonstration tapes of various techniques currently being used by Esalen leaders. They are available in ½" B & W video reels for sale or rental. And nearing completion is a 16 mm color film of Tai Chi with Al Chung-liang Huang.

Esalen workshops listed in the catalog as having a video fee include one or more sessions of video feedback in which participants have the opportunity to see and hear themselves on video tape. Private sessions are also available at $25 per hour.

A popular audio tape we have in stock is Workshop in Gestalt Therapy led by Fritz Perls. In this one hour audio cassette Fritz talks about gestalt therapy and demonstrates hot seat work using dream techniques. To order, send $6.25 to the Media Center, Esalen Institute, Big Sur, California 93920. Inquiries concerning audio or video tapes of other Big Sur programs may be directed to the Media Center specifying the leaders or subjects in which you are interested.

Body Release & Psychic Awareness
Jack Downing & Lyn Davis

We will use advanced awareness techniques combined with integrative processes from gestalt, encounter, and Arica training. Particular emphasis will be placed on body process and release. $320 + $2 video fee

Energy Responsibility: A Synthesis of Bioenergetics & Gestalt
Alan Schwartz

Energy responsibility synthesizes the philosophies of Bioenergetic and Gestalt therapies. The central dynamic of the organism is the energy that makes up the whole person. Energy flow is body flow, emotional flow, and mental flow. Energy is movement. When such movement is blocked on any of the three levels mentioned, the organism cannot function to nourish the person towards a mature sense of self. This workshop will move in the direction of awareness by attempting to work through energy blocks. This release will provide a person with the opportunity to integrate body-feelings-mind into a total sense of what he/she is as an organism. Appropriate theory and processing will provide a link from workshop learning to educational and other work-energy systems. Recommended for teachers, those in mental health professions, and all who are committed to growing. A video session will help participants focus on their visible energy flow and the blocks to it. $290 + $2 video fee.

I'm Entitled! / George & Judith Brown

A workshop which teaches the process of owning what each of us has available in both our inner world and in our outer world, and appreciating the ways we interrupt our own natural growth and personal and interpersonal development so that we can recognize what is and what isn't and what could (not "should") be and then relish the choices, challenges, adventures, and peace to which we are all entitled. Suitable for couples or individuals. Limited to 20. $290

Being in Touch: A Gestalt Experience
Frank Rubenfeld & Mari Krieger

Through gestalt hot-seat work and exercises participants will have the opportunity to be in touch with their feelings and role-choices. Massage and theatre games will supplement the gestalt work, providing a way to experience the sensory and creative parts of ourselves. There will also be the time and space of Big Sur, enabling us to contact our more natural selves. $290

T'ai Chi: The Watercourse Way / Al Chung-liang Huang

An introduction to T'ai Chi and creative Taoist philosophy as explained and exemplified in the book, Tao: The Watercourse Way by the late Alan Watts and Al Chung-liang Huang, and in Huang's book, Embrace Tiger, Return to Mountain. The meeting of East and West will be explored in terms of everyday living, of transforming intellectual understanding of the East into action, and of making useful applications to the way of life in the West.

"To work with Al Huang is to learn to move with wind and water, not only in the t'ai chi exercises, but also in the course of everyday life. In going with the watercourse way, he is as fresh as a mountain stream and as deep and powerful as the Yangtze River . . . he woos and beguiles his students instead of forcing them. This is the mark of a truly superior and gifted teacher who works upon others as the sun and rain upon plants."

Self Hypnosis, Selective Awareness, and Movement
Emmett & Nitza Miller

Movement requires the use of muscular activity in varying degrees of intensity. So, too, thought processes and interpersonal communication proceed through stages of higher and lower energy. Most of our personal and social difficulties (symptoms, unwanted emotions, maladaptive habit patterns) can be eased when we learn to react in accordance with and in response to our internal and external environment.

In this workshop we will learn and apply the principles of self-hypnosis and Selective Awareness . . . and those of Dance and Movement Therapy . . . to expand our self awareness and ability to adjust our minds and bodies to changing experiences. $120

Freeing the Voice / Mary Corrigan

It has been established that physical tensions inhibit the production of a free tone. We will experience various physical and vocal exercises designed to reduce tensions and provide the kinaesthetic experience of what a free voice feels like. This experience allows the participant to discover a sense of ease and effortless vocal power. This method is employed at most of the major residential theatres and professional training programs in the US and England. Some work will be done to explore personality through sound. There will be an audio-visual session. $290 + $2 video fee.

Re-Owning Your Power: Renewal and Personal Awakening Through the Physical Experience
Dyveke & Michael Spino

As cycles of change press upon us, we need tools to develop our Inner Power of endurance, flexibility, and sense of self-transcendence. This workshop will reawaken your natural physical spirit through five areas of conditioning of mind/body/spirit. Daily activities will be appropriate for people at all levels of fitness, blended with meditations and massage at the Esalen baths. We will explore in a holistic approach:

Endurance: New techniques of Jogging and Running
Flexibility: Yoga, Scandinavian Rhythmics, European calisthenics
Strength: Skeletal muscle toning
Sensing: Energy body and Intuitive training
Innerspace: Guided fantasy, imagery, meditation, visualization

Each person will receive a personalized training consultation to allow continuing use of these techniques upon leaving. $120

The Feldenkrais Method: A Psychophysical Education Through Body Movements
Judith Stransky

Dr Moshe Feldenkrais has originated and developed an impressive method of re-educating the total being and tapping our unused potential through the means of body exercises and movements that lead to an expansion of awareness, and to a body-mind oriented to, and capable of, a greater range of experience. The exercises also involve integration of the physical and the mental, release of fixed habits that restrict us, differentiation of parts of the body, relaxation and balance, improvement in alignment, and lead to a suppleness beyond what one would believe is possible. The approach is through pleasure, not strain, combined with breathing techniques. $120

A Tutorial in Gestalt & Sensory Awareness
Seymour Carter

For the past ten years, I have been exposed to and have studied with most of the major teachers/influences/practices presented at Esalen. My approach has been to be as open as possible and to learn all I could about paths to self-discovery—from Arica to Zen. In becoming a teacher in my turn, I am now at a point where I want to share the defining and refining of the practices I consider most valuable.
This workshop will be a clarification of the basic perspectives and viewpoints from which the work of Fritz Perls and Charlotte Selver developed. We will examine the theoretical and philosophical bases underlying gestalt and sensory awareness. Through discussion and practice, we will learn to distinguish the central statements of these two approaches from the many confusing interpretations which inevitably form around any simple and profound teaching.

We will devote an intense period of study and experiential work to the nature of thought, emotion, and reality, to the continuum of awareness and the collected quiet state of awareness as in meditation.

Week One: 3 sessions per day, experiential work in gestalt and sensory awareness

Week Two: 2 sessions a day experiential; one session tutorial and discussion

Week Three: practice, revolving leadership among group participants, discussion

Massage sessions at the baths

Suggested reading: Karen Horney: Neurosis & Human Growth. Perls, Heferline & Goodman: Gestalt Therapy. Carlos Castaneda: Journey to Ixtlan. Edward Conze: Buddhist Thought in India. Selver: Sensory Awareness and Total Functioning (available through the Esalen bookstore).

PROGRAMS IN BIG SUR

A Gestalt Training Workshop / Stella Resnick

This workshop is designed for group leaders, therapists, and others who wish to integrate gestalt therapy into their field of work. The group will review basic principles of gestalt awareness through discussion and practice. $290

Opening the Feelings: A Neo-Reichian Radix Workshop
Charles Kelley, Sharon Wang, & Siri Mishler

For workshop description, see p 24. $320

Selective Awareness & Gestalt Practice
Emmet Miller & Richard Price

Selective Awareness provides a means for identifying and unlearning undesirable characteristics of body/mind and rapidly learning desirable patterns. This takes place in a state of mind related to those of meditation and hypnosis. Like gestalt practice, selective awareness aims at the development of internal guidance free of externally imposed conditioning.

For more information about gestalt practice, see July 13-18.

Growth Through Risk-Taking / David Schiffman

This workshop provides the opportunity for the group members to come to terms with the definitions by which they live. Through a series of structured risk-taking situations, the use of gestalt, role playing, fantasy, encounter techniques, and video feedback, the participants can accept or transcend the boundaries from which they approach the world. Emphasis will be placed on the expression of anger, affection, sexuality, and the transcending of roles. This workshop is especially useful for people who have had previous encounter experience. $110 + $2 video fee

Energy Centers / Bernard Gunther

Behind the spine there is a key, seven centers of electromagnetic energy. These chakras (energy wheels) are related to the endocrine glands, the master regulatory system of the organism. When these centers are cleansed, harmonized, and fully functioning, integration and balance on all levels of consciousness begins to take place. A weekend of "chakra therapy" consisting of meditation, breathing, relaxation, visualization, color and sound. $110

Body Awareness & Massage / Barbara Clemans

If we could experience ourselves as free and flowing as we really are, we would know our own perfection.

Through a series of specific, directed movements with awareness we can begin to alter the patterns of habitual movement in the body. By doing so, the psyche is then altered in its habitual manner of responding to the world. In addition, we will aid each other in enhancing our organic sense of well-being and integration with massage. $110

The Inner Road to Health—Approaches to Healing and Self-Healing

Esalen Staff and Guest Leaders. Coordinated by Al Drucker and Barbara Braunstein

This is a workshop for staying well and learning to help others stay well. There are two long-term programs of this type scheduled per year, one in March, the other in September, each lasting four weeks or longer. (The March 1976 workshop is scheduled for five weeks; the September 1976 workshop will be for six weeks.) Shorter twelve day seminars are also offered in July and January. These workshops provide a synthesis of various health and healing processes taught at Esalen. Consideration is now being given to a six month to one year apprenticeship program in the healing arts, commencing in the late Spring of 1976; this will involve six to eight individuals chosen from participants in the March or September programs.

The basic premise of these workshops is that as we immerse ourselves in a nourishing environment, observe good habits of living, and take in good food, both physical and spiritual, our body-mind comes into harmony and health. Then we can go on to do our true work, that of evolving in consciousness towards realization of the higher self within and towards recognition of the essential unity of all beings.

In these workshops we will use a number of different approaches for clearing out the thick underbrush of attachments, both physical and emotional, that clog up our lives. As we do, we will discover a path that leads from the busy external world, experienced through the mind and senses, to the calm inner world of the soul, experienced through the heart. We will travel this path, developing a daily practice that cleanses body, mind, and spirit, and takes us step-by-step inside. It is from these deep inner wellsprings of our being that we can discover the healing current that permits us to guide others to health and to heal ourselves.

The schedule and list of possible topics that follows will serve as a basis for group selection of the actual program to be used during the workshop. We will begin with a three-day organic fruit juice fast to cleanse the physical system and a marathon session to start the emotional cleansing process. Throughout the month we will provide a special healthful diet; for this we will do some of our own meal preparation, harvesting some of our food directly from the garden. The workshop will be held in the Big House and many of the participants will be housed there. This is a beautiful mansion located on cypress-covered cliffs overlooking the rocky coastline of Big Sur, across Hot Springs Creek from the main Esalen grounds.

Participation in the long-term workshops (four weeks or longer) is by application. To apply, please send us a short note about yourself that will help us know you. Include your age, your interests, and your state of health; also include a photo, if you have one. Please write early since places in the workshops are limited; mail to "Inner Road to Health Workshop," Esalen Institute, Big Sur, California 93920. Upon confirmation of your acceptance, we require the deposit within two weeks in order to reserve your space. Some partial scholarships will be available and awarded on the basis of need; for this a weekly work commitment is required.

Realms of the Human Unconscious: Psychedelic and Anthropological Perspectives Stanislav Grof & Joan Halifax-Grof

This workshop will focus on the expanded image of the human mind that is emerging from LSD research and anthropological studies. The participants will become acquainted with such issues as: new maps of the human unconscious; transpersonal aspects of birth, sex and death; LSD psychotherapy with neurotics, alcoholics, heroin addicts, psychotic patients and individuals dying of cancer; the nature of the schizophrenic process; mystical, religious, and metaphysical experiences in psychedelic sessions and indigenous healing systems and rites of passage in non-western cultures.

We will utilize didactic sessions, discussions, experiential exercises, selected films and videotapes, mandala work, and non-drug technology for inducing unusual states of consciousness. $270
